POLITICAL SCIENCE

FOR SPRING SEMESTER: 2014

Getting Registered

First, go to ACCESS and find out when you are scheduled to register on-line. Next print out your Degree Process Report. For instructions on how to generate a DPR on ACCESS go to http://smu.edu/sas/aa/eDPRStudents.asp. Also, use ACCESS to check course availability before meeting with your advisor. Check also to see if there are holds on you account.

You will then be ready to make an appointment with your adviser. To do so use the black departmental sign-up book sitting on top of the table next to Ms. Dorsey's office, room 202 Carr-Collins Hall. If you do not know who your adviser is you can find out in that book or at the end of this handout. It is best to see your advisor fairly close to your registration time because classes may close. You must print your own Degree Progress Report and bring it to the meeting with your advisor. One more thing- as you plan your schedule remember that courses numbered from 4320 to 4399 are not inherently more difficult than courses numbered from 3320 to 3399. Three thousand-level courses examine relatively broad subjects. Four thousand-level courses examine more specific topics.

As you know there are now two curriculums. Students who have been here awhile are on the GEC, the General Education Curriculum. Newer students are governed by the UC, the new University Curriculum. You also know there are requirements (noted on your DPR) other than your major requirements. As you ponder how to meet those demands go to* http://smu.edu/gened/. If you are under the new UC curriculum click Spring 2014 UC Course Offerings for help. If you are an old timer click Spring 2014 GEC Course Listings.

Political Science Course Offerings – Spring 2014

Please note that the first number of a course indicates whether it is introductory or advanced: a 1 indicates an introductory course, a 3 or 4 indicates an advanced course. The second number indicates the amount of credits carried by the course. The third and fourth number is the class number. All courses in the 20-30 range satisfy the American Politics category, all in the 40-50 range are Comparative offerings; all in the 80-90 range are International Politics courses.

For information on PLSC 4102, 4202, 4302 (Directed Readings), PLSC 4302 (Internship) and PLSC 4307 (Distinction Thesis), talk to your advisor.
