Virtual Course Engagement

The health of our SMU community depends upon each of us. Your fall courses have specifically been designed to provide students with a straight forward way to maintain course engagement during periods of quarantine or isolation. It is incredibly important that you follow any instructions including the period of time you should self-isolate or stay in quarantine. Your faculty are able and want to accommodate these necessary periods of time when you must engage virtually. Please share this information with your faculty so that any necessary adjustments can be made.
