As SMU approaches 2011, the centennial of its founding, the University is enjoying the extraordinary momentum that has characterized its progress at key times in its history. In 2008–09, SMU made significant strides in improving student quality, supporting faculty and academic excellence and enhancing the campus experience. To support these goals, SMU also unveiled The Second Century Campaign – the largest fundraising initiative in the University’s history. SMU continues to build a solid foundation for its next 100 years of achievement. This report highlights the students and faculty who define SMU’s excellence and the alumni and friends who support their efforts.

LETTER FROM THE CHAIR OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

SMU is on the move.

The University is better than it has been at any other time in its history, and it is continuing to improve in every area.

This annual report for 2008–09 documents SMU's extraordinary progress and growth as a nationally recognized center for teaching, scholarship and research. This progress highlights the many ways in which the inspiring support of alumni, family and friends is making a difference at the University.

That support is increasing SMU's ability to attract top students who enrich the quality of the classroom experience and contribute to the University's academic reputation. It is helping SMU recruit and retain a renowned faculty, and providing the resources needed for groundbreaking research on vital issues. And it is making possible the construction and renovation of state-of-the-art facilities essential for academic achievement.

SMU continued to make great strides in 2008–09 despite the economic downturn – a testament to the commitment of donors, prudent management of the SMU endowment and the genuine excitement generated by the University's continuing rise in quality. It is also a testament to the strong and farsighted leadership of President R. Gerald Turner and his administrative team.

Those of us who care deeply about SMU are proud of what has been achieved thus far and optimistic about our future. We look forward to the work ahead.

With your support, we will continue to fulfill a vision of SMU as an educational institution of the highest quality dedicated to preparing tomorrow's leaders and creating the new knowledge to meet tomorrow's challenges.

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

What a difference a year makes.

In September 2008, SMU launched The Second Century Campaign to raise critical resources for student quality, faculty and academic excellence and the campus experience. Soon after, the nation entered the worst recession in 60 years. Like most nonprofit organizations, SMU experienced a slowdown in major gifts, as many donors delayed philanthropic decisions. Even so, we completed the first year of the public phase with the remarkable announcement that the generosity of our donors made it possible for us to exceed the halfway mark of our $750 million goal, reaching $385 million at the one-year anniversary of the public launch of The Second Century Campaign.

SMU's strong campaign start provided the momentum to push through these challenging times, and we are making progress toward significant goals and milestones. For example, with the help of merit-based scholarship support, the average SAT score of our entering class continues to increase. We are also closer to our goal of establishing 100 substantially endowed academic positions by 2015. During the past year, three endowed positions were established, moving our total to 73. We also hired 31 new faculty members – a significant total considering that many other universities have frozen the hiring of new faculty because of the economic downturn.

This annual report highlights SMU's progress during the fiscal year June 1, 2008 – May 31, 2009. It also provides financial information and lists our most generous and consistent donors. They are making progress possible even in these challenging times.

As we approach the centennials of our founding and opening, in 1911 and 1915, respectively, our goals are clearly reachable. Through the efforts of our faculty and students, and with your continued support and dedication, we will indeed define a new century of achievement for SMU.

R. Gerald Turner

STUDENT QUALITY

A talented student body is a defining feature of a great university. SMU's student quality has steadily increased in recent years, as national recognition of the University has grown. Through rising SAT scores, national fellowships, leadership and engagement in public issues, SMU students are demonstrating the University's effectiveness in educating tomorrow's leaders.

MERIT SCHOLARSHIPS INCREASE

First-year students entering SMU in fall 2008 received the highest number of merit-based awards in the University's history, a reflection of SMU's successful and ongoing initiative to enhance student quality through increased support for scholarships. As one measure, the average SAT score of incoming students has increased dramatically during the last decade (see below). Thirty-eight first-year students received full-tuition President's Scholar awards for fall 2008, boosting the total number of undergraduates in the prestigious program to 102. Hunt Leadership Scholarships were awarded to 26 incoming students, while 103 joined the Edwin L. Cox BBA Scholars Program. Twelve students were named Meadows Scholars in the program's inaugural year.

excellence

SAT scores mark rise in student quality

First-year students entering the University in fall 2008 constituted the most academically accomplished class in SMU's history, with an average SAT score 97 points higher than the University's average score of just a decade earlier. The rise is attributable to a series of initiatives by the University to attract and retain the best students from the United States and around the world – a key priority identified in SMU's strategic plan.

Enrollment features geographic diversity

SMU draws its student body from Texas and the rest of the 50 states and the District of Columbia. The University also draws significant numbers of international students (see page 13). California finished second behind Texas as the state of origin with the largest number of first-year students entering SMU in fall 2008, followed by Florida and Georgia. The 15 states with the greatest representation among first-year students in 2008–09 are listed in order below and highlighted on the map.

HONORS STUDENTS TAKE PART IN WORLD MODEL U.N.

Ten honors students traveled to the Netherlands in March to participate in the World Model U.N. 2009 Conference hosted by Harvard University. In its first year to be invited to the conference, the SMU delegation joined 2,500 students from 275 universities in 53 countries. Members of the SMU delegation represented the Vatican and served on committees that drafted resolutions on issues such as racism, barriers to free trade and assistance for refugees.

Business students get firsthand knowledge of world marketplace

First-year MBA students in Cox School of Business gained international experience through the yearlong American Airlines Global Leadership Program, which culminated in a two-week trip to various regions of the world in May 2008. Groups of students traveled to Europe, China or India, where they met with executives of companies they had researched, discussed political policies with government officials and visited important historical and cultural sites.

Global Perspectives

SMU places a strong emphasis on providing students with a global perspective. The University both recruits internationally and offers a broad range of study abroad programs.

Study abroad and international recruitment expand world views

In 2008–09 more than 500 students studied in foreign locales through the University's 32 study abroad programs in 24 countries, including new programs in Costa Rica, Kenya, China and Jamaica. At the same time, SMU's enrollment included 941 international students from 92 countries. Students who participate in study abroad programs and SMU's international students grow academically and gain increased cultural understanding. Study abroad programs and the recruitment of international students are coordinated by SMU's International Center.

STUDENT QUALITY

Debaters earn awards

SMU debaters impressed the judges at competitions throughout 2008–09 during the program’s first season after a four-year hiatus. In February 2009 debate team members earned awards at the University of Miami’s Hurricane Debates and the University of Houston’s Lone Star Swing speech and debate tournament. In January and again in February, SMU faced off against students from Wiley College in Marshall, Texas, whose 1935 debate team was the subject of the feature film “The Great Debaters.” The SMU team is made up of students from the Division of Corporate Communications and Public Affairs in Meadows School of the Arts and is open to other students wishing to participate.

GRADUATES COMMIT TO TEACH FOR AMERICA

In May 2009 Teach For America announced that 18 graduating SMU students would spend the next two years teaching in low-income rural and urban public schools through the program. That number placed SMU among the top 20 medium sized-colleges and universities producing corps members in 2009. The graduates (including those above) join more than 6,200 other outstanding corps members recruited and trained by the organization who are teaching in 1,600 schools across the country. This year more than 35,000 students applied for 4,000 Teach For America positions. SMU’s Teach For America recruits began their training in June and then dispersed to schools in districts ranging from New York City to Memphis to San Francisco.

Alternative spring break emphasizes service

Groups of SMU students chose service over vacations in March 2009, volunteering in cities across the country as part of Alternative Spring Break. Led by the SMU community service organization SPARC (Students Promoting Awareness, Responsibility and Citizenship) and Office of Leadership and Community Involvement (LCI), the volunteers worked with agencies including the Cherokee Nation in Appalachia, Tennessee; Habitat for Humanity in Taos, New Mexico, and Laredo, Texas; Plateau Restoration in Moab, Utah; God's Love We Deliver in New York City; and Campus Kitchens Project in St. Louis, Missouri. Students joined SMU faculty and staff to serve while learning about issues that included illiteracy, poverty, racism and the environment.

YOUNG RESEARCHERS PURSUE BIG IDEAS

In fall 2008 undergraduate researchers reported on the results of studies conducted as part of the inaugural year of the Big iDeas program. Launched by the Provost's Office, Big iDeas awards $5,000 stipends to interdisciplinary teams of students who study and address complex problems facing Dallas. The undergraduates develop and submit proposals, implement their plans and report on their success. For example, Health 'n' Motion, a nutrition and fitness program developed by student researchers in partnership with a Dallas YMCA, researched the effects of educating families about healthful food choices. (Study participants at right.) Other topics included improving mass transit and creating small businesses in low-income areas. In the program's second year, eight teams received stipends in February 2009 for studies to extend through the fall.

FACULTY AND ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

A great university is shaped by scholars who create and share knowledge. Top educational institutions also require buildings with up-to-date classrooms, laboratories and technology that make it possible for faculty to conduct research and students to learn. In 2008–09, SMU continued to take significant strides in enhancing its academic programs, attracting new faculty and adding or renovating key facilities. Current members of the SMU faculty also were recognized by national organizations for excellence in teaching and groundbreaking contributions to their fields.

Engineering school unveils new strategic plan and is named for Bobby B. Lyle

In October 2008 SMU unveiled a new strategic plan for the School of Engineering. With the theme “no problem too big,” this new approach emphasizes preparing students to meet the most significant challenges facing society and lead the way in creating new economic opportunities. As part of this initiative, the school unveiled the SMU/Lockheed Martin Skunk Works Program®, the first collaboration between a university and the iconic research laboratory. The program cultivates the ability to make smart decisions quickly and work outside normal business hierarchy. In recognition of Dallas business and civic leader Bobby B. Lyle’s contributions to the development of the school’s new educational model, SMU also announced the naming of the Bobby B. Lyle School of Engineering.

SMU team contributes to Large Hadron Collider research project

An SMU delegation, led by Physics Department Chair and Professor Ryszard Stroykowski, is part of the team using the Large Hadron Collider (LHC) to conduct the world's largest and most high-profile physics experiments at the European Organization for Nuclear Research (CERN) laboratory in Switzerland. The collider was activated in September 2008. Stroykowski is U.S. Coordinator for the Liquid Argon Calorimeter, the literal and experimental heart of ATLAS, which is the largest particle detector in the LHC array. The SMU team also included Professor Fredrick Olness, Associate Professor Jingbo Ye, Assistant Professor Robert Kehoe, six postdoctoral fellows and eight graduate students.

COX SCHOOL RISES TO 18th IN BUSINESSWEEK RANKING

In its December 2008 issue, BusinessWeek ranked Cox School of Business's full-time MBA program among the top 20 business schools in the United States. The Cox School ranked 18th in the nation in the 2008 listing. In addition, when surveyed, Cox students gave the faculty an A+ for teaching and the school an A for career services. The BusinessWeek ranking solidifies the Cox School's position among the top 20 for all of its graduate programs.

Google funds SMU geothermal lab

In August 2008 Google.org announced it would provide nearly $500,000 to the SMU Geothermal Lab to expand mapping of U.S. geothermal resources. The lab is headed by David Blackwell, W.B. Hamilton Professor of Geophysics (right, with Maria Richards, lab coordinator). For 40 years Blackwell has collected heat flow data, publishing his first U.S. Geothermal Map in 2004. The Google grant will allow SMU to provide information on the potential for energy production in regions where data has previously been spotty or unavailable. The lab has been working extensively with companies researching geothermal development, and in June 2008 hosted its third annual Geothermal Energy Utilization Conference.

SMU PHYSIOLOGIST HELPS ARMY TO RESEARCH SOLDIER 'DASHBOARD'

Physiologist and biomechanist Peter G. Weyand is helping the U.S. military to research a “dashboard” to monitor the physiological status of soldiers in the field. In May 2009 the U.S. Army Military Operational Medical Division announced it was awarding approximately $500,000 to fund Weyand’s research on a method for keeping track of soldiers’ energy expenditure, heat production, aerobic fitness levels and other physiological states. Weyand generated headlines in the months before the 2008 Summer Olympics when he hosted and collaborated with a team of experts who conducted groundbreaking research on double amputee and world-class sprinter Oscar Pastorius of South Africa (Weyand and Pastorius at right). Weyand is associate professor of applied physiology and biomechanics in SMU’s Department of Applied Physiology and Wellness in Annette Caldwell Simmons School of Education and Human Development.

NEW FACULTY INCLUDES NATIONALLY RECOGNIZED EXPERTS

In 2008–09, SMU hired 31 new faculty members – six full professors with tenure, three associate professors and 22 tenure-track assistant professors. Additions included nationally recognized experts in a range of fields. Among them, Delores M. Etter (right), former deputy under secretary of defense and assistant secretary of the U.S. Navy, joined Lyle School of Engineering as director of the Caruth Institute for Engineering Education and the Texas Instruments Distinguished Chair in Engineering Education. G. Reid Lyon, former chief of the Child Development and Behavior Branch of the National Institutes of Health, joined Annette Caldwell Simmons School of Education and Human Development as Distinguished Professor of Education Policy and Leadership.

New construction supports academic achievement

As part of its commitment to provide state-of-the-art facilities to support student and faculty achievement, SMU moved forward on construction of a number of key buildings. In December 2008 the University broke ground on Annette Caldwell Simmons Hall, which will consolidate programs for Annette Caldwell Simmons School of Education and Human Development. Work continued on the new Caruth Hall, the second building for Lyle School of Engineering built to LEED Gold standards and the third engineering facility added in the past five years. Construction on the new Elizabeth Perkins Prothro Hall (above) in Perkins School of Theology continued, and in May 2009 renovations to Kirby and Selecman halls were completed.

FACULTY AND ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

Assistant chemistry professor receives National Science Foundation award

Chemist Brent Sumerlin (left) earned a National Science Foundation Faculty Early Career Development Award, given to junior faculty members who exemplify the role of teacher-scholars in American colleges and universities. Sumerlin, Harold Jeskey Trustee Assistant Professor of Chemistry in Dedman College, and his team of researchers fuse the fields of polymer, organic and biochemistries to build molecules that create controlled drug delivery processes within the body, prevent surface corrosion in a range of materials and make new catalytic nanoparticles that facilitate more efficient chemical reactions.

Embrey Human Rights Education Program enhances understanding

In its second year, the academic minor program in human rights education in Dedman College continued to help students increase their understanding of issues such as torture, genocide and crimes against women. Rick Halperin, director of the Embrey Human Rights Education Program, was honored with two distinguished teaching awards: In September 2008 he received the National Faculty Award from the National Association of Graduate Liberal Studies Programs. In May 2009 he received a 2009 Piper Professor Award honoring superior teaching in Texas colleges and universities from the Minnie Stevens Piper Foundation. A longtime human rights advocate and former chair of the board of directors of Amnesty International USA, Halperin also regularly leads student groups on human rights educational journeys.

Anthropology chair honored with membership in National Academy of Sciences

Anthropology Chair David J. Meltzer (see photo on page 17) was elected a member of the National Academy of Sciences, one of the highest honors given to a scientist or engineer in the U.S. Meltzer's work centers on the origins, antiquity and adaptations of the first Americans – Paleoindians – who colonized the North American continent following the Ice Age. Meltzer, the Henderson-Morrison Chair in Anthropology and professor of prehistory in Dedman College, is the third SMU professor to be elected to the National Academy of Sciences. He also joins two other current SMU professors who are members of national academies: Delores M. Etter, who holds the Texas Instruments Distinguished Chair in Engineering Education and is a fellow of the National Academy of Engineering; and David J. Weber, who is the Robert H. and Nancy Dedman Professor of History, director of the Clements Center for Southwest Studies and a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

DEDMAN LAW TOPS TEXAS SCHOOLS IN BAR EXAM

Dedman School of Law scored the state's highest passing rates for first-time test takers on the July 2008 bar exam, according to the Texas Board of Law Examiners. The school earned a 93.97 percent success rate, topping Baylor University, the University of Houston and the University of Texas at Austin, among schools finishing in the top four. Bar passage rates have increased since the law school expanded its curriculum a few years ago to increase its focus on the basics of law and legal writing.

Assistant math professor pioneers new gene models

Brandilyn Stigler (above), who joined the SMU faculty in August 2008 as assistant professor of mathematics in Dedman College, is conducting pioneering research in applied mathematics, using algebraic techniques to understand biological systems. Employing data from genetic studies, she develops mathematical models that represent the behavior of genes within individual cells. Stigler previously served in a postdoctoral position at the Mathematical Bioscience Institute at Ohio State University, the only facility of its type funded by the National Science Foundation.

Center for Family Counseling opens at SMU-in-Plano

In October 2008 SMU opened a new center to provide affordable help for North Texas residents dealing with emotional issues. The Center for Family Counseling, part of Annette Caldwell Simmons School of Education and Human Development, also provides training for graduate students. The facility is a new component of the recently renamed SMU-in-Plano, formerly SMU-in-Legacy.

Read about the Lady Mustangs varsity basketball team and other 2008–09 SMU Conference USA champions on page 31.

CAMPUS EXPERIENCE

The campus experience is a major strength of an SMU education, supporting academic endeavors and fostering a sense of community and pride. Campus activities provide opportunities for students to develop leadership skills, serve the community, encounter a diversity of outlooks and grow as responsible citizens. In 2008–09, SMU continued to add new programs, facilities and activities to encourage students to take part in on-campus activities throughout the week.

TATE LECTURE SERIES DELIGHTS AUDIENCES AND FUNDS STUDENT SCHOLARS

The Willis M. Tate Distinguished Lecture Series continued to bring leading minds from around the world to Dallas. Speakers in 2008–09 included master composer and musician Quincy Jones, former Secretary of State James A. Baker, III and journalist Cokie Roberts (with students at right). In addition to lecturing, speakers also participate in the SMU Student Forum. The lecture series contributed nearly $900,000 to SMU's President's Scholars Program in 2008–09.

Commencement features former First Lady

Former First Lady Laura Welch Bush '68 gave the commencement address in May 2009, encouraging graduates to use their talents in service to others. During the University's 94th commencement exercises, SMU conferred honorary degrees upon best-selling author Alexander McCall Smith, Yale Divinity School Dean Harold W. Attridge and Dance Theatre of Harlem co-founder Arthur Mitchell. The occasion marked the first time SMU's graduating class wore red and blue robes, representing SMU's school colors, instead of the traditional black.

SMU acquires collection of historic Texas photographs

In November 2008 DeGolyer Library acquired the Lawrence T. Jones III Texas Photography Collection, 5,000 historic Texas photographs featuring rare images of figures such as Mexican General Antonio López de Santa Anna, Comanche Chief Quanah Parker and Confederate Brigadier General John Gregg. Jones, a historic photography expert from Greenville, Texas, amassed the photographs during three decades of collecting. The images span nearly 100 years of Texas history, from 1846 to 1945, and include frontier life portraits of farms, schools and towns. The collection also features studio photographs of soldiers, Native Americans and everyday citizens.

Taos renovation enables fall semester

In July 2008 SMU broke ground on new and renovated student housing at SMU-in-Taos in the first phase of planned enhancements that make it possible to offer a fall semester at the historic site of Fort Burgwin in Northern New Mexico. For many years, SMU-in-Taos operated only in summer because casitas were not suitable for use during cold weather. The environmentally friendly housing is eligible for LEED Silver certification, and the new improvements include upgrades to the information technology infrastructure. The new fall semester program emphasizes close faculty-student interaction and coursework structured in four intensive course modules taken in sequence, each lasting three weeks. A fifth course module consists of an independent study project.

CAMPUS EXPERIENCE

Greek organizations walk to battle cancer

In April 2009 SMU's fraternities and sororities stepped up to help fight cancer by organizing an evening-long team relay for students. The sixth annual Relay for Life raised more than $100,000 for the American Cancer Society's research, education, advocacy and service programs. Sponsored by the Panhellenic Council, the event attracted more than 250 people. Team members took turns walking or running laps, and each team sought to keep at least one team member moving at all times. Survivors and caregivers kicked off the event at Moody Coliseum by walking the first lap. A ceremony illuminated the entire track as participants lit candles in memory of those who have lost the battle to cancer and in support of those still fighting the disease.

NEW MEASURES ADDRESS SUBSTANCE ABUSE

In response to the dangers from drug and alcohol abuse facing college students nationwide, SMU officially implemented numerous recommendations by the President's Task Force on Substance Abuse Prevention in October 2008. They include expanded information tools for students and parents; a medical amnesty program that encourages students to call for emergency help for themselves or friends; expanded hours at Memorial Health Center; and an online program for faculty and staff to register concerns about students who may be in distress, among many other initiatives. In June President Turner also created the Commission on Substance Abuse Prevention, an outgrowth of the Task Force, to serve as an ongoing organization.

Late-night weekend events on campus draw students

SMU students spent more weekend evenings on campus in 2008–09 thanks to extended hours at SMU's libraries and the Hughes-Trigg Student Center (HTSC), increased programming at Dedman Center for Lifetime Sports and the nation's largest and most sophisticated college campus video game lounge. The HTSC hosted 206 events with nearly 9,000 participants. New activities included the Red Carpet Affair, a Jonah Werner concert, a Big Game Watch party and a Spring Dance Spectacular. Events at Dedman Center included midnight movies, a dance marathon and Café Jazz, featuring Meadows School of the Arts Dean José Antonio Bowen and his band. And the University's new M Lounge, which opened in April 2009, attracted students with 36 Wiis, PlayStations and Xboxes. The games were provided by Game Stop, headquartered just outside Dallas in Grapevine. In addition to offering campus recreation, the M Lounge is also giving video game design students a place to try out new designs and get instant feedback from fellow student gamers.

Former President George W. Bush visits campus

As the George W. Bush Foundation continued working on plans for the former president's library, located at SMU, Bush made several visits to the SMU campus in spring 2009 after returning to Dallas, addressing political science and journalism classes at the invitation of professors. He and Mrs. Bush later hosted a meeting with visiting Iraqi women and SMU faculty. SMU President R. Gerald Turner also invited Bush to lunch with Hunt Leadership Scholars and President's Scholars.

SMU Honors Distinguished Alumni

Five leaders in business, technology and community service received SMU's Distinguished Alumni Award (DAA) during a ceremony and banquet in November 2008. The award is the highest honor the University bestows upon its graduates. The 2008 DAA recipients were (L-R) Richard Ware '68, president of Amarillo National Bank, one of the largest family-owned banks in the country; Malcolm Morris '68, founder and chair of Millennium Water Alliance; Gary Pittman '53, Texas Instruments researcher and co-inventor of the light-emitting diode (LED); Darrell Lafitte '54, an SMU All-American football player turned banker; and Richie Butler '93, who received the 2008 Emerging Leader Award. Butler helped create Unity Estates, a planned community of 285 single-family homes in South Dallas sponsored by the 70-member African American Pastors' Coalition.

HEGI FAMILY CAREER DEVELOPMENT CENTER EXPANDS JOB AID

The Hegi Family Career Development Center continued to increase its assistance to job seekers in 2008–09. The center provided more than 1,700 counseling sessions, and its spring career fair drew a record 94 employers and more than 700 students. More than 3,000 students and alumni used "SaddleUp," a new online career orientation, while the center's online résumé, interviewing and job search guides were downloaded nearly 40,000 times.

HALL OF FAME INDUCTS FOUR NEW MEMBERS

Pro Football Hall of Famer Eric Dickerson '84, who led the Mustangs to back-to-back Southwest Conference titles, was one of four SMU sports stars inducted into the SMU Athletics Hall of Fame in May 2009. Other inductees (pictured with Dickerson, L-R), included Kyle O'Brien Stevens '80, who led the women's golf team to its first national title at the 1979 AIAW National Championships and Steve Lundquist '83, an All-American swimmer and two-time Olympic gold medalist. The late Jim Krebbs '57, an All-American basketball player who led the Mustangs to three SWC titles and the 1956 Final Four, also was inducted.

Men's basketball team visits Africa

The men's basketball team traveled to Senegal and South Africa in June 2008 on a journey that emphasized cultural exchange and educational enrichment, as well as basketball. The Mustangs played three exhibition games (including face-offs against the national teams of both host nations), conducted basketball clinics, visited cultural and historical sites, and recorded their impressions in daily journal entries, blogs and videos.

Meredith's number retired

Don Meredith's No. 17 SMU football jersey was retired in October 2008 at half-time during the SMU-University of Houston football game. The two-time All-American and former NFL Player of the Year waved to the Ford Stadium crowd who stood in his honor. Following his playing days with the SMU Mustangs (1957–59) and the Dallas Cowboys (1960–69), Meredith pursued a successful career as an analyst on ABC's "Monday Night Football."

June Jones coaches first season as Mustang

New Mustang head football coach June Jones brought his trademark run-and-shoot offense to SMU in his first season on the Hilltop in 2008–09. The Mustangs finished 17th in the nation in passing offense and tied the school record for 29 passing touchdowns in a season. With a full year to recruit, Jones and his staff addressed immediate needs and continued to build for the future with 25 new recruits, including eight with Rivals.com three- or four-star rankings.

Legacy of former director honored during Mustang Band reunion

In November 2008 Mustang Band alumni honored the legacy of director Irving Driebrodt, who led the band from 1958–83 and was influential in shaping the band's musical and performance style. The tribute, which took place during Pigskin Revue, as well as a video about Driebrodt shown at a banquet following the revue, marked the 50th anniversary of his appointment as director. The tribute was part of a weekend of festivities for the Mustang Band reunion held during Homecoming.

MUSTANG TEAMS WIN CONFERENCE USA TITLES

Five SMU athletic teams won Conference USA titles in 2008–09: cross country, women's basketball, men's and women's swimming and diving, and women's tennis. Teams ranked in the top 25 nationally included cross country, equestrian, swimming and diving, and women's tennis.

Four SMU coaches were named Conference Coaches of the Year, 46 student-athletes were named Conference USA Academic Medal Winners and 209 student-athletes were named to the Conference USA Commissioner's Honor Roll.

ENDOWMENT REPORT

University endowments across the nation have felt the impact of stresses not seen in global financial markets for 50 years. The peak-to-trough decline for the global markets in 2008–09 was 60 percent, and almost all asset classes were down more than 20 percent during the period.

SMU's endowment did not escape this global crisis. Its market value declined by $369 million to total $1.032 billion during the fiscal year June 1, 2008 – May 31, 2009. The total return declined 24.2 percent, consistent with endowments of similar size nationwide.

The endowment's decline during the fiscal year was less than that of the U.S. and international equity, real estate and commodities indices (see chart below). Endowment performance is measured against a blended benchmark of investment indices weighted to match asset allocation targets. SMU's broadly diversified portfolio, designed to limit volatility without sacrificing long-term return, continues to perform well against its benchmark over longer periods of time.

There has been other encouraging news. The endowment also added $20.1 million in new gifts – an important indicator of the confidence our supporters have in our ability to invest, manage and steward the funds entrusted to us.

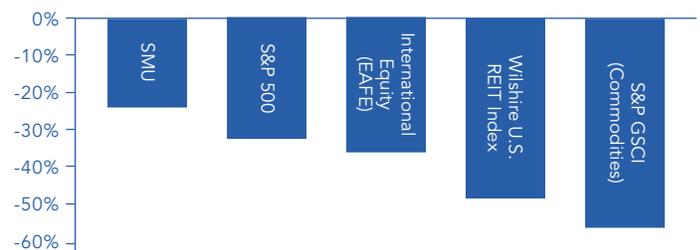

Changes made to the University's spending policy several years ago have proven successful in guarding against the need to make reductions in endowment distributions, as some universities have been forced to do. The policy balances fluctuations in the market value of the endowment with distributions made available in previous years, helping SMU achieve a more consistent level of expenditure from the endowment. The endowment provided significant support to University operations last year, with $60.3 million allocated to educational programs, scholarships and faculty support.

The financial markets began to stabilize in March 2009, recovering some of their previous declines. SMU's endowment has benefited accordingly. As always, the University remains focused on pursuing strategies and identifying opportunities that will enable the endowment to meet its long-term return goals – and allow support for the University's programs and priorities to grow significantly over time.

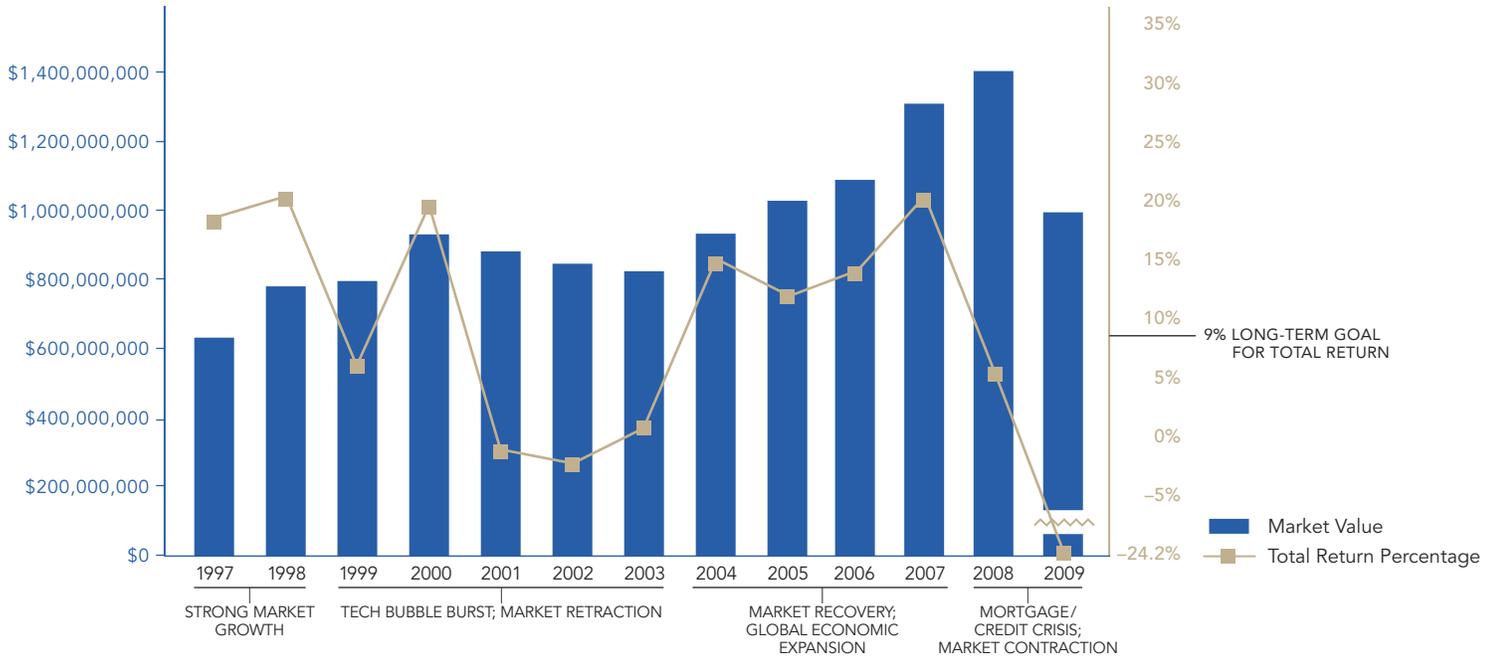

SMU continues to be careful stewards of the resources that are strengthening the quality and impact of the University.

CAMPAIGN UPDATE

On September 12, 2008, SMU launched The Second Century Campaign, the largest fundraising initiative in the University's history. A year later, the results are clear.

Thanks to the hard work of campaign volunteers and others committed to ensuring a bright future for SMU, the campaign has achieved a number of significant milestones, despite the economic downturn.

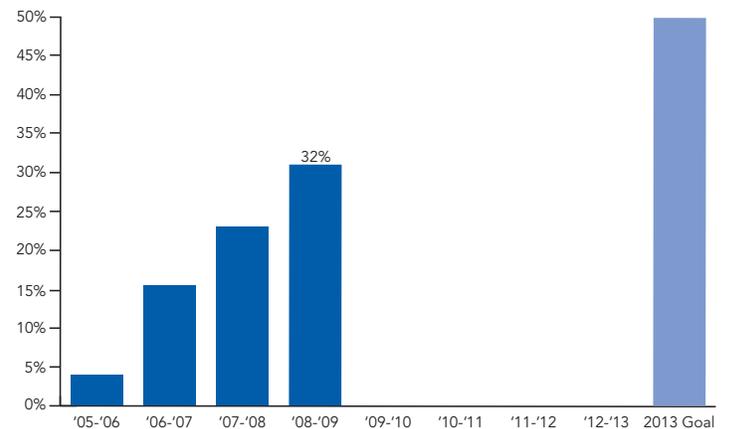

Since the close of the fiscal year, SMU has exceeded the halfway mark toward its $750 million goal. In addition, SMU's Second Century Campaign has provided funds for 185 new scholarships; 12 new endowed academic positions; 11 new academic institutes, centers and other academic initiatives; support for two schools and one academic department; and 11 new or renovated facilities.

Fifty-five donors have given $1 million or more to date. This represents nearly half of the total number of donors who gave $1 million or more during the entirety of SMU's last campaign, A Time to Lead, which ran from 1997–2002 and raised $542 million.

Campaign cumulative alumni participation goal: 25% per year

Campaign cumulative alumni participation goal: 50% by 2013

Campaign financial goal: $750 million

YEARLY GIVING

Despite the global economic downturn, SMU received a record total of cash gifts and pledge payments for the fiscal year, reflecting the ongoing commitment of our alumni, parents and friends.

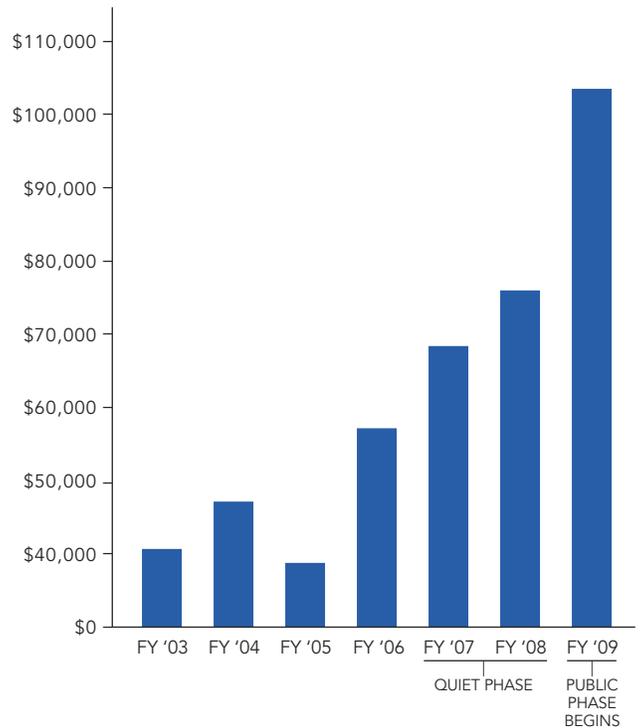

Gifts made each year in support of the University provide critical funding for scholarships and academic and campus life programs.

Highlights from this past year:

- Total cash receipts, including new gifts and pledge payments, totaled $104,752,343, the highest amount in SMU history.
- Gifts to SMU Athletics operational priorities exceeded $4.8 million, an all-time high.
- 25 percent of alumni celebrating their reunion year made a contribution to SMU in 2008–09, setting a record for reunion giving.
- The number of commitments made online through the SMU website increased by 42 percent.

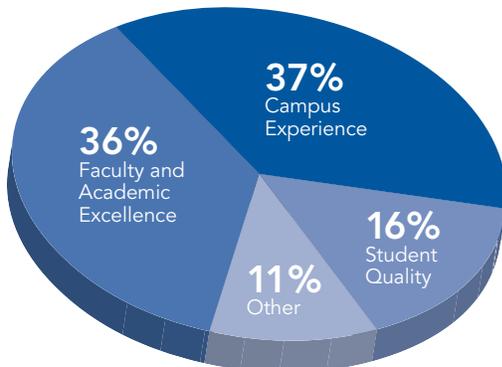

Overall, The Second Century Campaign has helped increase annual receipts by inspiring pride among alumni, family and friends and communicating a vision of SMU’s second century.

Today the University is moving forward with unbridled optimism to define a second century of achievement.

Building on the dreams of the farsighted leaders who founded SMU nearly 100 years ago, the University is strengthening its position among national universities by dramatically increasing support for student quality, faculty and academic excellence and SMU's unique campus experience.
