

SMU Alumni in the News

Highlights from June 13-19, 2017

SMU alums Michael Aronov, Andy Blankenbuehler, included in a list of where the 2017 Tony winners went to college

<http://www.playbill.com/article/schools-of-the-stars-where-the-2017-tony-winners-went-to-college>

SMU alumnus Albert Jones, interviewed about his new work Chasing Home, performed last weekend at Dallas' Moody Performance Hall

<http://www.theaterjones.com/ntx/features/20170613171126/2017-06-13/Homeward-Bound>

SMU alumna Molly Rhode set to direct Annie, running this fall at Milwaukee's Skylight Music Theatre

<http://www.broadwayworld.com/milwaukee/article/Skylight-Music-Theatre-Announces-ANNIE-Director-Cast-and-One-Day-Sale-20170615>

SMU alumnus Rafael Anchia named a finalist for D CEO's Latino Business Awards

<https://www.dmagazine.com/business-economy/2017/06/finalists-named-latino-business-awards/>

SMU alumnus Marissa Marez, co-founder of Over the Bridge Arts, nonprofit that joins visual and performing artists

<https://www.dallasnews.com/arts/performing-arts/2017/06/17/oak-cliff-nonprofit-invites-stumble-onto-art-music-dance-morning-coffee>

Compiled by Cherri Gann '15

Coordinator, SMU News & Communications | Office of Public Affairs

214-768-7657 | cgann@smu.edu

SMU: smu.edu/news | Twitter | Facebook