A spirit of progress and positive change continued to define SMU in 2014–15, as the University celebrated the fourth year of its historic centennial celebration era. Thanks, in part, to inspiring support for The Second Century Campaign, SMU took significant strides forward in the areas of student quality, faculty and academic excellence and the campus experience. The University’s progress was propelled by the extraordinary accomplishments of both students and faculty, who shone brightly in the national spotlight that is increasingly trained on SMU. New facilities supported academic quality and student success. And SMU’s new living-and-learning model of campus life transformed the undergraduate experience.

October 2015

It is an honor to serve as the chair of the SMU Board of Trustees during this special time for the University, the centennial year of SMU’s opening.

In this Annual Report, you will read about some of the exciting steps SMU has taken in the past year to ensure that the University is prepared to provide the best educational experience for students today and in the future. You also will read about SMU’s increasing impact as a research institution positioned to grow in influence and prominence.

Much of this progress is the direct result of the great support that The Second Century Campaign has generated. The campaign has truly proven to be transformative.

- Indeed, the quality of our student body has been enhanced greatly.
- Moreover, there are many more faculty members who have attained national reputations.
- Additionally, SMU has built or renovated a large number of critical facilities.

In sum, the campaign has precipitated the launch of a new era in University history. And, we are just getting started.

As we contemplate the University’s next 100 years, those of us who care deeply about the University have a responsibility to act boldly by putting into place the human talent and resources necessary not only to educate future leaders on our campus today, but also to prepare for the future generations of students who will study disciplines yet to be invented and address societal challenges yet to be faced.

Building on our progress to date, we are positioned to propel SMU to even greater heights. The great support of so many people has made a real difference. I feel confident that SMU will continue to secure its place as a global educational and research institution.

As we prepared for the last official year of celebrating the centennial era – 2011 through 2015 – there was a palpable increase in energy and excitement on the Hilltop. We shared a great sense of anticipation heading for that $1 billion goal and planning special events for September.

During 2014–15, working with student leaders, we scheduled Homecoming 2015 festivities to coincide with the anniversary of SMU’s start of classes September 24, 1915, so that we could consolidate our fall celebrations and make visiting the Hilltop easier for the many hundreds expected for these and special centennial events.

It also was a year of visible impact, as much of the campaign’s funding could be seen in new academic programs, faculty endowments, facilities and campus life programs. In the world of higher education, we are aware that institutions evolve over time – sometimes too slowly, it seems. But at SMU our pace has been quickened to implement improvements in a timely manner. As you will read in this Annual Report, the evidence of impact has permeated the campus.

As the countdown proceeded toward our monetary campaign goal, we celebrated two major participation goals that have set new records of giving for SMU. At the close of the fiscal year, we exceeded our goal to achieve 25 percent of undergraduate alumni giving in a single year, culminating at 26 percent. This puts SMU among the nation’s top institutions in alumni giving, a factor in college rankings. In addition, we exceeded our goal of achieving 50 percent of alumni giving throughout the entire life of the campaign, reaching 56.9 percent. These are important indicators of alumni pride and investment in the University’s progress.

My special thanks to all who have made 2014–15 a year of optimistic anticipation and historic achievement, continuing our theme of honoring the past while moving boldly into our future.
UNBRIDLED IMPACT
SMU is marking the fifth year of The Second Century Celebration in 2015. The five-year commemoration celebrates the 100th anniversaries of SMU’s founding in 1911 and opening in 1915. The SMU community marks the official centennial of SMU’s opening September 24, 2015, as part of Homecoming. The Second Century Celebration runs concurrently with The Second Century Campaign, which continues to propel SMU’s exciting momentum and runs through the end of 2015.

As part of The Second Century Celebration, SMU continued to mark the Year of the Faculty throughout 2014, commemorating the hiring of SMU’s first faculty members by Robert S. Hyer, SMU’s first president. The University also launched the Year of the Student in spring 2015, celebrating the importance of SMU’s student body throughout the life of the University. SMU continued to celebrate the Year of the Faculty throughout 2014, marking the 100th anniversary of the recruitment of the University’s first faculty members by Robert S. Hyer, SMU’s first president, and celebrating SMU’s esteemed faculty members as researchers, teachers and University citizens. The Year of the Faculty also highlighted the importance of endowments for faculty positions, which enable a university to attract and retain top faculty experts. Such endowments are often regarded as evidence of overall university quality.

Thanks to the generosity of donors, SMU has created many new endowed faculty positions during the campaign. SMU has set a goal of having a total of 110 by the end of 2015, when the campaign comes to a close. SMU’s faculty experts include those whose research achievements have been recognized with election to prestigious national academic societies, such as the National Academy of Sciences, the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and the National Academy of Engineering. The University’s faculty also includes recipients of national and international honors, such as Fulbright Awards and Guggenheim Fellowships.

As part of the Year of the Faculty, SMU hosted a centennial luncheon during Homecoming Weekend in November 2014 that honored the generous donors of endowed faculty positions throughout the University’s history and the faculty members currently holding those positions.

A special Year of the Faculty website, smu.edu/yearofthefaculty, which operated throughout 2014 and continues to be accessed, showcases individual faculty members and their remarkable achievements across a spectrum of disciplines. The website also featured hundreds of submissions by SMU alumni who shared their recollections of favorite professors.
YEaR of the STUDENT

SMU launched a celebration of the Year of the Student in spring 2015, which marked the 100th anniversary of the year the University enrolled its first class.

A special Year of the Student website, smu.edu/yearofthestudent, was created to highlight the quality of SMU students, and it continued to celebrate student experiences and topics from student travel to athletic accomplishments.

Through the years, SMU students have established and led student organizations, engaged in athletics competition, served the community, studied abroad and excelled in and beyond the classroom. In January alone, six students were accepted to participate in the Clinton Global Initiative, while others made human rights study trips to areas such as Poland and Ecuador over the winter break.

Others shared perspectives through published opinion pieces and blogs on the SMU Adventures site. SMU is one of the few universities in the nation to have a voting student member on its Board of Trustees and other students as trustee committee members. The new Residential Commons system of campus living was designed with input and ongoing leadership from students, working with Faculty in Residence.

The quality of the student body continues to increase, each year bringing the highest average SAT scores in University history.
UNBRIDLED LEARNING
STUDENT QUALITY

Gifted students add immeasurably to the quality of a university. SMU began its yearlong celebration of the Year of the Student in spring 2015, which marks the 100th anniversary of the year the University enrolled its first class. Increased support for academic scholarships attracted talented students to the Hilltop in 2014–15, as it has throughout The Second Century Campaign. SMU students today continue a proud legacy of accomplishment and leadership, providing ample evidence that world changers are indeed shaped here. Whether winning national awards, achieving in the classroom or serving the community, SMU students are enhancing SMU's reputation as a globally recognized center for teaching and learning.

SMU UNDERGRADUATES DIRECT HIGH SCHOOL MENTORING THROUGH BIG IDEAS PROGRAM

Biology major Janice Kim ’15 and economics major Anna Norkett ’16 (both in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences) created and supervised College Bound, a Saturday enrichment program in which SMU students mentored and tutored low-income students at Woodrow Wilson High School in the skills necessary to succeed in college. The SMU students received seed money for their project as winners of the University’s Big iDeas program. (Read more about Big iDeas on page 18.) Anna is a President’s Scholar, holding the highest academic scholarship awarded by the University. Janice will attend Harvard Medical School beginning in fall 2015.
Scholarship support is crucial in helping SMU to attract and retain top undergraduate and graduate students and can be life changing for student recipients. Thanks to continuing donor support, SMU created 51 new endowed scholarships during 2014–15, for a total of 552 established thus far during The Second Century Campaign. The number exceeds the University’s original campaign goal of creating 500 scholarships. The range of academic scholarships offered by SMU has broadened to include general University scholarships as well as those that support specific studies, majors and interests.

Examples from among gifts for scholarships in 2014–15 include:

- A total of $3.5 million for endowed MBA scholarships in the Cox School of Business from SMU trustee and Cox School Executive Board Chair David B. Miller ’72, ’73 and his wife, Carolyn L. Miller. The School has a goal of raising $20 million for graduate program scholarships by the end of 2015. Donations totaled almost $18 million by the end of the 2014–15 fiscal year. More than 60 percent of the funds came from alumni and annual donors.

- A $1.5 million challenge grant from the Morris Foundation to support the Meadows Scholars Program at Meadows School of the Arts. The gift was announced at the School’s annual Meadows at the Meyerson benefit concert in March in the Meyerson Symphony Center. Led by Ken Morris ’72 and his wife, Linda, the Foundation will match gifts designated to the Meadows Scholars endowment by the end of 2015.

AVERAGE SAT SCORE sets RECORD HIGH

The average SAT score of first-year students entering in fall 2014 (Class of 2018) rose over the previous year and again set a new SMU record, reaching 1308. That represents more than a 100-point increase during the last 10 years. As average SAT scores have risen, SMU has continued to attract a student body that features greater ethnic, geographic and socioeconomic diversity.
SMU STUDENTS EARN NATIONAL AWARDS AND HONORS

• Anthropology graduate student Whitney Goodwin received a Fulbright grant to spend 10 months conducting archaeological and ancestral community research in Honduras.

• Anthropology graduate student Michaela Wallerstedt received a Fulbright grant to study and conduct research in Italy on cultural differences between the northern and southern sections of the country.

• Elizabeth Pittman, a graduate student in the Accelerated School Leadership Program in Annette Caldwell Simmons School of Education and Human Development, received a Fulbright Distinguished Award in Teaching to study how relationship building and conflict resolution practices affect outcomes for at-risk students in New Zealand.

• Kandi Doming ‘14 received a Fulbright grant to study Mediterranean archaeology in Amsterdam. She earned bachelor’s degrees in art history from Meadows School of the Arts and in anthropology from Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences.

• President’s Scholar Garrett Fisher ‘16 was named a Scholar to the Institute for Responsible Citizenship in Washington, D.C. Fisher, a double major in business administration in Cox School of Business and in public policy in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences, was one of 11 students selected. The Institute provides an intensive leadership development program for African-American men.

• President’s Scholar Tracy Nelson ‘16 was named a Presidential Fellow at the Center for the Study of the Presidency and Congress in Washington, D.C. Nelson is a triple major in political science, public policy and economics with a minor in international studies in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences.

• President’s Scholar Nicole Hartman ‘15 was selected to spend summer 2015 researching theoretical condensed-matter physics through the National Science Foundation’s Research Experience for Undergraduates program. She is a triple major in physics and mathematics in Dedman College and in electrical engineering in the Lyle School.

• President’s Scholar Collette Marchesseault ‘16 was an honorable mention for the Goldwater Scholarship. A double major in biological sciences and mathematics with a minor in chemistry in Dedman College, she conducts cancer research in SMU’s Center for Drug Discovery, Design and Delivery as a Hamilton Undergraduate Research Scholar.

SCHOLARSHIPS Change LIVES

Each year scholarship recipients are invited to write letters of appreciation to donors whose generosity has helped them to attend SMU. As SMU continues to seek support for scholarships, we are pleased to share excerpts from some of these letters:

“Only at SMU could I experience such wonderful professors and the benefits of such world-class programs. I have had the most wonderful time learning and growing as an individual and could not have done it without your generous support.”

Kelsey M. Alford ’16

“At SMU, not only do I get the technical training required to become a civil engineer, but I benefit from personal guidance and learn leadership skills that make me feel truly prepared to start a promising career after I complete my education.”

Peter Donegan ’15

“During my time at SMU, I have been able to travel the world, work with professors who are experts in their fields and meet friends I will treasure for the rest of my life. The support I have received has meant the world to me.”

Sorsha Huff ’16

“This scholarship allowed me to be the first in my family to graduate from college! I am not only graduating with a degree in accounting, but I am also graduating with a degree in economics with financial applications specialization. Your scholarship changes lives!”

Luis Angel Flores ’15
THREE FOURTHS of GRADUATES HAVE JOBS or GRAD SCHOOL admission

A total of 74 percent of members of the Class of 2015 reported having secured either a job or admission to graduate school by the time of graduation, according to the first-ever survey of an SMU graduating class. The survey was a joint project of SMU’s Office of Assessment and Accreditation and Office of Institutional Research.

STUDENTS FOLLOW IN THE FOOTSTEPS OF CIVIL RIGHTS HISTORY

Fifty students from two SMU groups traveled in March to Selma, Alabama, following the legacy of 50 other SMU undergraduates and Perkins School of Theology students who rode through the night to meet Martin Luther King, Jr. and hundreds of civil rights marchers in Montgomery, Alabama, on March 25, 1965. They took part in a series of activities and events commemorating the 50th anniversary of the “Bloody Sunday” attacks on the Edmund Pettus Bridge and the Selma-to-Montgomery voting rights march. The two groups included those taking part in the University’s 11th annual Civil Rights Pilgrimage across the South as well as those traveling as part of SMU’s Office of Multicultural Affairs on a Student Senate-supported trip.

STUDENTS COME FROM TEXAS AND AROUND THE WORLD

A total of 11,272 students were enrolled at SMU in fall 2014, including 6,391 undergraduate students and 4,881 graduate and professional students. They came from all 50 states and 92 foreign countries. Approximately 50 percent came from Texas, 37 percent from other U.S. states and 13 percent from foreign countries. Minority students constituted about 25 percent of the overall student population.
Christopher Kiatipides, a Ph.D. candidate in anthropology in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences, reconstructs past environments in tropical Central Africa to better understand the links among culture, ecology and climate. His dissertation project focuses on reconstructing changes in vegetation cover and land-use strategies among late Iron Age populations of the Ngotto Forest in the Central African Republic. In summer 2015, he presented his research at the 8th International Workshop on African Archaeo-botany in Italy.

Hope Hagar, a Ph.D. candidate in environmental and civil engineering in Lyle School of Engineering, is investigating the use of the mineral hydroxyapatite – sourced from fish bones and teeth – to remediate groundwater contamination at a U.S. superfund site containing waste sludge polluted with depleted uranium. Almost 100 percent of the uranium can be removed when the sludge is passed through columns packed with the mineral. The process results in a highly stable mineral called chernikovite, vastly reducing the danger of uranium exposure. She received a Dean’s Award for her work during Research Day 2015.

Matthew Clemens, a master of science candidate in paleontology in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences, has done research using a fossil from the most precisely dated beaked whale in the world to pinpoint a date when East Africa’s mysterious temperature elevation and its associated climate change began. The 17-million-year-old fossil was discovered in modern Kenya’s harsh desert region and is the only stranded whale ever found so far inland on the African continent. Matthew co-authored a study with several faculty members, published in Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences in February.

Charles South, a Ph.D. candidate in statistical science in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences, won a Dean’s Award during Research Day 2015 for his work on advanced statistical methodology for the growing fantasy sports industry. His project used three different statistical models to predict player performance and to construct daily fantasy basketball teams. He examined several different permutations of players based on statistical projections to form a team with the highest projected score.

SMU STUDENTS EXCEL IN LEARNING BEYOND THE CLASSROOM

A record-setting 100 undergraduate students undertook projects ranging from observing physicians in African hospitals to creating a community orchestra for children in South Dallas through SMU’s Engaged Learning program in 2014–15. The program provides enhanced opportunities for learning beyond the classroom. Approved projects are eligible for grants worth as much as $2,000. Since its inception in 2011, 76 percent of the program’s graduating seniors either have been accepted into graduate school or obtained employment in a field directly related to their project. Examples of programs in 2014–15 included:

Camille Biard ’15, a chemistry major in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences, used computational chemistry to study and develop new molecules that can emit luminescence for extended periods and be delivered to the human body to study cancerous cells.

Adam Gannon ’15, a biology major in Dedman College, initiated research into the possibility of alleviating Alzheimer’s disease by reducing the role of peroxiredoxin, a protein present in specific brain neurons. Adam (right), who is continuing his research as a medical student at the University of Houston Medical Science Center, is pictured with Svetlana Radyuk, research associate professor of biological sciences in Dedman College.

Asia Rodgers ’15, a human rights major in Dedman College, created Art Healing, a project that uses art therapy to help female victims of sex trafficking rebuild confidence, and blogged about her experience.
Twenty-three undergraduate teams competed in the Big iDeas program, which included a pitch contest in 2014–15. In round one students “pitched” their ideas for projects that benefit society. In round two students fleshed out their ideas more fully and demonstrated their feasibility. They were judged by a panel of outsiders provided by Executives in Action, a not-for-profit organizational and business consultant. Winners received $5,000 in seed money. Among the winners were:

* Edward Allegra ’16, a major in economics, Miguel Quimbar ’17, a major in accounting (both in Dedman College), and Jack Reynolds ’15, a double major in finance and in markets and culture in Cox School of Business and Dedman College, respectively. They won for BioLum Sciences, a smartphone-based imaging system that can detect the presence of asthma, potentially reducing the current 40 percent misdiagnoses of asthma in the United States. The technology, developed entirely by the team of students, has received significant additional start-up support from other competitions and additional sources throughout the United States.

* Hunter Rice ’16 (far left), a double major in economics and in management in Dedman College and the Cox School, respectively, and J.P. Buxbaum ’16 (near left), a major in advertising in Meadows School of the Arts. They won for Beyond US Clothing, a for-profit clothing company that partners with charities to help underprivileged children in the United States. It offers unique T-shirt designs for each partnership and donates a portion of the sales to charities with a focus on children and education.
More than 500 students participated in SMU Abroad programs in Europe, Asia, Africa, Central America, South America, the Middle East and Australia during 2014–15. SMU offers nearly 150 study abroad programs in 50 countries, as well as unique opportunities for international research, study tours, internships and service. SMU Abroad programs provide unique cultural perspectives that enrich students’ academic experience. SMU’s extraordinary international study programs also help the University continue to attract high-achievers.

Shannon Swisher ’15 studied at City University in London during fall 2014. “Studying abroad forced me out of my comfort zone and helped me to see the world as a whole,” says Shannon, a double major in pre-med and environmental science in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences. “The experience of living in a different country also showed me that I am capable of much more than I had thought.” In 2015 Swisher is serving as an SMU Abroad Student Ambassador to share her experiences with other students.

In addition to SMU Abroad, examples of global education opportunities at SMU include:

- Richter Fellowships, awarded to about 25 undergraduates in the University Honors Program each year to conduct independent research projects around the world.

- Maguire Center for Ethics and Public Responsibility Public Service Fellowships, which in 2014–15 provided summer stipends for 10 undergraduate and graduate students to conduct ethics research around the world.

- The Embrey Human Rights Program, which takes students, faculty and community members several times each year to sites of human rights abuses. In 2014–15 the program organized trips to Hungary, Poland, Cambodia and Vietnam.

- SMU Alternative Breaks, a student organization offering community service trips in the United States and abroad during academic breaks.
FACULTY AND ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

The extraordinary quality of SMU’s faculty is a defining feature of the University. In fall 2014 SMU continued its yearlong celebration of the Year of the Faculty, a commemoration marking the centennial of the hiring of the University’s first faculty members. Faculty experts determine the overall quality and reputation of a University. Thanks to the generosity of donors, in 2014–15 SMU made significant strides toward the University goal of 110 endowed faculty positions. SMU also made major investments in facilities and academic programs that will enable the University to serve as a resource for the community and the world for years to come.

SMU RESEARCHERS CREATE KNOWLEDGE TO CHANGE THE FUTURE

Volkan Otugen, professor of mechanical engineering and George Brown Endowed Chair and senior associate dean in Lyle School of Engineering, is working on the development of advanced prosthetics highly sensitive to brain activity. Read more about his work as well as the research initiatives of other SMU faculty members on page 27.
LEADER of SCHOOL’S NATIONALY RECOGNIZED MUSIC DIVISION named MEADOWS DEAN

Samuel S. Holland, an internationally renowned music educator and outstanding arts administrator, was named dean and Algur H. Meadows Chair of Meadows School of the Arts in November. Holland has provided strong leadership to the Meadows School in both teaching and administrative roles for more than 20 years. The Music Division Holland has led was named the number one music program among comprehensive universities in the United States in the 2014 College Factual rankings, as reported in USA Today.

MEADOWS FOUNDATION PROVIDES SMU’s LARGEST GIFT

SMU announced in March that The Meadows Foundation pledged $45 million to Meadows School of the Arts and the Meadows Museum, the largest single gift in University history. With this commitment, The Meadows Foundation has provided more than $100 million to the University since 1995. The gift, also the largest in The Meadows Foundation’s history, consists of two parts:

* Funds to support goals and programs of the Meadows Museum, which houses one of the largest and most comprehensive collections of Spanish art outside Spain. The gift will fund exhibitions, education programs and acquisitions. The gift also will help the Museum expand relationships with international cultural institutions and enhance its reputation as the center for Spanish art in the United States.

* Funds to the Meadows School of the Arts to support its goal of leading the nation in arts education. The funding will be used to attract and retain top faculty and students, create and maintain innovative programs of national importance and provide enhanced studio, gallery and state-of-the-art classroom spaces.

GIFTS for FACULTY ENDOWMENTS enhance ACADEMIC QUALITY

New endowed faculty positions help SMU to attract and retain top experts and contribute to the University’s quality as an educational and research institution. Gifts for faculty endowments also support SMU’s drive to reach 110 in substantially endowed positions. Examples of generous gifts to establish new endowed faculty positions in 2014–15 are listed below:

- Two gifts of $1.25 million each from Stephen L. Arata ’88 (right, receiving congratulatory certificate from President R. Gerald Turner) and Kathryn H. Arata ’87, ’91. One gift established the Bonnie Wheeler Centennial Professorship in Medieval European Literature in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences. The gift honors one of the Aratas’ favorite SMU professors, Bonnie Wheeler, associate professor of English and medieval studies director (far right). The other gift established a centennial professorship in finance in the Cox School of Business.

- A gift of $2.5 million, made through the Texas Methodist Foundation, created the Susanna Wesley Centennial Chair in Practical Theology in Perkins School of Theology.

- A $1.5 million gift from North Texas business leader Jack D. Knox ’60, ’63 established the Jack Knox Chair in the Rights and Protection of Children in Dedman School of Law.

- A gift of $1 million from Janet Duchossois ’66 and Craig Duchossois ’66, ’68 established the Janet and Craig Duchossois Endowed Professorship in Management and Organizations in the Cox School of Business.

GROUND BROKEN for SECOND SIMMONS SCHOOL building

SMU broke ground in September for Harold Clark Simmons Hall, the second building for the Annette Caldwell Simmons School of Education and Human Development. The ceremony followed a gift of $25 million from Annette Caldwell Simmons ‘57 and Harold C. Simmons in 2013 to fund the new building and also support three new endowed academic positions. Harold Clark Simmons Hall will be a three-story, 40,000-square-foot academic building that will be home to the Budd Center for Involving Communities in Education, the Teacher Development Studio and the Department of Teaching and Learning and will include other facilities. (L-R) R. Gerald Turner, SMU president; Annette Caldwell Simmons; David J. Chard, Simmons School dean; and Michael M. Boone ’63, ’67, chair of the SMU Board of Trustees.
INTERDISCIPLINARY LEADER
named DEDMAN COLLEGE DEAN

Thomas DiPiero, whose academic interests range from the psychoanalysis of race and gender to French literature, joined SMU in August 2014 as dean of Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences and professor in the departments of English and World Languages and Literatures. Previously DiPiero served as dean of humanities and interdisciplinary studies and professor of French and of Visual and Cultural Studies at the University of Rochester. He is the author or co-editor of three books, including Dangerous Truths and Criminal Passions: The Evolution of the French Novel 1569-1791, and numerous book chapters and articles.

GIFT ENDOWS AWARDS HONORING TEACHING

A gift of $1 million in December from Charles Mangum ‘86 and his wife, Elaine Sheffer Mangum ‘89, will endow the Barbara and James Mangum Endowed Awards for Teaching Excellence. The gift, in honor of Charles’ parents, was made as SMU celebrated the Year of the Faculty in 2014. Beginning in 2016, the awards will be presented annually to outstanding non-tenured and tenure-track accounting faculty in the Cox School of Business and economics faculty in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences. The Mangums’ son, James ‘14, also is an SMU graduate.

ALTSHULER DISTINGUISHED TEACHERS announced

Three of SMU’s best teachers were named 2015–17 Altshuler Distinguished Teaching Professors as announced by the University’s Center for Teaching Excellence during the May Board of Trustees meeting. The honorees are Jill DeTemple, associate professor in the Department of Religious Studies in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences, Darius Miller, professor of finance and Caruth Chair in Finance in Cox School of Business, and Yildirim Hürmüzlü, director of SMU’s Systems, Measurement and Control Laboratory and a professor in the Department of Mechanical Engineering in Lyle School of Engineering. The Altshuler Distinguished Teaching Professor Awards, endowed by SMU trustee Ruth Collins Sharp Altshuler ’48, have recognized SMU faculty members for their commitment to student learning since 2001.
SMU HOSTS INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCES

SMU served as the site for two major international science conferences in 2014–15, drawing experts from around the globe to the Hilltop and providing evidence of the University’s increasing prominence as a center for scientific exploration and research.

• The SMU Physics Department hosted in April the international conference of the world’s premier physicists on particle collision experiments, the 2015 International Workshop on Deep-Inelastic Scattering (left).

• The SMU Geothermal Laboratory hosted its seventh international geothermal energy conference and workshop in May. "Power Plays: Geothermal Energy in Oil and Gas Fields" brought together oil and gas industry professionals with geothermal and waste-heat industry professionals for networking and sessions on exploration, reservoir opportunities and project development.

FORD RESEARCH FELLOWS named

Four distinguished SMU professors were honored as 2015 Ford Research Fellows during the May Board of Trustees meeting. Recipients were Ping (Peggy) Gui, associate professor of electrical engineering in Lyle School of Engineering and a member of its Darwin Deason Institute for Cyber Security; Robert Howell, professor of philosophy and Dedman Family Chair in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences; Lisa Siraganian, associate professor of English in Dedman College and associate director of the Dedman College Interdisciplinary Institute; and Nathan Cortez, the inaugural Adelfa Botello Callejo Endowed Professor of Law in Leadership and Latino Studies in Dedman School of Law. Established in 2002 through a $1 million commitment from trustee Gerald J. Ford ’66, ’69, the fellowships provide a cash stipend for research support.

NEW TSAI CENTER TO PERFORM LEGAL RESEARCH IN TECHNOLOGY

An anonymous $3.125 million gift in December 2014 will launch the Tsai Center for Law, Science and Innovation in Dedman School of Law. The combined $2.5 million endowment and $625,000 in operational funding for the first five years provide a way for law, science, engineering and business students, scholars and professionals to collaborate. The Center will focus on the intersection of innovation, intellectual property law and entrepreneurship.
PROVOST AD INTERIM is an EXPERT IN U.S. GOVERNMENT

Associate Provost Harold W. Stanley in March was named Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost ad interim, beginning June 1, 2015. A distinguished political scientist with special expertise in U.S. government, Southern and Latino politics and presidential elections, Stanley came to SMU in 2003 as the Geurin-Pettus Distinguished Chair in American Politics and Political Economy in Dedman College. He has served as associate provost since 2010. Stanley has overseen international study, SMU-in-Taos, President’s Scholars and other programs.

SMU presents INAUGURAL SECOND CENTURY FACULTY CAREER ACHIEVEMENT award

James K. Hopkins, Altshuler Distinguished Teaching Professor of history, was named the inaugural recipient of SMU’s Second Century Faculty Career Achievement Award in April. In his honor, the James K. Hopkins SMU Second Century Faculty Career Achievement Scholarship has been created and will be awarded to a student in SMU’s fall 2015 entering class. The citation honoring Professor Hopkins notes his “outstanding accomplishments in scholarship, teaching and sustained commitment to the University.”

MULTIMILLION-DOLLAR GRANTS SUPPORT SMU RESEARCH

Classified by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching as a university with “high research activity,” SMU continued in 2014-15 to be a recipient of grants supporting research and exploration on a range of topics, receiving commitments for $25.3 million in external research funding. These include two multimillion-dollar grants:

- The W.W. Caruth Jr. Foundation, housed at Communities Foundation of Texas, awarded a $2.5 million grant to the Lyle School of Engineering and the Retina Foundation of the Southwest, which are collaborating to create the Clinical Center of Innovation for Age-Related Macular Degeneration. The center, to be housed at the Retina Foundation in Dallas, will help to develop prototypes of new diagnostic and clinical treatment approaches.

- The U.S. Department of Defense committed a grant of $2.6 million to the STEMPREP Project at Annette Caldwell Simmons School of Education and Human Development. The grant will support increasing the number of minorities in fields involving science, technology, engineering or math (STEM). STEMPREP recruits bright, science-minded seventh- and eighth-grade minority students for the two-summer classroom phase of the STEMPREP project and provides high school students with summer opportunities at research labs. All STEMPREP project students who finish the program attend college, and 83 percent go on to graduate school.
SMU RESEARCHERS create NEW KNOWLEDGE AND gain ATTENTION

SMU faculty members conducted groundbreaking research in 2014–15 that yielded new insights and advanced our understanding of a range of subjects. Some of that work received media attention, while other researchers made incremental advances en route to new breakthroughs. A few examples:

- Andrea Meltzer, assistant professor of psychology in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences, was the lead author on three independent studies about the psychology of women’s body image. The research made headlines around the nation and the world in publications such as The New York Daily News, The Huffington Post, The Atlantic, Vogue, Fitness, Seventeen, Women’s Health, Cosmopolitan and many others. Body images of the participating women were influenced by men’s perceptions independent of their actual body size and weight, the studies found. However, interventions that alter women’s perception of men’s opinions may improve body image, the studies suggest.

- Research that opens the possibility for advanced prosthetics highly sensitive to brain activity reached a new level in the Micro-Sensor Laboratory of Volkan Otugen, professor of mechanical engineering, George Brown Endowed Chair and senior associate dean in Lyle School of Engineering. The lab’s “whispering gallery mode” technology uses optical fibers and tiny, soft transparent polymer spheres as sensitive detectors of sound waves and electromagnetic fields. One target application is a prosthetic device’s capability to detect neural activity in the nervous system and, ultimately, in the brain – which might someday enable amputees to control prosthetic devices with their thoughts.

- SMU faculty and students in the Department of Physics were at work in preparation for the summer 2015 restart of the upgraded Large Hadron Collider in Geneva, Switzerland. SMU’s team, including Ryszard Stroynowski, professor of experimental physics and the team’s senior member, contributes to experiments at the CERN collider, which earlier enabled physicists to isolate the Higgs boson. Work and analyses by SMU’s team continued throughout 2012 and 2013 while the collider was out of operation for an energy upgrade. SMU’s ManeFrame High Performance Computer supplies important processing resources for the collaboration.

- Earthquake monitoring research by an SMU seismology team, led by Brian Stump, Claude C. Albritton Professor in Huffington Department of Earth Sciences in Dedman College, continued to play an influential role in supplying data and analyses of the likely cause of unprecedented earthquakes occurring in the Azle area of North Texas. The SMU scientists reported their findings in the April edition of the influential peer-reviewed journal Nature. Stump also was named an American Association for the Advancement of Science Fellow for distinguished contributions to his field, particularly in the area of seismic monitoring over a 20-year period in support of the Comprehensive Nuclear-Test-Ban Treaty.

GIFTS for ICONIC FURNITURE return FONDREN READING ROOM to elegance

The centerpiece of the Fondren Library Center renovation is the restoration of the reading room to its former grandeur. In honor of SMU’s centennial celebration, the University has commissioned handcrafted tables and chairs by iconic American craftsman Thomas Moser to re-establish Fondren Library Centennial Reading Room as one of the campus’ signature spaces. A plaque mounted on each named table or chair will recognize a donor to the renovation project or honor a current or former student, an influential faculty member or an SMU family. Jane Allman Wetzel ’52, an early donor to the project, has purchased a chair to honor “all those who work in the library as part of their education.” The Fondren Library Centennial Reading Room project will be completed by SMU Founders’ Day 2016.
NEW MUSTANG HEAD FOOTBALL COACH BRINGS RECORD OF SUCCESS

SMU named Chad Morris as the new Mustang head football coach in December, following Morris’ five seasons as offensive coordinator at Clemson University, as well as 16 seasons as a coach at various Texas high schools. During his tenure at Clemson, the Tigers earned a 41-11 record, won the 2011 ACC Championship and earned four postseason bowl berths, including two BCS Orange Bowl appearances. Clemson also posted three final top-25 rankings. Morris took six of his teams on the Texas prep level to state championship games, winning three times, and earned Coach of the Year honors 11 times.

CAMPUS EXPERIENCE

A major strength of an SMU education is the experience of life on the Hilltop. Participating in a campus organization, attending a lecture by an international political leader and developing a friendship with a student from another state – or another country – all translate into learning that complements what takes place in the classroom. In 2014–15 the campus experience was further enhanced by the Residential Commons system, which, in its first year, transformed the experience of living on campus. Thanks to the generosity of donors, SMU also embarked upon or completed construction of major facilities that support achievement, discovery and well-being.
MUSTANG TENNIS complex DEDICATED

SMU dedicated its new 45,000-square-foot tennis complex in February, opening a competition-level facility for men’s and women’s tennis team practice, training and tournament play. The complex includes the Turpin Stadium, with six outdoor courts, and the Styslinger Grand Viewing Terrace and the Brookshire Family Pavilion, with six indoor courts and a patron balcony. The third-floor Edwin L. Cox Club Suite features both outdoor and indoor court viewing areas. Leadership donors to the complex include the Altec/Styslinger Foundation; the family of Ann Warmack Brookshire ’77 and Bradley W. Brookshire ’76; Edwin L. Cox ’42; and the Jack A. Turpin family.

MUSTANG STUDENT-ATHLETES WIN CHAMPIONSHIPS IN TEAM AND INDIVIDUAL SPORTS

Mustang athletic teams smashed records and rewrote record books in 2014–15, as they galloped to victory in a variety of sports. The men’s basketball team tallied a 27-7 record (15-3 in conference) and won both the American Athletic Conference (AAC) regular season and tournament championships en route to its first NCAA Tournament appearance since 1993. Three Mustang basketball players earned All-AAC honors, and Nic Moore ’16 was named AAC Player of the Year. Men’s golfer Bryson DeChambeau ’16 (right) won the NCAA Men’s Golf Tournament at The Concession Golf Club in Florida, the first Mustang to win the individual championship. In August during the 2015–16 fiscal year, DeChambeau also won the U.S. Amateur Championship, becoming only the fifth player to win the tournament and NCAA individual title in the same summer. The men’s golf team finished 14th in the nation. Women’s outdoor track and field and women’s swimming and diving also won AAC titles in 2014–15. Twelve of SMU’s 17 varsity sports teams finished in the top three in the conference. Eighty SMU student-athletes earned all-conference honors.
SMU STUDENT-ATHLETES MAKE THE GRADE

SMU student-athletes set the pace in the classroom as well as on the field in 2014-15. Three SMU teams – women's golf, women's soccer and women's track and field – earned a 100 percent graduation rate, and all varsity sports programs beat the national average graduation rates for their respective sports. In addition, 199 SMU student-athletes secured places on the American Athletic Conference All-Academic Team by earning at least a 3.0 grade point average. Volleyball player Caroline Young '16 received SMU’s Presidential Award of Excellence for a scholar/athlete.

BUSINESS LEADER and TRUSTEE GIVES DECEMBER COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

Business leader Gerald J. Ford ’66, ’69, former chair of the SMU Board of Trustees, delivered the keynote address at December Commencement. He encouraged the more than 600 students gathered in Moody Coliseum to “under-promise and overdeliver. There’s just no downside to it.” Ford earned a B.A. in economics from SMU in 1966 and his J.D. from SMU School of Law in 1969. He is a member of the Executive Board of Dedman School of Law, a member of the Campaign Leadership Council and convening co-chair of The Second Century Campaign.

FACILITIES ENHANCE SMU-IN-TAOS

SMU-in-Taos celebrated new facilities and other improvements at the campus in Northern New Mexico in July 2014.

- Ground was broken (below) for the Carolyn and David Miller Campus Center, a facility for activities and gatherings of students, faculty and guests at the Taos campus. Carolyn Miller, SMU trustee David B. Miller ’72, ’73 and the David B. Miller Family Foundation provided $2.5 million as the lead gift for the Center.

- The Chapel at Fort Burgwin, named for the pre-Civil War cantonment on the property, also was dedicated. The chapel was provided by gifts from Patsy Pinson Hutchison ’54 and William L. Hutchison ’54 in memory of their mothers, Flora Hedleston Pinson and Ima Leete Hutchison.

- Additional improvements to the Taos campus include enhancement of the Rio Grande del Rancho creek to preserve its pristine environment and a new bridge over the river on property bequeathed by the late former Texas Governor William P. Clements, Jr. ’39.

The Clements Foundation provided $1 million for the project. (The completed Center was dedicated in July 2015, during the 2015–16 fiscal year.)
MUSTANG BAND HALL DEDICATED

The new Mustang Band Hall was dedicated in September 2014. Five times larger than its previous space, the facility features an expanded rehearsal hall, improved practice rooms and an outdoor performance plaza. The 11,000-square-foot hall accommodates a 150-member band, enabling the current 88-member band to expand. More than 1,250 band alumni, supporters and friends contributed funds for the Band Hall, located at the Dedman Center for Lifetime Sports on the southeast edge of campus.

TATE LECTURE SERIES PRESENTS LEADERS IN POLITICS, HISTORY AND THE ARTS

The 33rd season of the Willis M. Tate Distinguished Lecture Series brought political leaders, authors, journalists, scientists and artists to the SMU campus in 2014–15. The season opened with a roundtable discussion featuring two former U.S. secretaries of state, Colin L. Powell and Madeleine K. Albright. The Series also presented PayPal’s former CEO and co-founder, Peter Theil, New York Times columnist and author David Brooks, internationally known photographer Platon, “Good Morning America” co-anchor Robin Roberts (left), presidential historian Doris Kearns Goodwin, astrophysicist Michio Kaku and statistician-forecaster Nate Silver.

FORMER PRESIDENT ADDRESSES GRADUATES AT 100TH COMMENCEMENT

SMU observed its historic 100th Commencement in May with George W. Bush, the 43rd president of the United States, delivering the principal address. Bush told the graduates, “You will learn that who you are is more important than what you have.” SMU awarded more than 2,000 undergraduate, graduate and professional degrees. SMU conferred honorary degrees upon anthropologist Meave Leakey, U.S.-Japan Council President Irene Hirano Inouye and donor-activist Helen LaKelly Hunt.
MAJOR EXHIBITIONS help CELEBRATE MEADOWS MUSEUM’S 50TH BIRTHDAY

The Meadows Museum, which houses one of the world’s largest and most comprehensive collections of Spanish art outside Spain, celebrated its 50th anniversary in April during Founders’ Day Weekend. As part of the anniversary celebration, the Museum hosted two major exhibitions scheduled throughout 2015.

• The Abelló Collection: A Modern Taste for European Masters, an exhibition spanning 500 years of Spanish art, featured 70 paintings from the 16th to the 21st centuries, including works by such Spanish masters as El Greco, Francisco Goya, Salvador Dali and Pablo Picasso, as well as by other European artists. Running from April through August, the exhibition marked the first time the collection had appeared outside Spain.

• Treasures from the House of Alba: 500 Years of Art and Collecting, the first major exhibition in the United States of works from one of the most significant and comprehensive private collections of European art in the world, to be presented September 2015 to January 2016. Included are paintings and decorative arts drawn from three of the family’s spectacular palaces in Madrid, Seville and Salamanca, including works by Titian, Goya, Rubens, Rembrandt, Ingres, Renoir and many more.

DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI AWARD WINNERS RECEIVE UNIVERSITY’S HIGHEST HONOR

SMU recognized leaders in culture, medicine and business in October 2014 with the Distinguished Alumni Awards, the highest honor the University can bestow upon graduates. Recipients were (L-R) cardiologist John Frank Harper, M.D. ’68, honored military veteran and banker Frank M. Dunlevy ’71 and Dallas Arboretum president and CEO Mary Brinegar ’69. Innovative retailer Alexandra Dillard Lucie ’05 received the University’s Emerging Leader Award, which recognizes an influential alumnus who graduated in the past 15 years. Past DAA recipients also were honored as history makers as part of SMU’s ongoing centennial commemoration.
GAMING ICONS VISIT GUILDHALL in SALUTE to PROGRAM’S QUALITY

SMU’s Guildhall hosted the first visit to a North American university by the Japanese team that developed the best-selling videogame series Final Fantasy. Square Enix art director and gaming icon Yusuke Naora (far right, with Guildhall art creation specialist Nick Heitzman) met with students, critiqued portfolios and gave master classes. Guildhall, located at SMU-in-Plano, has received a No. 3 worldwide rating for its master of Interactive Technology program from The Princeton Review three years in a row.

NEW RESIDENTIAL COMMONS SYSTEM BUILDS COMMUNITY AND ENRICHES CAMPUS LIFE

SMU’s new Residential Commons (RC) system proved to be truly transformative in its first year of operation in 2014–15. Eighty percent of students reported that their Commons was a great place to connect with fellow students, and they overwhelmingly liked the presence of faculty in their residence halls. The Residential Commons includes living-and-learning communities with classrooms and group, social and cultural activities. Five new residence halls opened as Residential Commons last year, and six existing halls were renovated as Residential Commons. Residents of each Commons include first- and second-year students from various backgrounds. Each Commons has developed traditions and other activities, such as RC Olympics (left), that create a sense of community among residents.

CONSTRUCTION BEGINS ON NEW HEALTH CENTER

SMU broke ground in December on the new Dr. Bob Smith Health Center, a 33,000-square-foot facility to provide comprehensive outpatient health care to more than 11,000 students. The new two-story building will provide outpatient medical care for students, including laboratory, radiology and pharmacy services. The Center is scheduled for completion in spring 2016. A $5 million gift from the Dr. Bob and Jean Smith Foundation funded the new building, named for Dr. Bob Smith ’44, ’46, a longtime Dallas pediatrician. Attendees at the groundbreaking included (L-R from center) Dr. Bob and Jean Smith Foundation President Sally Smith Mashburn ’77 and Foundation Directors Scott Smith ’79 and Marty Smith Kelley ’81.
SMU emphasizes COMMUNITY CONNECTIONS

The University strengthened its connection to the community through a number of outreach initiatives and public events throughout 2014–15. Examples include:

• In September 2014 more than 700 SMU students, faculty, staff and alumni pounded the pavement of downtown Dallas to raise awareness about heart health and wellness at the American Heart Association’s Dallas Heart Walk – the largest heart walk in the nation (below). The event was co-chaired by Hunter L. Hunt ‘90 and Christopher W. Kleinert ‘88. Gerald J. Ford ‘66, ‘69 and Mustang men’s basketball coach Larry Brown served as honorary co-chairs of SMU’s contingent.

• Approximately 200 alumni, students, faculty, staff and alumni in 15 U.S. cities participated in the 2014 Stampede of Service day in November. SMU volunteers in Dallas worked at eight service sites, including the American Red Cross, Autism Treatment Center and Dallas Zoological Society. Alumni across the country worked in locations such as food banks and children’s shelters.

EXPENDITURES TOWARD STRATEGIC GOALS

During the past decade SMU has increased annual expenditures for scholarships, faculty and academic achievement in support of goals identified in the University’s Strategic Plan.

STUDENT SUPPORT
Annual University expenditures for tuition scholarships

FACULTY SUPPORT
Annual University expenditures for academic instruction

ACADEMIC SUPPORT
Annual University expenditures for academic support, including library, advising and technology resources
The SMU endowment ended the fiscal year on May 31, 2015 with a market value of $1.505 billion. This represented an increase of $81.4 million compared to the market value on May 31, 2014. Substantial endowment gifts of $40.2 million were received for the one-year period, while endowment distributions of $60.2 million provided support to University operations and accounted for 16% of the operating revenue budget. Multiple restricted and unrestricted purposes were funded, and included spendable funds for scholarships, faculty support, educational programs and libraries.

Total return was 6.18% for the one-year period ending May 31, 2015. Global Equities and Diversifying Strategies generated strong returns for the portfolio; within the private investment portfolio, Venture Capital was a significant contributor to performance. The current global environment continues to challenge institutional investors, and equity volatility has increased over the last 12 months. A stronger U.S. dollar and falling commodity prices have put pressure on Emerging Markets and foreign earnings of U.S. companies. Slowing growth in China, a sustained period of lower oil prices, the potential for the Federal Reserve to raise interest rates and geopolitical tensions in the Middle East and Asia are additional areas of concern.

SMU’s donors have always been generous, and we thank them for their support of the University and the endowment over the past year. We pledge to concentrate on investment strategies and opportunities that should allow the endowment to grow over time, and to maintain appropriate levels of risk and diversification. Meeting these goals over the long term will enable the endowment to support SMU into perpetuity.

The Second Century Campaign continued to support SMU’s remarkable progress in 2014–15, enabling the University to move forward on enhancing student quality, faculty and academic excellence and the campus experience. By May 31, 2015, the end of the fiscal year, the campaign had generated a total of $987 million in commitments, which included more than $113 million in new commitments in 2014–15.

CAMPAIGN STATISTICS (as of May 31, 2015):

- Endowed funding to support 552 new scholarships
- 45 new endowed faculty positions for a total of 107

The inspiring support from alumni, parents, faculty, staff, students, friends and organizations for SMU continued in 2014–15. This support, counting toward the success of The Second Century Campaign, is contributing to the University’s exciting progress and enabling SMU to lay a strong foundation for the future.

Highlights of the fiscal year include:

- More than $117 million in cash contributions were received, an amount up more than five percent over last year and the second highest recorded annual revenue total in SMU history.

- SMU Athletics marked the seventh consecutive record-setting fundraising year for annual giving. More than $13.3 million was raised in total operations support, exceeding by 24% the amount raised in the previous fiscal year, which also set a record. This success was due in large part to a 61% increase in Mustang Club annual gifts, resulting in a total of $5.3 million, as compared to a $3.3 million total last year. Capital and endowment giving added nearly $6.4 million in support for the SMU Tennis Complex, Trinity Forest Golf Course and Moody Coliseum renovation, bringing the total amount of revenue received for SMU Athletics in FY15 to more than $19.7 million.

- 11 new endowments for faculty positions were established, supporting SMU’s drive to reach a University total of 110 such substantially endowed positions.

- Alumni participation for the year reached 26 percent, exceeding the goal of 25 percent. More than 550 alumni volunteered to contact their classmates as part of the Join the Stampede giving campaign to reach this key campaign goal.

- 3,570 households made contributions totaling $1,000 or more and are recognized as President’s Associates.

- 13,791 households made gifts and pledge payments to SMU in at least two consecutive years and are recognized as members of the Hilltop Society. 2,762 households have contributed consecutively for at least 10 years.

- 56.9 percent of alumni have made at least one gift thus far in the campaign.

For more information about Hilltop Society, please visit smu.edu/hilltop.
Today the University is moving forward with unbridled optimism to define its second century of achievement, building on the dreams of the visionaries who founded SMU more than 100 years ago. The University is rising in prominence and impact among national universities by dramatically increasing support for student quality, faculty and academic excellence and SMU’s unique campus experience, living up to its promise, “World Changers Shaped Here.”
SMU’s Second Century Celebration is a historic opportunity to highlight the University’s accomplishments and growing international prominence in leadership, innovation, creativity and service as we usher in a second century of achievement.
