AN UNFORGETTABLE YEAR

SMU celebrated the centennial of its opening as well as the successful completion of the largest campaign in University history in 2015–16, during a year that will be remembered for as long as SMU exists. As the campus community joined together to mark SMU’s first 100 years of achievement, donors to The Second Century Campaign propelled SMU into the ranks of the nation’s most prestigious institutions of higher education through their generous and, ultimately, record-setting support. The spirit of progress that has marked SMU in recent years continued to permeate life on the Hilltop, as the University took new strides to enhance and strengthen its student quality, faculty and academic excellence and the campus experience. And, as students and faculty attained ever-increasing levels of accomplishment, the University began to look forward to the next chapter of its life as a global resource dedicated to education and the creation of new knowledge.

LETTER FROM THE CHAIR OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

October 2016

This SMU 2015–16 Annual Report is the record of an extraordinary year in the life of the University. In recent months the campus community commemorated the end of The Second Century Celebration, which marked the anniversaries of SMU’s founding and opening, and SMU Unbridled: The Second Century Campaign, the largest fundraising initiative in SMU’s history.

President R. Gerald Turner’s announcement that the campaign total had reached $1.15 billion was a proud moment for all of us who care about the future of SMU. All Mustangs should be proud of the leadership of President Turner, whose vision and unflagging efforts were central to the campaign’s achievements. I also want to express my appreciation to the 65,000 generous donors whose gifts have had such a profound impact and enabled SMU to set a record for the largest amount ever raised by a private university in Texas.

The Second Century Campaign donors provided 689 new endowed student scholarships; raised the previous number of 62 endowed faculty positions to a new total of 116; and provided for 68 new or significantly enhanced academic programs and initiatives, including endowments for two schools. Twenty-four capital projects also have been substantially funded.

While the campaign’s statistics are astonishing, the true story of the campaign’s impact will only be told in the years to come. That impact will reveal itself in the lives of students who benefit from the extraordinary education they receive, the top faculty experts who advance their fields and create new knowledge that drives our economy, and in SMU’s growing influence as a national and international leader in education and research.

Thanks are due to all Second Century Campaign volunteers, whose hard work did so much to achieve campaign success. I want also to express my heartfelt gratitude to the other members of the Campaign Leadership Council for their efforts, wisdom and generosity, all of which were of paramount importance in this extraordinary endeavor.

Because of the inspiring contributions of Second Century Campaign donors, I strongly believe that SMU’s best days are still to come. I hope that all who played a part in the campaign take pride in the future you have made possible.

This 2015–16 Annual Report tells the story of the year that served as a capstone to both the celebration of SMU’s centennial and The Second Century Campaign, the first in SMU history to exceed $1 billion. It was a year of major progress, as SMU continued to enhance the quality of our students, faculty and campus – thanks to you and tens of thousands of fellow supporters.

As you will see in the pages of this report, the entrepreneurial spirit of the University – one of its distinguishing characteristics – remains strong. Students and faculty in every academic discipline are seeing opportunities to create something new in the world and working hard to bring those ideas to life.

The University’s founders had the foresight to understand what a great institution of higher education could mean for an ambitious young city. Stories throughout this report show how SMU’s relationship with Dallas continues to enable students and faculty to take advantage of unique learning, research, social and career opportunities that provide a platform for making global impact.

In December 2015, the SMU Board of Trustees endorsed a new strategic plan for the University that charts a course for the next decade, one in which the University will continue to enhance its programs, expand its global impact and rise in prominence. Building on its current strengths, SMU will continue to respond to the evolving needs of constituents within the Metroplex and beyond, to make an impact that transcends borders in our global society.

The University’s first president, Robert S. Hyer, said at SMU’s founding, “Universities do not grow old, but live from age to age in immortal youth.” Appropriately, SMU continues to evolve to address the changing needs of our students and our world while remaining true to what has always made the University great.

Thank you for all you do to contribute to SMU’s bold future.

SMU CELEBRATES CENTENNIAL ON HOMECOMING WEEKEND

SMU marked Homecoming Weekend in September with a historic, high-spirited celebration of the University’s 100th birthday. Highlights included a centennial countdown concert, a commemorative worship service, a special all-campus ceremony and a picnic. Bells pealed Sept. 24 at United Methodist churches across the state in support of SMU’s centennial.

The annual Homecoming parade featured the SMU Parade of Giants, 10 towering puppets representing key figures in SMU history, along with student-built floats and more than 30 former Homecoming queens and kings. A centennial fireworks extravaganza capped the weekend.

The centennial commemoration marked the conclusion of SMU’s Second Century Celebration, a five-year period from 2011 through 2015 commemorating the 100th anniversaries of the University’s founding and opening. The Second Century Celebration was a historic opportunity to highlight SMU’s progress and growing international prominence in leadership, innovation, creativity and service.

The celebration also helped shine a bright light on the achievements and contributions made by SMU students, faculty and alumni who have defined the University as a top-tier institution with global impact. Special commemorations, including Year of the Library, Year of the Faculty and Year of the Student, celebrated the importance of key components of the University.

SMU owes a debt of gratitude to the leaders and members of the Centennial Host Committee, who spearheaded The Second Century Celebration and whose efforts throughout the celebration were critical in ensuring its success. For more information, please visit smu.edu/100.
CAMPAIGN FINAL YEAR ACHIEVES UNBRIDLED SUCCESS

SMU Unbridled: The Second Century Campaign, which officially ended December 31, 2015, raised gifts totaling $1.15 billion, the largest amount ever raised by a private university in Texas. SMU celebrated the accomplishments of SMU Unbridled: The Second Century Campaign during the first Founders’ Day Weekend of the University’s second century, April 15–16. The SMU community gathered for a campaign finale on the South Plaza of the Hughes-Trigg Student Center with a salute to the campaign’s major and leadership donors, the dedication of the Crain Family Centennial Promenade and the unveiling of a campaign major donor monument, including plaques listing major donors to The Second Century Campaign.

The following pages provide an overview of the campaign’s key accomplishments. For more details about campaign achievements and complete lists of campaign donors and volunteers, please visit smu.edu/secondcentury.

BROAD SUPPORT

The Second Century Campaign, the largest and most successful fundraising initiative in SMU’s history, raised $1.15 billion for the enhancement of the University’s student quality, faculty and academic excellence and the campus experience. While the campaign officially ended December 31, 2015, it continues to have an impact on every department and area as well as on each of SMU’s three campuses, in Dallas, Plano and Taos, New Mexico. The campaign also strengthened SMU’s national presence, drawing increased focus on the University’s progress and growth and generating gifts from alumni, family and friends across the country and also internationally. For a campaign timeline, please visit smu.edu/secondcentury.

ALUMNI GIVING

The Second Century Campaign set records for two key areas: 59 percent of alumni giving over the course of the campaign, and 26 percent of alumni giving in a single year, doubling the percentage before the campaign.
STUDENT QUALITY

Scholarship support is crucial in helping SMU attract and retain top undergraduate and graduate students, and can be life changing for student recipients. Thanks to support for The Second Century Campaign, SMU donors gave annually to hundreds of scholarships and created 689 endowed scholarships. The number greatly exceeds the University’s original goal of creating 500 endowed scholarships during the campaign. The range of academic scholarships offered by SMU has broadened to include general University scholarships as well as those that support specific studies, majors and interests. Together, they make SMU more accessible to students from diverse backgrounds, including many with substantial economic need.

NEW ENDOWED SCHOLARSHIPS

Increasing the number of endowed scholarships enables SMU to attract and retain the best students nationally and will continue to help the University compete for top students well into the future. Donors to endowed and annual student support gathered with current benefactors throughout the campaign.

Source: Estimates based on data from U.S. News & World Report
The extraordinary quality of SMU’s faculty is a defining feature of the University. Support for The Second Century Campaign enabled SMU to add 54 endowed faculty positions, reaching a University total of 116, and to provide funding for 68 new or enhanced academic programs and initiatives, including endowments for two schools. Endowments for new faculty positions enable SMU to broaden significantly the subjects researched and taught at the University. Thanks to campaign support, SMU will be able to provide faculty expertise on society’s most pressing issues well into the future.

INCREASED ENDOWED FACULTY POSITIONS

Faculty experts enhance the overall quality and academic reputation of a University. CAMPUS EXPERIENCE

A vital part of an SMU education is the campus experience, which supports academic achievement and provides diverse opportunities for personal growth. The Second Century Campaign has made a significant impact on campus life, providing resources for programs that complement the classroom education and encourage leadership development. The campaign also supported the creation of a new living-and-learning model of campus life, as well as facilities for student services and athletic competition. Construction and renovation of crucial campus facilities are ongoing.

Top students add immeasurably to the quality of a great university. The 689 endowed SMU student scholarships added through The Second Century Campaign have helped populate the Hilltop with some of the brightest young minds in the United States and many foreign countries. The extraordinary students pursuing knowledge at SMU distinguished themselves in 2015–16 through achievement in the classroom, in the library, in the laboratory, on the sports field and through their artistic expression. SMU’s inspiring students are demonstrating as never before that SMU is a national center for teaching, learning and research.

Nariana Sands ’16, a double major in computer science and engineering in the Lyle School of Engineering, spearheaded an initiative to turn a student-run SMU program for teaching English to University service workers into a permanent student organization with ongoing funding through SMU’s Engaged Learning program. (Read more about Engaged Learning on page 21.) Nariana, pictured at AT&T, where she had a summer internship working on emerging technologies with mobile applications, was named among Dallas–Fort Worth’s Most Influential College Students of 2016 by The City Influencer magazine.
Students earned prestigious academic awards in 2015–16, in recognition of their remarkable accomplishments and to support further in-depth study and research both at SMU and across the globe.

- Erin Piñon ’15 received a Fulbright grant to examine medieval and early modern manuscripts in Armenia for research that will illuminate understudied aspects of cultural identity. She earned a master’s degree in art history from Meadows School of the Arts.

- Hena Rafiq ’16 received a Fulbright English Teaching Assistant Award to work in Pristina, the capital of Kosovo, for nine months in 2016–17. She earned bachelor’s degrees in human rights and political science from Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences.

- Joseph Di Pane ’17, a double major in biological sciences and history in Dedman College, earned a Goldwater Scholarship to further the research he conducts on the molecular basis of neurodegeneration as a Hamilton Undergraduate Research Scholar.

- Patricia Nance ’17 received a Goldwater Scholarship to support her study of the synthesis of antibacterial inorganic polymers. She is a double major in chemistry and mathematics in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences and a Hamilton Undergraduate Research Scholar.

- Daniela Santana ’16 and Nate White ’16 each earned Fulbright English Teaching Assistant Awards to work at elementary schools in Spain. Daniela received a master’s degree in education with a specialization in English as a Second Language (ESL) from the Annette Caldwell Simmons School of Education and Human Development. Nate earned bachelor’s degrees in economics from Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences and in educational studies from the Simmons School.

Student Body Stats

A total of 11,643 students were enrolled at SMU in fall 2015, including 6,411 undergraduate students and 5,232 graduate and professional students. They came from all 50 states and 92 foreign countries. Approximately 59 percent came from Texas, 41 percent from other U.S. states and 14 percent from foreign countries. Minority students constituted about 26 percent of the overall student population.
SCHOLARSHIP AND STUDENT SUPPORT GROWS

Gifts for scholarships and other forms of student support are critical for helping SMU attract and retain high-performing undergraduate and graduate students. Increasing scholarship funding was one of three key priorities of The Second Century Campaign, and throughout 2015–16 SMU received support for a total of 102 endowed scholarships, plus generous annual gifts for student support. The range of academic scholarships created by generous donors has broadened to include general University scholarships, those that support studies in specific subjects and specific majors, scholarships for veterans and military dependents, and those that enhance diversity on the SMU campus.

Leading support for students received in 2015–16 included:

• $3.8 million for Hunt Leadership Scholarship Program from Nancy Ann Hunter Hunt ’65 and Ray L. Hunt ’65

• $1.75 million from Sarah Fullinwider Perot ’83 and Ross Perot, Jr., to establish the Thomas W. Luce, III Centennial Dedman Law Scholars Program

• $1 million planned gift from Abha Singh Divine ’89 and James S. Divine ’89 will ultimately establish an endowed President’s Scholarship and an endowed scholarship in electrical engineering.

• $1 million planned gift from Robert C. S. Embree M.B.A. ’13 will ultimately support the Robert C. S. Embree Endowed Scholarship in Cox School of Business, the Larry J. Embree Endowed Scholarship in Dedman College, the Donald J. Embree Endowed Scholarship in Meadows School of the Arts and the Mustang Club.

• $1 million from Carl Sewell ’66 and Peggy Higgins Sewell ’72 for Sewell Provost Scholarships for Edwin L. Cox School of Business

• $500,000 from The Belo Foundation to establish a new endowment in the Meadows School’s Division of Journalism to support recruitment of students with diverse backgrounds

STUDENTS EXPRESS GRATITUDE FOR LIFE-CHANGING SCHOLARSHIPS

Each year scholarship recipients are invited to write letters of appreciation to donors whose generosity has enabled them to attend the University. It is an SMU Annual Report tradition to present a few excerpts from these many heartfelt notes, which are below:

Thank you for your kindness and generosity in providing scholarships for students like myself. I am so grateful to be the recipient of an Edwin L. Cox BBA Scholarship, without which none of the wonderful experiences I have enjoyed at SMU would have been possible. It is my hope that I might be able to similarly impact the lives of others one day.

Catherine Brinker ’17

One of the most exciting parts of my time here at SMU has been my involvement with the Engineers Without Borders and our project in Bolivia designing and beginning to implement a constant source of water for a community. I am extremely grateful for your generous contribution to my education, which is constantly molding me into a better student and better person.

Richey Burns ’18

At the end of this year I am applying to medical school. At SMU, my studies have provided me with a great sense of satisfaction, a feeling of purpose and a tangible measure of success. I will always remember the impact that this scholarship has had on my life. I would not be at SMU without your support.

Lucy McCollom ’17

I truly feel like SMU provides the best opportunities for growth and leadership for any field of interest, especially to undergraduate students. Here, I have garnered a passion for educating others about human rights around the world, and this would not be at all possible without your generosity, so thank you!

Karly Zrake ’19
STUDENTS’ BIG IDEAS BENEFIT SOCIETY

In 2015–16 Big iDeas marked its ninth year as SMU’s signature program for student development of sustainable ideas that bring value to society. Fifteen undergraduate teams launched new businesses through the initiative. These six interdisciplinary student teams won grants of up to $5,000 through the Big iDeas Business Plan Competition in January:

• Jack Reynolds ’15, Edward Allegra ’16 and Miguel Quimbar ’17 developed their BioLum smartphone-based imaging system that is able to diagnose, monitor and help treat asthma.

• Andrew Elias ’19, Nayla Chalhoub ’17, Hannah Taylor ’16 and Joey McAteer ’16 created Home Run Deliveries, an app that will enable people to order food from concession stands at sporting events and have it delivered to their seats.

• Jason Waller ’17 founded Emergent Services, which helps veterans transition from active duty by working with insurance companies to employ them as independent property insurance adjusters.

• Anna Norkett ’16 and Olivia Nguyen ’17 created College Bound, a Saturday enrichment program that prepares low-income students who are first-generation Americans to both gain admission to and succeed in college.

• Meghan Scott ’17, Katie Meier ’16, Margie Anderson ’17, Caroline Carter ’18, Emily Towler ’16, Pranav Pradeep ’19, Jordan Vallee ’18, Kayce Pederson ’16, Maddie Herskind ’16 and Mackenzie Korsi ’19 organized the third annual Reading for a Reason, an event promoting literacy among elementary students in underprivileged parts of Dallas and educating parents in how best to support them.

• Tor Lundstrom ’18 and Arthur Work ’18 created Leviathan, a versatile and easy-to-use computer privacy solution for casual surfers through corporations.
STUDENTS EXCEL IN ENGAGED LEARNING

A record-setting 170 SMU undergraduates created cutting-edge projects in research, service and creative activities through SMU’s Engaged Learning initiative in 2015–16. Since its inception in 2011, 82 percent of the program’s graduating seniors have been accepted into graduate school or obtained employment in a field directly related to their project. Engaged Learning students, called Fellows, work closely with a University mentor to develop an individual research, creative, service or internship project that expands their classroom learning. Approved projects are eligible to receive up to $2,000 in grants for related expenses, and each completed project is documented in the SMU Digital Repository.

Students who successfully complete all four phases of an Engaged Learning Fellowship – proposal, project, presentation and publication – receive University Curriculum credit and a special notation on their transcript at graduation. A small sample illustrates the diversity of interests and achievements:

- Ryan Blitzer ’16, an advertising major in Meadows School of the Arts, created Pieces, a feature-length film exploring the nature of people with Dissociative Identity Disorder, their coping mechanisms and their ability to form relationships.

- Daniel Gum ’16, a physics and mechanical engineering double major in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences and the Lyle School, discovered more than a dozen new stars by analyzing previously known variable stars, gamma ray bursts and other phenomena detectable with SMU’s ROTSE-III telescope at McDonald Observatory.

- Nohemi Mora ’16, an environmental engineering major in Lyle School of Engineering, developed an activity book to teach children about the air-quality index as an intern in the City of Dallas Office of Environmental Quality. She also developed Spanish-language outreach materials on water conservation tailored for Dallas’ Latino communities. Nohemi was the University’s 2015–16 Umphrey Lee Award winner for community involvement.

- Reagan Rexford ’16, a biological sciences and markets and culture double major in Dedman College, shadowed dentists administering care in rural Panamá, where she became part of a team created to promote routine dental hygiene. She later developed an afterschool dental outreach program for young children and their families in Dallas.
SMU STUDENTS SHARE IDEAS WITH INTERNATIONAL THOUGHT LEADERS

A record number of SMU students discussed their work on issues affecting their communities and the world at the 2016 Clinton Global Initiative University (CGI U) meeting in April. Nine undergraduate and graduate students were selected to travel to the University of California-Berkeley to meet and share ideas with international thought leaders and policy makers. Graduate student Devon Skerritt was invited to attend the CGI-America meeting in June based on the promise of his project to educate and develop the next generation of social impact entrepreneurs.

RESEARCH DAY HIGHLIGHTS STUDENTS’ WORK IN VARIOUS DISCIPLINES

Students showed their work across a variety of disciplines at Research Day 2016 in February. The annual event brings together the campus community with peers and industry leaders in North Texas. Research Day presenters include both master’s and doctoral candidates as well as a growing number of undergraduate researchers. Here are some of the presenters:

- Subil Abraham ’16, a Ph.D. graduate in computer science and engineering in the Lyle School, is working to establish accurate and effective analytics strategies that will protect critical information infrastructures from external threats.

- Faris Altamimi ’12, a Ph.D. candidate in civil and environmental engineering in the Lyle School of Engineering, is researching ways to manage the natural biological reactions in landfill garbage to achieve overall reduction in waste and increased production and capture of methane for energy use.

- Rose Ashraf ’16, a Ph.D. candidate in psychology in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences who earned her master’s degree from SMU, is studying how harsh verbal discipline in the home predicts cessation of conflict. She won the award for best graduate student paper at the biennial meeting of the Society for Research in Human Development, held in Denver in March.

- Patricia Nance ’17, a chemistry and mathematics major in Dedman College, is investigating antimicrobial inorganic polymers called polyphosphazenes that may serve as infection-preventing surface coatings for reconstructive breast implants. She received a 2016–17 Barry Goldwater Scholarship and will present her research at the national American Chemical Conference in Philadelphia this fall.

- Nicholas Saulnier ’15, a master’s degree candidate in electrical engineering in the Lyle School, has created a mobile, low-cost hardware and software design that will allow nurses without specialized training to screen patients for cervical cancer – the third most common cancer worldwide and the leading cause of cancer mortality among women in developing countries.

- Benjamin Wise ’16, a mechanical engineering, physics and mathematics major in the Lyle School and Dedman College, is researching new technology to create implantable, biocompatible field sensors capable of interpreting nerve impulses, a key step in the development of advanced prosthetic devices.
STUDENT TRAVEL PROGRAMS SUPPORT GLOBAL EDUCATION

Nearly 500 SMU students studied abroad in 2015–16 with SMU Abroad programs in Africa, Asia, Europe, Latin and South America, the Middle East and Oceania during 2015–16. SMU offers 148 programs in 50 countries, with unique opportunities for international research, study tours, internships and service. SMU also offered other opportunities for global education. They included:

- Richter Fellowships, awarded to approximately 25 undergraduate Honors students, enabling them to conduct independent research projects on topics of international dimensions or multicultural projects within the United States or abroad under the guidance of a faculty mentor.

- Maguire Center for Ethics and Public Responsibility Public Service Fellowships, which in 2015–16 provided summer stipends for 11 undergraduate and graduate students to conduct ethics research in locations around the world. Projects ranged from volunteering with a foundation to provide emergency assistance following the April 2015 earthquake in Nepal to interning with a London nonprofit dedicated to serving refugees while examining social, economic and political inclusivity for ostracized immigrants.

- The Embrey Human Rights Program, through which 18 SMU students, alumni, faculty and community members traveled to Italy in March to learn about the nearly 8,000 victims of the Holocaust in the country during World War II. The group visited sites in and around Rome, Florence, Bologna, Bolzano and Trieste to “confront the horrific crimes Germans committed against Jews and other innocent civilians, especially after Italy switched sides in 1943 and joined the Allied effort,” said Director Rick Halperin.

- SMU Alternative Breaks, a student organization offering community service trips in the United States and abroad during academic breaks. Eight teams of students, faculty and staff took advantage of spring break to serve communities across the country, including at a food bank in Atlanta, a child crisis center in St. Louis and a disaster recovery organization in New Orleans.

- The 2016 Civil Rights Pilgrimage, which brought students, faculty and staff together to visit historic sites and meet with witnesses of the Civil Rights movement. During an eight-day bus journey participants walked across Selma’s Edmund Pettus Bridge to mark the 51st commemoration of Bloody Sunday and also visited Little Rock Central High School in Arkansas; Montgomery’s Dexter Avenue Baptist Church, where the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. served as pastor; the home of slain Civil Rights leader Medgar Evers, in Jackson, Miss.; the campus of the University of Mississippi in Oxford; and the Lorraine Motel in Memphis, where Dr. Martin Luther King was assassinated.
WORLD-CHANGING FACULTY AND ACADEMICS

Great universities are shaped by scholars who create and share knowledge. Support for The Second Century Campaign has enabled SMU to reach and exceed its goal for establishing new endowed faculty positions, helping to attract leading experts in an astonishing array of fields and significantly enhancing the University’s academic offerings and critical research initiatives. New faculty endowments and the scholars they bring to the Hilltop also strengthen SMU’s reputation as a repository of expertise in socially relevant topics. Support for facilities and academic programs have further contributed to the University’s quality as an academic center excelling in both teaching and inquiry.

Steven C. Currall, whose record of academic leadership includes achievements at Rice University, University College London and the University of California at Davis, was named in January as provost and vice president for academic affairs at SMU. Currall, a psychological scientist, served most recently as senior advisor for strategic projects and initiatives to the UC Davis chancellor. He is the lead author of Organized Innovation: A Blueprint for Renewing America’s Prosperity and a frequently quoted source for national and international media.
NEW LEGAL CENTER TO COMBAT WRONGFUL CONVICTIONS AND OVERINCARCERATION

In April SMU launched the new Deason Family Criminal Justice Reform Center in Dedman School of Law, where scholars will undertake independent research and develop educational opportunities on topics such as the causes of wrongful convictions and overincarceration, and ensuring the fair and ethical treatment of individuals at all stages of the criminal justice process. The Center will be supported by combined gifts totaling $7 million from the Deason Foundation and the Charles Koch Foundation. The Center will focus on sentencing and other issues that have led the United States to have 25 percent of the world's prison population. (L-R) Doug Deason and Dedman Law Dean Jennifer Collins

NEW FONDREN EXHIBITION SPACE OPENS WITH SHOW OF DEGOLYER TREASURES

“Books, Buildings and Benefactors” was the first exhibit held in the new Hillcrest Foundation Exhibit Hall, completed as part of the first phase of renovations of Fondren University Library. The modern, spacious new venue will highlight on an ongoing basis signature items from the DeGolyer Library Special Collections, such as rare books, manuscripts, photographs, prints and ephemera. The inaugural exhibit, which opened in April as part of Founders’ Day festivities, included political items, such as a 1900 William Jennings Bryan presidential campaign poster, first-edition books by William Faulkner and J.D. Salinger as well as historic SMU photos.
NEW CENTER PROMOTES U.S.-MEXICO TIES

A new center to research and promote policy-based discussion on the economic, political and social ties between Mexico and Texas was established as part of SMU’s John Goodwin Tower Center for Political Studies in April. The Mission Foods Texas-Mexico Center is made possible through a total gift commitment of $4 million from GRUMA-Mission Foods, a Mexican corporation based in Dallas, and expands on the reach of Mission Foods’ Texas-Mexico Program. Research programs focus on such issues as trade, investment, dynamic economic sectors, government and political relations, human capital and security. The new center also will work in collaboration with the Cox School of Business.

SMU CO-HOSTS GLOBAL PALEONTOLOGY CONFERENCE

About 1,200 scientists from around the world gathered in Dallas in October for the 75th Annual Meeting of the Society of Vertebrate Paleontology, which was jointly hosted by SMU’s Roy M. Huffington Department of Earth Sciences in Dedman College and the Perot Museum of Science and Nature. Dallas Mayor Mike Rawlings proclaimed Oct. 11–17, 2015, Vertebrate Paleontology Week in Dallas on behalf of the Dallas City Council.

AFRICAN-AMERICAN AUTHORS GATHER FOR THE THIRD YEAR AT SMU-IN-TAOS

Kimbilio Retreat, a weeklong conference of some of the nation’s leading African-American fiction authors, was held in July 2015 at SMU-in-Taos, which has hosted the conference each year since its inception in 2013. David Haynes, professor of English and director of Creative Writing, spearheads the gathering at the University’s campus in the Carson National Forest in New Mexico. Kimbilio attracts a range of both established and up-and-coming authors. Several books workshopped at the inaugural 2013 retreat have now been published. The conference represents an effort to forge a stronger national community for African-American authors.
NEW PERKINS DEAN BRINGS BROAD INTERNATIONAL PERSPECTIVE

Craig C. Hill, a Duke University leader in theological education with expertise in practice, research and church relations, was appointed in July 2016 as the new dean of Perkins School of Theology. Hill brings a broad overview of best practices and evolving challenges in different regions of the nation and world from his work at seminaries in Moscow, Russia; Seoul, Korea; and the University of Cambridge, England. Hill is the author of numerous scholarly articles and books, including The Greatest Among You: Reclaiming a New Testament Perspective on Status and Ambition, which is forthcoming.

GIFTS ENHANCE ACADEMIC PROGRAMS

Enhancing SMU’s remarkable academic offerings was a central goal of The Second Century Campaign. TWO SMU ALUMNI CELEBRATE CENTENNIAL PROFESSORSHIPS IN DEDMAN COLLEGE AND COX SCHOOL

Two Centennial Professorships were celebrated in 2015–16 through gifts totaling $2.5 million from Kathryn H. Arata ’87, ’91 and Stephen L. Arata ’88 (left, with President Turner). They are the Bonnie Wheeler Centennial Professorship in Medieval European Literature in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences and a Centennial Professorship in finance in the Cox School of Business, established through donations of $1.25 million each. The Aratas, SMU graduates and parents of Jeremy Arata ’16, were both students of Associate Professor and Director of Medieval Studies Bonnie Wheeler, who founded the interdisciplinary SMU Medieval Studies Program. The Aratas’ Cox School gift honors former Finance Department Chair Christopher B. Barry, who died in 2012. The Aratas also established the Jeremy duQuesnay Adams Centennial Professorship in Western European Medieval History in 2011. Endowments for Centennial Professorships were established for the life of The Second Century Campaign to provide permanent funding as well as operational funds to initiate the position on an expedited basis.
NEW LYLE FACULTY MEMBER FOCUSES ON ENGINEERING AND ENTREPRENEURSHIP

Duncan MacFarlane, a pioneering photonics engineer whose contributions to various technologies have spurred advancements in a variety of industries, was named as the first holder of the Bobby B. Lyle Centennial Chair in Engineering Entrepreneurship in February. The creation of the new chair and MacFarlane’s assumption of the position was celebrated by a panel discussion moderated by MacFarlane (at lectern) with representatives from SMU’s seven schools sharing interdisciplinary strategies for advancing entrepreneurship. Among MacFarlane’s discoveries used in industry are those in the area of photonic filters, which can enhance clarity and the ability to tune in a signal. MacFarlane received bachelor’s and master’s degrees in electrical engineering from Brown University, a Ph.D. from Portland State University and his M.B.A. from SMU’s Cox School of Business.

ALTSHULER DISTINGUISHED TEACHERS ANNOUNCED

The Altshuler Distinguished Teaching Professor Award annually recognizes four SMU faculty members for their notable commitment to and achievements in fostering student learning. Recipients receive a $10,000 award and membership in SMU’s Academy of Distinguished Teachers. FIVE PROFESSORS NAMED FORD RESEARCH FELLOWS

Five distinguished SMU professors received awards for their outstanding research contributions when they were named 2016 Ford Research Fellows by the Board of Trustees. Established in 2002 through a $1 million pledge from SMU Trustee Gerald J. Ford ’66, ’69, the fellowships provide a cash prize for research support. Recipients were (L-R) Meghan Ryan, Gerald J. Ford Research Fellow and an associate professor in Dedman School of Law; Ali Beskok, professor and chair in the Department of Mechanical Engineering in Lyle School of Engineering; Frederick Chang, Bobby B. Lyle Centennial Distinguished Chair in Cyber Security and Director of the Darwin Deason Institute for Cyber Security, both in the Lyle School; Jodi Cooley-Sekula, associate professor of physics in Dedman College; and Mark Chancey, professor of religious studies in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences.
SMU RESEARCHERS EARN HONORS AND VISIBILITY

SMU faculty members conducted groundbreaking research in 2015–16 that yielded new insights and advanced understanding of a variety of subjects. Some were recognized with national honors while others drew the attention of media. All made advances in their disciplines that change the contours of knowledge. A few examples:

• Fred Chang, director of SMU’s Darwin Deason Institute for Cyber Security and Bobby B. Lyle Centennial Distinguished Chair in Cyber Security in the Lyle School of Engineering and former director of research for the National Security Agency, was elected in February to the prestigious National Academy of Engineering, among the highest honors bestowed in engineering. Chang and other new members will be formally inducted during a ceremony at the NAE’s Annual Meeting in Washington, D.C., on October 9, 2016. Chang is the second Lyle School professor to be named to the NAE, following Delores Etter, the founding director of the Caruth Institute for Engineering Education.

• Archaeologist David Meltzer, Henderson-Morrison Professor of Prehistory in SMU’s Dedman College, collaborated with an international team of scientists to resolve a long-running, bitter political dispute over the ancestry of Kennewick man, an 8,500-year-old male skeleton discovered in 1996 in the Columbia River in Washington state. The study, “The Ancestry and Affiliations of Kennewick Man” in the June 2015 journal Nature, tapped genome sequencing, making headlines when it yielded evidence to show he was Native American, and thus eligible to be repatriated and reburied.

• SMU psychologists Alicia Meuret and Thomas Ritz, working with University of Maryland engineers, have been awarded a National Institutes of Health grant of nearly $2 million for their joint project to create a wearable device for pediatric asthma patients that helps children avoid asthma triggers. The device will monitor air quality, carbon dioxide levels in the blood, physical activity and other stimuli to identify each patient’s individual asthma triggers and alert them when conditions are ripe for an attack. Meuret is director of the Anxiety and Depression Research Center and an associate professor in clinical psychology. Ritz is a professor of psychology.

• Nicolay Tsarevsky, assistant professor in the Department of Chemistry in SMU’s Dedman College of Humanities and Science, received in August 2015 a prestigious National Science Foundation CAREER Award, expected to total $650,000 over five years, to fund his research into new methods of creating polymers – whose uses range from fluorescent materials to drug carriers, to everyday technologies. Tsarevsky specializes in developing methods to make large polymeric molecules in a lab with desired shapes, sizes and functionalities.

INTERDISCIPLINARY ENGINEERING AND DESIGN DEGREE LAUNCHED

SMU began offering a Master of Arts in Design and Innovation (MADI) in fall 2015 through Lyle School of Engineering. The program, led by Kate Canales, director of Design and Innovation Programs at Lyle, is grounded in an approach known as “design thinking” and provides a toolkit for people working outside the typical design environment. Coursework and project-based learning experiences teach participants to combine meeting human needs with the nearly limitless possibilities of technology and the economic requirements for business success through design research, idea generation and rapid prototyping.
MU’s striking collegiate Georgian campus has always been a central component of the University’s educational experience. Thanks to generous support for The Second Century Campaign, the campus in recent years has undergone a notable transformation that has succeeded in adding to its impact and influence upon both students and faculty. Enhancements to libraries, laboratories, living quarters, athletic fields and a remarkable array of other facilities provide new forms of support for every area of endeavor and achievement. And programs that encourage students’ personal growth as citizens and leaders are further enhancing the extraordinary experience of life on the Hilltop.

Avery Acker ’16, an American Athletic Conference nominee for the NCAA Woman of the Year Award, led SMU volleyball to a program-record 27 wins. Selected as Academic All-American of the Year for Division I volleyball by the College Sports Information Directors of America, she is now in medical school.
SMU dedicated the new Carolyn and David Miller Campus Center at SMU-in-Taos in July 2015. The Center, named for lead donors David B. Miller '72, '73 and Carolyn L. Miller (center), creates a comfortable gathering place for campus and community groups. Seminar rooms, a fitness center, media room and a large gathering space are components of the Center, which also includes the William P. Clements, Jr. Great Hall, named for the late William P. Clements, Jr. '39. A Clements Foundation gift for the Center honors the former Texas governor, who made possible SMU’s acquisition of Fort Burgwin, a pre-Civil War cantonment, leading to the development of SMU-in-Taos.

SMU’s new Crum Lacrosse and Sports Field was dedicated in February, giving a wide range of club sports teams a new field to call home. The field was made possible by a generous gift from Gary T. Crum '69 and Sylvie P. Crum. Located along Bush Avenue, south of the George W. Bush Presidential Center, the Crum Lacrosse and Sports Field provides space for practice and games for club teams, including men’s and women’s lacrosse, which will have priority use of the field. The facility consists of a synthetic turf field with 6,945 square feet of space, a field house, six tennis courts and additional parking for Park Cities Plaza.
ONE-DAY INTERNET CHALLENGE GENERATES DONATIONS FOR STUDENT-FOCUSED INITIATIVES AND PROGRAMS

More than 1,300 donors supported the Mustangs Give Back challenge in March, providing funding for campus-wide projects and other important areas that have significant impact on today’s students. The one-day giving opportunity raised $186,119.54 for a wide range of student-focused programs and initiatives, including engineering research, new courses in emerging fields, tutoring and scholarships. A special Mustangs Give Back website provided profiles of 30 featured projects and their funding goals.

TATE LECTURE SERIES ATTRACTS COMPELLING NATIONAL LEADERS, ARTISTS

The 34th annual Willis M. Tate Distinguished Lecture Series featured such renowned speakers as former U.S. Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice, Council on Foreign Relations president Richard Haass and political news analyst David Gergen; Monuments Men Foundation founder and president and SMU graduate Robert Edsel ’79; NPR science correspondent Shankar Vedantam; acclaimed documentary filmmaker Ken Burns; spoken-word poet Sarah Kay; actor and breast cancer awareness advocate Rob Lowe (pictured above); and national security insiders Keith Alexander and Kevin Mandia with Fred Chang, director of SMU’s Darwin Deason Institute for Cyber Security. The season was capped with a lively discussion between political strategists James Carville and Karl Rove. The series, named for SMU president Willis M. Tate, raises more than $800,000 annually for academic scholarships that include SMU’s President’s Scholars Program.
SMU INITIATIVES STRENGTHEN COMMUNITY CONNECTION

SMU outreach programs and public events highlighted the University’s connection to the community throughout 2015–16. A few examples:

• SMU took part in the Mayor’s Summer Reading Club, an eight-week program in summer 2015, to support children and families across Dallas in reading efforts. Children who read for at least 30 minutes daily were eligible to win prizes, including an SMU prize pack and an SMU sign announcing “A Summer Reader Lives Here.” More than 20,000 Dallas families and children participated in the program.

• As part of SMU’s centennial celebration in September, 100 SMU students took part in Centennial Stampede of Service, a project to lead service projects at 10 local nonprofits. The students provided more than 300 service hours in one day at organizations throughout the city, including Interfaith Housing, Uplift Schools and the Dallas Public Library.

• In January SMU marked the 50th anniversary of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.’s 1966 speech on the Hilltop with a variety of events. A contingent of SMU representatives, including Student Body President Carlton Adams ’16, Association of Black Students President D’Marquis Allen ’16 and former Student Senate Chair Charles Cox ’66, who introduced King before his speech at SMU, presented a transcript of the speech and a photo from the event to the Dallas Civil Rights Museum at Martin Luther King Jr. Community Center. SMU students, faculty and staff joined in helping others with a “Day of Service” and were a part of the annual Dallas MLK Day Parade. And SMU President R. Gerald Turner and student leaders led the annual Unity Walk, a demonstration of the University’s support of King’s work, on Bishop Boulevard through the center of the main campus.

HISTORIAN AWARDED MEDAL OF FREEDOM

David McCullough, the prolific writer frequently referred to as “America’s greatest historian,” received the Medal of Freedom from the John Goodwin Tower Center for Political Studies in November. McCullough spoke at a public forum before receiving the award at a private dinner that included a discussion moderated by former U.S. Senator Alan K. Simpson. McCullough’s 11 books include Truman (1993) and John Adams (2001). The Medal of Freedom is presented every two years to an individual or individuals who have contributed to the advancement of democratic ideals and to the security, prosperity and welfare of humanity. Funds raised by the event support the Tower Center, which is part of Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences. (L-R) Former President George W. Bush, David McCullough and former First Lady Laura Welch Bush ’68.
TECHNOLOGY AND CIVIC LEADERS DELIVER COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

Technology and civic leaders Mary and Richard Templeton shared the delivery of the May Commencement address in Moody Coliseum. Richard Templeton, a member of the SMU Board of Trustees, is president and CEO of Texas Instruments, and Mary Templeton is a financial analyst and computer scientist. The Templetons talked about lessons learned from a swimming accident two-and-a-half years ago that left Mrs. Templeton paralyzed. “It is my enduring belief that you can let things either strengthen you or weaken you,” Mr. Templeton told the graduates. Mrs. Templeton said, “I’ve heard that the ultimate challenge for each of us is to leave everything we touch and every person we meet a little better than we found them.” The couple have three children, including Jim ’14, a Lyle School of Engineering graduate.

DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI, EMERGING LEADER AWARDS RECOGNIZE OUTSTANDING ACHIEVEMENTS

SMU honored cultural, business and education leaders with Distinguished Alumni Awards, the highest accolade the University bestows upon graduates, at a campus ceremony during SMU’s Homecoming and Centennial Celebration in September 2015. (L-R) Alumni Board Chair Peter A. Lodwick ’77, ’80 with DAA recipients: groundbreaking corporate executive and philanthropist Billie Ida Williamson ’74, finance educator Donald F. Jackson ’63 and arts patron Beth Fraser Enloe ’60. Award-winning author and religious leader Michael W. Waters ’02, ’06, ’12 received the University’s Emerging Leader Award, which recognizes an influential alumnus who has graduated in the past 15 years.

NEW COMPREHENSIVE HISTORY TRACES SMU’S FIRST CENTURY

The first comprehensive SMU history, One Hundred Years on the Hilltop, by Darwin Payne, professor emeritus of communications, was released in April as the University celebrated the first Founders’ Day of its second century. Made possible by a grant from the Hoblitzelle Foundation, the 591-page hardback book narrates the University’s evolution from a fledgling regional institution into a university of national stature. Payne taught journalism at SMU for 30 years.
MEADOWS MUSEUM CONTINUES ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION WITH MAJOR EXHIBITION

SMU’s Meadows Museum, which houses one of the world’s largest and most comprehensive collections of Spanish art outside Spain, celebrated the second half of its 50th anniversary by presenting Treasures from the House of Alba: 500 Years of Art and Collecting from September 2015 to January 2016. The exhibition was the first in the United States to present major portions of works from the House of Alba collection, one of the oldest and most significant private art collections in Europe.

MEADOWS MUSEUM ACQUIRES DALÍ MASTERPIECE

The Meadows Museum became the first Texas museum to add a painting by Surrealist master Salvador Dalí to its collection with the acquisition of L’homme poisson. The 1930 oil painting was displayed at the Meadows for the first time in an exhibition titled Dalí: An Early Surrealist Masterpiece that ran from January to August 2016. The acquisition of L’homme poisson was made possible by the generosity of The Meadows Foundation; Holly ’85 and Doug Deason; Mrs. Eugene McDermott; Linda Pitts Custard ’60, ’99 and William A. Custard ’57; and Gwen and Richard Irwin.

DALLAS HALL EARNS TOP SUSTAINABILITY CERTIFICATION

Iconic Dallas Hall, SMU’s oldest building, became the first academic building on a Texas university campus and only the second 100-year-old building in the United States to achieve LEED Gold Certification for the operation and maintenance of an existing building. LEED, or Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design, is a building certification program sponsored by the U.S. Green Building Council that recognizes building strategies that follow the strictest practices promoting environmental sustainability.

MEN’S BASKETBALL TEAM FINISHES IN NATIONAL TOP 25

The SMU men’s basketball team earned a 25-5 final record and a No. 24 ranking in the final AP national poll after achieving an 18-0 record in the first 66 days of the season. The team’s winning record was the best in recent years and one of the finest in the program’s history. Guard Nic Moore ’16 was named American Athletic Conference Player of the Year for the second consecutive season. Forward Markus Kennedy ’16 was named AAC Sixth Man of the Year and guard Shake Milton ’19 was honored as a member of the conference’s All-Rookie Team. More than 117,000 fans came to watch the men’s basketball team play at Moody Coliseum, setting a new program record.
NEW BASKETBALL HEAD COACHES NAMED

Tim Jankovich (Far Left) was named men’s basketball head coach in July 2016, after four years as associate head coach under Mustang head coach Larry Brown, who announced his departure. In fall 2016 Jankovich will embark on his 34th season as a collegiate coach and his 12th as a head coach. Travis Mays (Left) was named in April as SMU’s new head women’s basketball coach, coming to the Hilltop after 14 years as an assistant coach, where he served under three Hall of Fame coaches, and 11 years playing professionally. Mays also served four seasons as associate head coach at the University of Texas at Austin.

MUSTANG TEAMS EXCEL IN COMPETITION AND THE CLASSROOM

Mustang athletic teams excelled across the board in 2015–16, with three teams – men’s basketball, men’s soccer and equestrian – all ranked within the top 10 of their respective sports during the season, and the equestrian team reaching the NCEA National Championship quarterfinals. Three teams – men’s soccer, volleyball and women’s swimming and diving – also won conference championships. Twenty-seven student-athletes won individual conference championships. Sixty-three percent of SMU student-athletes hold a cumulative grade point average of 3.0 or higher, with SMU football setting new records during the spring semester for the program’s highest GPA in a single term and cumulatively.

Rhonda Rompola announced her retirement in February after serving for 25 years as SMU’s head women’s basketball coach, during which she won five conference championships and accumulated a 439-318 record. A former SMU player, Rompola joined the Mustangs’ coaching staff after graduating in 1983 and became the program’s head coach in 1991. She led the Mustangs to postseason competition 13 times, including seven NCAA Tournament berths. She guided her teams to 20-win seasons nine times and coached the Mustangs to a program-record 24 victories in 2007-08.

ACADEMIC SUPPORT
Annual University expenditures for academic support, including library, advising and technology resources
The SMU endowment ended the fiscal year on May 31, 2016, with a market value of $1.384 billion, representing a decrease of $121.3 million from the prior fiscal year. During the year the University received substantial endowment gifts of $29.8 million, plus many more new commitments that will be added to the endowment in future years. Endowment distributions of $59.7 million provided support to University operations and accounted for 14% of the operating revenue budget. Multiple restricted and unrestricted purposes were funded, including support for scholarships, faculty, educational programs and libraries.

Total return was -5.7% for the one-year period ended May 31, 2016. Although performance was disappointing this year, returns have been favorable over the past three and five years relative to peer institutions. The continued decline in oil prices negatively impacted the endowment’s energy investments and global equities also detracted from performance. International stocks continued to lag U.S. stocks during the fiscal year, as anemic growth rates, deteriorating profit margins and deflationary fears weighed heavily on European and Japanese equity markets. Despite these challenges, SMU remains focused on implementing long-term investment strategies that have served the University well in years past.

SMU’s donors have always been generous, and we thank them for their support of the University and the endowment over the past year. We pledge to continue concentrating on investment strategies and opportunities that should allow the endowment to grow over time and maintain appropriate levels of risk and diversification. Meeting these goals over the long term will enable the endowment to support SMU in perpetuity.

The inspiring support from alumni, parents, faculty, staff, students, friends and organizations for SMU continued in 2015–16. Bold investments throughout The Second Century Campaign have created a strong foundation for SMU’s future – and created new opportunities for donors to support students, faculty, academic programs and the campus experience.

Highlights of the fiscal year include:

- More than 31,000 donors collectively gave more than $99 million in cash contributions – the fourth highest recorded annual revenue total in SMU history. More than $46.5 million was given to support current operations, and $52.9 million was directed to capital projects and the SMU endowment.
- SMU Athletics marked the eighth consecutive record-setting fundraising year for gifts directed to current operations, with $10.4 million raised. Within that amount, unrestricted gifts through the Mustang Club totaled nearly $5.5 million, 80% higher than just four years ago. Capital and endowment giving added more than $8.1 million, led by gifts to the Trinity Forest Golf Course and Robson & Lindley Aquatics Center. Together, operational, capital and endowment revenue received for SMU Athletics in FY16 was more than $18.5 million.
- 3,500-plus households made contributions totaling $1,000 or more and are recognized as President’s Associates.
- More than 13,500 households made gifts and pledge payments to SMU in at least two consecutive years, and more than 3,000 households have contributed consecutively for at least 10 years. All are recognized as members of the Hilltop Society.
- 1,575 volunteers led and supported alumni, parent and friend activities around the world, and 72% of these volunteers also made a gift to SMU.
