Employee headcount: ~25,000. Revenue for 2014-2015: ~$4,000,000,000. Research funding was $786,000,000 in 2014-2015.

Reporting directly to the Chancellor (i.e., president) as Chancellor's Senior Advisor for Strategic Projects and Initiatives, this one-year project involved two responsibilities. First, I served as Co-Chair of the campus-wide strategic visioning "University of the 21st Century" Committee, which was comprised of 28 Vice Chancellors, Deans, faculty, staff, students, and alumni. Second, I led the strategic planning for a possible additional UC Davis campus in the Sacramento region. The campus would advance the university's public policy, education, business, and outreach programs. My role in planning the campus included creating the academic strategy, liaison to Academic Senate/Academic Federation, and analysis of physical facilities.

Accomplishments and Activities:

- Led the consultation process to develop a strategic vision for UC Davis as the University of the 21st Century. The process included over 400 meetings attended by over 1,600 members of the UC Davis community involving, for example, a one-half day faculty summit (jointly led by the university administration, the Academic Senate, and the Academic Federation), five town halls with students, one town hall with staff, two town halls in the UC Davis Health System, a meeting with Council Members of the City of Davis, a Sacramento Regional Partners gathering, and small group and one-on-one meetings. Also, worked with leaders of the Associated Students, University of California, Davis to solicit their formal recommendations on the future of UC Davis.

- The strategic visioning process resulted in a document entitled Envisioning UC Davis as the University of the 21st Century: An Invitation for Comment. This vision for UC Davis includes initiatives on global grand challenges (e.g., health, food, energy/sustainability), enhancing student success, efficient stewardship of university resources, and ways to better integrate the university's physical campuses.
- Authored a strategic plan for an additional UC Davis campus in Sacramento entitled, The University of California, Davis in Sacramento: An Innovation Laboratory for Creating the University of the 21st Century. The plan provides an intellectual case for the additional campus, as well as a proposed organizational structure for the planning process and a visualization of the campus buildings.
- Cultivated external relationships with, for example, Rabobank (a large Dutch bank), the Sacramento Area Council of Governments, and Mars, Inc., which made a $40,000,000 philanthropic commitment to UC Davis to found the Innovation Institute for Foods and Health.
