RETIRING FACULTY

BEVERLY M. CARL

Professor Carl received her B.S. and J.D. degrees from the University of Southern California, where she was elected to the Order of the Coif, and her Master of Laws degree from Yale Law School. She has served as a member of the SMU Law School faculty since 1970, teaching courses in International Trade & Investment Law, Private International Law & Arbitration, International Economic Development Law, Conflicts of Law, and Contracts. She was with the U.S. Department of State in the Agency for International Development from 1963-70; the U.S. Department of Commerce from 1961-62; and the U.S. Treasury Department from 1960-61. Professor Carl's honors include a Presidential appointment to the Board of Foreign Scholarships (the Fulbright Program) in 1980 and the Meritorious Honor Award for her work on the Nigeria-Biafra Relief program in 1970. Fellowships include Fulbright Awards in 1958, 1979, and 1986; and awards from Yale, University of Southern California, Del Amo (Spain), and Ebell. Professor Carl is listed in International Who's Who of Contemporary Achievement, World's Who's Who of Women, Who's Who of American Lawyers, Personalities of the South, and in Contemporary Authors. She has written extensively in the areas of international law and international economic development law, authoring or contributing to seven books and over 50 articles. She will retire as Professor emeritus of Law.

JOHN P. McELROY

Professor McElroy received a B.S. degree from Southwest Texas State University and an M.S. from Florida State University. He taught at Southern Methodist University for a total of 26 years and was chair of Studio Art Department 1971-75 and acting chair of the Division of Fine Arts 1973-74. He also helped develop the craft area of the new SMU student center. Professor McElroy has taught at University of Dallas, Stephen F. Austin College, and Florida State. He is a ceramist and woodworker. His commissioned works include the design of space and appointments at the St. Dunstan Church at Mineola. He has works in the permanent collections at Florida State University Museum, Southwest Texas State University, the Dallas Museum of Art, LeMoyne Foundation in Tallahassee, and the University of Dallas. Professor McElroy is a member of the Texas Potter's Guild, the National Ceramic Education Council, and a past president of the Southwest Ceramics Society. He will retire as Professor emeritus of Art.

J. CARTER MURPHY

Professor Murphy was a Fulbright Scholar in Denmark when he was writing his dissertation on international trade. He then received his Ph.D. from the University of Chicago in 1955. Altogether he spent twelve years at Washington University in St. Louis, coming to SMU in 1961 as a full professor of economics. In the intervening years he has taken time to teach or provide technical assistance in Egypt, Thailand, and Italy, and he spent one year as a senior staff economist at the President's Council of Economic Advisors in Washington. His career at SMU has encompassed teaching, research, and many outside lectures on international trade, finance, and other aspects of economic policy. For the last eight summers he has taught in the SMU-in-Oxford program. From 1963 to 67, he served the Department of Economics as director of graduate studies, and he then chaired the Department for four years bringing an NSF developmental grant and other funding to SMU. Southern Methodist University has honored Carter Murphy with awards for being an outstanding teacher, faculty member, and university servant, including the prestigious M Award and twice the Willis M. Tate Award. He was an active member of the University Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics in 1987-88, and in 1988-89 he was President of the Faculty Senate. He will retire as Professor emeritus of Economics.

BARBARA B. REAGAN

Professor at SMU since 1967, Barbara Reagan received her M.A. in Statistics from American University in 1947, and in 1952 her Ph.D. in Economics from Harvard University, where she was a Ferguson Fellow. She was a full-time researcher and Senior Project Leader before going into university teaching and research. Her publications focus on wage analysis and labor supply, especially the unprecedented move of women into the labor force. In the 1980's she was listed as a major economist whose research is among the most cited in economic journals (top 6 percent of all living economists around the world with cited research). She has served on major committees of the American Economics Association, and as President of the Southwestern Social Science Association. Her extensive business and community service includes financial board memberships and six years on the Dallas Morning News Board of Economists. At SMU she has served the Department of Economics as Director of Undergraduate Studies, and for the last six years as Department Chair. She was Secretary of the Faculty Senate in 1973-74 and President in 1981-1982. Her awards include Outstanding Teacher, the M Award for University Service, and the Willis M. Tate Award for outstanding faculty member. Barbara Reagan will retire as Professor emeritus of Economics.

DAN C. WINGREN

Professor Wingren is a graduate of SMU and received an M.E.A. degree from the University of Iowa where he did further work toward a doctoral degree in art history. He has taught for 24 years at SMU, in addition to teaching at the University of Texas, Trinity University, and The Dallas Museum. He was director of The San Antonio Art Institute from 1958-1961. Professor Wingren is a recipient of the Catherwood Travelling Fellowship, and he received the Meadows Distinguished Teaching Professorship for 1988-89. He is a practicing artist, and he has had 16 one-man shows since 1952. He is represented by Meredith Long Gallery of Houston. He has works in several public collections: Dallas Museum of Art, Witte Museum, Marion Koogler McNay Museum, Longview Junior Service League, Southern Methodist University, The University of Texas, The Carnegie Institute, The Texas Governor's Mansion. Corporate collections include the Chase Manhattan Bank, Southland Life Insurance Company, Texas Instruments, Quintana Petroleum, National Bank of Commerce (San Antonio), Tenneco Company (Houston), First National Bank of Fort Worth, and Bank of the Southwest (Houston). He will retire as Professor emeritus of Art.

CONFERRING OF HONORARY DEGREES

LILLIAN MOORE BRADSHAW, Doctor of Humane Letters

Civic leader, supporter of the arts, activist in the preservation of historical sites and records, inspiration to professional women, and nationally recognized leader in making public libraries more than storehouses of knowledge, Lillian Moore Bradshaw has had a long and distinguished career in the service of our city, our region, and our nation. As Director of the Dallas Public Library, she ushered it into a new era of providing information services for the broadest possible public. She has always resisted misguided efforts at censorship and, instead, has encouraged young and old, men and women, affluent and poor to see libraries as a vital part of daily living. Her leadership has also resulted in many of her former associates becoming heads of major libraries in Texas and elsewhere in the nation. In honoring Lillian Moore Bradshaw, Southern Methodist University recognizes a person who embodies the educational ideals it affirms, and we proudly confer upon her the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

Presented by Stanley J. Menking, Associate Dean for External Affairs and Professor of Practical Theology

GEORGE McCLELLAND FOSTER, Doctor of Humane Letters

Internationally recognized for his contributions to theory and practice in the field of anthropology, George McClelland Foster has for more than 50 years specialized, generalized, and applied his insights in order to deepen our understanding of human behavior. Striking out boldly in new directions, he helped to develop the fields of applied anthropology and medical anthropology in the post-World War II period. Through more than 40 years of fieldwork in the community of Tzintzuntzan in rural Mexico, he has stimulated new ways to comprehend the transformation of contemporary societies in the developing world. In more than 250 publications, including more than 20 books and monographs, his influence on the development of the social sciences around the world has been and continues to be extraordinary. The integrity of the work, like the man, stands as an exemplar. In recognition of his scientific, academic, and professional contributions to the social sciences in America and beyond, Southern Methodist University is proud to confer upon George McClelland Foster the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

Presented by Robert Van Kemper, Professor of Anthropology

ROY MICHAEL HUFFINGTON, Doctor of Humane Letters

Distinguished geologist, eminently successful explorer for and developer of the earth's energy resources and enlightened and responsible citizen of the world, Roy Michael Huffington has through his efforts in many fields in many areas made possible a significant improvement in the human condition. He has served his country in war with bravery, his university with thoughtfulness and generosity and humankind through tireless efforts in support of education, medicine, the arts and interaction between peoples across the face of the globe. In recognition of these signal accomplishments, Southern Methodist University is honored to confer upon its distinguished alumnus, Roy Michael Huffington, the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters honoris causa.

Presented by James E. Brooks, President of the Institute for the Study of Earth and Man and Professor of Geological Sciences

EDUARDO MATA, Doctor of Music

A conductor whose temperament, passion and consummate musical taste never fail to probe and illumine the depths of the music which he interprets, Eduardo Mata, distinguished Music Director of the Dallas Symphony Orchestra since 1977, has elevated the Dallas Symphony to new heights of artistic excellence. His inspired leadership generated the confidence in the orchestra that was necessary to make possible the erection of one of the great concert halls of the world. Under his baton the orchestra's acclaimed recordings and international tours have brought the organization prestige throughout the musical world. His loving commitment to the music of his Latin American heritage has introduced countless audiences to the richness and vitality of this often neglected musical literature, and his dedication to the music of his time has provided support and encouragement to aspiring and established composers in this city and throughout the world. In recognition of the impact of his artistic personality on the performing arts, Southern Methodist University proudly confers upon Eduardo Mata the degree of Doctor of Music, honoris causa.

Presented by Eugene Bonelli, Dean of the Meadows School of the Arts and Professor of Music

THE ACADEMIC PROCESSION

The academic procession and the regalia worn by the faculty and officers of the University symbolically represent the continuing link between the modern American university and the founding of the great medieval universities in Europe — chief among them Bologna, Paris and Oxford. As those institutions were derived from the Catholic Church, the universities adopted many of the ceremonial trappings of the Church in their official public functions.

The mace of the University, a symbol of the authority vested in the President by the Board of Trustees and representing the covenant between the President and the faculty, is borne by the President of the Faculty Senate, elected by representatives of all faculties (this year, Professor David A. Freidel of the Anthropology Department.) Though the order of the procession varies from university to university, at Southern Methodist University it proceeds from the chief marshal through the ranks of the faculty and the officers of the University, to the President, who is preceded by the mace-bearer. At Commencement, the candidates for graduation precede the faculty.

The caps and gowns worn in the procession also vary from place to place. There are variations in design to indicate the degrees held by the wearers, and many universities in America have introduced colorful gowns and other distinguishing details (in place of the customary clerical black from which all originated). The bachelor's gown is a simple robe falling in straight lines from an elaborate yoke. Its distinguishing characteristic is the long pointed sleeves. Masters' gowns are arranged so that the arm emerges from a long sleeve through a slit at the wrist (replacing a former slit at the elbow). In most cases, the doctor's gown is marked by velvet panels down the front and around the neck, and by three bars of the same material on the bell-shaped sleeves. It is cut much fuller than the other gowns, and may be ornamented in color. Faculty colors are occasionally seen in the sleeve bars and paneling.

The caps, too, vary according to the customs of the university from which the wearer received a degree. While most American universities adopted the "mortarboard" style of Oxford, others have chosen styles based on other European institutions. The color of the tassel worn with the cap may be black for any degree; or, the color may be that of the faculty of the major field of learning (e.g. Arts, Engineering, Law, etc.) Persons holding doctoral degrees and governing officials of institutions are entitled to wear tassels of gold metallic thread. Such tassels are usually sewn in place. It is common practice, although not universal, that a ceremony is made of moving the tassel from the right side to the left of the cap at the moment the degree is awarded.

Within the great varieties of styles and colors in gowns and caps, there has been one universally accepted code for the hood worn trailing down the wearer's back. Originally, it was like the hood on the habit worn by monks — and very useful, for protection against the weather and even for begging for alms. Nowadays, the hood through length and color shows the degree and the specialization of the wearer, and the university that granted the degree. The bachelor's, master's, and doctor's hoods are three feet, three and one-half feet, and four feet long respectively. The velvet trimming in the same order is two, three, and five inches wide. The color of the trim identifies the faculty. A partial list of faculty colors follows:

Arts, Letters, Humanities	White	Music	Pink
Business	Drab	Philosophy	Dark Blue
Engineering	Orange	Science	Golden Yellow
Fine Arts	Brown	Theology	Scarlet
Law	Purple

The lining of the hood — that portion most visible from the rear — indicates the institution awarding the degree. Southern Methodist University's hood lining, for example, is blue with a red chevron.

Through these colorful ceremonies, Southern Methodist University symbolically displays the continuity of its educational purposes with the origins of organized learning in the Western world.
