Among her community services, she has been a senator, member of the Judiciary Board and Chair for the French Area. She has participated in SCMLA conferences where she has chaired sections and presented papers. However, the main thrust of her university career has been teaching innovations in literature (Surrealism and the Arts) as well as language (Intensive Carpetz Method). Her work-in-progress is a monograph on the modern French poet, Jean Orizet. The highlight of her career is the founding of the SMU-in-Paris program in 1972. She was Director in 1977, 1982-83 and has traveled extensively for the program the past seventeen years. She will retire as Assistant Professor Emeritus of French.

He joined the faculty of the Perkins School of Theology in 1959, having previously taught at Emory University, DePauw University, and Drew University. The focus of his scholarly interests throughout his career has been the question of the relationship of the first three Gospels in the New Testament. His advocacy of the chronological priority of the Gospels of Matthew and of a new approach to New Testament interpretation based on this priority has been carried out through numerous publications, lectures, and conferences, and has won him an international reputation. He has been instrumental in the founding and growth of several major seminars in New Testament studies and related areas. Active in Dallas community affairs, he has given leadership in many ways to the causes of human rights and racial justice, particularly on the local level. He will retire as Professor Emeritus of New Testament.

For many years he was the star of his own radio show — "Serenade to America" — broadcast from New York City on the NBC

Network. Thomas Hayward has recorded for RCA Victor, Cambridge, Everest, and Decca recording companies. After a distinguished concert career Thomas Hayward joined the SMU faculty and built a reputation as one of the nation's most outstanding teachers of voice. He is most noted for his development of outstanding students who have won major awards, including the Metropolitan Opera Auditions, and have established international careers. Completing 27 years of service at SMU, he will retire as Professor Emeritus of Voice and Opera.

By his own account, he has, in 38 years of teaching at SMU, offered 33 different credit courses and 29 informal, non-credit courses 473 times with a total enrollment of 13,851 students (an average of 29 per class). CONFERRING OF HONORARY DEGREES

GREER GARSON FOGELSON, Doctor of Arts

A respected leading actress in the British theatre, she brought her talents to this country and became one of the most sought-after and appreciated cinema actresses of our time. She brought to life before our eyes and captured our hearts with such indelible screen images as Mrs. Miniver and Madame Curie. Her peers and even her critics honored her with seven Academy Award nominations, four New York Film Critics' Awards and the Golden Globe Award of the Foreign Press and Critics Association. We were joined by 10 other countries in naming her "best actress." Her retirement from the world of acting simply expanded her contributions to the rest of the world, as she joined her late husband in becoming a benefactor to five educational institutions and in giving their own ranch as a wildlife refuge and National Historic Monument. In recognition of her rich heritage of screen and theatre accomplishments and of her farsighted generosity serving education for future generations, we are pleased to confer upon her the degree of Doctor of Arts, honoris causa.

EDWARD C. FRITZ, Doctor of Humane Letters

Organizer of the National Forest Reform Network and founder of three state and local conservation organizations, he has dedicated much of his career to the preservation of nature's wild places, especially our native forests. With conviction, determination and perseverance, he has been a leader in campaigning against indiscriminate and uncontrolled clearcutting. An attorney and the author of three books about forests, he has drafted federal forest legislation such as the 1984 East Texas Wilderness Act. To save the endangered Red-cockaded Woodpecker, he successfully took the U.S. Forest Service to court to stop clearcutting in 200,000 acres of East Texas forests. Believing that without natural diversity humanity may not survive, he has exerted leadership reflecting a deep love and reverence for plants, trees, prairies, hill country and wetlands and for the wildlife that depend upon them. In recognition of his insight and vision and his courageous leadership and distinguished service, we are pleased to confer upon him, an alumnus of our University, the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

ROSS PEROT, Doctor of Humane Letters

Distinguished businessman, legendary entrepreneur, civic-minded advocate, he has exhibited singular vision as a leader of the information-systems revolution and as a reformer of public education. Founder of Electronic Data Systems, he developed the company into an industry leader. In 1979 he directed a team of EDS employees in rescuing two colleagues held hostage in Iran. Working with the U.S. government, he helped to change treatment of U.S. prisoners of war in North Vietnam. At the request of Texas Governor William P. Clements, he chaired the Texan's War on Drugs Committee, leading to the enactment of stricter anti-drug laws. For Texas Governor Mark White he headed the Select Committee on Public Education, resulting in passage of comprehensive reforms. Now chairman of Perot Systems Corporation, he continues his advocacy and philanthropy on behalf of education, health care and the arts. For his outstanding achievements serving society and the public good, SMU is pleased to confer upon him the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

DECHERD HENRY TURNER, Doctor of Humane Letters

With inexhaustible energy, he has consecrated his creative vision to the priesthood of the book. He saw that the art of the book first flowered in the garden of theology. At SMU, he first brought birth to The Bridwell Library. From 1950 to 1980, he assembled one of the world's great collections of books, from the incunabula that enshrine the roots of Western culture in its first printed books to the rarest examples of fine art printing. In his writings and in the collections he chose, he has evoked and enshrined the seamless continuity of the creative process from the apparently secular to the explicitly sacred. With equal insistence he sustained theological research by expanding The Bridwell's scholarly holdings. That achievement, the core of his vocation, had as its capstone eight years as director of the Ransom Humanities Research Center at the University of Texas. In recognition of his commitment to culture, his abiding belief that the past empowers the future, and the excellence he has permanently bound for this University, we are pleased to confer upon him the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

THE ACADEMIC PROCESSION

The academic procession and the regalia worn by the faculty and officers of the University symbolically represent the continuing link between the modern American university and the founding of the great medieval universities in Europe — chief among them Bologna, Paris and Oxford. As those institutions were derived from the Catholic Church, the universities adopted many of the ceremonial trappings of the Church in their official public functions.

The mace of the University, a symbol of the authority vested in the President by the Board of Trustees and representing the covenant between the President and the faculty, is borne by the President of the Faculty Senate, elected by representatives of all faculties (this year, Professor David B. Johnson of the Civil and Mechanical Engineering Department.) Though the order of the procession varies from university to university, at Southern Methodist University it proceeds from the chief marshal through the ranks of the faculty and the officers of the University, to the President, who is preceded by the mace-bearer. At Commencement, the candidates for graduation precede the faculty.

The caps and gowns worn in the procession also vary from place to place. There are variations in design to indicate the degrees held by the wearers, and many universities in America have introduced colorful gowns and other distinguishing details (in place of the customary clerical black from which all originated). The bachelor's gown is a simple robe falling in straight lines from an elaborate yoke. Its distinguishing characteristic is the long pointed sleeves. Masters' gowns are arranged so that the arm emerges from a long sleeve through a slit at the wrist (replacing a former slit at the elbow). In most cases, the doctor's gown is marked by velvet panels down the front and around the neck, and by three bars of the same material on the bell-shaped sleeves. It is cut much fuller than the other gowns, and may be ornamented in color. Faculty colors are occasionally seen in the sleeve bars and paneling.

The caps, too, vary according to the customs of the university from which the wearer received a degree. While most American universities adopted the "mortarboard" style of Oxford, others have chosen styles based on other European institutions. The color of the tassel worn with the cap may be black for any degree; or, the color may be that of the faculty of the major field of learning (e.g. Arts, Engineering, Law, etc.) Persons holding doctoral degrees and governing officials of institutions are entitled to wear tassels of gold metallic thread. Such tassels are usually sewn in place. It is common practice, although not universal, that a ceremony is made of moving the tassel from the right side to the left of the cap at the moment the degree is awarded.

Within the great varieties of styles and colors in gowns and caps, there has been one universally accepted code for the hood worn trailing down the wearer's back. Originally, it was like the hood on the habit worn by monks — and very useful, for protection against the weather and even for begging for alms. Nowadays, the hood through length and color shows the degree and the specialization of the wearer, and the university that granted the degree. The bachelor's, master's, and doctor's hoods are three feet, three and one-half feet, and four feet long respectively. The velvet trimming in the same order is two, three, and five inches wide. The color of the trim identifies the faculty. A partial list of faculty colors follows:

Arts, Letters, Humanities	White	Music	Pink
Business	Drab	Philosophy	Dark Blue
Engineering	Orange	Science	Golden Yellow
Fine Arts	Brown	Theology	Scarlet
Law	Purple

The lining of the hood — that portion most visible from the rear — indicates the institution awarding the degree. Southern Methodist University's hood lining, for example, is blue with a red chevron.

Through these colorful ceremonies, Southern Methodist University symbolically displays the continuity of its educational purposes with the origins of organized learning in the Western world.
