

EIGHTY-FIFTH ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT CONVOCATION

SOUTHERN METHODIST UNIVERSITY

SOUTHERN METHODIST UNIVERSITY

In 1911, a Methodist education commission made a commitment to establish a major Methodist university in Texas. More than 600 acres of open prairie and $300,000 pledged by a group of Dallas citizens secured the university for Dallas, and it was chartered as Southern Methodist University. In appreciation of the city's support, the first building to be constructed on the campus was named Dallas Hall. It remains the centerpiece and symbol of SMU. When the University opened in 1915, it consisted of two buildings, 706 students, a 35-member faculty, and total assets of $636,540. The original schools of SMU were the College of Arts and Sciences, the School of Theology, and the School of Music.

SMU is owned by the South Central Jurisdiction of the United Methodist Church. The first charge of its founders, however, was that it become a great university, not necessarily a great Methodist university. From its founding, SMU has been nonsectarian in its teaching and committed to the values of academic freedom and open inquiry.

SMU also has maintained a strong partnership with Dallas and has given special consideration to area needs in the development of academic programs. In the 1920s, the first business curriculum was offered in response to a request by the Dallas Chamber of Commerce; the Dallas Bar Association supported establishment of the law school, and a forerunner of the engineering school was established with encouragement from the Dallas Technical Club.

After struggling through its early years and the Depression of the 1930s, SMU experienced a surge of growth after World War II. From the late 1940s to the end of the 1960s, more than half of the current buildings on campus were constructed. SMU's academic stature took on a new dimension when the first Ph.D. programs were instituted in 1957.

Today, Southern Methodist University offers a comprehensive curriculum through Dedman College – the college of humanities and sciences – and five schools: Meadows School of the Arts, Edwin L. Cox School of Business, School of Engineering and Applied Science, Perkins School of Theology, and School of Law.

The University offers nearly 70 undergraduate majors, Master's degrees in 60 areas, professional degrees in three disciplines, and Ph.D. degrees in 19 fields.

Enrollment for the 1999-2000 academic year was 10,361, including 5,552 undergraduate students and 4,809 graduate and professional school students. SMU students come from all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and 93 countries. About 83 percent of first-year students received some form of financial aid in 1999-2000. About 20 percent of the student body are minorities. Sixteen percent of the total student body is United Methodist; 14 percent is Roman Catholic. Also represented in the student body are other Protestant denominations and other religions, including Judaism, Buddhism, Greek Orthodoxy, and Islam.

In addition to preparing students for graduate and professional schools, or more directly for their life's work, the University strives to enhance their social, moral, intellectual, and religious development so that they may lead worthy lives as individuals and citizens of the nation and of the world.

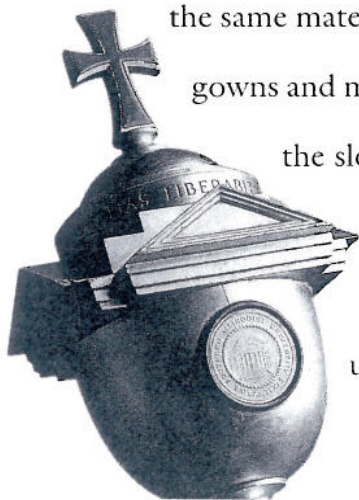

THE ACADEMIC PROCESSION AND REGALIA

The academic procession and the regalia worn by the faculty and officers of the University symbolically represent the continuing link between the modern American university and the founding of the great medieval universities in Europe – chief among them Bologna, Paris, and Oxford. As those institutions were derived from the Catholic Church, the universities adopted many of the ceremonial trappings of the church in their official public functions.

The mace of the University, a symbol of the authority vested in the president by the Board of Trustees and representing the covenant between the president and the faculty, is borne by the president of the Faculty Senate. Though the order of the procession varies from university to university, at Southern Methodist University it proceeds from the chief marshal through the ranks of the faculty and the officers of the University to the president, who is preceded by the mace-bearer.

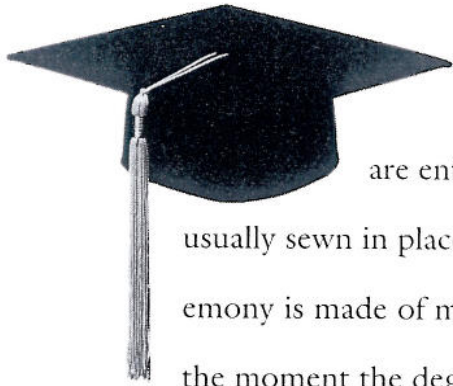

The caps and gowns worn in the procession also vary from place to place. There are variations in design to indicate the degrees held by the wearers, and many universities in America have introduced colorful gowns and other distinguishing details (in place of the customary clerical black from which all originated). The Bachelor's gown is a simple robe falling in straight lines from an elaborate yoke. Its distinguishing characteristic is the long pointed sleeves. Master's gowns are arranged so that the arm emerges from a long sleeve through a slit at the wrist (replacing a former slit at the elbow). In most cases, the Doctor's gown is marked by velvet panels down the front and around the neck, and by three bars of the same material on the bell-shaped sleeves. It is cut much fuller than the other gowns and may be ornamented in color. Faculty colors are occasionally seen in the sleeve bars and paneling.

The caps, too, vary according to the customs of the university from which the wearer received a degree. While most American universities adopted the “mortarboard” style of Oxford, others have chosen styles based on other European institutions. The color of the tassel worn with the cap may be black for any degree, or the color may be that of the faculty of the major field of learning (e.g., Arts, Engineering, Law, etc.). Persons holding doctoral degrees and governing officials of institutions are entitled to wear tassels of gold metallic thread. Such tassels are usually sewn in place. It is common practice, although not universal, that a ceremony is made of moving the tassel from the right to the left side of the cap at the moment the degree is awarded.

Within the great varieties of styles and colors in gowns and caps, there has been one universally accepted code for the hood worn trailing down the wearer's back. Originally, it was like the hood on the habit worn by monks. Nowadays, the hood through length and color shows the degree and the specialization of the wearer, and the university that granted the degree. The Bachelor's, Master's, and Doctor's hoods are 3 feet, 3 1/2 feet, and 4 feet long, respectively. The velvet trimming in the same order is 2, 3, and 5 inches wide. The color of the trim identifies the faculty. A partial list of faculty colors follows: Arts, Letters, Humanities – White; Music – Pink; Business – Drab; Philosophy – Dark Blue; Engineering – Orange; Science – Golden Yellow; Fine Arts – Brown; Theology – Scarlet; Law – Purple. The lining of the hood – that portion most visible from the rear – indicates the institution awarding the degree. SMU's hood lining, for example, is blue with red chevron.

Through these colorful ceremonies, SMU symbolically displays the continuity of its educational purposes with the origins of organized learning in the Western world.

RETIRING FACULTY

KENNETH L. ASHLEY

Kenneth L. Ashley, professor of electrical engineering, earned his B.S. degree in electrical engineering from Wichita State University and his M.S. and Ph.D. degrees in electrical engineering from Carnegie-Mellon University. Professor Ashley, who joined SMU in 1962, was the first faculty member hired in the area of solid-state electronics. With support from federal agencies, he built a strong research program in solid-state materials and devices, which helped to make microelectronics a focus area of the Electrical Engineering Department. He also has conducted research on the semiconductor microwave pin diode and on gallium arsenide circuits. In 1988 Professor Ashley was a guest researcher at the Technische Hochschule in Darmstadt, Germany. He served as chair of electrical engineering from 1974 to 1978. He will retire as professor emeritus of electrical engineering.

WONMO DONG

Wonmo Dong, associate professor of political science, earned B.A. degrees from Yonsei University and Southwestern University, an M.A. degree from the University of Kentucky, and a Ph.D. degree from Georgetown University. Professor Dong joined SMU's political science faculty in 1968 and specialized in comparative politics, particularly in Northeast Asia. He is the author of three books, including The Two Koreas and the United States, and numerous articles and chapters in such publications as Journal of International Affairs, Korean-Studies, and Korean Observer. Professor Dong has made presentations to organizations such as the American Political Science Association and the Association for Asian Studies. He served as director of SMU's Asian Studies program for 17 years and was convener and executive director of the SMU-Dallas Forums on Asian Affairs. He is a recipient of the Rotunda Outstanding Faculty Teaching Award. He will retire as professor emeritus of political science.

DALE MOFFITT

Dale Moffitt, associate professor of theatre, earned his A.B. in dramatic art from the University of California at Berkeley, an M.A. in drama from San Francisco State University, and a Ph.D. in theatre arts and drama from Washington State University. He also pursued additional studies at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art (London), among others. Professor Moffitt acted professionally for eight years and has served as head of three undergraduate actor training programs, including 10 years at SMU, and four years as associate chair. He is the editor of Between Two Silences: Talking with Peter Brook (1999). Professor Moffitt was one of six acting teachers chosen nationally for inclusion in The New Generation of Acting Teachers. In 1991 he was named a Meadows Foundation Distinguished Teaching Professor. While on leave from SMU, he directed the premiere of a new translation of "Hedda Gabler" at The Hidden Theatre, Minneapolis, and during spring 1999 was a distinguished visiting lecturer at Muhlenberg College in Allentown, Pennsylvania. This spring he was visiting professor at the University of Idaho. He will retire as professor emeritus of theatre.

JACK STIEBER

Jack Stieber, assistant professor of finance, received his B.S. in economics from Memphis State University and his M.A. degree from SMU. He has served on the faculty of the Cox School of Business for 34 years, teaching economics and finance courses, known among students as “Stiebernomics.” Professor Stieber has won awards for outstanding professor from both the Cox School and the University. His articles, which have appeared in The Journal of Business Ethics and The Journal of Business Strategy, among others, covered issues from oil prices to health care to the role of profit maximization in business. His books include Profit is Not a Four-Letter Word and Profit Maximization: The Ethical Mandate of Business. Professor Stieber also has served in a number of administrative and advisory capacities for the Finance Department, overseeing the Finance Certificate program, and for the University on the executive committee of the AAUP. He will retire as professor emeritus of finance.

SAMUEL A. ZIMMERMAN

Samuel A. Zimmerman, associate professor of Spanish, completed B.A. and M.A. degrees in Spanish and romance linguistics at Ohio State University and a Ph.D. in romance languages at the University of Florida. Since he joined the faculty in 1964, Professor Zimmerman’s contributions to the SMU community have been recognized with awards that include Outstanding Professor (three times) and the University’s prestigious “M” Award. He has translated two books and numerous short stories and articles and has presented his work frequently at meetings of the American Literary Translators Association. During his tenure with the University, Professor Zimmerman served as director of the SMU-in-Spain program, founder and director of SMU’s summer program in Xalapa, Mexico, director of the Latin American Studies program, and vice chair of the Spanish Area within the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures. He will retire as professor emeritus of foreign languages and literatures.

BACCALAUREATE PREACHER

WILLIAM S. BANOWSKY

William S. Banowsky has spent his career in the service of the ministry, higher education, communications, and health care. Dr. Banowsky began his career as a minister in Lubbock. In 1968, at the age of 32, he was elected president of Pepperdine University in Los Angeles. Under his leadership, Pepperdine moved from its Los Angeles campus in 1971 to a new campus overlooking the Pacific Ocean in Malibu. In 1978 he was elected the 10th president of the University of Oklahoma. His eight years as president were highlighted by historic increases in private support, significant increases in faculty salaries, and an expansion of the physical plant that included doubling the size of the university library and a $50 million Energy Center. For his achievements at OU, Dr. Banowsky received in 1990 the university's highest honor, the Distinguished Service Citation, and the OU Board of Regents elected him president emeritus in 1991. After leaving education, Dr. Banowsky served as president of Gaylord Broadcasting Company from 1985 to 1988. He later served as the volunteer president of the Texas Superconducting Super Collider Authority. From 1988 to 1995 he served as the executive vice president of Tenet Health Care. He has served as a board member of 12 publicly traded corporations. Throughout his career, Dr. Banowsky has received numerous awards. In 1974 Time magazine named him one of the country's 200 future leaders. Other honors include the 1977 Distinguished Educator Award from the Jewish National Council and outstanding alumni awards from the Fort Worth Public Schools and the University of New Mexico. He has written four books. Dr. Banowsky earned his B.A. degree in 1958 from David Lipscomb University, the M.A. degree in 1959 from the University of New Mexico, and the Ph.D. in communications in 1963 from the University of Southern California. In addition, he has received honorary doctorates from three universities. A fifth-generation Texan, Dr. Banowsky and his wife of 45 years, Gay, have four sons (three of whom are SMU law graduates) and 12 grandchildren.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

THE HON. KAY BAILEY HUTCHISON

As a U.S. Senator from Texas, Kay Bailey Hutchison has taken the lead on important national and international issues, as well as those essential to the progress of her state. She has made history for Texas as the first woman to represent the state in the Senate. Senator Hutchison is a deputy majority whip, a key member of the Republican leadership in the Senate. She serves on the Senate Appropriations Committee's Defense and Military Construction Subcommittee and the Senate Commerce Committee, chairing the Subcommittee on Surface Transportation and Merchant Marine. Senator Hutchison spearheaded the effort to pass legislation ensuring that state funds from tobacco settlements are protected from seizure by the federal government, as well as a bill strengthening health care benefits for veterans and military retirees. She sponsored and passed the federal anti-stalking bill, which makes stalking across state lines a crime, and homemaker legislation that significantly expands retirement opportunities for stay-at-home spouses. She also devised the current federal welfare funding formulas that cleared the way for landmark welfare reform legislation in 1996. Senator Hutchison grew up in La Marque, Texas, and graduated from the University of Texas and the UT School of Law. She previously worked as a reporter and served as a press secretary to fellow Texan Anne Armstrong, vice chair of the Republican National Committee. She was twice elected to the Texas House of Representatives, and in 1990 was elected Texas state treasurer. She was elected to the U.S. Senate in 1993, replacing Senator Lloyd Bentsen, who left his position to become Secretary of the Treasury. She was elected again in 1994. Senator Hutchison lives in Dallas with her husband, Ray Hutchison ('57, '59), a former colleague from the Texas House of Representatives and a partner in the law firm of Vinson and Elkins.

CONFERRING OF HONORARY DEGREES

ERNESTO CORTÉS, JR., Doctor of Laws

Ernesto Cortés, Jr. has dedicated his life to public service and the common good by working to make government more responsive to the poor and politically disenfranchised. He has contributed to the political empowerment of low-income and disadvantaged people as a grassroots community activist and labor organizer. He founded Communities Organized for Public Service and serves as regional director of the Industrial Areas Foundation, a nonprofit organization that networks community-based organizations committed to revitalizing local democracies. His credo, “Never, ever, do for people what they can do for themselves,” guides his efforts to help citizens improve services ranging from schools to sanitation. Because of his success at the local level, Mr. Cortés has become a widely emulated international leader in the growing movement to solve social problems through individual action and local self-help. For his dedication to the public good by making political institutions more responsive and inclusive, and for his achievements giving hope and power to those on the margins of society, Southern Methodist University is honored to confer upon Ernesto Cortés, Jr. the degree of Doctor of Laws, honoris causa.

LARRY R. FAULKNER, Doctor of Science

Larry R. Faulkner, innovative chemist and educational leader, was named the 27th president of the nation’s largest university – the University of Texas at Austin – in April 1998. As a scientist, he co-invented the cybernetic potentiostat and has received numerous awards for his achievements in chemistry. These include the 1998 Charles N. Reilly Award of the Society for Electroanalytical Chemistry honoring 30 years of research in electrochemistry and analytical chemistry; the American Chemical Society’s Award in Analytical Chemistry, and the U.S. Department of Energy Award for Outstanding Scientific Achievement in Materials Chemistry. He has taught at Harvard University, the University of Illinois, and the University of Texas at Austin, and has published more than 120 scientific papers and directed 40 doctoral theses. Dr. Faulkner earned his Bachelor of Science degree in chemistry at SMU in 1966 with Phi Beta Kappa honors, then earned his Ph.D. in chemistry in only three years from UT-Austin in 1969. For his sustained and brilliant contributions to the field of chemical science and for his outstanding leadership of the flagship university of the UT system, Southern Methodist University is honored to confer upon Larry R. Faulkner the degree of Doctor of Science, honoris causa.

FATHER GUSTAVO GUTIÉRREZ, Doctor of Divinity

Father Gustavo Gutiérrez, Peruvian priest and scholar, has remapped contemporary understanding of theology and the crucial role that institutional churches can play in resisting oppression of the poor. As author of Teología de la Liberación: Prospectivos (A Theology of Liberation: History, Politics and Salvation), he is known as the father of liberation theology, one of the most influential movements in contemporary theology. Father Gutiérrez drew international attention to the plight of the poor in Latin America when he challenged his church to work for liberation and justice by identifying and changing the social, political, and economic structures that perpetuated oppression, rather than by performing only traditional acts of charity. His work has made a profound impact on the interconnections between political freedom and religious beliefs and has provided a firm intellectual grounding for modern “liberation” movements. For his theological and philosophical insights that have transformed the world and the role of religion, and for his courage in reforming the relationship between faith and freedom, Southern Methodist University is honored to award Father Gustavo Gutiérrez the degree of Doctor of Divinity, honoris causa.

NANCY LEE BLACKBURN HAMON, DOCTOR OF ARTS

Nancy Lee Blackburn Hamon is a civic leader, arts patron, and philanthropist recognized for her leadership and vibrant personality. Through her generosity and imagination, she has nurtured and transformed the city’s major cultural institutions, including the Dallas Museum of Art, the Dallas Opera, the Dallas Zoological Society, and SMU’s Hamon Arts Library. Her influence has been both local and global. Because of her achievements as a benefactor and advocate for the arts she received the TACA-James K. Wilson Silver Cup Award in 1990, the Flora Award in 1992, and the prestigious Linz Award in 1994. For her personal commitment to the arts and culture, for her vision and generosity that have enabled cultural institutions to flourish in Dallas and abroad, Southern Methodist University is honored to confer upon Nancy Lee Blackburn Hamon the degree of Doctor of Arts, honoris causa.

 Christopher John Wright Mechanical Engineering

The May portion of the program contains the names of candidates for degrees and honors. Inclusion in the program does not constitute evidence of completion of degrees or honors requirements.

The listing of August 1999 and December 1999 graduates will be available at the conclusion of the ceremony from ushers at the northwest and southwest coliseum doors. They also may be obtained Monday, May 22, from the Office of the University Registrar.

CEREMONIAL BANNERS

The University's ceremonial banners were designed by Robert B. Chambers, associate professor emeritus of theatre, Meadows School of the Arts, and fabricated by Mamie Chambers. The banners bear heraldic designs with the color of trim identifying each school and group ushered this morning.

VARSITY

Oh we see the Varsity,
Varsity, Varsity,
As she towers o'er the hill
Over there.
And our hearts are filled with joy,
SMU, SMU
Alma Mater we'll be true
Forever!
