SOUTHERN METHODIST UNIVERSITY

In 1911, a Methodist education commission made a commitment to establish a major Methodist university in Texas. More than 600 acres of open prairie and $300,000 pledged by a group of Dallas citizens secured the university for Dallas, and it was chartered as Southern Methodist University. In appreciation of the city's support, the first building to be constructed on the campus was named Dallas Hall. It remains the centerpiece and symbol of

SMU. When the University opened in 1915, it consisted of two buildings, 706 students, a 35-member faculty, and total assets of $636,540. The original schools of SMU were the College of Arts and Sciences, the School of Theology, and the School of Music.

SMU is owned by the South Central Jurisdiction of the United Methodist Church. The first charge of its founders, however, was that it become a great university, not necessarily a great Methodist university. From its founding, SMU has been nonsectarian in its teaching and committed to the values of academic freedom and open inquiry.

SMU also has maintained a strong partnership with Dallas and has given special consideration to area needs in the development of academic programs. In the 1920s, the first business curriculum was offered in response to a request by the Dallas Chamber of Commerce; the Dallas Bar Association supported establishment of the law school, and a forerunner of the engineering school was established with encouragement from the Dallas Technical Club.

After struggling through its early years and the Depression of the 1930s, SMU experienced a surge of growth after World War II. From the late 1940s to the end of the 1960s, more than half of the current buildings on campus were constructed. SMU's academic stature took on a new dimension when the first Ph.D. programs were instituted in 1957.

Today, Southern Methodist University offers a comprehensive curriculum through Dedman College – the college of humanities and sciences – and five schools: Meadows School of the Arts, Edwin L. Cox School of Business, School of Engineering, Perkins School of Theology, and Dedman School of Law.

The University offers more than 84 undergraduate majors, Master’s degrees in 61 areas, professional degrees in three disciplines, Ph.D. degrees in 20 fields, and 10 certificate programs.

Enrollment for the 2002-2003 academic year was 10,955, including 6,210 undergraduate students and 4,745 graduate and professional school students. SMU students come from all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and 92 countries. About 78.2 percent of first-year students received some form of financial assistance for 2002-2003. About 20 percent of the student body are minorities; 18.3 percent of first-year students who reported a religious preference in a 2002 survey is United Methodist; 19.5 percent is Roman Catholic. Also represented in the student body are other Protestant denominations and other religions, including Judaism, Buddhism, Greek Orthodoxy, and Islam.

In addition to preparing students for graduate and professional schools, or more directly for their life’s work, the University strives to enhance their social, moral, intellectual, and religious development so that they may lead worthy lives as individuals and citizens of the nation and of the world.

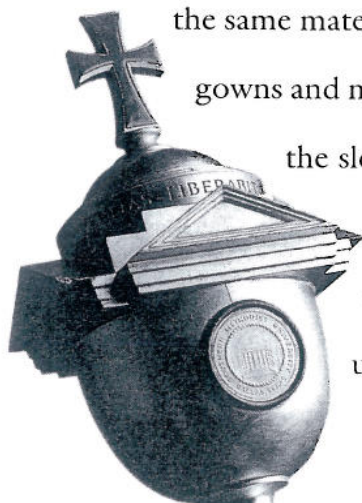

THE ACADEMIC PROCESSION AND REGALIA

The academic procession and the regalia worn by the faculty and officers of the University symbolically represent the continuing link between the modern American university and the founding of the great medieval universities in Europe – chief among them Bologna, Paris, and Oxford. As those institutions were derived from the Catholic Church, the universities adopted many of the ceremonial trappings of the church in their official public functions.

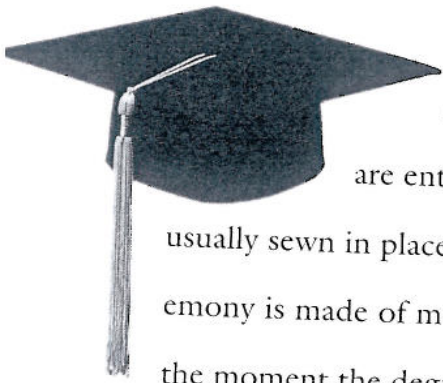

The mace of the University, a symbol of the authority vested in the president by the Board of Trustees and representing the covenant between the president and the faculty, is borne by the president of the Faculty Senate. Though the order of the procession varies from university to university, at Southern Methodist University it proceeds from the chief marshal through the ranks of the faculty and the officers of the University to the president, who is preceded by the mace-bearer.

The caps and gowns worn in the procession also vary from place to place. There are variations in design to indicate the degrees held by the wearers, and many universities in America have introduced colorful gowns and other distinguishing details (in place of the customary clerical black from which all originated). The Bachelor's gown is a simple robe falling in straight lines from an elaborate yoke. Its distinguishing characteristic is the long pointed sleeves. Master's gowns are arranged so that the arm emerges from a long sleeve through a slit at the wrist (replacing a former slit at the elbow). In most cases, the Doctor's gown is marked by velvet panels down the front and around the neck, and by three bars of the same material on the bell-shaped sleeves. It is cut much fuller than the other gowns and may be ornamented in color. Faculty colors are occasionally seen in the sleeve bars and paneling.

The caps, too, vary according to the customs of the university from which the wearer received a degree. While most American universities adopted the “mortarboard” style of Oxford, others have chosen styles based on other European institutions. The color of the tassel worn with the cap may be black for any degree, or the color may be that of the faculty of the major field of learning (e.g., Arts, Engineering, Law, etc.). Persons holding doctoral degrees and governing officials of institutions are entitled to wear tassels of gold metallic thread. Such tassels are usually sewn in place. It is common practice, although not universal, that a ceremony is made of moving the tassel from the right to the left side of the cap at the moment the degree is awarded.

Within the great varieties of styles and colors in gowns and caps, there has been one universally accepted code for the hood worn trailing down the wearer's back. Originally, it was like the hood on the habit worn by monks. Nowadays, the hood through length and color shows the degree and the specialization of the wearer, and the university that granted the degree. The Bachelor's, Master's, and Doctor's hoods are 3 feet, 3½ feet, and 4 feet long, respectively. The velvet trimming in the same order is 2, 3, and 5 inches wide. The color of the trim identifies the faculty. A partial list of faculty colors follows: Arts, Letters, Humanities – White; Music – Pink; Business – Drab; Philosophy – Dark Blue; Engineering – Orange; Science – Golden Yellow; Fine Arts – Brown; Theology – Scarlet; Law – Purple. The lining of the hood – that portion most visible from the rear – indicates the institution awarding the degree. SMU's hood lining, for example, is blue with red chevron.

Through these colorful ceremonies, SMU symbolically displays the continuity of its educational purposes with the origins of organized learning in the Western world.

RETIRING FACULTY

LEWIS R. BINFORD

Lewis R. Binford, University Distinguished Professor of Anthropology, Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences, began his college work in wildlife biology at Virginia Polytechnic Institute in 1948. After his service in the U.S. Army, which included a tour in Okinawa, Professor Binford attended the University of North Carolina, where he received a B.A. degree in anthropology in 1957. He earned an M.A. in 1958 and a Ph.D. in 1964 from the University of Michigan. In 1962, even before completing his dissertation, Professor Binford published the paper "Archaeology as Anthropology" in American Antiquity that redefined the field of archaeology. He joined the SMU faculty in 1991, and the Department of Anthropology quickly identified a new scientific term called "the Binford effect" to explain a sudden increase in the number of applications to the graduate program. In 1999 he became a University Distinguished Professor, and in 2001 he was elected to the National Academy of Sciences, making him one of only two members of the National Academy at SMU. Professor Binford has conducted field research worldwide, focusing much of his attention on the archaeology of hunting and gathering populations. He will retire as University Distinguished Professor Emeritus of Anthropology.

JOHN GARTLEY

John Gartley, Professor of Cinema-Television, Meadows School of the Arts, received undergraduate degrees from West Virginia University and M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Michigan. Before joining the SMU faculty in 1984, Professor Gartley spent 11 years at Northwestern University, including eight years as head of the Radio/Television Department. At SMU he served as director of the Center for Communication Arts from 1984 to 1995 and was instrumental in initiatives to acquire critical support for technology needs in the communications disciplines. Professor Gartley has served SMU in leadership roles as the faculty representative to the Board of Trustees Finance Committee, chair of the All-University Finance Committee, and president of the Faculty Senate in 1991-92. Professor Gartley served as a Peace Corps volunteer in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, prompting him to conduct decades of research on the educational and instructional effects of television in developing countries. He returned to Africa many times during his teaching career and presented papers and seminars to such conferences as the African Studies Association and the International Conference on Ethiopian Studies. Professor Gartley also has consulted for the World Bank and for the Academy for Educational Development, and has written and contributed to several books on the African media. He will retire as Professor Emeritus of Television/Radio.

HAROLD J. HIETALA

Harold J. Hietala, Associate Professor of Anthropology and Statistical Science, Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences, earned a B.S. degree in 1961 and an M.S. degree in 1963 in mathematics from Montana State University. After working for several years as a statistical analysis and operations research analyst, he earned a Ph.D. in biostatistics with a minor in anthropology at UCLA in 1973. That year Professor Hietala joined the SMU faculty in the Department of Anthropology. His research consistently has attempted to apply complex statistical analysis to the study of archaeological problems. He has been interested in aspects of spatial analysis, including settlement pattern studies, regional analysis, and regional and global paleoclimatic reconstructions during the Holocene. He has served as the statistical and spatial analysis consultant for the Ain Abu Nekheileh South Jordan Project, the Bir Tarfawi Middle Paleolithic Project and the late Paleolithic Wadi Kubbaniya Project in Egypt, the McGee Creek Project in North Texas, and the Central Negev Project in Israel. Professor Hietala is best known for his ability to work one-on-one with graduate students to help them build sophisticated methods of data analysis for solving archaeological problems. He will retire as Professor Emeritus of Anthropology and Statistical Science.

CONFERRING OF HONORARY DEGREES

NANCY G. BRINKER, Doctor of Humane Letters

Nancy G. Brinker, philanthropist and civic leader, turned personal tragedy into an unprecedented nationwide health crusade. In 1980, as she watched her older sister die from breast cancer, she vowed to dedicate her own life to the eradication of the deadly disease through research, education, screening, and treatment. To support these efforts, she founded in 1982 the Susan B. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation, named for her sister, which since has raised more than $100 million to become the nation's largest private supporter of breast cancer research and education. In addition, she has become an award-winning speaker, writer, and all-round expert on the subject, and has been appointed to the National Cancer Advisory Board by three U.S. presidents. For her heroic work in seeking a cure for, and in aiding women afflicted by, breast cancer, SMU is honored to award Nancy Brinker the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

HORTON FOOTE, Doctor of Humane Letters

Horton Foote, playwright, has spent six decades portraying the grief, courage, joy, suffering, and love that characterize the lives of ordinary, middle-class people in small-town America. Over and over again, in plays and screenplays such as 1918, The Chase, and The One-Armed Man, he tackles the themes of randomness, redemption, and resilience. In the 1950s Mr. Foote made significant contributions to the "Golden Age" of television, producing teleplays and adaptations for playhouse theater programs. He has been recognized with two Academy Awards for best screenplay – the first in 1962 for his adaptation of Harper Lee's To Kill a Mockingbird and the second in 1983 for Tender Mercies. His screenplay for The Trip to Bountiful was nominated in 1985. In 1995 he received the Pulitzer Prize for drama for The Young Man from Atlanta. For his achievements as a writer, for his pioneering contributions to American theater, television, and independent filmmaking, and for helping us to understand the depths of human emotions and the contradictions in the human condition, SMU is honored to award Horton Foote the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

HERBERT DAVID KELLEHER, Doctor of Laws

Herbert David Kelleher, entrepreneur, has opened the skies for his employees and customers. Dallas is home to his brainchild, Southwest Airlines, whose good-natured attitude infects both its customers and its workers just as it reflects the upbeat mood and faith in American patterns of success fostered by Mr. Kelleher. The nation's fourth-largest air carrier in terms of domestic passengers boarded, Southwest flies to 58 cities in 30 states. The company's focus on employee esprit de corps, with fast aircraft turnarounds and low fares, has been key to its success. A much-loved boss, Kelleher is known for pitching in wherever needed – behind the ticket counter, aboard planes, or on the baggage ramp. When it began in 1971, the small, no-frills airline was perceived as an underdog in the industry. In January 2003 Southwest announced its 30th consecutive year of profitability, with annual net income of $241 million. For his entrepreneurial élan, embodying the best traditions of Dallas and the American spirit, SMU is honored to award Herbert David Kelleher the degree of Doctor of Laws, honoris causa.

DENVER FRED WENDORF, Doctor of Science

Denver Fred Wendorf, Henderson-Morrison Professor of Prehistory Emeritus, became in 1987 the first faculty member at SMU to be elected to the National Academy of Sciences. Trained in archaeology at Harvard University, Professor Wendorf spent the early years of his career as a museum archaeologist. He joined the faculty at SMU in 1964 and quickly moved to establish a premier Department of Anthropology. His contributions to our understanding of early human life in the New World as well as the prehistory of North Africa are far-reaching and influential. His efforts were recognized in 1996 by the University of Pennsylvania with the Lucy Wharton Drexel Medal for Archaeological Achievement, one of the highest honors that can be bestowed upon an anthropological archaeologist. Blending public activities with his scientific investigations, Professor Wendorf has been a sustained and committed advocate for the preservation of archaeological records and collections for future generations of scientists and for humanity. For a lifetime of scientific achievements in the field of archaeology, SMU is honored to award Denver Fred Wendorf the degree of Doctor of Science, honoris causa.

CEREMONIAL BANNERS

The University's ceremonial banners were designed by Robert B. Chambers, associate professor emeritus of theatre, Meadows School of the Arts, and fabricated by Mamie Chambers. The banners bear heraldic designs with the color of trim identifying each school and group ushered this morning.

VARSIITY

Oh we see the Varsity,
Varsity, Varsity,
As she towers o'er the hill
Over there.
And our hearts are filled with joy,
SMU, SMU
Alma Mater we'll be true
Forever!

THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER

Oh, say can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming?
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there.
O say, does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

On the shore, dimly seen through the mists of the deep,
Where the foe's haughty host in dread silence reposes,
What is that which the breeze, o'er the towering steep,
As it fitfully blows, now conceals, now discloses?
Now it catches the gleam of the morning's first beam,
In full glory reflected now shines on the stream:
'Tis the star-spangled banner! O long may it wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

And where is that band who so vauntingly swore
That the havoc of war and the battle's confusion
A home and a country should leave us no more?
Their blood has wiped out their foul footsteps' pollution.
No refuge could save the hireling and slave
From the terror of flight, or the gloom of the grave:
And the star-spangled banner in triumph doth wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

Oh! thus be it ever, when freemen shall stand
Between their loved homes and the war's desolation!
Blest with victory and peace, may the heaven-rescued land
Praise the Power that hath made and preserved us a nation.
Then conquer we must, for our cause it is just,
And this be our motto: "In God is our trust."
And the star-spangled banner forever shall wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave!
