RETIRING FACULTY

GEORGE W. CRAWFORD

Professor George W. Crawford completed his B.A., M.S., and Ph.D. degrees at the University of Texas at Austin. He joined the SMU faculty in 1963, following appointments with the University of Texas, Clemson University, and the Texas Petroleum Research Committee. Immediately prior to coming to SMU, he served as chief of the physics branch of the Bionucleonics Department of the United States Air Force School of Aerospace Medicine. During his 28 years at SMU, he taught courses from the first-year through the graduate level. In addition to his courses in the Department of Physics, Professor Crawford has been active in the University's general education curriculum and the Master of Liberal Arts program. His research has centered on applications of solar energy and on the effects of acid rain. He has operated the SMU Solar Demonstration House and been involved in research with a passive solar house in the upper Red River Valley in New Mexico. Taking his interests beyond the bounds of the classroom and the laboratory, he helped found the Texas Solar Energy Society, the Dallas Solar Energy Society, Clean Air Texas, and the Population Institute. Professor Crawford also has served as president of the Texas Environmental Coalition and is a member of the Board of the Texas Committee on Natural Resources. He will retire as Professor Emeritus of Physics.

KENNETH W. HEIZER

An alumnus of SMU, Dr. Kenneth W. Heizer received a B.S. in electrical engineering in 1950 and the first M.S. in electrical engineering to be awarded by SMU in 1951. He received his Ph.D. from the University of Illinois-Urbana in 1962. Hundreds of students both within and outside the Department of Electrical Engineering, colleagues across the campus, and more than a dozen industries have benefited from his unique combination of theoretical and practical engineering skills. Joining the teaching faculty as an instructor in 1951, Dr. Heizer was promoted to full professor by 1962 and was appointed chairman of the Department of Systems Engineering in 1969. His publications have advanced knowledge in circuit theory and have contributed to developments in computer-aided design. He has received four awards for outstanding teaching, including recognition at department, school, and university levels. He will retire as Professor Emeritus of Electrical Engineering.

LLOYD PFAUTSCH

Professor Lloyd Pfautsch holds the A.B. degree from Elmhurst College and Master of Divinity and Master of Sacred Music degrees from Union Theological Seminary. He has received honorary doctorate degrees from Elmhurst College, Illinois Wesleyan University and West Virginia Wesleyan College. He joined the SMU faculty in 1958 as professor of sacred music and director of choral activities. Prior to coming to SMU he served on the faculty of the School of Music at Illinois Wesleyan University and was a visiting professor at the University of Illinois.

He has had over 300 compositions published and is the author of several books. He has trained dozens of arrangers and choral conductors who occupy positions across the United States and abroad. Generations of his choral students are preserving the choral tradition through their own performances and musicianship. Known throughout the country as a guest conductor and clinician, he has appeared at many music camps, all-state and regional high school choral festivals, church music workshops and festivals, choral conductor's clinics and music conventions throughout the United States and Canada. He has lectured and conducted at over 100 universities, colleges, and seminaries. Three times SMU has honored him with the Outstanding Professor Award. He held the Meadows Foundation Distinguished Teaching Professorship for 1983-84, and in 1984 SMU bestowed on him the M Award for outstanding service to the University. He will retire as Professor Emeritus of Sacred Music.

BACCALAUREATE PREACHER

The Reverend Dr. Roberto Escamilla, preacher for this year's Baccalaureate Service, has served pastorates in Dallas and Austin and currently is senior pastor of the Jefferson United Methodist Church in San Antonio. Throughout his career Dr. Escamilla has been active in outreach ministry to both Hispanic and non-Hispanic communities. He most recently organized a support program for families in San Antonio during the Persian Gulf war. He also initiated bilingual programs in Spanish and English.

Dr. Escamilla has been active in evangelism, both nationally and internationally. He is a member of the executive committee of the United Methodist Church's Council on Evangelism, which develops programs for the clergy and laity. He has traveled extensively, particularly in Latin America, on preaching missions and spiritual retreats. He also has served on the General Board of Global Ministries in New York City and the General Board of Discipleship in Nashville, where he was associate general secretary.

Dr. Escamilla received baccalaureate degrees with cum laude honors from Parsons College in Fairfield, Iowa and Iowa Wesleyan College in Mt. Pleasant. He received a Master of Theology degree from SMU's Perkins School of Theology in 1955. While at Perkins, he received the B'nai Brith Award in Social Ethics and the De Journett Award in Homiletics.

In addition, Dr. Escamilla holds a Master of Arts degree from Trinity University in San Antonio and a Master of Theology degree from Union Theological Seminary in New York City. In 1985 he received the Doctor of Ministry degree from Vanderbilt University. He has received several honorary doctor of divinity degrees.

Dr. Escamilla has been a delegate to general and jurisdictional conferences of the United Methodist Church and has written several articles and publications, including a book of essays titled Prisoners of Hope. He is an instructor at Perkins and an adjunct professor of worship and preaching at McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago.

CONFERRING OF HONORARY DEGREES

GEORGE BUSH, Doctor of Humane Letters

George Herbert Walker Bush has served his country both in war and peace, in the military and in civic affairs. His career is marked by a keen diplomatic sense, a strong work ethic, political tenaciousness, loyalty to his colleagues, unpretentious charm and love for his adopted state of Texas.

George Bush graduated from Phillips Academy in Andover, Massachusetts, where he served an earlier presidency, that of the senior class. In 1942 he joined the U.S. Navy, becoming the youngest bomber pilot in that branch of service, and later received the Distinguished Flying Cross. In 1948 he graduated from Yale University with a major in economics. Excelling in both academics and athletics, he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and was captain of the baseball team.

President Bush's long history in politics began with a campaign for the U.S. Senate in 1964. He won a seat in the U.S. House of Representatives in 1966 and was re-elected in 1968. President Nixon appointed him Ambassador to the United Nations in 1971 and Chairman of the Republican National Committee in 1973. President Gerald R. Ford appointed him chief of the U.S. Liaison Office in Peking, People's Republic of China, in 1974. Mr. Bush returned to Washington in 1975 to direct the CIA, where he won praise for restoring morale. He served for eight years as Vice President in the Reagan Administration, during which time he visited more than 70 countries on diplomatic missions. In 1988 he was elected to the nation's highest office.

For his role as concerned citizen and public servant and President of the United States, Southern Methodist University is pleased to confer upon President George Bush the degree Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

Presented by Ruth Morgan, Provost of the University and Professor of Political Science

HERMA HILL KAY

Herma Hill Kay graduated from SMU in 1956 and went on to do what at that time was an extraordinary thing: she enrolled in the University of Chicago Law School – one of the best in the country – at a time when most law schools had less than 5 percent women in their classes. She worked as a clerk to Chief Justice Traynor of the California Supreme Court and in 1960 became a member of the law faculty of the University of California at Berkeley. She is now the Richard W. Jennings Professor of Law and Dean of the Law School at Berkeley.

Professor Kay is the author of books on sex discrimination and on divorce reform and has been at the forefront in the debate and analysis of difficult issues in family law, such as the effects of no-fault divorce. She has made important contributions to the study of the conflict of laws and often has been asked by state and national law reform bodies for advice in drafting legislation on important family law issues. As president of the Association of American Law Schools, she spoke eloquently of the need to integrate women and minority members into the legal academic establishment.

For her career as distinguished academician and scholar and as a voice of reason and reform in the bewildering and often painful area of family law, SMU is pleased to confer upon Herma Hill Kay the degree Doctor of Laws, honoris causa.

Presented by Joseph W. McKnight, Larry and Jane Harlan Faculty Fellow and Professor of Law

JAROSLAV PELIKAN, Doctor of Humane Letters

Jaroslav Pelikan has been instrumental in building understanding between Protestants and Catholics and between Christians and Jews. At his urging, the National Conference of Christians and Jews established a center for theological dialogue among American religious leaders. In 1959, his award-winning book The Riddle of Roman Catholicism figured significantly in the movement against religious prejudice at the very time when a Roman Catholic was campaigning for the United States presidency.

Professor Pelikan was educated at Concordia Theological Seminary and the University of Chicago and is now Sterling Professor of History and Religious Studies at Yale University. Author of a definitive five-volume work on the history of Christian doctrine and general editor of the standard edition of the works of Martin Luther, since 1950 he has published nearly 30 books and edited many others. He has been honored by universities in this country and abroad and has served in various important advisory capacities for the National Endowment for the Humanities.

In recognition of his significant scholarship and contributions to ecumenical dialogue and understanding and for his enormous reserves of patience, compassion, and tolerance, Southern Methodist University is pleased to confer upon Jaroslav Pelikan the degree Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

THE ACADEMIC PROCESSION

The academic procession and the regalia worn by the faculty and officers of the University symbolically represent the continuing link between the modern American university and the founding of the great medieval universities in Europe — chief among them Bologna, Paris, and Oxford. As those institutions were derived from the Catholic Church, the universities adopted many of the ceremonial trappings of the Church in their official public functions.

The mace of the University, a symbol of the authority vested in the President by the Board of Trustees and representing the covenant between the President and the faculty, is borne by the President of the Faculty Senate, elected by representatives of all faculties (this year, Professor John Gartley of Center for Communication Arts). Though the order of the procession varies from university to university, at Southern Methodist University it proceeds from the chief marshal through the ranks of the faculty and the officers of the University, to the President, who is preceded by the mace-bearer. At Commencement, the candidates for graduation precede the faculty.

The caps and gowns worn in the procession also vary from place to place. There are variations in design to indicate the degrees held by the wearers, and many universities in America have introduced colorful gowns and other distinguishing details (in place of the customary clerical black from which all originated). The bachelor's gown is a simple robe falling in straight lines from an elaborate yoke. Its distinguishing characteristic is the long pointed sleeves. Masters' gowns are arranged so that the arm emerges from a long sleeve through a slit at the wrist (replacing a former slit at the elbow). In most cases, the doctor's gown is marked by velvet panels down the front and around the neck, and by three bars of the same material on the bell-shaped sleeves. It is cut much fuller than the other gowns, and may be ornamented in color. Faculty colors are occasionally seen in the sleeve bars and paneling.

The caps, too, vary according to the customs of the university from which the wearer received a degree. While most American universities adopted the "mortarboard" style of Oxford, others have chosen styles based on other European institutions. The color of the tassel worn with the cap may be black for any degree; or, the color may be that of the faculty of the major field of learning (e.g. Arts, Engineering, Law, etc.). Persons holding doctoral degrees and governing officials of institutions are entitled to wear tassels of gold metallic thread. Such tassels are usually sewn in place. It is common practice, although not universal, that a ceremony is made of moving the tassel from the right side to the left of the cap at the moment the degree is awarded.

Within the great varieties of styles and colors in gowns and caps, there has been one universally accepted code for the hood worn trailing down the wearer's back. Originally, it was like the hood on the habit worn by monks — and very useful, for protection against the weather and even for begging for alms. Nowadays, the hood through length and color shows the degree and the specialization of the wearer, and the university that granted the degree. The bachelor's, master's, and doctor's hoods are three feet, three and one-half feet, and four feet long, respectively. The velvet trimming in the same order is two, three and five inches wide. The color of the trim identifies the faculty. A partial list of faculty colors follows:

Arts, Letters, Humanities	White	Music	Pink
Business	Drab	Philosophy	Dark Blue
Engineering	Orange	Science	Golden Yellow
Fine Arts	Brown	Theology	Scarlet
Law	Purple

The lining of the hood — that portion most visible from the rear — indicates the institution awarding the degree. SMU's hood lining, for example, is blue with a red chevron.

Through these colorful ceremonies, SMU symbolically displays the continuity of its educational purposes with the origins of organized learning in the Western world.
