Ironworkers Organizing Internship

Overview
The Ironworkers Union is now seeking an intern to support our campaigns to organize workers in the reinforcing steel construction industry. Our organizing intern will have the opportunity to make a lasting impact on the lives of construction workers by building a campaign to leverage higher standards and wages on public and private projects.

Apply today, and get hands-on experience in:
- Campaign Strategy
- Worker organizing and support
- Event Planning
- Messaging & Campaign Communications
- Social Media Outreach
- Campaign Research

Interns will receive a weekly stipend. The duration of the internship will last fifteen weeks.

Requirements
- The purpose of this internship is to assist the Dallas-area Strategic Campaign Researcher of the Iron Workers Union, the Texas Organizing Coordinator, and striking workers.
- The intern is expected to contribute a minimum of 20 hours per week to the Iron Workers Union. While hours are flexible, the intern will occasionally be asked to contribute time beyond regular business hours in the evenings or on weekends.
- Most work will be conducted from the Dallas office on 1005 West Jefferson Blvd (Oak Cliff area). Transportation from the office to work-related functions will be provided.
- The position requires communication and writing skills, the ability to work in a team setting, and the capacity to motivate others to take political action.
- Basic Microsoft Word and Excel skills required. Social media, graphic design, and internet-based research skills are preferred.
- Spanish language fluency is preferred.
- Most importantly, this internship demands a strong commitment to learn about the challenges faced by workers in the reinforcing steel industry and a desire to transform those conditions through the collective action of workers and community members.
