II. Please respond to the following (500-750 words each on separate paper):

What relationship do you see between your faith and the life of the mind? How does your chosen course of study at Southern Methodist University reflect your understanding of this relationship?

The Faith and Learning Scholars Program is very rewarding, but it also requires a commitment from both its students and faculty leaders. You will be expected faithfully to attend and contribute to learning in a community of scholars. More specifically, you will be required to attend eight seminars and be involved in some form of service on a weekly basis. Please address whether you are willing and able to devote the time and energy required fully to commit to the program—and why becoming a Faith and Learning Scholar is important to you.

III. I am interested in (please check):     Christian     Interfaith     Jewish     Muslim
