

SMU Alumni in the News
Highlights from August 11-17, 2015

SMU alumna Jessica Huseman chronicles Dallas' embattled Timberlawn mental hospital
<http://www.dallasnews.com/news/community-news/dallas/headlines/20150724-timberlawn-mental-hospital-cut-off-from-federal-funding-over-safety-issues.ece>

and here

<http://keranews.org/post/timberlawn-psychiatric-hospital-could-lose-funding-over-patient-care>

SMU alums Nicole Veale, Santiago Nunez, Ally Andrews and Benjamin Papermaster, named among the publication's most eligible men and women in Texas

<http://www.mysanantonio.com/lifestyle/article/The-30-most-eligible-men-and-women-in-every-major-6437972.php#photo-8449470>

SMU alumnus Michael McKowen, has a multi-media art exhibit this week in West Virginia, hosted by West Virginia State University

<http://www.statejournal.com/story/29761728/wvsu-hosts-michael-mckowens-world-of-the-willing-multi-media-art-exhibition>

SMU alumnus Kevin Walker lays out seven ways Dallas could do better

<http://www.dallasnews.com/opinion/latest-columns/20150813-kevin-walker-dallas-needs-a-new-blueprint.ece>

SMU alumnus Tyler Nelson invents the TrunkMonkey, an inflatable bike rack

<http://www.dallasnews.com/business/small-business/20150815-rainstorm-led-to-brainstorm-for-inflatable-bike-rack.ece>