Winning Entries in the Kate Warnick Awards Competition

Marion Kate Cullom (1896-1993) was born in Garland, Texas, the daughter of Dora Sewell Cullom and newspaperman John H. Cullom. As a young adult, Warnick studied music at Southern Methodist University (SMU). She began working in the SMU library under the direction of Dorothy Amann in the fall of 1918.

Kate Warnick served as Librarian of the SMU School of Theology (now Perkins School of Theology) from 1924 until 1950 and as Reference and Methodist Historical Librarian at Bridwell Library from the founding 1951 to 1979. She served one term as President of the Methodist Librarians Fellowship (1963-1964) and several years as Librarian-Historian of the South Central Jurisdictional Association of Methodist Historical Societies.

The Texas United Methodist Historical Society established the Kate Warnick Awards in 1978 to honor Warnick’s long career of dedicated service to Southern Methodist University and her keen interest in documenting Methodist history. The annual competition encourages the publication of exemplary local church histories within the eight Annual Conferences of the United Methodist Church that constitute the Texas United Methodist Historical Society: Central Texas, New Mexico, North Texas, Northwest Texas, Oklahoma Indian Mission, Rio Grande, Rio Texas, and Texas.

Over the past thirty-seven years, the Kate Warnick Awards have succeeded in stimulating the production of more than three hundred local church histories. More than eighty of these works have received awards. Entries are judged in the following categories: small church (less than 500 members), medium church (500 to 1000 members), and large church (more than 1000 members). On occasion special awards are given to additional outstanding publications on Texas Methodism.

Bridwell Library collects copies of all competition entries. These works comprise a significant body of knowledge that is valued by church historians, local historians, genealogists, and other researchers. The process of publishing a history also benefits participating churches by stimulating an awareness of their own rootedness in the Christian tradition and vision for mission and ministry.
