

Doctoral Program in Clinical Psychology

Graduate Student Travel Funds
2021-2022

Travel funds of up to $700.00 per year (one trip) are available to graduate students through the Psychology Department. To be eligible for these funds, students must be: (1) attending a national conference, (2) the first author of a poster or paper to be presented at the conference, (3) presenting research that was conducted while the student was a graduate student at SMU, (4) in good standing in the program, (5) in either their second, third, fourth or fifth year of the program, and (6) be actively working in a faculty member's lab at SMU.

Funds can only be used for the following expenses: conference registration, hotel reimbursement, per diem meal expenses, and reimbursement for ground transportation and airfare. The same restrictions Dedman College places on faculty regarding lodging and airline tickets apply to graduate students as well.

The Psychology Department will provide travel assistance for one trip/year. The account number to allocate these funds to is 20-413870, (Kendrick Grad Travel Fund).

Students who receive department financial support for travel will need to present their research at the SMU Research Day during same academic year that they travel. If a student receives department travel funds in the summer or fall, they will need to present their research at the SMU Research Day in the spring semester of that same academic year (after their trip). If a student receives department travel funds for a conference in the spring semester, they will need to present their research at the SMU Research Day that same semester.

Students must apply for travel funds prior to taking the trip. No funds will be awarded for trips already taken.

In accepting funding to attend this conference, I agree to attend multiple sessions in addition to my own.

SMU Student Certification for Business-Related Travel

Processing SMU Student Travel Payments

The Student Certification for Business-Related Travel form documents the purpose for the student's travel. The information provided is used to determine the appropriate tax treatment of the travel grant or reimbursement. Determinations are made on a case-by-case basis. Student travel payments are of a complex nature and the explanations and examples below are not inclusive.

NOTE: If the student's travel does not meet one of these criteria, then the travel grant or reimbursement is generally considered to be a scholarship/fellowship for non-qualified expenses which would be taxable income and reportable by the student.

The student travel payment is generally considered to be a nontaxable, nonreportable payment if:

- The student is officially representing SMU while participating in a competition or group activity.
- The student is presenting at a conference while representing SMU.
- The student's travel is related to research on an SMU directed research project:
 - Directly supports the faculty/Principal Investigator's project or research program
 - Contributes to results or research that will be used by SMU
 - Fulfills SMU's obligation to an outside funding agency

Examples of student travel payments that would generally be taxable are:

- Student travels to perform research for dissertation research that is not research the University would otherwise conduct, and the student's dissertation is the primary purpose for the travel. (The student is the primary beneficiary.)
- Student travels to a conference in Mexico as an attendee and does not present or contribute in an official capacity on behalf of SMU.
- Student travels to Japan for language training that will assist in the student's language proficiency needed for his or her degree from SMU. This is supplemental training that may help the student succeed, but is not a required part of the degree from SMU.
