ANTH 5334 HISTORY OF ANTHROPOLOGY, PART 1. Analytical history of anthropology from the Classical period to the 20th century. Explains the content and development of theory, method, and interpretation.

ANTH 5336 HEALTH IN CROSS-CULTURAL PERSPECTIVE. Cross-cultural study of the cultural construction and social organization of medical systems in preindustrial and industrialized societies, including the political economy of health, ethnomedicine, international health, ethnopharmacology, and bioethics. Prerequisites: ANTH 3301, 3306, or approval of instructor.

ANTH 5344 RESEARCH METHODS IN ETHNOLOGY. Examination of methodologies and techniques appropriate for different types of ethnological research.

ANTH 6049 GRADUATE FULL-TIME STATUS. (For students not yet advanced to candidacy).

ANTH 6301 PRINCIPLES OF ARCHAEOLOGY. An advanced seminar course dealing with the fundamentals of modern archaeology.

ANTH 6316 ADVANCED SEMINAR IN ETHNOLOGY I. ECONOMY AND MORALITY. From the moral economies of southeast Asian peasants and anthropological critiques of homo economicus to the ethics of organ sales and the emergence of post-productivism in Africa, this seminar introduces graduate students to the rich cross-cultural and historical study of the relationship between economic processes – production, distribution, and consumption – and morality.

ANTH 6325/4325 INTRODUCTION TO OSTEOLOGY I: HUMAN-ANIMAL INTERACTIONS. Explores the evolution of human and animal interactions through a comparative study and analysis of their skeletons. Examines variations in nature’s grand design, including the origins of different skeletal features, the evolution of these features over time, and the ways humans influenced the development of many of these features through processes such as targeted hunting and selective breeding.

ANTH 7317 ARCHAEOLOGICAL RESEARCH STRATEGIES. An examination of the logistics and strategies used in project development and fieldwork through project completion. Emphasis is upon individual student problems.

ANTH 7342 SEMINAR IN SOCIAL ORGANIZATION. Intensive investigation of the statics and dynamics of both social organization and social structure in various populations across the globe.

ANTH 8049 GRADUATE FULL-TIME STATUS. (For students who have passed doctoral qualifying examinations).

ANTH 8105 RESEARCH. For graduate students who have completed their course work.

Introduction to Osteology I: Human-Animal Interactions
Fall 2021 – M – 2:00-4:50pm
Explores the evolution of human and animal interactions through a comparative study and analysis of their skeletons. Examines variations in nature’s grand design, including the origins of different skeletal features, the evolution of these features over time, and the ways humans influenced the development of many of these features through processes such as targeted hunting and selective breeding. Introduces the science of taphonomy in hands-on learning labs. Students learn how isotopic and biomolecular analyses of animal skeletal remains help in understanding human-animal interactions.
