

Academic records indicate that, as of the end of the spring term, you have not met one or more of the requirements for satisfactory academic progress listed below. Therefore, as mandated by the U.S. Department of Education, you are no longer be eligible to receive financial aid funding until you once again meet these minimum standards of measurement.

Per Federal Regulation, the Office of Financial Aid is required to perform an annual review of academic progression to ensure that each student who receives federal or state financial aid is academically progressing at a satisfactory rate. SMU has also adopted these minimum standards for all institutional need-based aid programs.

The minimum standards of measurement for evaluating satisfactory academic progress (SAP) are as follows.

Requirements for Undergraduate Students:

- Successfully complete a minimum 75% of attempted hours.
- Successfully complete a program of study in no more than 12 terms. (Transfer students must complete in no more than 5 terms)
- Maintain a minimum cumulative SMU grade point average (GPA) of 2.000 for Federal, State, and SMU Institutional aid programs. SMU Merit-based scholarship programs each have cumulative GPA requirements that may exceed the 2.000 minimum. Please check with your Financial Aid Advisor if you are unsure of the GPA requirement for your specific scholarship.)

Requirements for Graduate Students:

- Successfully complete a minimum 60% of attempted hours.
- Earned hours cannot exceed 150% of the hours required by the program of study.
- Maintain a minimum cumulative SMU grade point average (GPA) of 2.000 for Federal, State, and SMU Institutional aid programs. (SMU Merit-based scholarship programs each have cumulative GPA requirements that may exceed the 2.000 minimum. Please check with the Academic department for your specific program of study if you are unsure of the GPA requirement for your specific scholarship.)

If you believe there have been specific events or issues, such as health or medical problems, the death of a family member, or extenuating circumstances that may have inhibited your academic performance, we recommended that you submit an appeal for an extension of eligibility. If approved, you will be given one, probationary term of financial aid eligibility to improve on your academic performance. At the end of the probationary term, your progress will be reviewed for improvement. If you wish to submit an appeal for an extension of eligibility, please read and complete the following pages. For more detailed information on SMU's policy on satisfactory academic progress, please go to the following website.
