THE TWENTY-FIRST OF DECEMBER
TWO THOUSAND AND THIRTEEN AT TEN O'CLOCK
MOODY COLISEUM

We celebrate the graduation of thousands of SMU students as we continue to commemorate the centennial years of SMU's founding in 1911 and opening in 1915.

*On this unique occasion, the first Commencement Convocation in the newly renovated Moody Coliseum and Miller
Event Center, we salute our graduates, who stand ready to take the next steps into the future. And we honor the students, faculty, parents and friends who shaped SMU's first 100 years and laid the foundation for an extraordinary second century.*

Ray L. Hunt has served his profession, his university and his community with dedication and distinction. A leader in the global energy industry, he currently is chair, president and CEO of Hunt Consolidated Inc. and chair of Hunt Consolidated Energy and Hunt Consolidated Investments.

Hunt graduated from SMU in 1965 with a B.A. in economics. He was a University Scholar and received the Outstanding Business Student Award. Through the years, Hunt has provided visionary leadership and generous support for his alma mater. A member of the SMU Board of Trustees since 1976, he was board chair from 1987 to 1992. He currently serves as a co-chair of SMU's Second Century Campaign and on the Advisory Board of the Maguire Energy Institute. His past leadership positions include president of the Alumni Association and member of the President's Leadership Council and boards of Cox School of Business, Meadows School of the Arts and Maguire Center for Ethics and Public Responsibility. His support for SMU includes establishing the Hunt Leadership Scholars program with his wife, Nancy Ann, in 1993.

Hunt was a member of the steering committee that directed SMU's successful bid for the George W. Bush Presidential Center. He currently serves on the Board of Advisors of the Bush Institute and as a member of the Bush Presidential Foundation. His civic leadership has included service as chair of the Dallas Citizens Council, North Texas Commission and Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas.

SMU has honored Hunt with its Distinguished Alumni Award and the Cox School of Business Distinguished Alumni Award. Ray and Nancy Ann Hunt together received SMU's Foundation for the Future Award and the J. Erik Jonsson Ethics Award of SMU's Maguire Ethics Center. Hunt has been inducted into the Dallas and Texas Business Halls of Fame and received the Distinguished Business Leader Award from the Texas Association of Business. Among his civic awards are the Linz Award from The Dallas Morning News, the H. Neil Mallon Award from the Dallas Council on World Affairs and the Sprague Community Service Award from the Southwestern Medical Foundation. His professional honors include the American Petroleum Institute Gold Medal for Distinguished Achievement, Lifetime Achievement Award from the North Texas Energy Council and Public Service Award from the Society of Petroleum Engineers.

MOODY COLISEUM

SMU's renovated Moody Coliseum, which includes the new Miller Event Center addition, officially opens December 21, at Commencement. The 167,000-square-foot campus and Dallas landmark, which seats approximately 7,000, is home to the pageantry of SMU Commencement as well as numerous speaking, athletics and community events such as concerts and high school graduations.

The project includes new features benefiting event audiences, sports fans and student-athletes. New seating has been added throughout the arena, including the Hall of Fame entertainment area, suites, loge seats, courtside retractable seating and accessible seating. Technology improvements include a new scoreboard, LED boards throughout the arena, distributed sound system, wireless access and enhanced broadcast capabilities. The renovated entry lobby opens to a view of the arena, and surrounding widened concourses feature vaulted ceilings. Other renovated areas include concession stands, restrooms and locker rooms.

Moody Coliseum's 39,245-square-foot addition, the Miller Event Center, includes 12 premium suites and a new furnished entertainment area, the Miller Champions Club. It also includes coaches' offices and other administrative areas.

A $20 million gift from the Moody Foundation in 2011 provided the impetus for the extensive expansion and renovation. SMU and the Moody Foundation have enjoyed a long partnership. Known as SMU Coliseum when it opened in 1956, the building was renamed Moody Coliseum in 1965 in recognition of a gift from the Moody Foundation.

SMU alumnus and trustee David B. Miller '72, '73 and his wife, Carolyn, also committed $10 million toward the renovation project in 2011. Through the Miller Family Foundation, Mr. and Mrs. Miller have supported areas across the University, including Cox School of Business, Athletics, SMU-in-Taos and student scholarships.

With the leadership of the Moody Foundation and the Millers, as well as the generous support of other donors, Moody Coliseum enters a new era as a community gathering place.

Moody Coliseum long has been the site of special events, including heart-stopping basketball moments. In its inaugural year, fans packed the Coliseum to cheer the Mustang men's basketball team to the Southwest Conference Championship. Women's basketball came to Moody Coliseum in 1976, and women's volleyball began there in 1996. Legend has it that "Moody Magic" contributes to consistent wins at home for Mustang teams.

Each May and December the Coliseum is transformed to host SMU Commencement and annually hosts graduation ceremonies for thousands of area high school students. Four U.S. presidents have spoken at Moody Coliseum, including Richard M. Nixon, Gerald R. Ford, George H.W. Bush and George W. Bush. Poet T.S. Eliot also spoke to audiences there.

Moody Coliseum has been the venue for bands such as the Rolling Stones, U2 and Pearl Jam. Dallas' first professional basketball team, the Chaparrals, competed at Moody along with professional tennis players at the Virginia Slims and World Championship Tennis tournaments. Moody also has been the home to cheerleading, basketball and volleyball camps, Boy Scout conferences and dance marathons.

SMU ENGAGED LEARNING

The mission of Engaged Learning is to provide an institutional framework for undergraduates to deepen their SMU education through capstone-level learning beyond the classroom, in research, service, internships and creative work, on-campus and in local and global communities. For more information, visit smu.edu/EngagedLearning.

In 1911, a Methodist education commission made a commitment to establish a major Methodist university in Texas. More than 600 acres of open prairie and $300,000 pledged by a group of Dallas citizens secured the university for Dallas, and it was chartered as Southern Methodist University. In appreciation of the city's support, the first building to be constructed on the campus was named Dallas Hall. It remains the centerpiece and symbol of SMU. When the University opened in 1915, it consisted of two buildings, 706 students, a 35-member faculty and total assets of $636,540. The original schools of SMU were the College of Arts and Sciences, the School of Theology and the School of Music.

SMU is owned by the South Central Jurisdiction of the United Methodist Church. The first charge of its founders, however, was that it become a great university, not necessarily a great Methodist university. From its founding, SMU has been nonsectarian in its teaching and committed to the values of academic freedom and open inquiry.

Today SMU offers a comprehensive curriculum through Dedman College – the college of humanities and sciences – and six schools: Meadows School of the Arts, Edwin L. Cox School of Business, Bobby B. Lyle School of Engineering, Perkins School of Theology, Dedman School of Law and Annette Caldwell Simmons School of Education and Human Development.

The University offers more than 100 undergraduate majors, master's degrees in more than 100 areas, professional degrees in two disciplines, Ph.D. degrees in 25 fields and 48 certificate programs. Enrollment for fall 2013 was 10,972, including 6,386 undergraduate students and 4,586 graduate and professional school students. SMU students come from all 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and 106 countries. About 77 percent of first-year students received some form of financial assistance for 2013-14. About 25 percent of the student body are minorities; 74 percent of undergraduates and 49 percent of graduate students report religious affiliation; 15 percent are Roman Catholic, 10 percent are Methodist and 5 percent are Baptist. Also represented in the student body are other Protestant denominations and other religions, including Judaism, Buddhism, Islam and Sikhism.

In addition to preparing students for graduate and professional schools, or more directly for their life's work, the University strives to enhance their social, moral, intellectual and religious development so that they may lead worthy lives as individuals and citizens of the nation and of the world.

THE HISTORY OF ACADEMIC PROCESSION AND REGALIA

The academic procession and the regalia worn by the faculty and officers of the University symbolically represent the continuing link between the modern American university and the founding of the great medieval universities in Europe – chief among them Bologna, Paris and Oxford. As those institutions were derived from the Catholic Church, the universities adopted many of the ceremonial trappings of the church in their official public functions.

The mace of the University, a symbol of the authority vested in the president by the Board of Trustees and representing the covenant between the president and the faculty, is borne by the president of the Faculty Senate. Though the order of the procession varies from university to university, at SMU it proceeds from the chief marshal through the ranks of the faculty and the officers of the University to the president, who is preceded by the mace-bearer.

The caps and gowns worn in the procession also vary from place to place. There are variations in design to indicate the degrees held by the wearers, and many universities in America have introduced colorful gowns and other distinguishing details (in place of the customary clerical black from which all originated). The caps, too, vary according to the customs of the university from which the wearer received a degree. While most American universities adopted the “mortarboard” style of Oxford, others have chosen styles based on other European institutions. The color of the tassel worn with the cap may be black for any degree, or the color may be that of the faculty of the major field of learning (e.g., Arts, Engineering, Law). Persons holding doctoral degrees and governing officials of institutions are entitled to wear tassels of gold metallic thread.

Within the great varieties of styles and colors in gowns and caps, there has been one universally accepted code for the hood worn trailing down the wearer’s back. Originally, it was like the hood on the habit worn by monks and very useful for protection against the weather and even for begging for alms. Nowadays, the hood through length and color shows the degree and the specialization of the wearer, and the university that granted the degree.

Through these colorful ceremonies, SMU symbolically displays the continuity of its educational purposes with the origins of organized learning in the Western world.

SOUTHERN METHODIST UNIVERSITY'S CUSTOM REGALIA

Candidates for degrees at SMU are robed in custom regalia, specially designed to incorporate SMU's colors and symbols.

The doctoral gown in dark blue includes velvet chevrons on each of the bell sleeves. The gown is marked by velvet panels down the front and around the neck. The front panels are embroidered in gold thread with the SMU seal, and gold braid outlines the chevrons and panels. It is cut much fuller than the other gowns and may be ornamented in color. Replacing the traditional mortarboard, an eight-sided, crimson red velvet tam with a gold silk tassel completes the regalia.

The master's gown, also in dark blue, has a front yolk outlined in red braid, and the SMU seal is embroidered in red on the left side. Like traditional master's robes, gowns are arranged so that the arm emerges from a long sleeve through a slit at the wrist. A mortarboard with a colored tassel representing the discipline in which the degree is earned also is worn.

Doctoral and master's candidates wear hoods that are 3½ feet long and 4 feet long, respectively. The velvet trimming, in the same order, is 3 inches wide and 5 inches wide. The color of the trim identifies the faculty. A partial list of faculty colors follows: Arts, Letters, Humanities – White; Music – Pink; Business – Drab; Philosophy – Dark Blue; Engineering – Orange; Science – Golden Yellow; Fine Arts – Brown; Theology – Scarlet; Law – Purple. The lining of the hood – that portion most visible from the rear – indicates the institution awarding the degree. SMU's hood lining is blue with red chevron.

The bachelor's gown in dark blue has the traditional characteristics of a bachelor's robe, including full front pleats and balanced fluting. Its distinguishing characteristics are the long pointed sleeves. A red silk stole embroidered in blue with the SMU seal is worn across the shoulders. Bachelor's gowns are worn with a tassel and mortarboard.

SMU's regalia visually honor the University's traditions and spirit, which we celebrate this morning.

PRESIDENTIAL COLLAR AND MEDALLION

Chains of office, also known as collars, were used as badges of office in the Middle Ages. Today they are custom-designed metal necklaces worn by the president during academic ceremonies as part of his or her regalia.

The chain of office designed for the 10th president of SMU, R. Gerald Turner, is made of bronze, a strong and durable metal. The medallion of the necklace is dominated by the University seal design, just as the seal is the centerpiece in the floor of the Rotunda in Dallas Hall, SMU's historic first building.

The seal is an appropriate choice for the design of the medallion because it represents the president's responsibility to the sound education of each and every student at SMU. Each first-year and transfer student passes through Dallas Hall and views the University seal on his or her processional entry into the University at Opening Convocation. Upon graduation, students reverse the process during the Rotunda Recessional ceremony at the conclusion of the Baccalaureate Service during May Commencement weekend.

The bail, joining the medallion and the chain, represents the institution's bond between the faculty and the student body. Equally, the 32-inch chain, a work of art whose two ends are clasped together, represents the joining of the desire to teach and the eagerness to learn demonstrated by SMU's faculty and students.

Staffs that call groups to order are as old as civilization itself. Today's ceremonial maces descend particularly from medieval armor-piercing clubs topped by bludgeoning balls. These fierce weapons swiftly acquired symbolic meaning. By the 14th century, a mace, carried at the front of formal processions, required bystanders to note the authority and integrity of the event. In the 16th century, this formidable weapon lost its battle utility but took a symbolic turn: the spiked head evolved into a decorative orb. The European tradition by which universities presented maces on solemn occasions to signify their independence and protective power was adopted by their successors worldwide. The mace-bearer, who is the president of the Faculty Senate, leads formal ceremonies carrying this visible reminder of the University's history and status.

The 22-pound mace currently in use at SMU is linked to the inauguration of President Willis M. Tate (1954-1972) and is known as the Tate Mace. The 57-inch staff is topped by a 10½-inch orb that represents not only the University's worldly authority but also echoes its distinctive neoclassical style. The orb is impressed with the seal of the University and is encircled with SMU's motto, Veritas Liberabit Vos ("The truth will make you free"). Surmounting the orb is a cross painted vividly in SMU red, a reminder of SMU's religious heritage.

The designer and manufacturer of the Tate Mace are unknown. The mace had become heavily worn from 50 years of use and handling, and in 2008 it was totally refurbished under the direction of Project Manager Fred Banes by SMU's Office of Planning, Design and Construction.

History based on citation prepared by Alvina Bonnie Wheeler, associate professor of English.

The Howard Lantern is dedicated to Professor Lorn Lambier Howard, chief marshal emeritus of SMU from 1978-1987, in honor of his role in shaping the traditions and protocol of SMU's modern-day academic ceremonies. Designed in 2008 and crafted out of steel, aluminum and water glass, the lantern symbolizes the Rotunda of Dallas Hall, the University's oldest building and centerpiece of the campus. Engraved around the base is the University's motto, Veritas Liberabit Vos, which means "The truth will make you free."

Around the top band are the words to "Varsity," SMU's alma mater. Each year during the May Baccalaureate Service, this lantern is handed down by the senior class president to a representative of the junior class, a symbolic passing of the light that sustains our University. The Howard Lantern serves as a reminder of the important traditions that make up our corporate University life and the light of learning and intellectual curiosity that shines within the students, faculty and staff here at SMU.

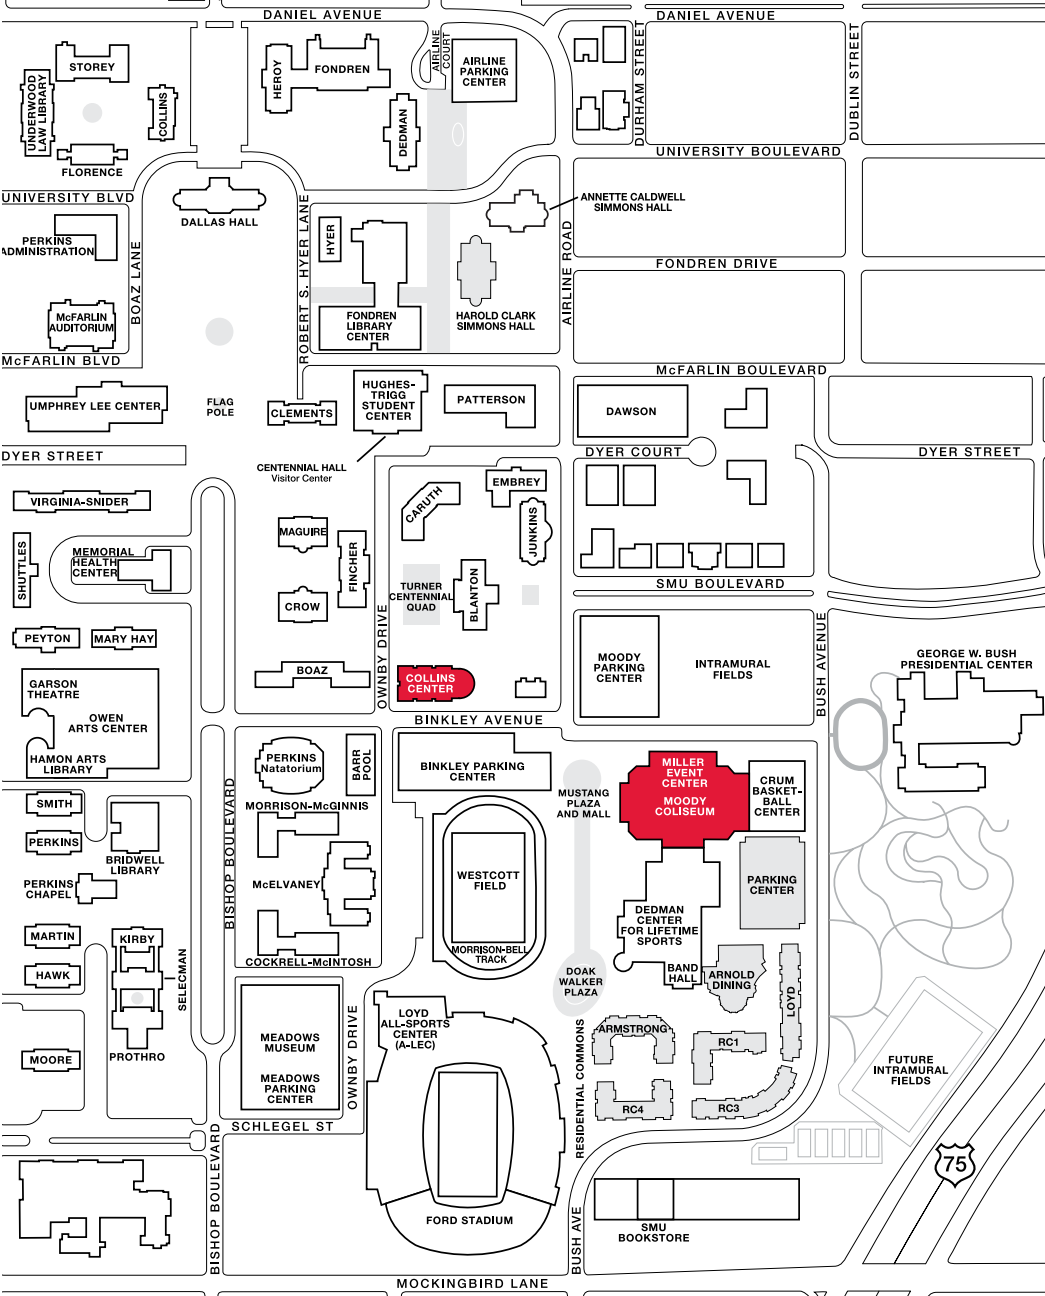

LEAVE A MARK ON THE HILLTOP THAT CELEBRATES YOUR GRADUATE'S ACCOMPLISHMENT

SMU is pleased to offer graduating seniors and their families the opportunity to be recognized with an etched paver on SMU's Centennial Promenade, to be constructed on Ownby Drive for the 100th anniversary of SMU's opening in 1915. By making a special $100 gift, you can leave a legacy for future generations and celebrate the promise of the University's next 100 years.

Make your mark at smu.edu/paver.

THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER

*Oh, say can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we bailed at the twilight's last gleaming?
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there.
Oh, say does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?*

Varsity

*Oh we see the Varsity,
Varsity, Varsity,
As she towers o'er the hill
Over there.
And our hearts are filled with joy,
SMU, SMU,
Alma Mater, we'll be true
Forever!*
