W.W. CARUTH, JR.
CHILD ADVOCACY
CLINIC: SPRING 2020

OUR CLIENTS:
We represent abused and neglected children and aging out youth in child welfare cases in Dallas County in a dual role of attorney/guardian ad litem or as their attorney. We also represent young adults who have aged out of foster care in certain selected legal matters.

ELIGIBILITY:
* Good academic standing.
* Completed at least one-half of the credits required for graduation.
* Completed Evidence before being enrolled OR be enrolled in Evidence while in the Clinic.

CONSIDERATIONS:
~You should expect to spend 15-20 hours each week on Clinic-related and class work. The workload fluctuates with case events.
~You will likely handle from 2-3 cases, sometimes with a partner, sometimes on your own (with Director supervision).
~You will handle at least one, probably two, and possibly more court hearings (of varying length/detail/complexity). Most (but not all) hearings take place in the morning.
~You will need to visit your child clients in their placement homes about once a month and will otherwise need to conduct “fieldwork” investigation activities around the Dallas area (and occasionally beyond).
~You will receive 6 credits for this Clinic.

LEGAL EXPERIENCE:
Student lawyers represent their clients as the first chair attorney at all hearings, mediations, and trial, with the close supervision of the Director. Student lawyers interview child clients and their family members; investigate the facts of the case, including conducting discovery; monitoring and obtaining records regarding the client’s status with health care professionals, school officials, and others; conducting home studies on potential relative placements for the children; monitoring the children while in foster care; attending meetings and mediations; advocating for the child’s needs, informally and through motion practice.

CLASS EXPERIENCE:
Class occurs twice a week and covers federal and state law and procedural and ethical issues involved in the legal representation of children. Class also covers litigation skills (oral and written advocacy, drafting pleadings, interviewing and counseling, trial preparation, and trial advocacy).

Guest speakers provide an interdisciplinary perspective on the law. Interaction is emphasized. Although classes may include lectures by the Director, they also often consist of “rounds” where Clinic cases are discussed among the class as a law firm with a Clinic student attorney leading the discussion. Classes also include simulated or “mock” court and investigative situations – typically based on real Clinic cases.

Supervision and Mentoring happens through one–on-one pre-scheduled weekly meetings with the Director.

COMMUNITY INTERACTION:
Students will work on a podcast project recording the stories of aged out foster youth, attend Grand Rounds at Children’s Health, prepare a blog posting for the Clinic blog, and assist in Clinic-sponsored events.

Mandatory Orientation:
(all day) Wednesday, January 8, 2019
Student attorneys in the Civil Clinic handle real problems involving real cases as authorized by the Student Practice Rules of the State Bar of Texas. Currently, student attorneys are representing clients in landlord-tenant disputes, consumer fraud, real estate transactions, and matters involving credit and debt as well as FEMA appeals related to Hurricane Harvey and other recent natural disasters. In recent semesters, clinic attorneys have also secured U-Visas for immigrant clients, tracked down stolen cars and the “ring” engaged in scam sales, helped a client enforce an elder healthcare employment contract, and stepped in to enforce a roofing contract.

In addition to the direct representation student attorneys provide, they also engage in outreach and education in the community. In past semesters, students have also engaged in legislative advocacy on access-to-justice and consumer-related issues. We expect that all students will provide assistance to tenants in coordination with the Housing Crisis Center and to self-represented litigants in the Dallas County Courts at our monthly courthouse clinics.

While all student work is supervised by a clinic faculty member, the student attorney is first chair. Students work and learn in all aspects of the lawyering process. They conduct client and witness interviews, fact investigation, legal research, and problem solving. Clinic attorneys are responsible for advising and counseling their clients regarding available options, conduct negotiations and mediations, and if needed, they pursue litigation. Clinic attorneys handle all aspects of litigation including case planning, drafting pleadings and discovery, and conducting depositions. Clinic attorneys are lead counsel in the courtroom where they handle motion practice and hearings, trials and appeals.

CLINIC FACULTY

Students work individually with Clinic faculty members. Associate Dean for Clinics, Professor Mary Spector is the Director of the Civil/Consumer Clinic and a Supervising Attorney; Clinical Professor Eliot Shavin is the Assistant Director and is also a Supervising Attorney.

Clinic faculty select cases that raise interesting legal and factual issues and that expose students to disputes and contested legal issues. Faculty try to keep caseloads small to allow student attorneys to fully explore the facts and legal issues of each case and to insure that students provide excellent legal representation to their clients.

TIME COMMITMENT

In the Spring 2020 semester, Clinic students should expect to spend a minimum of 15 hours each week on clinic related work including preparing for and attending the clinic lawyering seminar, interviewing potential new clients, and handling their assigned casework.

There is a mandatory classroom component. The Spring classroom component will meet twice a week on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10:30 a.m.-11:45 a.m.

Student attorneys also participate in weekly supervisory conferences where they work with faculty to develop their lawyering skills, discuss ethical issues, and review other dimensions of client representation including the dynamics of client decision making. In scheduling other courses, students should take into account the flexibility that is needed to represent clinic clients and should not take a larger than normal course load.

ELIGIBILITY, REGISTRATION AND ORIENTATION

Students must have completed 44 hours by the time they begin their clinic semester. Students must not be on academic probation at the time of pre-registration. The Legal Clinics cannot accommodate all eligible students who wish to enroll. For each student who enrolls, the faculty and staff engage in significant preparations prior to the beginning of the semester. Do not pre-register for a Clinic unless you intend to enroll. If you MUST drop Civil/Consumer Clinic, notify: Professor Mary Spector at mspector@smu.edu, by Monday, December 9, 2019, at 5:00 p.m.

MANDATORY ORIENTATION

Civil/Consumer Clinic Mandatory Orientation will be ALL DAY, on Wednesday, January 8, 2020.

NO WAIVERS will be provided.
The Criminal Clinic provides law students a combination of academic and experiential learning through the practice of criminal defense law in the Dallas County Criminal Courts. In exchange, a supervising attorney certifies to the Court that we will properly train and supervise you.

Clinic student attorneys represent low-income clients charged with misdemeanor offenses in the Dallas County Criminal Courts, some of the most common charges include: Assault, Criminal Mischief, Criminal Trespass, DWI, Possession of Marijuana, Prostitution, Theft, and Unlawfully Carrying a Weapon. YOU will be the attorney and engage in investigation, interviewing, discovery, plea negotiations, case planning, motion practice and trial. With the assistance of the supervising attorneys, you will be handling real cases and represent real clients. Clinic student attorneys will act as trial counsel- arguing everything from a motion to suppress evidence with live police witnesses to a jury trial!

SMU's Criminal Clinic is in its 43rd year. Criminal Clinic Associate Director Mike McCollum is the supervising attorney and has been with the Criminal Clinic and practicing criminal defense law for more than 40 years.

Your responsibility to the Clinic and your clients goes requires a substantial commitment on your part. Your time commitment to the Clinic is a minimum of 20 hours per week (total of at least 280 hours for the semester). This includes time spent at the courthouse, office hours (you must log 3 hours per week during business hours in the criminal clinic library) and class time. Mandatory classes are on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 3:30 p.m. to 4:45 p.m. In scheduling your other courses, you should take into account the flexibility you need to represent clients. It is highly recommended that you do not register for morning classes because you will be at the courthouse almost every day and court takes up most of the morning – do not schedule 9 or 10 o’clock classes in order to avoid conflicts.

The clinic is a one semester, graded course. In addition to enrolling students for the Spring semester, we will also enroll 2 students for the Summer for 6 credits each. Due to the nature of trial preparation, the time commitment to this Clinic has generally exceeded the minimum 20-hour requirement. Additionally, clinic assignments will include short reflective/observation papers, a trial notebook and meeting to review case file management.

Summer clinic students should be aware that they must apply at the same time that the Spring clinic students apply. Summer clinic students are required to take the class component of the clinic during the spring on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 3:30-4:45 PM and are required to observe 4 court settings at The Frank Crowley courthouse and write 4 short reflective/observation papers. Further, summer students will be enrolled in the clinic for the entire summer. This is not a 6-week or 12-week course; participating in the clinic during the summer should be considered in lieu of other internships and work. Summer clinic students will not receive all 6 credit hours in one semester, but students will be able to tell the registrar how they would like to split their hours (as long as at least one credit hour is taken in the spring and at least one is taken in the summer).

To be eligible for the Criminal Clinic, you must be a student in good academic standing, you must have completed at least one-half (44 hours) of the credits required for graduation.

Professional Responsibility is a required co-requisite class, meaning you must have either already taken Professional Responsibility or be scheduled to take Professional Responsibility at the same time you would be in the Criminal Clinic. Recommended classes are Evidence and Texas Criminal Procedure.

Student selection for the Criminal Clinic is part of the general clinic pre-registration process.

If you MUST DROP Criminal Clinic, you MUST RECEIVE PERMISSION by notifying Administrative Assistant Gloria Zapata at gzapata@smu.edu, by 5 p.m. on Monday, December 9, 2019, who will then contact Associate Director Mike McCollum.
Students enrolled in this Clinic will travel to the Karnes Family Immigration Detention Center (located approximately an hour southeast of San Antonio) over the 2020 spring break to provide legal support to detained immigrant women and children seeking refuge in the United States.

While at the Detention Center, students will conduct intakes with newly arrived families, work with women and children to prepare for credible fear interviews (the first step in applying for asylum in the U.S.), draft declarations, support attorneys representing clients before the Immigration Court, and conduct pre-release orientations. Students’ work will be jointly supervised by SMU Law faculty and attorneys from the CARA Family Detention Pro Bono Project.

- 2 Credit Hours (graded pass/fail)
- Maximum enrollment: 8 students (Spanish speakers given preference for enrollment)
- Trip Dates: Sunday, March 15 - Friday March 20, 2020

Client Representation / Fieldwork

Student attorneys will undertake a broad range of legal work while enrolled in the Clinic:

- In teams of two, student attorneys will represent a survivor of gender-based violence in a legal matter such as securing post-conviction relief, a family law claim, a humanitarian immigration petition, or a protective order application. Students will have extensive client contact and gain experience interviewing, counseling, and negotiating; drafting motions, pleadings, and legal memoranda; and litigating before a variety of tribunals.

- In teams of four, student attorneys will work with an institutional client to seek long-term solutions to the problem of violence against women. Advocacy work could include creating educational or pro se materials; writing policy papers or reports; or conducting legislative advocacy.

Classroom Component - Clinic Seminar

Students will take part in a seminar that provides the legal and analytical foundation for their lawyering experiences. The seminar is a discussion-based class that includes small group work, role-plays, and other activities to help students gain understanding of and perspective on issues they may experience in their casework. Seminar for Spring 2020 is scheduled from 9:00 to 11:00 a.m. on Tuesdays.

Eligibility

Professional Responsibility is a required co-requisite; Family Law and Evidence are recommended. A mandatory orientation will be held on January 7 and 8.

Time Commitment

Students should expect to spend approximately 20 hours per week on clinic work, however, the precise amount of time each week will vary depending on the demands of casework.
The Innocence Clinic is a combination of academic and practical experience affording the participants the privilege of practicing post-conviction law on several cases out of the Dallas County Felony Courts.

Clinic participants review the cases of individuals who have been convicted of crimes, sentenced to prison and who now claim actual innocence. Some of the most common charges you will handle for your clients include: Murder, Sexual Assault, and Aggravated Robbery. As the student attorney, you will engage in any or all of the following: locating and reviewing original trial records; searching for and identifying remaining evidence, if any; analyzing cases for viability; submission of evidence for additional testing; interviewing potential witnesses; communicating with clients, including face-to-face meetings either in the county jail or the assigned prison unit; interacting with assigned personnel from the District Attorney’s Office; identifying and communicating with potential experts; drafting briefs, motions and proposed Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law

This is the third year for SMU’s Innocence Clinic. Innocence Clinic Supervising Attorney Chris Young has been with Dallas County since 2005 and during that time, he has served as an Assistant District Attorney for the Dallas County District Attorney’s Office and most recently as Assistant Public Defender where he currently leads the Dallas County Public Defender’s Office Exoneration Unit.

With the assistance of the supervising attorney, you will be handling real cases involving real clients. Your responsibility to the Clinic and your clients goes beyond the classroom and requires a substantial commitment on your part. Your time commitment to the Clinic is a minimum of 12 hours per week. This includes time spent at the courthouse, office hours and class time. The classroom portion of the course will meet weekly for one hour. In scheduling your other courses, you should take into account the flexibility you need to represent clients.

The clinic is a single semester, graded course. Clinic assignments will include weekly clinic meeting participation, written case history/overview, status reports, timesheets, periodic memos to the files, and closing memo submitted by each student at stated intervals during the year.

To be eligible for the Innocence Clinic, you must be a student in good academic standing, you must have completed at least one-half (44 hours) of the credits required for graduation by the end of the Spring 2019 semester, and be eligible for a student bar card. Student selection for the Innocence Clinic is done as part of the general clinic pre-registration process.

Orientation - Wednesday, January 8, 2020

ORIENTATION IS MANDATORY NO EXCUSED ABSENCES
The VanSickle Family Law Clinic (“the Clinic”) launched in the spring of 2016 with 6 student attorneys! I am still excited about the opportunity to teach and work with student attorneys to be reflective and ethical practitioners. As you might know, family law can be highly charged and contentious. But, it can also be a rewarding and eye-opening experience.

The chief mission of the Clinic is to train student attorneys to think and act like competent and ethical lawyers with the consequence of providing a valuable service to the community and legal representation to clients. The subject matter is family law, but the skills students learn can be transferred to any practice area. In the clinic, which operates as a small law firm, student attorneys will be the primary practitioners on the case and meet one-on-one with the clinical faculty member weekly for guidance, case consultation and updates.

The seminar component will integrate substantive law and theory relevant to family law, core lawyering skills and legal ethics to provide law students real world law practice experience. Under the supervision of an experienced clinical faculty member, student attorneys will represent and provide counsel to low-income clients in matters of family law such as divorce, child custody, possession and access, paternity, modifications, enforcement actions, child and spousal support and adoption. The Clinic will engage student attorneys in the performance of fundamental lawyering skills and tasks including but not limited to interviewing and counseling clients, negotiating, fact development and analysis, strategic case planning, conflict resolution and decision making, motion and trial practice, drafting legal pleadings and ancillary documents, organization and management of legal work, cultural competency, collaboration and self-evaluation. Student attorneys will also provide services to pro se litigants at the clinic’s “self-help desk” at the courthouse on matters such as how to complete uncontested divorce forms promulgated by the Texas Supreme Court.

The class will meet twice a week in the Clinic library (Tuesdays and Thursdays 2:00 p.m. to 3:15 p.m.) and the pedagogy will include lectures, simulations, exercises, and case-rounds. It will also include guest speakers, field trips and the clinic’s pro se project at the courthouse. You will spend a minimum of 18 hours a week in the Clinic.

Additional information:
• Mandatory Orientation (No Waivers) Wednesday, January 8, 2020 at 9:00 AM (All Day)
