

DEGOLYER ACQUISITIONS, 2013-2014:

A SELECTIVE CHECKLIST

The following checklist, arranged topically, is designed to highlight recent acquisitions, to suggest possible areas of research, and to serve as a chronicle of our collecting activity at the DeGolyer Library. While not comprehensive (reference books and secondary works are generally not included), the checklist does attempt to include a representative sample of some of the more important historical acquisitions within the fiscal year. One can see a constantly changing list of all newly cataloged materials by clicking on the “browse new titles” tab in the SMU online catalog.

[Advertising] [Auto] Oakland Motor Car Co. The Oakland Fours, Sixes, Eights. A Car of Beauty, refined and distinctive, sturdily built insuring comfort and economy and withal. Remarkable in performance and reliability. Pontiac, (1915). 16mo. [20]pp + two foldout illustrated plates + pictorial wrappers. Text vignettes of autoing scenes. ¶ Attractive little booklet, with the main feature actually being a 12-page story entitled, "How Charlie and Mary Decided." That is, how the Sumner's decided to purchase a new Oakland after exiting the auto show ("Tom, we've been studying automobile catalogues for the past week, and Mary and I have wandered through this labyrinth of buzz-wagons till we're dog tired").

[Advertising] [Cleaner] Pacific Coast Borax Co. The 20-Mule Team Brigade. Being a story in Jingles of the good works and adventures of the famous "Twenty-Mule-Team." Illustrations by Peter Newell. NY et al., 1904. Oblong 8vo. [36]pp + pictorial cloth. With full-page color comic illustrations by the incomparable Newell. Jingles which in one way or another refer to properties of the product (e.g., cleaning, bug repellent, tooth-paste) and with the Mules acting like jackasses! OCLC notes only seven holdings.

[Advertising] [Clothing] George W. Simmons & Son. Oak Hall Pictorial... By a Friend of American Enterprise. Twenty-Fifth Edition. Boston: Oak Hall, [187-?]. Square 12. [32]pp +

pictorial wrappers. Wood cuts throughout. Illustrated poem, using the “this is the house that Jack built” model, on this famous large department store which was primarily dedicated to men’s and boys’ clothing. One of various issues over the years (1850s-1870s).

[Advertising] [Clothing] McKibbin, Driscoll & Dorsey. Sheep Tales by Jiminy [cover title]. St. Paul, ca. 1910. [16]pp + color pictorial wrappers. Seven poems with illustrations, in one way or the other talking about coats lined with wool—a specialty of this firm, with the rectos devoted to illustrating and describing various such garments. Not located in OCLC.

[Advertising] [Cosmetics] Frederick F. Ingram & Co. Matilda Ann’s Story. A Romance of Osteway. Detroit, 1902? 12mo. [8]pp + pictorial wrappers. Poem about a 59-year-old farmer’s wife who learns about Ingram’s Milk Weed Cream... and therefore sneaks some eggs into town, sells ‘em, buys a jar of the Cream, and uses it for a month and her husband suddenly notices that she looks “purty as can be.” Not located in OCLC.

[Advertising] [Food] Crandall, Bruce V. Sammy Schulze of Schulzeville. Chicago: Designed, Engraved and Printed by Traders Printing Co., 1911. [16]pp + color pictorial wrappers. Profusely illustrated with full-page and vignette color cartoons. Tale in verse of “Dr Monk[ey]’s Pure Food Excursion to Schulzeville” and the Schulze Bread Factory, with a tour of same conducted by the child-baker, Sammy Schultz. Excursion members include a hippo, alligator, elephant, lion, giraffe, porcupine, bear and a dog, all nattily dressed. Totally goofy. OCLC locates one holding (Brown).

[Advertising] [Food] National Dairy Council. The King of the Pearly Mountains. Chicago, 1928. [16]pp including color pictorial wrappers. Story about the “Builders of Sound Teeth”—vegetables, fruits, and milk [“I am Sue Celery, and they say I’, as good as a Tooth Brush any day.” Not located in OCLC.

[Advertising] [Food] Purina Mills. Ralston, the Five Minute Breakfast Food. St. Louis, ca. 1880. Small die-cut seven-panel folding ad card, with illustrations and verse on one side—talks of the different chores done each day, along with a different Ralston product... and text on verso. OCLC locates one holding (The Strong).

[Advertising] [Glasses] Kryptok. Monologue of a Much Tried Man. [Troy NY?], ca. 1910. Folder flyer (4pp) illus. Man mumbles to himself about the need for bifocals, then discovers Kryptoks—“Don’t ask for ‘Bifocal Glasses’ always say KRYPTOKS.” As worn by Superman (I gather). OCLC only notes one other publication, also 4pp (at The Strong).

[Advertising] [Medical] Lambert Pharmaceutical Co. An Interview. St. Louis, 1898. 8ff, printed on recto only. Illustrated tale, with dialogue, of a talkingwalking bottle of Listerine making an impromptu sales call on a busy doctor: “L.: Good morning, Doctor. Dr.: Good morning, Listerine, but I am busy.” But the Bottle can’t take no for an answer! Not located in OCLC.

[Advertising] Outdoor Advertising Association. Miscellaneous Advertising. Book Number Five of the Promotion Series [cover title]. [Seattle: Western Engraving and Colortype Co., 1920?]. Oblong folio [9 x 16 in.] [53]pp + cloth-backed wrappers, pictorial stamp on front cover. A great presentation of 43 different billboards—half printed in color—each with the reprint of a letter, on the facing page, from the original client to the firm that designed said billboard. Letters dated 1919 and early 1920. A range of products shown and described: billboards for apartments, butter, milk, insurance, coffee [“Golden West Coffee: A very simple, effective bulletin design combining the western atmosphere that gets the package over quickly.”], clothing, dry cleaning, furniture, diamonds, paints, lard, etc. All actual firms and products. Producers—designers and advertising agencies—from around the country. Pagination includes eight pages describing the “Salient Points of the Outdoor Medium.” Fine document of roadside advertising post-War, just as Americans were taking to the road again. OCLC locates a copy at Duke, only. Oddly, no more number in this series are found in OCLC.

[Advertising] [Progaganda] Bailey, Roy Rutherford. Captain Tick-Mouse and His Adventures of the Torch Bearers. Chicago, 1918. 12mo. 26pp + tipped-in folding window poster + pictorial wrappers. Noted as “Fourth Series.” Weird tale of a military mouse who takes two kids—Davey and Dorfy—on night adventures in his small plane, but just as much about buying and selling Thrift Stamps: “Every stamp Helps the Boys in Camp Win for Uncle Sam!” Poster stamp mounted in cover, but not in appointed places inside. The small Torch poster is to be placed in one’s window (if one kept on saving at least one thrift Stamp each week for Uncle Sam and LIBERTY!” Publisher appears to be Elgin Watch Co.; inside are some stamps from a jewelry store in Kansas. OCLC notes four holdings.

[Advertising] [Shoes] Brown Shoe Co. Brown’s Blue Ribbon Book of Jokes and Jingles. St. Louis, 1904. Oblong 8vo. [16]pp including wrappers, detached. Completely illustrated chromolithographed. Weird cartoons by R.T. Outcault of Buster and Tige, his pet bull dog, riffing on popular nursery rhymes, but each with a Buster Brown Shoe tie in.

[Advertising] [Shoes] Boot and Shoe Recorder Publishing Co. The Shoe Dealers’ Alphabet. Boston, ca. 1890. [12]pp including wrappers, but with an extra 4pp sheet bound in. Illustrated throughout. Alphabet from a trade group-- “L is for Laces, And also for Leather, We warrant to stand All kinds of weather”-- to be given away by shoe stores—in this case, E.F. Burleigh’s of Laconia NH [with little ad mottos throughout]. Not located in OCLC.

[Advertising] [Stove] Lee, Mattie B. Busy Hands & Happy Hearts. Compliments of Detroit Stove Works. NY: Gast Lith. & Eng. Co., 1890. Oblong 12mo. 7ff + chromolithographed wrappers with silk-cord tie. With original plain envelope. Chromolithographed throughout. ¶ Collection of poems about kids and household chores—one for each day of the week—each in some way relating to the Jewel Stove (e.g., on ironing day, the iron is heated on a Jewel. Product plugs throughout. Very attractive piece. OCLC notes one holding (Henry Ford Museum).

[Advertising] [Watch] Waterbury Watch Co. Is It the Lady or the Tiger? No place, 1888. 12mo. [8]pp + chromolithographed wrappers. Weird riff on the Frank R. Stockton short story, with the gladiator pulling a Waterbury [a Key-Winder!] out of his tunic. Not located in OCLC.

[Advertising Fiction] [Appliance] Micro Corp. “So, George Said—“ [Bettendorf, Iowa, 1934.] 12mo. Four-panel folding brochure, with attached returned postcard. Illustrated. ¶ Four women sitting around, playing cards and smoking and talking about Bettendorf Automatic Oil Heat. “The foregoing typifies the experience of thousands of home owners who appreciate the generous values delivered by a Bettendorf.” Distributed at the 1934 Chicago World’s Fair.

[Advertising Fiction] [Beverage] Charles E. Hires Co. The Secret and Santa Claus at Home. [Philadelphia, ca. 1900.] Oblong 12mo. 16pp + pictorial wrappers. Two stories—one about a Grandmother who mixes up lots of Hires Root Beer for kids who then join her “Temperance Beverage” campaign. Second tale about Santa Claus unexpectedly running into Charles Hires, who starts crowing about his root beer... “It is the most healthful drink on the face of the earth. It is made direct from the crude-fresh roots, barks, herbs and flowers, in their highest and most perfect state of curing.” Santa drains the glass and proclaims the drink to be “marvelous” and from then on he (reportedly) places a package of Hires Root Beer mix in everyone’s stocking.

[Advertising Fiction] [Food] Continental Baking Co. The Amazing Adventure of Abner McDroop. [No place or date, ca. 1950?] 12mo. 16pp, self-wrappers. Cartoon illustrations throughout. Abner is too damn skinny and weak to join Hot House High’s tumbling team, but a circus strong man tells him the secret to weight-gain and strength: “Eat Lots of Wonder Bread!” Publisher agrees.

[Advertising Fiction] [Motors] Johnson Motor Co. Introducing the Adams... A Typical American Family. Waukegan, IL, 1927. 12mo. [28]pp + color pictorial wrappers. The typical family decides to spend their summer vacation at a secluded lake-side cottage, but they are fairly stranded until they pony up and buy a Johnson outdoor motor (models of which are shown and described on the last eight pages).

[Advertising Fiction] [Paint] Arabol M’f’g Co. Using Glutol. The Painter at 11. A.M. [New York, ca. 1890.] Double-sided illustrated sheet, with a cartoon on one side of two painters, Tom and Jim, one who mixes his paint with Glutol, and finishes his job sooner. Promotional text on the verso. Store-owner is advised “Paste this on your door-window.”

[Advertising Fiction] [Piano] Standard Pneumatic Action Co. The Week-End Party-- Betty’s Second Letter... [NY? Ca. 1920.] Four-panel folding illustrated brochure, opens to the text of a letter from Alice to Betty, telling the later about the “dandy time” they had at Annette’s, when the seven couples pushed back the furniture and turned on the Playerpiano, “the weirdest, most fascinating machine.”

[Advertising Fiction] [Sales] S.D. Warren Co. Bill Jones, Ambassador to Cities and Towns. Boston [ca. 1925.] 12mo. 22pp + pictorial wrappers. ¶ Story of Bill Jones, a salesman of the old school who is best assisted by a sheaf of “new and shiny portfolio of advertising plans and sales helps”... all of which have been printed, of course, on Warren paper. With five pages of product and company information. Printed on various Warren papers!

[Advertising Fiction] [Shoes] A.E. Little & Co. A College Story. [Lynn, MA, 1899.] [19]pp + color pictorial wrappers. With nine half-tone views of colleges, one full-page of a woman in academic garb, plus decorations. ¶ Tale of three Harvard men talking about women, especially one Miss Butler, and Roger Franklin expounds on his theory that Jack’s fascination with Miss B has do with shoes... “Her fascination and attractiveness are due partially, if not entirely, to the fact that she wears some particular shoe.” So the three place a bet, and Jack corners Miss Butler who does instruct him about shoes—specifically Sorosis shoes, “the most perfect shoe ever made for women. And then it’s so wonderfully cheap. You can buy a pair for $3.50.” Jack is smitten and dreams of keeping Miss Butler in shoes for life.

[Advertising Fiction] [Soap] Lever Bros. Lily White, The Story of a Lady’s Dress. [Boston, ca. 1885.] 12mo. 32pp + color printed wrappers. Text illustrations throughout. ¶ Story told over eight pages of the life of a Dress and how it received regular washing with Sunlight Soap. The publisher calls this little story, “an allegory with an underlying truth of important interest to every housewife—particularly to those housewives who have to deal week to week with large washing, and who still work with ordinary laundry soaps, in the wearying, old-fashioned way.” Most of the booklet is devoted to explaining the product’s premium wrapper program plus further information on soap.

[Advertising Fiction] [Toy] Patsy Doll Club. Aunt Patsy Tells a Story. [NY: Fleischaker & Baum, ca. 1935.] 12mo. [16]pp + color pictorial wrappers with cover flaps. Prof. illustrated in color. ¶ One day little Barbara, a member of the Patsy Doll Club, asks Aunt Patsy (head of said Club) to make a doll that is just like her baby sister... a doll “that will drink from a spoon or a bottle, whose diaper will change...” So Aunt Patsy gets to work, visits hospitals, goes to baby parades, and creates Dy-Dee, a doll that is “like a real human baby, wets her diaper and has to have changes regularly.” Why someone would want to deal with fake baby urine is another matter! One of the original “drink-and-wet dolls”, the manufacturer, Effenbee [aka Fleischaker & Baum], was challenged in court by the better-known Betsy-Wetsy Doll (made by Ideal Toy Co.), but a judge ruled that drinking and urination were natural movements and could not be patented. Effenbee’s Patsy Doll was the first “realistically proportioned child doll,” while Dy-dee is considered to be the “first hard rubber drink and eat doll.”

[Advertising Fiction] [Watch] Bailey, Roy Rutherford. Captain Tick-Mouse and His Adventures In Search of Father Time. No place: Elgin Watch Co., 1921. 12mo. [28]pp including pictorial wrappers, with illustrations mounted on the front cover. ¶ Fifth book in this series of promotional tales—child was to pick up copies at their local jeweler’s—“The Jeweler will like it better if they bring Father or Mother along.” Child reader was to paste illustrated stamps in four different places herein—this copy without stamps, except for cover stamp. Another very weird and fantastic tale about a uniformed mouse who takes Davy and Dorfy on trips in his airplane. In this story, the group goes back to prehistoric time.

[Advertising Poetry] [Dye] Wells & Richardson Co. A Bunny Tale of Diamond Dyes. [Burlington, VT, 1909.] [8]pp + color lithographed wrappers, some spotting. Lithographed throughout, by American Lithographic Co. (NY). ¶ Two bunnies are tired of their drab fur, so they decide to dye themselves. “So books and papers they looked through And found the Ad. At last; With joyous smiles they jumped up then, And hurried very fast To drag out with a merry wink The paper, pen and bottle of ink.” Soon, two packages of Diamond Dyes arrive—one red, one blue.

[Advertising Poetry] [Food] Armour. Cloverbloom Mother Goose Painting Book. [Chicago, ca. 1930.] Oblong 8vo. [16]pp including color pictorial wrappers. ¶ Color-book format, with color and uncolored facing illustrations—here, a book partially completed by some kid pumped up on butter. Fractured Mother Goose rhymes: “Mary had a little lamb. And she made it a rule To eat good bread and Cloverbloom Before they went to school.”

[Advertising Poetry] [Food] Loose-Wiles Biscuits Co. The Sunshine Twins and the Crystal Gazer. A Fairy Tale Book of Rhymes. [Kansas City, 1919.] [16]pp including color pictorial wrappers, some spotting. Prof. illustrated in color (printed by American Colortype of Chicago). ¶ Bob and Betty “both hated Geography.” Then they met a Hindu Crystal Gazer at a tea held by their mother, and the Gazer shows them “twelve countries [described in rhyme], each new, each wonderful, but none so wonderful as your own AMERICA!” Countries versified include China, Arabia, Spain, Italy, Russia, Japan, and Ireland. All ethnics snubbed and mocked! (re Spain: “Everyone seems just to hate the thought of work, It’s quite the fashion here to shirk!”).

[Advertising Poetry] [Food] Planters Nut & Chocolate Co. Dedicated to the Children of America, By Mr. Peanut. Oblong 4to. [32]pp including pictorial wrappers; old damp stain on corner of rear wrappers. ¶ Coloring book with facing pages, one already color-printed, the other to be colored—here, most panels colored by former child owner. Lots of peanut facts, plus a running poem. Betty and her friends are sitting around, waxing about how much they love PEANUTS, when Billy suddenly asks, “Where do PEANUTS come from?” At which point, Mr. Peanut enters the room, “tall hat in hand.” The talking legume takes the kids on a tour of America, all very peanut-centric.

[Advertising Poetry] [Medicine, Patent] Perry Davis & Son. The Invincible Knight. [Providence RI, ca. 1890.] 12mo. [16]pp + chromolithographed wrappers. Lithographed throughout. ¶ Poem told in eight sections of Knight Pain-Killer jostling with Señor Croup, Don Rheumatism, Count Feveranague, General Colic, Lord Lumbargo... he even chases off Death! Promotional text on Davis’ Pain-Killer on facing pages.

[Advertising Poetry] [Paint] Acme White Lead and Color Works. Acme ABC Book. Detroit, [ca. 1890.] 16mo. [16]pp including pictorial wrappers. ¶ An ABC for children on the firm’s line of paints, especially Mazolene: “P is for PIANO, So shiny and new, A very good sample of what Mazolene will do.” With a Special Offer to boys and girls under the age of 14: “Send us a new rhyme of four lines for any letter in the alphabet similar to those on preceding pages, containing the word ‘Mazolone,’ [and you] will receive by return mail a handsome picture card.” OCLC locates one holding (Princeton).

[Advertising Poetry] [Razors] Johnson, Cockburn. In Memoriam. Pictured by Robert A. Graef. [Boston: Gillette, ca. 1900.] 12mo. [16]pp + color pictorial wrappers. ¶ Illustrated comic poem about a man who no longer has to endure the barber’s straight-razor, now that he’s discovered the Gillette Safety Razor. With nine pages of illustrated ads (including some testimonials). “I’ll no more within that chair, No more that blade will glide And mar my noble countenance With scratches deep and wide.” OCLC locates one holding (Brown).

[Advertising Poetry] [Shoes] Stetson Shoes Co. A Cruise with Captain Healdarch. [Boston, 1927.] Oblong 12mo. [16]pp + color pictorial wrappers. ¶ Verse about the styles of shoes ideal for men to wear on cruises. “Now Captain Healdarch owns this ship. And asks you all to take a trip, And as you cruise, you'll hear his views Upon the famous STETSON SHOES." With nine different styles of shoes illustrated and described. Although referred to in the masculine, Capt. Healdarch looks like a woman... and all the sailors aboard "his" ship are women. And all the passengers men.

[Advertising Poetry] [Stove] Barstow Stove Co. The Report of the Wise Men. [NY ca. 1885.] 12mo. [8]pp + color lithographed wrappers. Lithographed throughout. ¶ Wise Men report back to the King of what they saw in the world: "And to our worthy king we'll say, From pole to spicy grove, There's nothing suits the people quite like Barstow's goods and stoves." OCLC locates one holding (Brown).

[Advertising Poetry] [Thread] George A. Clark. Clark's O.N.T. Rhymes For All Times. [Boston, ca. 1885.] 12mo. [8]pp + pictorial wrappers. With four chromolithographed wrappers. ¶ Poems featuring literary or Mother Goose characters—Robinson Crusoe, Gulliver, Three Bears, Cinderella, Little Bo-Peep—all using O.N.T. thread.

[Advertising Poetry] [Thread] George A. Clark. Monday's Child is Fair-of-Face... The Child that is born on the Sabbath Day is blithe & bonny, good & gay... [Boston, ca. 1885.] ¶ Complete set of seven embossed printed trade cards, with text on verso, the fronts each with a version of the popular poem, with a Clark twist. For example, Monday's child... "To all the fair we offer free, the best advice—use O.N.T." Remnant of scrapbook glue on versos, otherwise a bright and attractive set.

[Advertising Sheet Music] [Buggies] Porter, Arthur D. For It's the Anchor. No place: Anchor Buggy Co., 1906. Large format sheet. 6pp, with illustrated ad on back. Color illustrated front cover with inset photo of the four-member "Anchor Girl Quartette." Spotted foxing on cover. Tie-in issue with Dealers Convention in Kansas City, MO. "Get an Anchor Buggy and You Will Always Sing Its Praise." Not located in OCLC.

[Advertising Sheet Music] [Ice Cream] Kessnich, J.C. Medley March. [No place: S.J. Waggaman, Jr., 1912.] Large format sheet, 4pp, with ad copy on rear cover. Cover very worn and rubbed with edge tears; fair only. Possibly a "blank" or stock tune, here used by Peerless Ice Cream of Sacramento, with mention on the cover, and ad on back cover: "We are Boosting Ice Cream all the time, We make most every kind; The name of Peerless is supreme A fact you'll surely find." Not located in OCLC.

[Advertising Sheet Music] [Medicine] A.R. White, M.D. The Dandelion Clock. Song and Chorus. [Indianapolis, 1886.] Large format sheet, 4pp, with illustrated cover. ¶ Song published by Indiana proprietor of a patent medicine called Dandelion Alternative which is touted throughout the piece—testimonial letters (with addresses and dates) and text from White printed on EVERY available space along the margins, and completely covering the back cover. Text also promotes Doc White's Pulmonaria. Not located in OCLC.

[Advertising Sheet Music] [Organ] S. Turney. "Good-night, but not Good-bye." Derby, CT: Sterling Organ Co., 1885. Large format sheet, 6pp, with illustrated ad on back cover. Pictorial cover. Song “especially adapted for the Sterling Organ, with Its Famous Chimes of Swiss Bells, as found only in this instrument.” Not located in OCLC.

[African Americans] Bruce, H.C. The New Man. Twenty-Nine Years a Slave. Twenty-Nine Years a Free Man. York, Pa.: P. Anstadt & Sons, 1895. 178 pp. Bruce was born a slave in Missouri and went to Kansas after he was freed. He got involved in Republican politics in 1880 and after an unsuccessful run for the state legislature, he was appointed Doorkeeper of the Kansas Senate. He moved to Washington, D.C., the following year and, according to his autobiography, had been employed as a clerk in the Pension Office since 1882.

[African Americans] Byrd, Rev. William. True Dreams and Visions. While in Moundsville Prison. Charleston, West Virginia? 1915. 16p, portrait of Byrd who was the prison Evangelist. Wraps. [Dance cards] American Dance Cards. A Selection of Cards from Balls & Parties, 1860-1940. A collection of 150 original dance cards issued for social events in various towns and cities, as organized by a diverse group of organizations... trade organizations, sewing parties, veteran's group... collectively being a representative sampling of these important community events. Most of these cards—many with elaborate chromolithographic or typographic covers—still have the attached corner silken cords, and some still with original small pencils, so a participant could keep the card handy, noting when appropriate, the name of the partner for each specific dance delineated on the card's dance program. The fine design of these cards is evident that they were intended to be a souvenir of the event, and to be treasured by the dancer.

The range of dances listed on these cards is further evidence of the terpsichorean skills expected of the typical American man and woman during this time. Dances listed in the cards in this collection include: Boston Fancy, Caledonian, Contra, Danish Polka, Eight-Hand Reel, Five Step, Fox Trot, Galop, La Marjolaine, Lancers, Mazourka, Minuette Lancers, Money Musk, Opera Reel, Oxford Minuet, Polka, Portland Fancy, Quadrille, Quadrille (Mohawk), Redowa, Schottische, Sicilian Circle, Spanish Dance, Two Step, Virginia Reel, Waltz

Some cards would not only list the dance—and sometimes the specific piece of music—but also give the dance a connection with the specific event or group. For example, at the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen & Engineers ball held in St. Louis in 1907, the Two Step's motto was "Hand me the Monkey Wrench" while the Five Step was "Put on the Blower."

This collection is an excellent sampling of this printed ephemeral item, the kind of printed piece prepared by many a local job printer—and also a fine record of dance as an important component in the social fabric of American communities.

Engraved vignette on title & four folding engraved plates (one of which is dramatically hand-colored in red). Title printed in red & black. xxiii pp. First edition of one of the best scientific accounts of the notable eruption of Vesuvius on the 19th of October 1767. Pigonati (1734-90), an Italian military engineer, wrote an earlier work on the eruptions of Vesuvius in 1766. The handsome plates depict the crater of the volcano from above, the discharges of lava and fragmentary materials, the paths of the lava, and quite spectacularly, a night view of the eruption from the sea which is heightened with a dramatic red background.

[Health & Medicine] [Bound volume of 29 printed California government reports on hospitals and asylums for the insane] California, 1850 (but later?) to 1860. Reports covering the founding and early operations of state hospitals in California, geared toward providing safe haven and possible cure for the insane, or at least to remove them from public society. The earliest report, a Senate journal appendix report on establishing a "Marine Hospital, for the Port and Harbor of San Francisco" is dated 1850 though printed later. Other reports include the 1852 Annual Report of the Marine Hospital (printed in 1853, with some 88 pages of tables listing the various patients admitted, their native countries, date of admission, disease, dates of discharge, and how (most cured, a smaller number dead). There are also a number of reports of the founding and operations of the State Asylum for the Insane in Stockton. With the bookplate of Roger Larsen, noted collector; also occasional rubber stamps of the Masonic Home.

Profusely illustrated pamphlet presenting in four “Chapters” the “Packard Primer of Motor Car Manufacturing,” with series of captioned half-tones showing design and management processes, foundry work, parts production, and “Final Assembly—where motor cars come to life.” Good example of Detroit retooling after the War. Not located in OCLC.

[Manufacturing] [Food] H.J. Heinz Co. The Home of the 57. Pittsburg, ca.1906. 12mo. 32pp + wrappers; title label mounted on front wrapper; soiled and slightly torn. Profusely illustrated with half-tones showing production processes throughout the Heinz factory and facilities for employees. Issued shortly after passage of the Pure Food Act. OCLC locates four with this title.

[Manufacturing] [Industrial] Carborundum Co. Illustrated Catalogue of Carborundum, Manufactured under the Acheson Patents. Niagara Falls, NY, 1903. Large 8vo. 88pp + 1 color plate + embossed wrappers. Profusely illustrated catalogue of product used in industrial processes (e.g., grinding, steelmaking)—featuring here the reprint of an illustrated lecture by Francis A. J. Fitzgerald (delivered in 1896 at the Franklin Institute) on “The Manufacture and Development of Carborundum at Niagara Falls,” with 10 vignette illustrations. Expensively produced publication. OCLC locates three holdings.

[Manufacturing] [Industrial] Illinois Steel Co., Chicago U.S.A. Cleveland: Cleveland Printing & Publishing Co., [1897?]. 42pp + 15 inserted plates of captioned half-tones (both sides) + embossed wrappers, slightly soiled. Detailed description of the company's South Works steel factory and manufacturing done therein, with numerous illustrations of the facility. OCLC locates three US holdings, providing publication date (from NUC).

[Manufacturing] [Industrial] National Tube Co. "National" Modern Welded Pipe From Iron Ore to Finished Product. Pittsburgh, 1921, 4to. 86pp. Cloth-backed decorative stiff wrappers with color illustrations (of steel-making) mounted on cover. Profusely illustrated narrative account of the production of iron and steel, with chapters on the blast furnace as well as "Evolution of the Bessemer Process of Refining Steel." Also covered end-uses of welded pipe. OCLC locates five holdings.

[Manufacturing] [Industrial] Taylor-Wharton Iron & Steel Co. Historically Speaking 1742-1917 175th Anniversary. [Manuscripts] Drago, Harry Sinclair. Two typed manuscripts: "Here is a list of the twenty western novels I have enjoyed most. I offer no apology for including one of my own. Harry Sinclair Drago." [N.Y., ca. 1891]. 2 12pp. with Drago's manuscript corrections throughout the list. The Horseback Outlaws and Some Frontier Marshalls. 13pp., typed on one side. Signed in type "Harry Sinclair Drago." Unpublished as far as we can ascertain. Drago wrote under the names Will Ermine and Bliss Lomax, as well as his own. President Eisenhower once told an interviewer his two favorite authors were Bliss Lomax and Will Ermine. Drago was born in Toledo, Ohio in 1881. He wrote over 50 novels under his various names. He died in White Plains, N.Y. in 1979.

[Manuscripts] Erskine, Alexander. Alexander Erskine correspondence. [Memphis, Tennessee], 1858-1907. 6 folders (0.5 linear feet). This collection includes 128 letters, 106 were written by Erskine and the rest were written by his family members. Two telegrams in the first folder were sent to Alexander's brother, Dr. John Erskine, who worked as a public health officer during the yellow fever epidemic in Memphis in 1878. Also included is a speech written by Alexander Erskine for a medical convention and copies of his printed portrait. Alexander Erskine (1832-1913) and John H. Erskine (1834-1878) were brothers born in Huntsville, Alabama. They both received their medical degrees in 1858 from the University of New York and settled in Memphis to practice together. Alexander was Professor of Obstetrics at the Memphis Medical College. His brother John was a surgeon during the Civil War, and was the Health Officer of Memphis during the yellow fever epidemic. He contracted and died of the disease.

[Manuscripts] Hoopes, Samuel Hatton. Collection of Samuel Hoopes poetry. [United States], 1859-1906. 3 folders. Samuel Hatton Hoopes (1833-1915) was a Chester County, Pennsylvania Quaker, stencil-cutter and engraver, and poet. This collection contains about 90 poems, two manuscript maps of Pennsylvania, notebooks containing recipes and newspaper clippings, and a manuscript by Priscilla Lewis that Hoopes copied for his mother. Hoopes's poems describe his journey to California and Arizona Territory (1867-1868). Many of his poems are memorial acrostics, with the initial letters of each of the poem's lines spell out a person's name. Included is a printed broadside "A Poem on the Death of My Sister, Sarah M. Pusey, Who Died on 1st Day, Nov. 26th, 1865."

[Manuscripts] Huddleston, William P. William P. Huddleston papers, 1880-1890. 5 folders (0.25 linear feet). William P. Huddleston was a prominent farmer and state representative for the labor organization, Agricultural Wheel, of Independence County, Arkansas. Although the Agricultural Wheel was short-lived as an independent farmers' union, it influenced the future formation of other such unions in Arkansas, and led, in part, to the rise of the Populist movement in the state. This collection includes letters from Huddleston to his second wife Orpha about Arkansas politics, ephemera, six portraits of Huddleston, and two 1890 cabinet card photographs of members of the Agricultural Wheel including some African American men. Purchase, 2013.

[Manuscripts] [Mexico] Manuscript regarding ownership of Hacienda de San Antonio de Cerrillo de las Piedras in Toluca, Mexico. [Mexico], 1660s-1790s? 524 leaves (0.5 linear foot). The documents in this volume all concern a controversy in San Josef de Toluca, Mexico affecting properties known as the Hacienda de San Antonio de Zerrillo (or Serrillo or Cerrillo) and las Piedras, which was a "labor" associated with the hacienda. Originally owned by Gonzalez Rodriguez, the property descended by various means through various hands. It was not until 1677 (a date associated with early documents in the legajo) that Toluca was categorized as a town. The whole parcel is sometimes referred to in the documents as the Hacienda de San Antonio de Serrillo de las Piedras. Today, Hacienda de San Antonio del Cerrillo de las Piedras is one of the communities in the municipality of Toluca and is better known as San Jerónimo. In recent years, the government declared more of the lands of the original Hacienda as eminent domain in order to make an improved road in the region. The legajo, or legal file, consists of individual manuscripts that have been reordered and recollated. The original numbering is present on almost all of the items, but relates only to the individual items (e.g., 1-24). At some point the folios were numbered continuously from beginning to end. At a later time, it appears that the documents were rearranged into their present order. Inventory available upon request.

[Natural Gas] American Gas Association. Gas Serves Your Community. (New York, ca. 1964). Packet of elementary-school curriculum material, in the original mailing carton, includes: one pamphlet, Gas Serves Your Community, 24pp, illus); a brochure, Visual and Scientific Aid for Learning About Natural Gas, four-panel fold-out; 28 die-cut bulletin board cards, illustrated and with explanatory text; a printed this banner ("How Gas Comes to Your Community"); a cover letter to a teacher (in this case, one with a school in Ohio) on Columbia Gas Co. of Ohio letterhead. With a few additional index cards of relevant notes, presumably in the teacher's hand. A great example of 1960's "edu-tisement", here for the wonders of natural gas, meant to be displayed on a class-room bulletin board as a sort of flow chart to tell the story from exploration to processing to its used at home and in communities. The attractive and bright illustrations are characteristic of 1960's corporate graphic design. The teacher's pamphlet includes explanation and a schematic of how to lay out the bulletin board (both for manufactured and mixed gas) while the brochure also offers educational films and filmstrips for the teacher to order. [Oil] Far East-Levingston Shipbuilding. Offshore Drilling Tender I.J. Pierce Built for Reading & Bates Exploration Co. Singapore. 1971. Collection of 60 original 8x10 black and white photographs (stamped on verso: "Far East-Levingston Photograph"), in a contemporary binder (spine split). Documentary history of off-shore oil rig built for a Houston-based firm [later in Tulsa], and intended for use in the straits near Brunei (where it served for some time). The photos show in detail the interior of the Tender—including crew quarters, bathrooms, lounge area, laundry, kitchen—but primarily showing the extensive machinery inside. The technical details are discussed in the 16pp pamphlet laid in. As a contemporary newspaper article noted: "The 206-foot long I.J. Pierce has air-conditioned living quarters for 108 men, a helicopter landing pad, five generators, drilling equipment, and a fixed platform complete with derrick and mud pumps.” Also laid in is an engraved invitation, from Reading & Bates Offshore Drilling Company, to attend the christening of this Tender (by Mrs. Pierce!) and a buffet aboard the vessel. This album was most likely assembled and presented to the name-sake of this Tender, I.J. Pierce, as laid in is an invitation from Reading and Bates to Mr. And Mrs. I.J. Pierce to attend lunch and then a christening for another ship in Singapore in 1978 (hewer at the Marathon Letourneau Shipyard).

The sisters of the mission were brought to Oregon in 1844 by Father Desmet." Smith 7483. This item has also been attributed to Blanchet and DeSmet. Monaghan 1131a.

[Oregon] Train Wreck: The Lake Labish Disaster, four persons killed and over one hundred injured. The coroner's inquest, and the railroad commissioners findings. New Salem, Oregon: Clare Irvine, 1890. [2] ad , 16,[2] ad pp. A few drawings. Original printed wrappers. Second edition. Rare second and expanded edition. OCLC only lists the 12-page first edition. The booklet details the collapse of the Lake Labish trestle on November 12, 1890. That evening a California bound Southern Pacific train plunged through the trestle, resulting in the death of 5 people with 125 injured. The collapse was ruled a result of weathered fir timbers and a law was passed requiring twice-a-year inspections of railroad bridges.

[Photographs] [Mexico] TEPIC, MEXICO. A fine group of 14 silver gelatin prints, tipped to brown paper mounts with printed captions attached to the mounts. Circa 1905. The images measure 7 ¼ x 9 ¼ inches on 11 x 14 inch paper. Each mount has a printed caption in the lower right. The short-lived Territory of Tepic was formed in 1889 when a decree of President Manuel Gonzales created the Territory of Tepic, separating it from the State of Jalisco. In 1917, the territory was admitted to Mexico as the State of Nayarit. Our images show views of the city of Tepic, details of public buildings, churches, the countryside, and indigenous peoples. It has been suggested (though we have been unable to verify), that these photographs were taken by H. C. Tibbitts. Howard Clinton Tibbitts (1863-1937) was a San Francisco-based photographer who worked for the Southern Pacific Railroad for forty years, starting in 1892. He is known to have photographed in Mexico. His work was used extensively in the railroad's magazine "Sunset."

[Printing] T.E. Mann. Mann Press Company. An accumulation in excess of one hundred items, mostly printed on, promoting, advertising, and or demonstrating aspects of T.E.Mann's "Self-Inking Printing Press," designed and invented for small scale production work, with applications for amateur press publications, local commercial jobbing, in-house tasks, and the like. An actual cabinet card photograph of some apparatus, taken at the photographic studio of O.L.Yeoman's in Gladbrook, Iowa, accompanies the groupings, as well as a tangentially related letter copy book. Some of these pieces comprise trade catalogue material, flyers, color printing, letterheads, a large illustrated broadsheet, stock certificate, a type specimen book in 16pp. generated by the Crescent Type Foundry in 1896, small group of family photographs, etc. Mr. Mann had interesting bearings. Earlier on, he published and edited TAMA Northern. The Farmer and Laborer's Friend out of Gladbrook, it being the house organ of the National Anti-Monopoly Labor Party; during 1895, he invented a gas-powered automobile, called The Mann, but it appears not to have had any commercial success.

[Prospectuses] Douglas, Lacey & Co. The Union Consolidated Oil Co. Incorporated Under the Laws of the State of West Virginia for the Purpose of Securing the Enormous Profits Possible in Developing the Recently Discovered Oil Fields of California, Texas, and Other States. (S.n., circa 1900). 8vo, bifolium format, 4pp. Halftone illustration on page 1, depicting “A Group of Producing Wells in Los Angeles, California.” The prose is crafted to generate excitement from potential investors, even as it smacks of being rather vague on concrete details.

[Puzzle] Solsona. Rompecabezas: Máquina Ferrocarril. Barcelona: Pinlats, ca. 1920. Set of 12 “chromos”—color cards, 2.75 x 4.25 inches—that once assembled presents a picture of racing locomotive. On the verso of the cards is a running history of railroads. Promotional jigsaw from a manufacturer of cookies and chocolates (“of the highest quality”), perhaps placed separately in boxes.

[Quakers] Iowa Union College Association of Friends. Articles of Incorporation of the Iowa Union College Association of Friends, Located at Oskaloosa, Iowa. Oskaloosa, Iowa: Herald Book and Job Establishment, 1867. 8vo, original printed light brown wrappers, 11 pages. The founding document of what is now William Penn University in Oskaloosa, Iowa and a curiously uncommon piece of material relating to the early educational efforts of the Iowa Yearly Meeting and an uncommon Oskaloosa imprint. Not found on OCLC.

[Railroads] Allen Paper Car Wheel Co. Descriptive Circular and Price List, 1882. Allen's Patent Paper Car Wheel. New York, 1882. 32pp. Wood-engravings throughout the catalogue. First established in 1877, this is its third “circular.” According to the detailed information provided on the Mid-Continent Railway Museum’s website, in the section called “Car-Builder’s Dictionary,”: “‘Paper’ wheels is really a misnomer. These were fabricated wheels made up of a cast iron hub bolted to an iron disk and a wrought iron or steel tire bolted to another disk, with the two disks bolted together through a sandwich of paper maché. The paper served to insulate the vibrations of the tire against the rail from transmission to the hub and thence to the car body.” The Dictionary then provides much information on the inventor as well as the short life of the firm [<http://www.midcontinent.org/rollingstockdictionary/paperwheels.htm>]. OCLC locates a copy at the Smithsonian.

[Railroads] Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Company. Report of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy (Late the Chicago & Aurora) Railroad Company. Chicago: Daily Democrat Print, 1855. 16, [4] pp. The first Report of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Rail Road under this name. "This great railroad system had its beginnings in 1849," when the Legislature chartered the Aurora Branch Railroad Company, whose name was changed to the Chicago and Aurora in 1852 and then, in 1855, to the CB&Q. [Byrd]. A description of the Road, its connections, and its financial condition is printed. James F. Joy, its President, signs in type at the end. This copy is unusual and perhaps unique for its insertion of a four-page supplement at the end. Printed on rectos only of two leaves, it compares earnings for the period January-April of 1854 and 1855. Byrd 2245.

[Railroads] Pacific Railroad Company. Second Annual Report of the Board of Directors, of the Pacific Railroad... [bound with:] Third Annual Report of the Pacific Railroad to the Secretary of the State of Missouri, for the Year Ending November 30, 1854. St. Louis, 1852; 1854. 10, 20 pp. Two early annual reports of the newly established Pacific Railroad, later known as the Missouri Pacific Railroad, and the first railway to be operated west of the Mississippi River. The second annual report, issued in 1852, one year after the Railroad's inception, charts the progress of the first division of the road, which later established the link to Franklin and the intended extension to Jefferson City. The third annual report to the Secretary of State, published after the completion of the first division, details updated costs, and expenses, including various delays; but estimates the road's net earnings at over $1,200,000 and assures that "the real business of the road will much exceed the estimate." OCLC does not locate copies of either pamphlet. DeGolyer had the first annual report of this railroad and is now happy to add these subsequent publications.

[Railroads] Sioux City and Pacific Railroad. Letter from the Secretary of the Treasury, Transmitting Annual report of the president of Sioux City and Pacific Railroad Company for the year 1867... [caption title] [Washington, D. C.: G. P. O., 1868]. 11, [1, blank] Begun in 1864, the Sioux City and Pacific Railroad linked the Missouri River to the main line of the Union Pacific Railroad near Fremont, Nebraska. The 1867 annual report of the president of the Sioux City and Pacific Railroad is here reprinted by the U. S. House of Representatives as transmitted from the U. S. Secretary of the Treasury. The annual report includes the chief engineer's estimates of construction costs and track line improvements and a current list of the railroad company's directors including John I. Blair of New Jersey, president. Blair notes that fifty miles of railroad has been completed and is ready for business and that even more miles of grading and telegraph lines have been built: "The company will thus be able to deliver freight and government supplies destined for the upper Missouri valley at Sioux city by rail, before the opening of navigation in spring."

[Railroads] Southwestern Pacific Railroad. Address to the people of the United States, calling a national convention in Saint Louis, on the 23d of November 1875, to take action in favor of a southwestern Pacific railroad, together with letters from leading citizens upon the same subject. Saint Louis: C.E. Ware & Co., Printers, 1875. 23, [1 blank] pp. "The completion of such a work will yield great benefits to every section of the country." These benefits are described, as is the route of the proposed Road. Its sponsors emphasize that they ask, from the federal government, "Not money; not subsidies; not loans or lands. The companies having this enterprise in charge, simply ask for a guaranty of five per cent. interest on Construction Bonds..." Among the supporters whose letters are printed here is Pierre G.T. Beauregard, who had risen from the ashes of the Confederacy to become a successful businessman. Bureau of Railway Economics, page 268.

[Railroads] Standard Tank Car Co. Standard Tank Car Journeys. Where Industrial Liquids come from and where they go. New York et al, 1920. "Prepared and written by D'Arcy Advertising Company, St. Louis." 141pp + 36 plates (color illustration and or half-tone on both sides) + color frontis plate. Color illustration mounted on front cover. Handsome production describing the various industries whose products are shipped by tank car (dramatic color illustrations of tank cars in various situations). Such areas as nitric acids, chlorine, potash, gasoline, acetone, castor oil, olive oil, whale oil, lard oil, zinc chloride, vinegar and wine... you name it and you can ship it!

[Railroads] [Texas Pacific] Argument of Hon. William M. Evarts Before the Committee on Public Lands of the U.S. Senate, Saturday, February 23, 1884. on the Bill (H.R. 3933) to Declare a Forfeiture of Lands Granted to the Texas Pacific Railroad Company, and for Other Purposes. New York: 1884. 45 pp. Exceedingly scarce (only one on OCLC). Dry legal argument about land forfeiture and what happens to those lands if the Texas Pacific were to be bought or merged; an issue as the railroad went into receivership. Evarts was a prominent lawyer and founder of the Republican Party.

[Railroads] Trinity and Brazos Valley Railway Company (R.H. Baker, President) and B.F. Yoakum. Trinity and Brazos Valley Railway Company and B.F. Yoakum Construction Contract (cover Title). Hillsboro, Texas? Fort Worth, Texas? 1905 16p. stiff Wraps. Scarce.

[Roosevelt, Theodore] Report of the Hon. Theodore Roosevelt made to the United States Civil Service Commission, upon a visit to certain Indian Reservations and Indian Schools in South Dakota, Nebraska, and Kansas. Philadelphia: Indian Rights Association, 1893. 23pp. Original printed wrappers. A sympathetic report by Teddy Roosevelt of his visit to various Sioux, Cheyenne, Osage, and Santee tribes. Roosevelt comments on the prevalence of half-breeds over their white or native counterparts, poor health care on reservations, and the relatively low levels of racism against the Indian found outside reservations. Good insight into Roosevelt's embrace of the American West.

[Roosevelt, Theodore] [Document, signed, by Theodore Roosevelt as U.S. president ("T. Roosevelt"), approving an act passed by the Cherokee Nation appropriating funds for the Cherokee National Insane Asylum]. [With:] [a copy of the act itself ("senate bill number 9")]. Tahlequah, the capital of the Cherokee Nation, was established as the seat of the government of the Cherokee Nation in 1841, and in the decade following the Civil war the Cherokee nation Insane Asylum was created. Under the terms of an Act of U.S. Congress of March 3, 1901, the National Council was required to submit all appropriations for presidential approval. With this document Theodore Roosevelt approves the appropriation of $3,661.28 "out of any money belonging to the Insane Asylum Fund" for 1903. Both documents are signed by T.M. Buffington, Principal Chief of the Cherokee Nation

[Texas Libraries] [El Nuevo Testamento de nuestro señor y redentor Jesu Cristo. -- Nueva ed., cuidadosamente corr.]. [United States?: n.p., 1817]. 336 pages. Lacks the two preliminary leaves (title page, indexerrata). With an ink ownership signature across the head of the first page, "B.B. Dickinson St. Antonio de Bexar Texas [blot] 1830." With additional ink signatures and notations to the last page and the rear paste-down, viz. "Josepha Gracia [faded word], Bexar 1824 Martha [roughly erased] born Bexar 1826," and a few other semi-legible signatures. A brief mention of a B. B. Dickinson of Brazoria appears in an online listing for the Bexar archives at University of Texas (a declaration of goods dated San Antonio de Bexar, 1061830). The collation and typography agree with the 1817 Spanish New Testament noted under American Imprints 40220. Boards detached and worn, but a nice relic of book ownership among early Americans in Texas.

(Dallas: Bryant Bros.), [ca. 1901]. 16mo, original pictorial self-wrappers, [2], 28, [3] pages, wire stitched. Illus. First edition. "We are due an explanation on our Rods, and will say that a great many years ago the Spaniards in this country used a composition for locating gold and silver, and it was put up in a bottle the same as ours, but was composed of many ingredients that would attract other metals, thereby rendering it entirely worthless. . . . We have culled out the materials used that attract other metals and added others that were unknown to them, and have also added the wonder of the age, (Electricity), and have the most reliable Up-to-Date instrument made to-day." Testimonials, order form, and grandiose claims for this Dallas company's gold locating devices: "Science can make any claim it wishes in regard to gold and silver being non-magnetic, but we are in a position to prove to the contrary, and will take pleasure in doing so if our statements and the statements of others who have used the instruments will not convince you. A call on us will convince the most skeptical unbeliever.” With a nice cut on the front wrapper of a man using the Up-to-Date Mineral Rod, though as the company cautions, “While we guarantee our instruments to attract gold and silver and not to attract any other metal, we do not guarantee everyone who buys them to be successful, as that would be out of the question.” OCLC notes only a single location (UVa) of a 22-page version of this pamphlet, catalogued as by A. L. Bryant.

[Women] Bywaters, Alice. Alice Bywaters diaries. [Texas], 1899-1945. 12 diaries (1.5 linear feet). Alice Perkins Shelton (1855-1957) married A.H. Bywaters and lived in Lamar County, Texas. Her grandson, Jerry Bywaters, was a Texas artist. Alice lived with her daughter Bernie Bywaters Blutworth (1892-1955) during the later years of her life in Roxton, Texas. These eleven diaries describe small town life in Lamar County from the time Bernie was a young girl, until after her husband's death in 1943. It appears that the diaries were written by Alice on behalf of her daughter when Bernie was a child. The diaries describe in great detail the life of the town and her family, school, trips, and the death of Bernie's husband, Milton. An additional folder contains undated excerpts from the diaries written in a contemporary hand. Gift, William Milton Blutworth Jr., 2013 & 2014.

[Women] Castleberry, Vivian, 1922- Vivian Castleberry papers, 1956-2010. 16 boxes (16 linear feet). This collection contains the personal papers of author Vivian Castleberry, who served on the editorial board and as the women's editor of the Dallas Times Herald. The collection is made up of clippings, research for articles and books, materials relating to prominent women of Dallas, and materials from organizations associated with Castleberry. Born in Lindale, Texas, as the oldest child and only daughter of William and Jesse Anderson, Vivian Lou Anderson was raised on the family dairy farm in East Texas. Determined at a young age to become a writer, Castleberry taught herself to read before entering school. She attended high school in Athens, Texas, and earned a full academic scholarship to Southern Methodist University. At SMU she served as journalist and editor of the university's newspaper, The Semi-Weekly Campus, until her graduation in 1944. In 1956, she joined the staff of the Dallas Times Herald as women's editor and was the first woman appointed to the editorial board, a position from which she retired in 1984. An accomplished author, she has written and co-authored several books: Sarah--the Bridge Builder: Dowager of a Dallas Dynasty, Daughters of Dallas: A History of Greater Dallas through the Voices and Deeds of Its Women, Seeds of Success, and Texas Tornado to name a few. Castleberry is active in civic and women's issues on a local and international scale, founding the Women's Interest Network, Peacemakers Incorporated, Women's Center of Dallas and the Dallas Women's Foundation. She has worked on several the advisory boards including the SMU Women's Symposium, The Family Place, and the Greater Dallas Community of Churches. Vivian Castleberry is married to Curtis Castleberry, a retired schoolteacher. The couple has five daughters, fourteen grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. Gift, Vivian Castleberry, 2013.
