

ARHS 1335: Monsters, Mayhem and Miracles: Life in the Medieval World

Danielle Joyner

MW: 9:00-10:20AM
Owen Fine Arts Room B600

Sorcerers and werewolves; Crusaders and Inquisitors; soaring cathedrals, priceless books, and miracle-making saints—all these are creations of the Middle Ages and part of a vibrant legacy that we still live out today. This course explores the medieval world through art, architecture, music, and literature ranging from the miraculous to the preposterous, offering students a new perspective on the power of this medieval heritage. The course is designed to introduce non-majors to the wide diversity of objects, images, and architecture produced in Europe and the Mediterranean world during the Middle Ages (c. 300-1500).
