

Doctor of Ministry (D.Min.)

Pursue your calling at Perkins

The Doctor of Ministry program provides the opportunity for advanced study in the areas of vocational and leadership formation and community building. Integrating theological reflection and ministerial practice with these areas of study, Christian leaders build their theological knowledge and gain skills to effectively engage in ministerial work in contexts of change and transition.

D.Min. students are to complete 30 credit hours with a GPA of 3.0 or higher within 3 years. The courses that are taken in the D.Min. Program are:

- Vocation, Leadership and Community
- The Person and Role of a Leader in Ministry
- Leadership and Vocation in Church and Community:
A Theological/Historical Exploration
- Models of Leadership, Social Institutions and Community Engagements
- Vocation, Leadership and the Bible in Contexts
- Ecclesiology, Community and Models of Leadership
- Contextual Analysis
- Integrative Seminar and Strategic Planning in Contexts
of Change and Transitions
- Directed Study (with assigned advisor)
- Writing Project Seminar

At Perkins School of Theology, you will gain a balance of academic preparedness and hands-on learning to equip you for ministry and leadership in the church of the 21st century.

New for June 2023:

Doctor of Ministry students can begin taking D.Min. courses at Methodist Hospital in Houston. If you are interested in joining this initial cohort of 8-12 students, please submit your application at <https://gradadmission.smu.edu/apply/>

Focus: With a specific focus and skill-oriented curriculum, the Doctor of Ministry program draws on faculty strengths from Perkins while addressing the current needs in Christian ministry in and outside of Christian churches and communities.

The goals of the degree are to:

Seek vocational depth and direction

Gain theological knowledge and understanding of vocational and leadership identity in tandem with developing skills for relevant practices of ministry that build communities in context

Acquire knowledge, critical insights and skills to exercise leadership grounded in Christian vocation in contexts of transition and change within the Church and the community
