THE MISSION OF PERKINS SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY

The primary mission of Perkins School of Theology, as a community devoted to theological study and teaching in the service of the church of Jesus Christ, is to prepare women and men for faithful leadership in Christian ministry.

Perkins School of Theology affirms its relationships to the community of learning that is Southern Methodist University, to the universal church (inclusive, ecumenical and global), to the United Methodist Church specifically and to its particular geographical and cultural setting in the southwestern United States.

These relationships are sources of strength and avenues of service for the school as it pursues its twin tasks of theological reflection and theological education to the glory of God.

HISTORY AND FACILITIES

The school of theology has been an integral part of Southern Methodist University since the latter's founding. It grew out of a movement led by Bishop Seth Ward of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, to establish a theological school west of the Mississippi. Dr. E.D. Mouzon, dean of the Theological Department of Southwestern University and later bishop, became its first dean in 1914. With the opening of the University in the following year, the school of theology began its work as the church's official theological school for the region west of the Mississippi. When ownership of the University was vested in the South Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church at the Uniting Conference of 1939, the school of theology became the official theological school of that jurisdiction.

Dean Mouzon was followed by Deans Hoyt M. Dobbs (1917), Paul B. Kern (1920), James Kilgore (1926), Eugene B. Hawk (1933), Merrimon Cuninggim (1951), Joseph D. Quillian, Jr. (1960), James E. Kirby (1981), Robin W. Lovin (1994) and William B. Lawrence (2002).

Originally housed in Dallas Hall, the school occupied Kirby Hall (which is now Florence Hall in the Law School) from 1925 to 1950. Beginning in 1945, the University received a series of large gifts from Lois and Joe J. Perkins of Wichita Falls, Texas, that made possible the relocation and expansion of the school of theology and provided major endowment for its support. Six of the eight buildings on the present site in the southwest corner of the University campus were provided by these gifts. The Board of Trustees responded by naming the school the Perkins School of Theology.

The new campus, occupied in 1950, consisted of the chapel, Kirby Hall, four dormitories (Smith, Perkins, Martin and Hawk halls) and Bridwell Library. Several years later, Selecman Hall was added.

Bridwell Library of the Perkins School of Theology is Southern Methodist University's principal bibliographic resource for the fields of theology and religious studies. The library houses more than 350,000 volumes in religion and related fields. In addition to the broad general collection, Bridwell Library Special Collections holds approximately 50,000 rare books and manuscripts. Particular strengths of the special collections include theology, church history, textually and historically significant editions of the Bible, Methodistica, Wesleyana and early printing. To enhance public and scholarly awareness and appreciation of the collections, Bridwell presents exhibitions and hosts lectures, conferences and workshops.

Completed in 1950, the original Bridwell Library building was a gift of Joseph Sterling Bridwell and his daughter Margaret Bridwell Bowdle of Wichita Falls. In the 1950s and early 1960s, they also made it possible for Bridwell to begin acquiring rare books. In 1973, the philanthropic organization Bridwell founded, the J.S. Bridwell Foundation, funded the doubling of the size of the library building. In the late 1980s, another major Bridwell Foundation gift permitted the renovation of the library. At the same time, a gift from Charles N. Prothro in honor of his wife, Elizabeth Perkins Prothro, made possible the addition of exhibition galleries to the library building. Today the library facilities include computer lab and wireless service, reference and periodical reading rooms, graduate student carrels, and special-needs stations.

In 2009, Perkins School of Theology completed the construction of one new building and the renovation of two others. This project, which involves an investment of more than $14 million, provides state-of-the-art instructional technology and fully accessible facilities for all persons. The new building, Elizabeth Perkins Prothro Hall, is a Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) certified building, constructed to meet or exceed standards of environmental concern. It contains principal classrooms, lecture halls, a computer lab for student use and a preaching lab. It also contains a refectory for Perkins' community meals and a great hall for dinners and other public gatherings. The renovated Kirby and Selecman halls are the primary locations of faculty and staff offices. These three buildings, along with Bridwell Library and Perkins Chapel, form the theology quad at the main entrance to Southern Methodist University.

A great many other gifts have supported the school in many ways over the years. Its vitality and growth are the direct result of the generosity of scores of dedicated people.

COMMUNITY LIFE

Theological reflection and education for ministry are the purpose of the school. However, these imply a concern for the total development of people in the community. This concern is manifest not only in the classroom and library, but also in a wide range of activities and associations, which make up the life of the school.

Worship is a central element in the life of the school. Brief services of worship led by students and faculty are held daily. The principal worship services of the school are held on Wednesdays and Thursdays. These services are planned by a committee of faculty and students and include elements from the many worship traditions represented in the Perkins community. Community lunches are held Tuesday through Friday during the term. Common meals, celebrating holidays or highlighting special groups or themes, take place several times each year. Individual resident hall groups also get together for meals and social events.

There are a number of student organizations and groups. Every regularly enrolled student is a member of the Perkins Student Association, which assumes responsibility for those aspects of student life and government that are not directly under the jurisdiction of the Perkins faculty. An elected PSA council governs the association. Student representatives also serve on the standing committees of the faculty. Committees of the PSA council deal with social action, social life, ecumenical affairs, academic concerns and worship. Several active student groups are recognized and funded by the PSA council, including Black Seminarians Association, L@s Seminaristas, the Order of St. Luke, Anglicans at Perkins, Soul Food, Interfaith Dialogue, Affirming Religious Community and the Order of St. Julian.

The Seminary Singers is a choral group open to all Perkins students, under the leadership of the Master of Sacred Music program. The group sings in the weekly chapel services and on other occasions throughout the year.

Special programming and events for the Perkins community, as well as other groups and activities for Perkins students and their families, are organized under the leadership of the PSA council and the director of Student Services.

ADMISSION

DEGREES OFFERED

Perkins offers a variety of degree programs. Education for church leadership is provided through the Master of Divinity program, intended primarily, although not exclusively, for persons seeking ordination. The Master of Church Ministries program has as its main objective the preparation of people for specialized church ministry. The Master of Sacred Music program is offered in cooperation with the SMU Meadows School of the Arts for the education of leaders in church music. A student seeking ordination as deacon within the United Methodist Church may pursue required courses within any of the above degree programs. The Master of Theological Studies program is primarily for people who wish to engage in serious theological study, especially for those considering a doctoral degree. The Doctor of Ministry degree program provides advanced education for church leadership and is available for students who hold the M.Div. or an equivalent degree.

Perkins also cooperates in the Graduate Program in Religious Studies of Dedman College, which offers the M.A. and Ph.D. degrees. These degree programs are intended chiefly for those interested in college and university teaching and scholarship in religious studies. Further information concerning them can be obtained from the office of the director of the Graduate Program in Religious Studies.

Houston/Galveston Program

Students who are admitted to study for the M.Div., C.M.M. or M.T.S. degrees may enroll in classes held at St. Luke's United Methodist Church in Houston and Moody Memorial First United Methodist Church in Galveston. Under this program, students may earn a significant portion of their degree requirements in weekend and evening classes. A typical class will be offered on alternate Monday evenings, with two full Saturdays during the term. Thus, students who can devote every Monday evening and four Saturdays may be able to complete two courses per term.

Most courses in the Houston/Galveston program are taught by full-time Perkins faculty. All classes earn degree credit and meet the same requirements as comparable courses taught in Dallas. The Bridwell Library provides a reserve shelf for required and recommended texts. Computer links to the Bridwell catalog are available, and most research materials can be delivered to students in Houston or Galveston within a few days. Other libraries in the Houston area also have extended privileges to Perkins students. Community life is enhanced through regular worship and social events.

Students applying to the Houston/Galveston program must meet the requirements for admission to their respective degree programs as detailed in this catalog. Nondegree applications are also accepted.

Students must complete at least 24 hours of study on campus in Dallas. Students in all degree programs may need to take more than the minimum number of hours in Dallas in order to complete certain required courses in a timely fashion. Prospective students are encouraged to consult with the Office of Admissions and Financial Aid at 1-888-THEOLOG or 214-768-2293 or theology@smu.edu, regarding course offerings and degree requirements.

THE ADMISSION PROCESS

Requirements for admission to each of the Perkins degree programs are outlined in the more detailed descriptions of each program found in the next section of this catalog. People seeking admission should contact the Office of Admissions and Financial Aid well in advance of the term in which they wish to matriculate, since the process of admission takes some time.

Application forms for the M.Div., C.M.M., M.S.M. and M.T.S. programs are available from the Office of Admissions and Financial Aid and should be completed and returned to that office, with the necessary supporting materials, by May 1 for fall admission and November 1 for spring admission. Deadlines for the extension program are July 1 and December 1. Although it is possible to begin coursework in the spring term, students are strongly advised to enter in the fall term in order to benefit from the financial aid resources offered at that time, as well as to begin coursework in the proper sequence.

Information and application forms for the D.Min. program may be obtained from the Doctor of Ministry Office.

Admission by Transfer

The procedures and standards for admission for students who wish to transfer from other theological schools are the same as for all new students. In such a case, the student's academic record in seminary as well as in undergraduate study or other graduate programs will be considered. A transcript of academic credits and a letter of good standing will be required from the theological school of record. The design of the Perkins M.Div. curriculum is such that transfer into that program after more than a year of study elsewhere is ordinarily not encouraged.

A student may apply for transfer credit from schools accredited by the Association of Theological Schools. The work must have been completed within the past seven years and earned a grade of 2.0 or better. The registrar will determine, in each case, the number of credit hours that a student may transfer to a Perkins degree program and their allocation to the requirements of the program. Thirty term hours is ordinarily the maximum number of hours that will transfer toward the M.Div. degree and, for the C.M.M. and M.T.S. degrees, the maximum number is 24. Transfer credit earned through online courses offered by other schools accredited by the Association of Theological Schools will be limited to three term hours. Transfer credit toward the M.S.M. degree is discussed under the requirements for admission to that program in the next section of this catalog.

Courses in United Methodist studies, including history, doctrine, polity and evangelism, required for United Methodist ordination are transferable only from theological schools approved by the United Methodist University Senate.

Admission With Advanced Standing

Students who wish to enter Perkins following the completion of a graduate theological degree at another school accredited by the Association of Theological Schools may be eligible for advanced standing. Advanced standing reduces the number of hours required for completion of a Perkins degree. In each case, a transcript of academic credits is required. The transcript must show the awarding of a degree in the last seven years with a grade of 2.0 or better. A student interested in the possibility of advanced standing should notify the registrar prior to the beginning of coursework.

Admission With Advanced Placement

A student who, by means of coursework prior to entering Perkins, has achieved competence in a given field equivalent to that normally gained through one or more of the required courses in an academic division may seek advanced placement in the work of that division. Advanced placement does not reduce the amount of credit that must be earned in the division or in the degree program as a whole, but it enables the student to use his or her time to better advantage. Students interested in the possibility of advanced placement should notify the associate dean for Academic Affairs in writing as early as possible and no later than the beginning of their first term at Perkins. Courses taken by advanced placement to satisfy the general requirements in a division may not be counted toward the nine hours of elective work required in the M.Div. program in Divisions I, II and/or III, or the three hours of elective work required in Division IV.

Withdrawal, Re-entry and Readmission

A student who withdraws from school for any reason for part or all of a regular academic year must apply in writing to the director of Student Services for re-entry or readmission. For the re-entry of a previously enrolled student, the Committee on Student Development may be consulted. The committee may require information about the student beyond that which was furnished at the time of admission.

The faculty may, at any time, require the withdrawal of any student whose conduct is, in the judgment of the faculty, inconsistent with the standards of the school and the University or with the objectives of the degree program in which the student is enrolled.

Change of Degree Program

A student who is currently enrolled in the M.Div., C.M.M., M.S.M. or M.T.S. program and wants to transfer to another of these programs must formally apply for admission to the new degree program. The Office of Admissions and Financial Aid should be consulted regarding the appropriate procedure. The transfer of credit hours is subject to the direction and approval of the registrar. Ordinarily, credit is fully transferable between programs.

Combined Degree Programs

One may pursue two Perkins professional Master's degrees concurrently in any of several combinations. A student considering such an option should consult with the director of Student Services.

Admission of Nondegree Students and Auditors

People who have a B.A. or equivalent degree and who wish to take courses for credit but who do not wish to enter a degree program may seek admission to Perkins as a nondegree student. The student must submit a completed application form (available from the Office of Admissions and Financial Aid) along with official transcripts of all undergraduate and graduate academic work, two letters of reference and an explanation of the proposed plan of study indicating the courses desired.

Admission as a nondegree student is for one year (two terms) only. A student desiring to continue beyond the one-year limit must formally ask the director of Student Services to continue beyond the two terms. Admission as a nondegree student does not guarantee, nor does it preclude, later admission to any degree program offered by Perkins. Nondegree students are not eligible for any form of financial assistance from the school.

Students duly enrolled in other degree programs in Southern Methodist University may be permitted to register for Perkins courses upon the approval of their respective deans. They must have at least junior class status and an average grade of B. That student should contact the registrar for specific information about the process.

People desiring to audit a course must secure permission from the registrar and the course instructor, and the audit fee must be paid before completing registration.

OTHER PROGRAMS OF STUDY

In addition to its degree programs, Perkins offers various other programs of study, formal and informal. Some of these (for example, the certificate programs) may be pursued in conjunction with a degree program, while others are independent.

Some (for example, in music and Christian education) lead to certification of some kind, while others are simply opportunities for continuing education. All are described in the “Special Programs for Academic Credit,” “Degree Certificate Programs” and “Special Programs and Services in Continuing Education” sections of this catalog.

DEGREE PROGRAMS

MASTER OF DIVINITY

Purpose

The Master of Divinity degree is designed primarily for students who plan to be ordained clergy and serve in Word, sacrament, service and order. It may also equip a person for other specialized ministries.

Requirements for Admission

The number of new students to be admitted each year is determined by policies of selection established by the faculty. The following considerations are decisive:

1. Seriousness of purpose, emotional stability and likelihood of satisfactory performance in the degree program and of responsible membership in the Perkins and Southern Methodist University community
2. Presence of and potential for growth in those emotional, moral and spiritual qualities requisite for the profession of ministry and the absence of patterns of personal behavior tending to be seriously disabling to ministry
3. Academic ability as shown by a minimum GPA of 2.75 (on a 4.0 scale) in a well-balanced curriculum. Normally, an applicant must hold the B.A. or equivalent degree from a college or university accredited by a regional accrediting body (MSA, NASC, NCA, NEASC-CIHE, NEASC-CTCI, SACS, WASC-Jr. or WASC-Sr.). An applicant with a degree from a nonaccredited school may be considered if the case is exceptional. It is particularly important that the student have an adequate liberal arts preparation. In keeping with the recommendations of the Association of Theological Schools concerning pre-theological studies, the following 60 hours of liberal arts coursework are highly recommended for admission to the M.Div. degree program:
 - a. Three hours of philosophy (preferably historical or introductory courses or logic)
 - b. Twelve hours of English (especially courses that include grammar, composition and creative writing)
 - c. Three hours of history
 - d. Three hours of social science
 - e. Thirty-nine additional hours of liberal arts

The following are considered highly desirable for admission to the M.Div. degree program:

- a. Three hours of a natural science or mathematics
 - b. Six hours of a foreign language
 - c. Six hours in religion (such as Bible, church history, history of religions, theology or ethics)
4. A reasonable program of financial support that will enable the student to be devoted properly to the main business of his or her theological training

Persons who have already graduated from college or who are considering the ministry as a second career are given special consideration by the admissions committee, especially with regard to the adequacy of their pre-theological curriculum.

Beyond the evidence of ability furnished by transcripts, applicants may be asked to demonstrate their preparation for theological study by adequate performance on either the Graduate Record Examinations or the Miller Analogies Test.

To supplement the data furnished by transcripts, letters of reference and other written material, a personal interview with the director of Student Services or with a person designated by the director may be required of the applicant.

Requirements for Graduation

The M.Div. program requires 85 term hours of academic credit: 72 term hours of coursework and 12 term hours earned through the satisfactory completion of a supervised internship. Each M.Div. student will also enroll in a Spiritual Formation Group for two terms, normally the first year of study, for one term hour of credit for the second term.

Course Requirements

The course requirements, totaling 72 term hours, are:

I. Thirty term hours of Basic Theological Studies:

- A. Twelve term hours in biblical studies:
 1. Three term hours in OT 6301 Interpretation of the Old Testament I
 2. Three term hours in OT 6302 Interpretation of the Old Testament II
 3. Three term hours in NT 6301 Interpretation of the New Testament I
 4. Three term hours in NT 6302 Interpretation of the New Testament II

Grade Requirements

A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.0 on all coursework is required for graduation to the M.Div. degree. A minimum cumulative average of 2.0 is likewise required for continuation beyond the second term and for continuation in school beyond the fourth term.

Admission to Candidacy

M.Div. students will be reviewed for admission to formal candidacy for the degree in the spring term following the completion of 27 term hours of academic work. A student will be admitted to candidacy provided he or she is not on probation and is not disqualified for having given insufficient evidence of fitness for ministry (See the “Fitness for Ministry” section.). Admission to formal candidacy signifies that the student is proceeding satisfactorily in his or her work and may be considered for the degree upon completion of all the requirements, but it does not oblige Perkins to grant the degree.

Ordination Requirements

Students preparing for ordination should become aware as early as possible of any specific educational requirements their denomination or judicatory may expect them to satisfy in the course of their M.Div. work (e.g., in the biblical languages or in denominational history, doctrine, polity and evangelism). They should explore, with their academic advisers, how best to deal with these expectations.

The requirements of the current United Methodist Book of Discipline concerning work in United Methodist history, doctrine and polity may be met by satisfactorily completing the following three courses: HX 7365 United Methodist History (three term hours), ST 7034 United Methodist Doctrine (1.5 term hours) and CA 7013 United Methodist Polity (1.5 term hours). These courses are not required for the M.Div. degree; they are provided as a means of satisfying these requirements of the church in the context of the programs. The Book of Discipline also indicates that these requirements may be met in ways other than through regular coursework, and students may wish to explore these other options.

In the United Methodist Church, the provisions for education and preparation for all forms of professional status in ministry are expressed in detail in the books The Christian as Minister: An Exploration into the Meaning of God’s Call (2009–2012), General Board of Higher Education and Ministry, The United Methodist Church, Nashville, Tennessee, and Understanding God’s Call: A Ministry Inquiry Process (2009), GBHEM, The United Methodist Church, Nashville, Tennessee.

Spiritual Formation

All students completing the M.Div. are required to register for the program in spiritual formation. Students are required to attend a daylong orientation held in conjunction with the new student orientation program and are then enrolled in formation groups. These groups meet weekly throughout the fall and spring terms during the first year of the program.

Led by facilitators in groups of five to 10, students share in a formative experience designed to provide them with the framework of a common experience, emphasizing:

- The opportunity to explore the vital connection between spiritual formation and ministry.
- Opportunities to explore the central genius of spiritual traditions.
- The development of a critical capacity that will allow the student to evaluate those traditions theologically.
- Broad-based exposure to a variety of spiritual disciplines.
- Experience in prayer and devotion.

Students are evaluated and given credit by the group facilitators on the basis of attendance and engagement with the subject matter of the formation process. Students should register in both the fall and spring of the first year. Exceptions to this rule must be requested in writing from the director of Spiritual Life and Formation.

The M.Div. Internship

The M.Div. program requires the satisfactory completion of a supervised internship carrying 12 term hours of academic credit. While the student may register for six hours of internship credit during each of two consecutive terms, the internship degree requirement is satisfied only upon completion of the 12 term hours. M.Div. internships presuppose satisfactory completion of at least 39 term hours including six term hours of required biblical studies, The Church in Its Social Context (three term hours), Christian Heritage I and II (six term hours), Introduction to Theology (three term hours), Interpretation of the Christian Message (six term hours), Introduction to Preaching (three term hours), and Word and Worship (three term hours). United Methodist students, who are required by the Book of Discipline to take courses in United Methodist history, doctrine and polity, are advised to take these courses prior to the internship. Comparable advice is given to students from other traditions.

All internships are negotiated through the Intern Office. Students considering internship should contact the Intern Office during the year in which they will complete 39 hours of academic work to begin the placement process for their internship. Internships are of three types:

1. In the full-time internship, which may be seven months (summer plus the fall term), nine months (fall and spring terms of one academic year) or 12 months in length, the intern faculty places the student in a full-time ministerial role in a setting conducive to learning and, if possible, appropriate to the student's vocational goals. The majority of internships are served in congregations, but placements have also been negotiated in campus ministry, community service organizations, hospital chaplaincy and other ministries. Serious consideration is given to the denominational preference of students during the placement process.

Full-time interns may not take any additional coursework while on internship. Students who wish to take a limited number of additional academic courses during internship may apply for the concurrent model.

The full-time intern receives a cash stipend. Because the student is doing full-time ministry, no outside employment is permitted.

Students who hope to do internships outside the immediate five-state area (Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, New Mexico and Oklahoma) must initiate an early conversation with an intern faculty member, preferably in the first year of seminary but no later than the second year.

NOTE: Student pastors who are appointed as the sole or senior pastor of a church may choose to apply for either the full-time or concurrent internship. If full-time, the student pastor must elect a nine-month or 12-month internship, and the student charge must be related to a nearby congregation whose pastor serves as mentor pastor. Salary replaces the mandated stipend for a full-time student pastor.

2. The concurrent internship is designed for students who are already employed on a church staff or in a student pastorate and who wish to use that setting for internship while continuing their academic work. The program extends over 12 months beginning June 1 and requires at least 20 hours per week of remunerated employment in the internship placement. During this time, the student continues academic coursework, carrying not fewer than three and not more than six hours a term in addition to the internship. The concurrent intern may take no more than three term hours in the summer and in the January term. Additional employment outside the internship placement site is strongly discouraged.
3. The Clinical Pastoral Education internship requires a full-year CPE residency (usually four units) at a site approved by The Association for Clinical Pastoral Education. An intern faculty supervisor will be assigned to the CPE intern and will consult with the CPE supervisor regarding satisfactory completion of the internship requirement. Students considering a CPE internship should be aware of the following: 1) A student may not receive six elective hours of credit in Pastoral Care for an introductory unit of CPE AND 12 credit hours for a CPE residency internship. 2) Many CPE programs require students to complete an introductory unit before they begin the four-unit residency. 3) Most CPE residencies run from August to August, which may affect a student's planned graduation date.

The internship is designed to help students gain skill and self-confidence in carrying out the functions of ministry, learn to reflect theologically on the practice of ministry, become more effective in interpersonal relations and gain emotional and spiritual maturity, thereby increasing their ministerial self-awareness and competence.

The intern faculty, though not directly responsible for on-site ministerial supervision, is integrally involved with the internship through the placement process, the training of mentor pastors and lay teaching committees, supervision of the intern peer group, the conducting of the midpoint and final evaluations, the awarding of a final grade, and participation at any time necessary to insure a productive internship.

The internship course begins with a required two-day intern orientation conducted by the intern faculty in May. Then, early in the internship and with the guidance of the intern faculty, the student begins writing a "Covenant for Work and Learning," which provides a blueprint for the internship and a basis for subsequent evaluations of the intern's progress. Throughout the internship, the student meets regularly with both a mentor pastor and a lay teaching committee, who aid in the formulation of the intern's learning covenant, provide ongoing supervision, and participate in the midpoint and final evaluation process. In addition, the student meets frequently with a peer group led by a consulting specialist in human behavior, in some cases assisted by the intern faculty. The intern faculty and a consultant also work with the mentor pastors to improve supervisory skills.

Interns are encouraged to be in relationship with the placement-area district superintendent or corresponding judicatory officer.

Fitness for Ministry

Beyond the formal academic requirements, each student is expected to show evidence of personal fitness for ministry. This fitness may be defined positively as the presence of emotional, moral and spiritual qualities requisite for the profession of ministry. A lack of fitness for ministry may be demonstrated by patterns of personal behavior that inhibit effective ministry. Examples of such patterns include irresponsibility in social and/or professional relations and emotional instability. Formally, the presence of patterns of personal behavior tending to be seriously disabling to ministry may be grounds for the faculty to disqualify a student from graduation with the M.Div. degree, or, if the prognosis justifies it, to defer awarding the degree until such time as the disabling pattern is overcome.

It should be emphasized that personal fitness for ministry is not defined narrowly in terms of a particular form of piety or style of personal behavior nor does Perkins assume the role that belongs properly to those agencies of the church that evaluate candidates for ordination. When asked, it assists such agencies in their evaluations.

Time Limit

All degree requirements must be completed within seven calendar years from the time of initial registration.

MASTER OF CHURCH MINISTRIES

Purpose

The Master of Church Ministries degree program is intended to prepare students for specialized church ministry. The goal of the program is to increase students' knowledge about the church and its ministries and to foster their ability to work meaningfully and creatively in a specialized area of church ministry. Presently, the C.M.M. program has two specialized ministry tracks. Both tracks share a common core of required courses in theology, Bible, church history and the social context of ministry. Both tracks have additional specialized requirements and a supervised internship appropriate to the area of specialization. The program provides the basic educational requirements for ordination as deacon in the United Methodist Church.

The two tracks are:

1. The Christian Education track is intended primarily for those preparing for professional leadership as directors or as ministers of Christian education.
2. The Urban Ministry track is intended for those preparing to work in community ministries in urban and peri-urban settings.

Requirements for Admission

The requirements for admission to the C.M.M. degree are the same as those for the M.Div. program.

Requirements for Graduation

The C.M.M. degree requires 55 term hours of academic credit: 48 term hours of coursework and six term hours in a supervised internship in a setting appropriate to the area of specialization. Students are also required to participate in a Spiritual Formation Group for two terms, normally beginning during the first year of study, for one term hour of credit for each term.

The 48 term hours of coursework are distributed, as follows:

I. Twenty-four term hours of core requirements for both tracks:

- A. Nine term hours in Theology, as follows:
 1. Three term hours in ST 6300 Introduction to Theology
 2. Six term hours in ST 6301 and ST 6302 Interpretation of the Christian Message I and II
- B. Six term hours in Bible, as follows:
 1. Three term hours in OT 6301 Interpretation of the Old Testament I
 2. Three term hours in NT 6301 Interpretation of the New Testament I
- C. Six term hours in The History of Christianity, as follows:
 1. Three term hours in HX 6305 The Christian Heritage I
 2. Three term hours in HX 6306 The Christian Heritage II
- D. Three term hours in Contextual Studies: XS 6310 The Church in Its Social Context

II. Twenty-four term hours in Christian Education track requirements:

- A. Nine term hours in Christian Education courses:
 1. Three term hours in CE 7304 The Church's Educational Ministry (This course must be taken prior to the supervised internship.)
 2. Three term hours in an age-level course (CE 8320 Ministry With Children, CE 8330 Youth Ministry, CE 8332 Speed-Dating Spirituality: Ministry With Young Adults or CE 8340 Adult Ministry)
 3. Three term hours of a Christian education elective
- B. Fifteen term hours in unrestricted electives. Those seeking ordination as deacon in the United Methodist Church will also need to take Worship (three term hours), United Methodist Studies (six term hours) and Evangelism (three term hours), leaving three term hours unrestricted.

III. Twenty-four term hours in Urban Ministry track requirements:

- A. Twelve term hours in Urban Ministry, as follows:
 1. Three term hours in XS 7302 Issues in Urban Ministry or XS 8332 Contemporary Issues in Urban Ministry
 2. Nine term hours in Urban Ministry courses
- B. Twelve term hours in unrestricted electives. Those seeking ordination as deacon in the United Methodist Church will also need to take Worship (three term hours), United Methodist Studies (six term hours), and Evangelism (three term hours), leaving no hours unrestricted.

Spiritual Formation

All students completing the C.M.M. degree are required to register for the program in spiritual formation. Students are required to attend a daylong orientation held in conjunction with the new student orientation program and are then enrolled in formation groups. These groups meet weekly throughout the fall and spring terms during the first year of the program.

Led by facilitators in groups of five to 10, students share in a formative experience designed to provide them with the framework of a common experience, emphasizing:

- The opportunity to explore the vital connection between spiritual formation and ministry.
- Opportunities to explore the central genius of spiritual traditions.
- The development of a critical capacity that will allow the student to evaluate those traditions theologically.
- Broad-based exposure to a variety of spiritual disciplines.
- Experience in prayer and devotion.

Students are evaluated and given credit by the group facilitators on the basis of attendance and engagement with the subject matter of the formation process. Students should register in both the fall and spring of the first year. Exceptions to this rule must be requested in writing from the director of Spiritual Life and Formation.

The C.M.M. Internship

The C.M.M. program requires the satisfactory completion of a two-term concurrent internship in a church or agency setting appropriate to the student's area of specialization. The internship runs from August to May and carries six term hours of academic credit. While the student registers for three hours of internship credit during each of the two consecutive terms, the internship degree requirement is satisfied only upon completion of the six term hours.

All C.M.M. internships presuppose completion of at least 18 term hours of coursework, at least 12 of which must have been completed at Perkins School of Theology. Satisfactory completion of Introduction to Theology (three term hours), The Church in Its Social Context (three term hours) and six term hours of required biblical studies is a prerequisite for C.M.M. internship.

In addition to these requirements, students in the Christian Education track must have completed CE 7304 The Church's Educational Ministry, and at least one additional Christian Education course is recommended. C.M.M. students in the Urban Ministry track are expected to have demonstrated prior involvement in urban ministry outside of normal coursework and, if possible, to have taken XS 7302 Issues in Urban Ministry.

All internships are negotiated through the Intern Office. Students without existing employment at a suitable site for internship will be placed in a teaching congregation or agency setting appropriate to their degree track and career goals. The program requires at least 20 hours per week of remunerated employment in the internship placement. During this time, the student continues academic coursework, carrying not fewer than three and not more than nine hours a term in addition to the internship and not more than three hours in January term. Additional employment outside the placement site is strongly discouraged.

Under certain circumstances, as when the student is serving an internship at a substantial distance from campus, C.M.M. students may be approved by the director of the Intern Program for a full-time internship in lieu of the concurrent requirement. No additional coursework or outside employment is permitted during a full-time internship.

The internship is designed to help students gain skill and self-confidence in carrying out the functions of ministry, learn to reflect theologically on the practice of ministry, become more effective in interpersonal relations, and gain emotional and spiritual maturity, thereby increasing their ministerial self-awareness and competence.

The intern faculty, though not directly responsible for on-site ministerial supervision, is integrally involved with the internship through the placement process, the training of mentor pastors and lay teaching committees, supervision of the intern peer group, the conducting of the midpoint and final evaluations, the awarding of a final grade, and participation at any time necessary to insure a productive internship.

The internship course begins with a required two-day intern orientation conducted by the intern faculty in May. Then, early in the internship and with the guidance of the intern faculty, the student begins writing a “Covenant for Work and Learning,” which provides a blueprint for the internship and a basis for subsequent evaluations of the intern’s progress. Throughout the internship, the student meets regularly with both a mentor pastor and a lay teaching committee, who aid in the formulation of the intern’s learning covenant, provide ongoing supervision, and participate in the midpoint and final evaluation process. In addition, the student meets frequently with a peer group led by a consulting specialist in human behavior, in some cases assisted by the intern faculty. The intern faculty and a consultant also work with the mentor pastors to improve supervisory skills.

Grade Requirements

A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.0 is required for graduation. The same average is required for continuation in the program beyond the first year.

Admission to Candidacy

C.M.M. students will be reviewed for admission to formal candidacy for the degree in the fall term following the completion of 18 term hours of academic work. A student will be admitted to candidacy provided that he or she is not on probation and is not disqualified for having given insufficient evidence of fitness for ministry. (See “Fitness for Ministry” below.) Admission to formal candidacy signifies that the student is proceeding satisfactorily in her or his work and may be considered for the degree upon completion of all the requirements, but does not obligate the seminary to grant the degree.

Fitness for Ministry

Beyond the formal academic requirements, each student is expected to show evidence of personal fitness for ministry. This fitness may be defined positively as the presence of emotional, moral and spiritual qualities requisite for the profession of ministry. A lack of fitness for ministry may be demonstrated by patterns of personal behavior that inhibit effective ministry. Examples of such patterns include irresponsibility in social and/or professional relations and emotional instability. Formally, the presence of patterns of personal behavior tending to be seriously disabling to ministry may be grounds for the faculty to disqualify a student from graduation with the C.M.M. degree, or, if the prognosis justifies it, to defer awarding the degree until such time as the disabling pattern is overcome.

It is to be emphasized that personal fitness for ministry is not defined narrowly in terms of a particular form of piety or style of personal behavior. Nor does Perkins assume the role that belongs properly to those agencies of the church that evaluate candidates for ordination or for professional service to the church. When asked, it assists such agencies in their evaluation of candidates.

Time Limit

All requirements for the C.M.M. degree must be completed within five calendar years from the time of initial registration.

Ordination Requirements

Students preparing for ordination should become aware as early as possible of any specific educational requirements their denomination or judicatory may expect them to satisfy in the course of their C.M.M. work. They should explore, with their academic advisers, how best to deal with these expectations. Students who are preparing for ordination as deacons in the United Methodist Church should take as their electives HX 7365 United Methodist History, ST 7034 United Methodist Doctrine, CA 7013 United Methodist Polity, WO 6313 Word and Worship, and EV 7307 Theory and Practice of Evangelism.

MASTER OF SACRED MUSIC

Purpose

The Master of Sacred Music degree program is jointly sponsored by Perkins School of Theology and the Division of Music of Meadows School of the Arts for the preparation of professional music leadership in the church and, if one chooses, ordination as deacon. Recognizing the existence of several models of professional church music leadership, this program provides a wide range of graduate-level training in performance, professional and academic skills.

High priority is placed upon the preparation of the church musician as enabler of congregational singing and conductor of various ensembles in both the church and the community. The Church Music Colloquium, Supervised Practicum, conducting projects and other work offered in the School of Theology and the Division of Music provide opportunities to learn a wide range of literature, performance practices and skills and to apply this learning in both academic and churchly settings.

The program is regularly enriched by the Cabe Distinguished Lectureship, through which lecturers of international reputation are residents for periods ranging from several days to full terms. Past lecturers have included Carlton Young, Nicholas Temperley, Robert Donnington, John Rutter, David Willcocks, Margaret Hillis, William Mathias, Barry Rose, Max Von Egmond, Alice Parker, Brian Wren, Thomas Troeger and Stephen Cleobury.

Outcome Objectives for the Program

Musical, Theological and Liturgical Discernment

The objective of the program is to develop the abilities necessary to make sound judgments on the musical quality of works performed, on the theological validity and quality of the texts sung and on the liturgical appropriateness of music used in worship.

Musical Skills

Professional-level accomplishment in either organ or choral studies with a competence in the other area is required. These skills will be informed by a solid foundation that includes the history and bibliography of music, aural and analytical skills and a knowledge and application of current technologies.

Educational Process

The program will develop an understanding of pedagogical processes needed for teaching choirs of all ages and developing musical participation by the congregation.

Understanding of the Prophetic Nature of Sacred Music

The program also will develop an understanding the liturgical role music plays in attuning the emotions to the spirit of worship and in proclaiming the Gospel message.

Requirements for Admission

Applicants for the M.S.M. program must hold a Bachelor of Music or Bachelor of Music Education degree, or its equivalent, from a regionally accredited institution. Their undergraduate preparation must include credited work in choral conducting and at least 30 term hours of courses in the liberal arts.

A cumulative GPA of at least 3.0 (on a 4.0 scale) is required for admission to the Division of Music. Admission to the School of Theology further requires that a minimum GPA of 2.75 be achieved in the student's liberal arts work. Acceptance by both the Division of Music and the School of Theology is necessary for admission to the M.S.M. program.

The applicant is expected to bring to the program performance capabilities, in organ or choral performance, that clearly indicate he or she is ready for study at the graduate level. The applicant's performance capabilities must be demonstrated by a personal audition or an audition tape.

Applicants who already hold graduate degrees in music or who have completed some coursework at the graduate level may, upon the approval of the director of the program, apply up to nine term hours (or the equivalent) of nonperformance graduate musical or theological study toward the M.S.M. degree. However, this work must also meet the approval of the Committee on Graduate Studies of the Division of Music (if the work is in music) or of the registrar of the School of Theology (if the work is in theology).

With the approval of the appropriate admissions committees, a student may pursue concurrently the M.S.M. and Master of Music degrees, the M.S.M. and M.Div. degrees or the M.S.M. and C.M.M. degrees. Applicants interested in such options should consult with the director of the M.S.M. program.

Requirements for Graduation

Planning a Program of Study

The course of study includes some work taken in common by all M.S.M. students and some work that is designed to serve the individual student's particular needs and interests. Each student elects one of two options for concentration in performance study: organ or vocal studies.

All entering students must take Graduate Placement Examinations administered by the Division of Music during the week of registration. These examinations aid in determining the student's strengths and weaknesses in the areas of music history, literature, theory, aural perception and, for choral conductors, keyboard proficiency. The results are used by the student and his or her adviser in planning a proposed course of study for the degree.

After successfully completing 12 term hours of approved coursework, each student, in consultation with his or her adviser, will prepare and submit a Proposed Course of Study to the director of the M.S.M. program. Any subsequent alterations to this proposal must be submitted in writing for approval.

Course of Study

The requirements for the M.S.M. total 48 term hours and may be completed in two years (usually including summers) depending on the results of the Graduate Placement Examinations. Those pursuing an additional graduate music degree in Meadows School of the Arts or fulfilling the requirements for deacon's ordination in the United Methodist Church will require up to an extra year of study. The 48 hours for the M.S.M. are distributed as follows:

I. Twelve term hours in Theological Studies¹

² The prerequisite course, XS 6310 The Church in Its Social Context, is not required for the M.S.M. degree.

³ The Supervised Practicum includes musical/liturgical leadership in a local congregation and work with a church music mentor.

⁴ Placement exams in music history and theory will be administered during the week before classes begin in Meadows School of the Arts.

⁵ For the organ concentration, a portion of these hours may be used for choral conducting depending on the placement evaluation. Not more than three elective hours of applied study in Meadows may be counted toward the degree requirements.

V. Hours in Performance Concentration and Proficiency

 7. One term hour of PERB 6112 Introduction to the Organ

During the student's final term of enrollment, he or she will be given a set of comprehensive written examinations covering the major areas of study and related fields. Satisfactory performance on these examinations and a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0 or a grade of B on all M.S.M. work are required for graduation.

Students seeking ordained deacon status in the United Methodist Church will need 12 additional hours beyond the required coursework for the M.S.M. degree. For specific information, contact the director of the M.S.M. program.

Entrance Exams and Proficiency Requirements

All students will be required to take entrance exams in music history and music theory before beginning their first term of study. If exams are not passed, the following courses are required in the respective areas:

- MUHI 5100 Music History Review (music history)
- MUTH 6123, 6124, 6125 Graduate Theory Review (music theory)

Spiritual Formation

All students completing the M.S.M. are required to register for the program in spiritual formation. Students are required to attend a daylong orientation held in conjunction with the new student orientation program and are then enrolled in formation groups. These groups meet weekly throughout the fall and spring terms during the first year of the program.

Led by facilitators in groups of five to 10, students share in a formative experience designed to provide them with the framework of a common experience, emphasizing:

- The opportunity to explore the vital connection between spiritual formation and ministry.

⁷ This will be determined by placement evaluation with the director of Choral Activities.

⁸ Private vocal instruction for M.S.M. students will be offered only for those who have also been accepted into the Master of Music in voice major as a concurrent degree program or by audition with the voice faculty. Private vocal instruction for M.S.M. students is subject to the availability of voice faculty.

- Opportunities to explore the central genius of spiritual traditions.
- The development of a critical capacity that will allow the student to evaluate those traditions theologically.
- Broad-based exposure to a variety of spiritual disciplines.
- Experience in prayer and devotion.

Students are evaluated and given credit by the group facilitators on the basis of attendance and engagement with the subject matter of the formation process. Students should register in both the fall and spring of the first year. Exceptions to this rule must be requested in writing from the director of Spiritual Life and Formation.

The Supervised Practicum

Students enroll in the course CM 8120 Supervised Practicum during the spring term of their first or second year. Students should have secured positions in a local church setting by no later than the second year of study. The Sacred Music office provides assistance in securing placement in view of each student's pedagogical and financial needs. A professor in the Sacred Music program will serve as a liaison between Perkins and the student's church so that the student has sufficient support to meet the requirements of the practicum.

In the second or third year, with the approval of the M.S.M. faculty, the student will present a service of worship in her/his church to complete CM 8120. This service becomes the graduate project for the M.S.M. degree and will be given a pass or fail grade by an evaluating M.S.M. faculty member.

Admission to Candidacy

M.S.M. students will be reviewed for admission to formal candidacy for the degree in the spring term following the completion of 27 term hours of academic work. A student will be admitted to candidacy provided that he or she has achieved a grade average of 3.0, is not on academic probation and is not disqualified for having given insufficient evidence of fitness for ministry. (See "Fitness for Ministry" below.) Admission to formal candidacy signifies that the student is proceeding satisfactorily in his or her work and may be considered for the degree upon completion of all the requirements, but it does not oblige the seminary to grant the degree.

Fitness for Ministry

Beyond the formal academic requirements, each student is expected to show evidence of personal fitness for ministry. This fitness may be defined positively as the presence of emotional, moral and spiritual qualities requisite for the profession of ministry. A lack of fitness for ministry may be demonstrated by patterns of personal behavior that inhibit effective ministry. Examples of such patterns include irresponsibility in social and/or professional relations and emotional instability. Formally, the presence of patterns of personal behavior tending to be seriously disabling to ministry may be grounds for the faculty to disqualify a student from graduation with the M.S.M. degree. If the prognosis justifies it, the committee may choose to defer awarding the degree until such time as the disabling pattern is overcome.

It should be emphasized that personal fitness for ministry is not defined narrowly in terms of a particular form of piety or style of personal behavior, nor does Perkins assume the role that belongs properly to those agencies of the church that evaluate candidates for ordination. When asked, it assists such agencies in their evaluations.

Time Limit

All requirements for the M.S.M. degree must be completed within seven calendar years from the time of initial registration.

Financial Aid

In addition to the financial aid described elsewhere in this catalog, a limited number of scholarships, fellowships, graduate assistantships and work grants are available specifically to M.S.M. students. Inquiries should be addressed to the director of Student Services at Perkins.

MASTER OF THEOLOGICAL STUDIES

Purpose

The Master of Theological Studies degree program is designed to provide a basic understanding of the theological disciplines as a foundation for further graduate study, for enhancement of lay leadership roles or for personal enrichment. The degree requirements are designed to ensure some breadth of exposure to the various disciplines of theological study, while at the same time allowing each student to fashion a plan of study that serves her or his particular interests and goals.

Requirements for Admission

The requirements for admission to the M.T.S. program are the same as those for the M.Div. program, excluding 2.

Requirements for Graduation

The requirements for graduation are that the student must complete 48 term hours of approved coursework, with a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.0.

The thesis normally focuses on a topic in the student's chosen area of concentration. Students who choose to complete a summative project do so in conjunction with a course in which they are enrolled. The summative project integrates the student's learning and provides evidence of growth. The project may be completed in a number of formats, such as a paper, a public lecture, a website or a pilot project.

Students interested in one or more Perkins certificates should consult with the adviser of the certificate and formally register for the certificate through the office of the registrar. For certificates that specify an internship, M.T.S. students will complete a major research project that addresses issues relevant to the certificate in lieu of the internship. This project is supervised and approved by the adviser.

Time Limit

All requirements for the degree must be completed within six calendar years of the time of initial registration.

DOCTOR OF MINISTRY

Purpose

The Doctor of Ministry degree provides the opportunity for advanced study that integrates theological reflection and ministerial practice with a contextual focus for people in professional ministry within the church.

Areas of Study

The four areas of concentration within the D.Min. program are: Evangelism, Parish Leadership, Spiritual Formation and Urban Ministry. Three- and two-week seminars are generally offered during the summer and January terms, and at times throughout the fall and spring terms. Every student will complete a project practicum and a project thesis that focus on an aspect of ministry within his or her selected concentration.

Admissions Requirements

The professional nature of the D.Min. requires that students have leadership responsibilities in their ministry setting. Application deadlines are March 15 for June admission and October 1 for January admission. Applicants wishing to enter the D.Min. program must have:

1. An Association of Theological Schools-approved M.Div. degree or equivalent with a cumulative grade point average in the Master's level program of at least 3.0 on a 4.0 scale (grade of B or 80). In cases of demonstrated extraordinary ability in the practice of ministry, applicants with a lower grade average may be considered for conditional admission with the requirement to complete the first term with a grade of B or better in order to be granted full admission and continuation in the program.
2. Significant experience and demonstrated competence in ministry, as attested by three references. A minimum of three years of full-time experience following completion of the M.Div. degree (or its equivalent).
3. The ability to reflect theologically and communicate effectively as reflected in a short essay addressing the proposed area for study. The essay should include: (a) a statement of objectives in pursuing the D.Min. degree, (b) a statement of the proposed area of study for the professional practicum and project thesis and (c) the anticipated contribution of the professional practicum and project thesis to the applicant's ministry.

Generally, international applicants who hold a Religious Worker Visa (R-1), or in some cases an F-1 or J-1 Visa, may be considered for admission. International applicants must demonstrate proficiency in English with a minimum score of 600 paper-based or 250 computer-based score on the Test of English as a Foreign Language.

Because the D.Min. degree is given in the context of ministry, generally no transfer credit is accepted.

Degree Requirements

The course requirements are:

- I. DM 9370 The Person and Role of the Minister (three term hours) and DM 9380 Seminar in Practical Theology (three term hours) taken together in the first summer term.
- II. DM 9014 Professional Project I (one and one-half term hours) and DM 9019 Professional Project II (one and one-half term hours) taken in sequence. The purpose of Professional Project I (topics seminar) is to identify a problem, question, issue or thesis that the student wants to develop into a practicum experience that can be explored in his or her practice of ministry. The second seminar, Professional Project II (prospectus seminar), will help the student define the necessary research to undertake a ministry practicum, design effective strategies and methods to use in a practicum and develop ways to evaluate this experience. Students must have the practicum proposal approved before participating in the prospectus seminar in which the professional project is formally approved for implementation.

- III. Twelve term hours in four seminars, one each term. Each seminar emphasizes the integration of theological disciplines with the practice of ministry. Prerequisites for participation in any of these seminars are the successful completion of the DM 9370 The Person and Role of the Minister and DM 9380 Seminar in Practical Theology. Persons beginning coursework may take one elective prior to these seminars.
- A. Students in the seminars meet in intensive time periods three times each term, in three-day blocks, with approximately four-week intervals between sessions, or for two-week periods in the summer and January terms, and are given assignments to be completed in the ministry setting.
 - B. Each seminar will consider a topic relevant to the practice of ministry in the contemporary church and world. It will enhance the student's ability to reflect critically on ministry and to develop the student's initial ideas on the project practicum and project thesis.
 - C. Only course grades of 80 or higher will qualify toward meeting the requirements for graduation.
- IV. DM 9396 Doctor of Ministry Practicum. The project practicum (three term hours) is the supervised experience in ministry in an agreed upon setting.
- V. DM 9398 Doctor of Ministry Project (thesis). Building upon the project practicum, the written project thesis (three term hours) is a contribution to the understanding and practice of ministry through the completion of doctoral-level project/thesis.

The Doctor of Ministry Committee

During the first year of study, the student will invite, in consultation with the director of Advanced Ministerial Studies, three people to serve on a committee to supervise the approved project practicum and the written project thesis. The committee will consist of an adviser, a reader and a field supervisor. Either the adviser or the reader must be a member of the Perkins regular faculty, with the other committee member selected from the regular or adjunct faculty. It is recommended that a Perkins regular faculty member serve as adviser. The field supervisor should be recognized as having gifts and experience in ministry that are applicable to the practicum and be available to consult with the student during the practicum as well as to evaluate the student's practicum. The entire committee will guide, read and evaluate the student's professional practicum and project thesis. When the professional project is completed satisfactorily as determined by the committee in consultation with the director of Advanced Studies, the student will participate in an oral evaluation on the school campus by the committee on the professional project thesis. At a minimum, both the student and adviser must be physically present for the oral evaluation. It is recommended that all committee members be physically present with the student for the evaluation. All committee members must be present for the evaluation, either in person or by electronic means.

Project Practicum and Thesis

The professional project practicum and thesis combine research, a designed ministerial field experience and a written doctoral-level project that addresses both the nature and the practice of ministry and has the potential for application in other ministry contexts.

1. The professional project is an approved practicum experience and written thesis that articulates the theological and theoretical rationale for the practicum with theological reflection on the experience.
2. The professional project in both its parts (practicum and written thesis) should demonstrate the student's ability to identify a specific theological topic in ministry, organize an effective research model, use appropriate resources, evaluate the results and reflect the student's depth of theological insight in relation to ministry.
3. The written project thesis must be submitted in an approved style and format.
4. Upon completion of the professional project and with the student's D.Min. committee's permission, the student will sit for an oral examination administered by the project committee and open to the public covering the project and the student's integration of her or his theology and practice of ministry. This examination will take place on campus, with at a minimum the student and adviser present. Other committee members may participate via electronic means if necessary.

At completion of the doctoral project and successful oral evaluation, the completed written project thesis will be accessioned in Bridwell Library.

Requirements for Graduation

The D.Min. degree requires 27 term hours total for graduation: 21 term hours of coursework, the project practicum (three term hours) and a professional project thesis (three term hours). Successful completion of the D.Min. will (1) demonstrate an understanding of the theological disciplines informing the exercise of ministry in the contemporary church and world and (2) demonstrate, in writing and application, the integration of theory and practice through seminars, the practicum and the professional project. The D.Min. can be completed in three calendar years. All degree requirements must be completed within six years from the time when coursework began. Under special circumstances, the director of Advanced Studies may be petitioned in writing for an extension. People who do not complete the degree within eight years of initial matriculation will be required to repeat all coursework. All financial obligations must be met before graduation.

Inquiries and Submission of Application

Inquiries, applications and transcripts should be sent to the director of Advanced Ministerial Studies, Perkins School of Theology, Southern Methodist University, PO Box 750133, Dallas, Texas 75275-0133. Appointments can be made by calling 214-768-2124 or writing to AdvanceMinistry@smu.edu. More information is available at the Perkins School of Theology website at smu.edu/perkins.aspx.

MEXICAN AMERICAN PROGRAM

The Mexican American Program was founded in 1974 so that Perkins School of Theology could become a center for preparing church leaders with the knowledge and skills for effective ministry in Spanish-speaking contexts and cultures. From its beginning, the Mexican American Program has had a commitment to the ongoing work of recruiting, preparing and providing continuing education of people for ministry with Latinos. It continues to enable Perkins School of Theology to be a center of Hispanic theological thought and writing and to advocate before the general church with and in behalf of Hispanic congregations and ministries.

Some of its academic program areas include oversight of the Certificate in Hispanic Studies and support of L@s Seminaristas, a student organization for Perkins students focused on ministry with Hispanics.

Hispanic Summer Program

In collaboration with several other seminaries, Perkins sponsors the Hispanic Summer Program, which takes place for two weeks each summer at a different site in the United States or Puerto Rico. Hispanic students, as well as others who are bilingual and who are interested in Hispanic ministries, may attend this academic program and take a maximum of one course for three credits. Courses in the Hispanic Summer Program cover a wide range of the theological curriculum and are always taught with the Latino church in mind. The program provides students with the opportunity to study and reflect with other seminarians who are from across the nation and Puerto Rico and who are preparing to do ministry in the Hispanic context. Perkins students who are accepted into the program pay a reduced registration fee.

International Studies

Students with sufficient Spanish language skills may be able to do a term of studies in Costa Rica or an internship in Mexico or Central America. Immersion experiences in Mexico, Central America and South America are also periodically offered through the Global Theological Education program.

Spanish Language

Perkins does not offer instruction in Spanish for credit. Students are encouraged to seek instructional programs in Dallas and/or attend a Spanish-language school in Cuernavaca, Mexico, or elsewhere. The director of the Mexican American Program maintains information on these opportunities and will assist students in making appropriate plans to gain the necessary competence.

GLOBAL THEOLOGICAL EDUCATION

The Global Theological Education program at Perkins has two purposes. Through cultural immersion courses, the GTE program offers students a study of theology, Scripture, missions, ministry or inter-religious relationships in a cultural context different from the students' own, usually outside the United States. These courses give special attention to the role of theological reflection in an environment affected by globalization in all its dimensions through a focused, on-site study in a particular cultural environment and region of the world.

The GTE program is also tasked with facilitating missiological reflection among laypersons engaged in cross-cultural missions and ministry. Working through Annual Conference leadership of Volunteers in Mission/Partners in Mission programs, the GTE program provides resources and organizes training events as they focus on the theological and spiritual meaning of Christian mission by laypersons.

SPIRITUAL FORMATION

The landscape of spiritual life in America is undergoing rapid transformation. The multifaceted character of the Christian tradition is becoming apparent. It is clearly far more appropriate to talk about Christian spiritualities than it is to talk about Christian spirituality. Alongside the recovery of ancient traditions that marked the development of the church in the West, there is an ever greater awareness of and interest in the spiritual traditions of individual Christian communities that lie outside that broad tradition. Each community has been shaped by differences in theological vision, race, gender, ethnicity and history, and their involvement in the conversation has helped to underline the extent to which all four factors have helped to make the Christian spiritual tradition what it is today.

As the larger global community becomes a reality, the church also finds itself in a conversation with other religions. Inevitably, many of these conversations focus on the differences in spiritual practice, but the similarities are of great interest as well. Conversations between East and West are the leading edge of a global conversation that has only just begun, and they will assume greater complexity as time passes.

In addition, an ever more complex array of personal spiritual practice is taking shape. Highly eclectic in character and shaped by radically different goals, these practices defy easy characterization. In fact, an increasing number of people distinguish between spirituality and religion, and, to some extent, spirituality and theology. In making these distinctions, spirituality is often construed as something both universal and positive while religion and theology are characterized as the creatures of organizational life.

It is in this context that today's students of theology are called upon to shape their own spiritual practice and to guide others in the effort to do the same. They do so drawing on long-held and profound convictions that mark Christian spirituality in all its forms. These convictions are:

- That Christian spiritual formation is centrally about an encounter with God in Christ.
- That spiritual formation is essential to the life of the baptized.

- That formation is an inherently transformative experience.
- That a distinctively Christian spirituality is informed by life in community.
- That spirituality, rightly understood, issues in engagement with the world and its needs.
- That spirituality and theology inform and strengthen one another.

The program in Spiritual Life and Formation at Perkins School of Theology is also based on the conviction that a complete theological education and thorough preparation for ministry gives attention to identifiable needs and capacities, including:

- Personal spiritual formation.
- Experience and familiarity with the variety of spiritual disciplines.
- The ability to facilitate the spiritual growth of others.
- The theological and critical capacity to evaluate trends in spiritual expression.
- The ability to nurture the same capacity in others.
- Basic familiarity with the complex landscape of spiritual practice.
- An awareness of the diversity of spiritual expression.
- The significance of context for the shape of spirituality, including race, gender and ethnicity.
- The ability to integrate the spiritual, theological and social dimensions of life.
- An awareness of the ongoing dialog with spiritual traditions of other faiths.

Led by facilitators in groups of five to 10, students share in a formative experience designed to provide them with the framework of a common experience, emphasizing:

- Experience in prayer and devotion.
- Broad-based exposure to a variety of spiritual disciplines.
- Opportunities to explore the central genius of spiritual traditions.
- The development of a critical capacity that will allow the student to evaluate those traditions theologically.
- The opportunity to explore the vital connection between spiritual formation and vital ministry.

Other experiences include retreats, service projects and worship. In addition to the programmatic work at Perkins itself, the Office of Spiritual Life and Formation also facilitates retreats and workshops.

CERTIFICATE PROGRAMS

Students in degree programs may choose to participate in one or more certificate programs. Academic certificates may be used to certify fulfillment of denominational requirements (Certificate in Anglican Studies), ascertain preparedness for future licensing or advanced study (Certificate in Pastoral Care), or certify completion of intensive study in an area of benefit or priority for the church (Certificate in Hispanic Studies, Certificate in African American Church Studies, Certificate in Urban Ministry, Graduate Certificate in Women's Studies).

Specialized pastoral care ministries include but are not limited to the following: ordained clergy whose ministerial focus is pastoral care, clergy in agency settings and clergy in social outreach or social work. The certificate can serve as an introduction to professional counseling for those desiring further education and training to pursue certification with the American Association of Pastoral Counselors or the American Association for Marriage and Family Therapists. The certificate can also serve as an introduction for those desiring pursuit of a state license as a professional counselor and/or as a marriage and family therapist. The executive director of the Pastoral Counseling and Education Center in Dallas serves as a consultant to the certificate students if they desire affiliation and advanced training beyond the foundational work offered at Perkins. The certificate adviser is Jeanne Stevenson-Moessner.

Competencies

Competencies are based on theory, skills and practices.

Competency in theory includes:

1. A history of pastoral care
2. Multicultural dimensions of pastoral care
3. Paradigms in pastoral caregiving
4. Spiritual care of mind–body–soul
5. Family systems theory

Competency in skills includes:

6. Empathic listening and confidentiality keeping
7. Crisis counseling, effective referral ability and personal boundary maintenance

Practices will focus on:

8. Self-care and healthy lifestyle
9. Supervision through internship, Clinical Pastoral Education or spiritual direction
10. Exposure to helping agencies and community organizations of care and extension of learning into the congregational setting

Certificate Requirements

A certificate will be granted to students who fulfill the following requirements:

1. Formally register for the certificate through the office of the registrar and the certificate adviser. To qualify, students must have signed approval from their academic adviser. Candidates must have at least 24 hours remaining in their degree program and a GPA of 3.0 in order to register. M.Div. candidates should not yet have applied for internship.
2. Complete nine hours of required courses.
3. Complete six additional hours of electives.
4. Complete an internship in an appropriate setting.
5. Submit a paper to the certificate adviser at the end of the certificate program. This paper should explore the interdisciplinary nature of the pastoral care field, focusing on all four divisions within Perkins' course of study. In this paper, the student is expected to articulate her or his biblical paradigm in pastoral care. The appendix to the paper should include a description of the student's efforts/participation in proactive self-care activities related to spiritual, physical and emotional health. Counseling by staff at the SMU Memorial Health Center or a licensed therapist of the student's choice is strongly encouraged as a part of the certificate program and as a means of self-care.
6. Engage in an oral defense of the interdisciplinary paper. Faculty from Divisions I, II and III will be invited on a rotation basis to participate in the oral defense. Students working on the certificate should prepare for this integrative exercise from their very first introduction to courses in Division I (The Biblical Witness), Division II (The Heritage of the Christian Witness in Its Religious and Cultural Context) and Division III (Interpretation of the Christian Witness).

The required courses are offered each academic year. A minimum of one elective is offered each term. An appropriate internship would be Clinical Pastoral Education in a hospital, prison or congregational setting; however, when CPE is taken as an internship, it cannot be counted for elective hours. A student may complete an internship with emphasis on pastoral care experiences and supervision approved by the Intern Office.

CERTIFICATE IN URBAN MINISTRY

With its main campus in Dallas and a program in Houston/Galveston, Perkins School of Theology is well situated to equip church leaders to serve as transforming agents in an urbanizing world. In the 21st century, ministry will require understanding the dynamics that create tension and oppression in our society, a willingness to hold up the vision of God's justice and a commitment to work for righteousness in the social, economic and political realms of life.

The Certificate in Urban Ministry is available to students enrolled in the M.Div. degree program and is intended especially for those called to engage communities in articulating and living the Gospel personally and socially in ways that bring healing to the lives of men, women and children.

The certificate is administered through the Urban Ministry Steering Committee, which designates the list of courses meeting certification requirements. Students who declare their intent to earn the certificate normally will be advised by the Urban Ministry Certificate adviser. The certificate adviser is Harold Recinos.

Competencies

Students pursuing the certificate will be expected to work toward developing the following competencies:

1. Learning how to appreciate, analyze and cope with the complex connections between congregations and their communities in the process of urbanization

2. Learning how to engage biblical and theological studies with contemporary urban problems, especially in areas of social justice, peacemaking and mission
3. Learning how to assess the importance of issues such as culture, ethnicity, language, gender and age as these affect congregations in urban settings
4. Learning how to deal with inequalities manifested in poverty and wealth in class-based urban systems
5. Learning how to understand the interaction of diverse communities in America, especially in transnational urban environments involving global population movements
6. Learning how to develop effective pastoral and spiritual leadership, advocacy and relationship building in the urban community within and beyond congregational settings

Certificate Requirements

A certificate will be granted to students who fulfill the following requirements:

1. Formally register for the certificate through the office of the registrar and the certificate adviser. To qualify, students must have signed approval from their academic adviser. Candidates must have at least 24 hours remaining in their degree program and a GPA of 3.0 in order to register. M.Div. candidates should not yet have applied for internship.
2. Complete at least 15 term hours in approved Urban Ministry Certificate courses (See the list of designated courses below.)
3. By the senior year (or before entering into a full-time internship), demonstrate involvement in urban ministry outside of formal coursework, usually through participation in an urban community project (approved by the Urban Ministry Certificate adviser) connected with a faith-based organization
4. Complete an internship (12 term hours) in an urban or peri-urban community setting, identified and approved by the Intern Office. In lieu of the internship, M.T.S. students, in consultation with the certificate adviser, must complete a major research project that addresses issues concerning urban ministry. This requirement is in addition to the thesis or summative project required in the M.T.S. program.

CERTIFICATE IN WOMEN'S STUDIES

The Certificate in Women's Studies is offered through the Women's Studies Program and jointly based in the SMU Dedman Graduate Program and the Perkins School of Theology. It is an interdisciplinary graduate-level certificate designed to enhance the lives of students, both female and male, by facilitating the integration of theories about gender and knowledge about the roles and achievements of women, both past and present, in the global society. The courses are designed to provide comparative and historical perspectives on women, gender and feminism. The certificate program draws upon courses from a variety of disciplines, including anthropology, history, literary studies, media and film, and theology. The Perkins certificate adviser is Evelyn Parker.

Certificate Requirements

A certificate will be granted to students who fulfill the following requirements:

1. Formal registration for the certificate through the Dedman College and/or the Perkins School of Theology registrar. This shall include a proposed program plan for completion of the certificate developed with an adviser from the office of the Women's Studies Program or the Perkins certificate adviser. To qualify, Perkins students must have signed approval from their academic adviser. Candidates must have at least 24 hours remaining in their degree program and a GPA of 3.0 in order to register. M.Div. candidates should not yet have applied for internship.

The course will be taught in rotation by interested faculty associated with the Women's Studies Program and Perkins School of Theology.
3. Four additional courses that are Women's Studies graduate-level approved core courses and Dedman undergraduate departmental courses. (See the list below.) Students must register for Dedman undergraduate courses using a 6000-level number and arrange a separate syllabus and assignments in conjunction with the professor of record. Students are encouraged to petition the director of Women's Studies for credit for other graduate courses in which they will engage in study appropriate to the intent of the certificate. Appropriate courses taken during matriculation at SMU yet prior to enrollment in the certificate may count toward program hours.

FINANCIAL INFORMATION

A bulletin supplement, Financial Information: Southern Methodist University, is issued each academic year. It provides the general authority and reference for SMU financial regulations and obligations, as well as detailed information concerning tuition, fees and living expenses.

The supplement is available on the Bursar website at smu.edu/bursar/financial-information.asp. For more information, call 214-768-3417.

Students registering in the Continuing Student Enrollment must ensure that payment is received in the Division of Enrollment Services by the due date (published on the Bursar website). No confirmation of receipt of payment will be sent. Invoice notifications are e-mailed to the student's SMU e-mail address after registration for the student to view on the Web. If notification has not been received two weeks prior to the due date, Enrollment Services should be contacted. The registration of a student whose account remains unpaid after the due date may be canceled at the discretion of the University. Students registering in the New Student Enrollment and the Late Enrollment must pay at the time of registration.

Students are individually responsible for their financial obligations to the University. All refunds will be made to the student, with the exception of federal parent PLUS loans and the SMU Monthly Payment Plan. If the refund is issued by check, the student may request, in writing, that the refund be sent to another party. Any outstanding debts to the University will be deducted from the credit balance prior to issuing a refund check. Students with Title IV financial aid need to sign an Authorization to Credit Account Form. Students with federal parent PLUS loans need to have the parent sign an Authorization to Credit Account Parent Form. A student whose University account is overdue or who is in any other manner indebted to the University will be denied the recording and certification services of the Office of the Registrar, including the issuance of a transcript or diploma, and may be denied readmission until all obligations are fulfilled. The Division of Enrollment Services may stop the registration, or may cancel the completed registration, of a student who has a delinquent account or debt and may assess all attorney's fees and other reasonable collection costs (up to 50 percent) and charges necessary for the collection of any amount not paid when due. Matriculation in the University constitutes an agreement by the student to comply with all University rules, regulations and policies.

Arrangements for financial assistance from SMU must be made in advance of registration and in accordance with the application schedule of the Division of Enrollment Services – Financial Aid. A student should not expect such assistance to settle delinquent accounts.

Students who elect to register for courses outside of their school of record will pay the tuition rate of their school of record.

WITHDRAWAL FROM THE UNIVERSITY

A student who wishes to withdraw (resign) from the University before the end of a term or session must initiate a Student Petition for Withdrawal Form, obtain approval from his or her academic dean and submit the form to the Division of Enrollment Services – University Registrar. The effective date of the withdrawal is the date on which the Student Petition for Withdrawal is processed in the Registrar's Office. Discontinuance of class attendance or notification to the instructors of intention to withdraw does not constitute an official withdrawal.

Reduction of tuition and fees is based on the schedule listed in Financial Information: Southern Methodist University and is determined by the effective date of the withdrawal. The schedule may be found at www.smu.edu/bursar, or by calling 214-768-3417.

Please note, however, for students receiving financial aid (scholarships, grants or loans) when the withdrawal date qualifies for reduction of tuition and fees charges, the refund typically will be used to repay the student aid programs first and go to the student/family last. Further, government regulations may require that SMU return aid funds whether or not the University must reduce its tuition and fees; hence, a student whose account was paid in full prior to withdrawal may owe a significant amount at withdrawal due to the required return of student aid.

Therefore, students who receive any financial aid should discuss prior to withdrawal the financial implications of the withdrawal with staff of the Division of Enrollment Services.

Medical withdrawals have conditions that must be met prior to re-enrollment at SMU. Medical withdrawals must be authorized by the medical director; psychiatric director; counseling and testing director; or vice president for Student Affairs.

Students who live in University housing must obtain clearance from the Office of Residence Life and Student Housing.

FINANCIAL AID

Financial aid in the form of grants is made available to students in the M.Div., C.M.M., M.S.M. and M.T.S. programs. Aid is granted, upon application, solely on the basis of demonstrated need as determined from use of the Free Application for Federal Student Aid.

In addition to financial aid grants, a number of tuition scholarships are available each year for members of each entering class of M.Div., C.M.M., M.S.M. and M.T.S. students. These awards are granted on the basis of academic excellence, qualities of character and leadership, and vocational clarity. Applicants for admission are considered for these awards based on the policies of the Office of Admissions and Financial Aid.

Each applicant for financial aid is expected to have a reasonable plan of financial self-help. Information on scholarships available from sources outside the school is available in the Perkins Office of Admissions and Financial Aid. Each student is responsible for securing the appropriate applications and applying for scholarships.

Grants are to be applied only to courses necessary to a specific degree program. In the event that financial aid is granted by the school to a student and that student withdraws, drops or fails a course, aid ordinarily will not be granted for those or similar hours.

ACADEMIC REGULATIONS AND PROCEDURES

THE ACADEMIC YEAR

The academic year is divided into fall and spring terms. In addition, Perkins holds a summer term and a January interterm. All course requirements for the M.Div., C.M.M., M.S.M. and M.T.S. degrees may be satisfied during the regular academic year, although courses fulfilling certain requirements in these programs are normally available in the summer term as well.

THE COURSE LOAD

Most courses carry three term hours of credit. Normally, the maximum course load is 13 term hours per term. With the permission of the Committee on Student Development or of the associate dean for Academic Affairs acting for the committee, a student with an average grade of B (3.0) or above may register for up to 14.5 term hours, and a student with an average grade of A- (3.7) or above may register for as many as 16 term hours. No student may register for more than 16 term hours. A student in good standing may register for CM 8012, 8013 Seminary Singers, in addition to 13 term hours of other coursework, without seeking the permission of the committee.

The maximum course load for the summer term is six term hours. The maximum for the January interterm is three term hours.

Students holding pastoral charges or other employment requiring 20 hours or more per week should consider carefully, with their academic advisers, the advantages and disadvantages of a reduced course load. A load of nine term hours per term may be advisable in such circumstances. Students considering any further reduction in course load should keep in mind, among other things, the effects of such a reduction upon their overall curricular planning and the time limit established in each degree program for the completion of all degree requirements.

In considering course load, students should be guided by the principle that the number of hours of a student's time to be devoted to any course per week should be approximately four times the number of term hours of credit assigned to the course. For example, a three-term-hour course should occupy about 12 hours of the student's time each week, counting the time spent in class. Assignments are made accordingly.

COURSEWORK

Regular attendance is expected in all classes. In the event of unavoidable absences, students are responsible for securing from their colleagues any information about lectures or assignments missed, and, if their absence is unexcused, they assume the risk of missing quizzes or other graded in-class work. A student who anticipates an unavoidable extended absence from school should notify the associate dean for Academic Affairs, who will in turn notify the instructors involved. An excessive number of unexcused absences may result in a reduction in the student's grade or failure of the course, despite successful completion of all the assigned reading and written work. In no case will a student be allowed credit for a seminar if she or he is absent for as much as 25 percent of the seminar sessions, even if the absences are excusable.

All course assignments are to be completed on time. Work submitted late may be accepted at the instructor's discretion and may incur a penalty in grade. Students are advised to consult the instructor in advance if circumstances make it impossible to meet an assignment deadline.

The calendar calls for a designated reading and writing period at the end of each term, during which time formal classes will not be held. This period is an integral part of the term's work, and students are expected to use it for research, writing and study in connection with the term's courses.

Final examinations are held on the dates indicated in the calendar. An examination schedule is published toward the end of each term. According to University regulations, no student may take a final examination ahead of the scheduled date. If it is not possible for a student to take an examination at the regular time, a postponement may be granted by the Committee on Student Development, or by the associate dean for Academic Affairs acting for the committee, if the student submits to the associate dean a written request approved by the instructor.

ACADEMIC RESPONSIBILITY

Each student at Perkins is expected to adhere to rigorous standards of academic honesty. Plagiarism and other acts of academic dishonesty are regarded as serious offenses and are treated accordingly. The faculty has adopted a statement on academic responsibility for the general guidance of students in these matters; a copy is outlined in the student handbook. Students are advised to consult with their course instructors if they have any questions about expectations and procedures in this regard.

STUDENTS WITH LEARNING DISABILITIES

Students with disabilities, including learning disabilities, should know that their instructors at Perkins welcome being informed of the situation, particularly as it might bear upon their coursework. Upon request, and within reasonable limits, alternative arrangements may be worked out between instructor and student regarding examinations and other assignments, when that seems appropriate. A written statement from a health professional attesting to the disability is required. A student who wishes to pursue this possibility should notify the instructor(s) concerned well in advance. For further information and counsel, students should consult the associate dean for Academic Affairs and the coordinator of services for the Students with Disabilities Office at Southern Methodist University at 214-768-4557.

GRADES

An alpha grading scale of A to F is employed for course grades. A cumulative grade average of C (2.0) or above is required for graduation in the M.Div., C.M.M. and M.T.S. programs; and a grade of B (3.0) is required for the M.S.M. program. Students with course grades below 2.0 are in serious difficulty. (See the "Academic Probation" section.)

In addition to the alpha grades, three other markings are used: I (Incomplete), WP (Withdrawal-Passing) and P (Passing). The grade of I indicates the failure to do some major portion of the required work in the course. The grade of I (Incomplete) is granted by the Committee on Student Development, only on written request by the student. The student's written request must be submitted to the associate dean for Academic Affairs no later than the deadline specified in the school's official calendar for the submission of all written work. The grade of I is allowed only on rare occasion when the student has suffered a serious illness or has experienced some other untoward hardship that the committee judges to be adequate grounds. If the request is granted, a time limit for completion of the work will be set (not to exceed 30 days) in consultation with the instructor. If the work is not submitted by the date agreed upon, then the grade will become an F.

The grade of WP (Withdrawal-Passing) carries no grade value. Students desiring to withdraw from a course must make their intention known to the registrar before the last day for withdrawing as indicated in the University calendar. Any request for an exception to this rule must be addressed, with supporting evidence, to the associate dean for Academic Affairs.

ACADEMIC PROBATION

A student who fails a course or whose cumulative or fall- or spring-term grade average falls below a grade of C will be placed on academic probation. In this circumstance, the student will receive written correspondence from the chair of the Committee on Student Development suggesting a plan of study designed to improve his or her academic performance. Such a plan of study may include, in addition to a reduced course load, a reduction in nonacademic activities, special tutoring, remedial work in reading or writing, or such other provisions as may seem appropriate in each case.

Students on probation may be required to reduce their academic course load and may be required to take a noncredit reading/study skills course. A student who, while on probation, fails a course or fails to achieve a minimum GPA of C on his or her work in any given term shall be liable to dismissal from school. Likewise, a student with a pattern of recurring probation shall be liable to dismissal. The student is automatically removed from probation upon successfully completing an academic term in which he or she does not fail any classes and his or her cumulative or fall- or spring-term grade average is C or higher.

SPECIAL COURSES

Perkins students may register for graduate-level courses in other schools of the University after consultation with the registrar. M.Div. students may register for a total of nine credit hours and M.T.S. students for six credit hours.

It is possible, in exceptional situations, to register for a reading course. Ordinarily, no more than one reading course may be taken during a student's program of study. The student must have completed the required coursework in the pertinent field, the course must be on a subject not covered by regularly scheduled courses and the procedure for application must be completed by the end of the advance registration period in the term preceding that in which the reading course is to be taken. Reading courses do not count toward the 24 hours of study on campus in Dallas required of students enrolled in the Houston/Galveston program. Further information may be obtained from the registrar.

After matriculation at Perkins, a student may take one or more courses at another Association of Theological Schools member school and have the credit transferred to her or his Perkins degree program. However, these courses must be approved in advance by the Committee on Student Development or by the associate dean, acting for the committee. In the interest of preserving the integrity of the Perkins degree programs, the committee will normally consider granting permission for no more than four such courses (12 credit hours). The total number of hours transferred to a Perkins degree program from courses taken before and after matriculation should not exceed the maximum allowed for students transferring from another institution. (See the "Admission by Transfer" section.)

EXCEPTIONAL CASES

The faculty has invested the Committee on Student Development with authority to act upon all requests for exceptions to these regulations and for any variation from regular academic procedures. All requests are to be addressed in writing to the committee and submitted to the chair of that committee.

COURSE OF STUDY

DIVISION I – THE BIBLICAL WITNESS

Professors: Jaime Clark-Soles, Roy Heller, Richard Nelson, Susanne Scholz, Abraham Smith, Sze-kar Wan

The purpose of Division I is to develop the student's biblical knowledge and understanding and to provide sound methods for proper and effective use of Scripture. Biblical history and literature are studied in relation to the social and cultural context of ancient Israel and the early church. The division is concerned, further, with the exposition of Scripture and with the nature and history of great biblical themes, so as to produce effective biblical interpreters, whether their study has been in English alone or in one or more of the biblical languages.

SPECIAL PROGRAMS AND SERVICES IN CONTINUING EDUCATION

MEXICAN AMERICAN PROGRAM

The Mexican American Program was founded in 1974 so that Perkins School of Theology could become a center for preparing church leaders with the knowledge and skills for effective ministry in Spanish-speaking contexts and cultures. From its beginning, the Mexican American Program has had a commitment to the ongoing work of recruiting, preparing and providing continuing education of people for ministry with Latinos. It continues to enable Perkins School of Theology to be a center of Hispanic theological thought and writing and to advocate before the general church with and in behalf of Hispanic congregations and ministries.

The Mexican American Program provides short-term intensive training programs on and off the Perkins campus in Dallas for pastors and laity through the Course of Study School, Licensing School in Spanish, the Lay Missioner and Pastor-Mentor Training Program for Developing Hispanic Ministries and continuing education events, symposia, consultations and lectures. It publishes Apuntes, Theological Reflections from the Hispano-Latino Context.

In an effort to identify and assist high-school and college-age Latinas and Latinos to consider and prepare for vocations in ministry with the Latino community, the Mexican American Program began the Hispanic Youth Leadership Academy. H.Y.L.A. is a pilot program that provides an intensive and long-term mentoring experience around the topic of calling and an annual summer academy to consider issues such as Christian discipleship, vocational discernment, leadership training, development of academic skills, the doctrine and polity of the United Methodist Church, how to apply for admission to college/university or seminary, how to find support on campus and Hispanic history and culture.

H.Y.L.A. is open to high school and undergraduate college students. For information about the program, contact the office of the Mexican American Program at 214-768-2265 or Hyla@smu.edu.

ANNUAL LECTURESHIPS

Ministers Week

Ministers Week, generally held annually the first Monday through Wednesday in February, includes endowed lectureships and a variety of worship services, workshops, luncheons, symposia and informal social events. Ministers and their spouses from all over the nation attend each year. It is a major unifying event in United Methodism in the South Central Jurisdiction and a significant means of communication between Perkins School of Theology and the leadership of the church.

The five endowed lectureships are as follows:

The Barton Lecture. The Roy D. Barton Lectureship on Hispanic Ministry was established to honor Dr. Barton for his distinguished service to the seminary and his equally distinguished service to the Hispanic United Methodist Church. Dr. Barton served as the first director of the Mexican American Program and associate professor of Practical Theology in Perkins School of Theology from 1974 to 1995. The general theme of the lecture regards ministry in a Hispanic/Latino perspective or context.

The Fondren Lectures. In 1919, Ella Florence and Walter W. Fondren of Houston, Texas, made a gift to the University for the purpose of bringing to the campus each year an outstanding religious leader for a series of addresses on Christian missions or related themes. Ella made a substantial increase in the endowment of the lectureship in 1959.

The Peyton Lectures. A lectureship on preaching was established in 1944 through a gift by Mrs. C.W. Hall of Austin, in memory of her late husband, George L. Peyton of Mexia, Texas. In 1959, Mrs. Hall generously augmented the resources of the lectureship. Peyton was for a number of years a member of the Board of Trustees of the University and an outstanding church leader.

The Jackson Lectures. In 1945, Sam J. Jackson, Robert L. Jackson, Ben D. Jackson, Mims J. Jackson, Margaret Sue Jackson Hodges and Lizzie Jackson Davenport established a lectureship in memory of their parents, Robert Malone Jackson and Ella Jemison Jackson, who were long-time members of the Methodist church at Tennessee Colony and Palestine, Texas. The general theme of the lectures is the Bible.

The Martin Lectures. The Paul Elliott and Mildred Fryar Martin Lectureship in Practical Theology was established by Bishop and Mrs. Martin in 1974, just prior to Bishop Martin's death in February 1975. Bishop Martin was one of the 706 students who registered at SMU when it first opened its doors in 1915 and was associated with it in many ways for the remainder of his life. For the final seven years of his life, he served as bishop-in-residence at Perkins and was special adviser to Perkins Dean Joseph D. Quillian, Jr.

Perkins Theological School for the Laity

Perkins Theological School for the Laity, formerly known as Laity Week, is generally held each year during the first Thursday through Sunday in March. Seminars and other activities provide opportunities for laity from the region to engage together in study, worship, reflection and fellowship. Members of the Perkins faculty provide principal leadership for the week.

CONTINUING EDUCATION PROGRAMS

In addition to Ministers Week and Perkins Theological School for the Laity, the Perkins program of continuing education offers a variety of programs for clergy, laity and church professionals including the Perkins School of Youth Ministry and Children's Ministry; United Methodist certification programs in Youth Ministry, Christian Education and Church Music; and traveling Lay Schools of Theology in locations including Amarillo, Anchorage and Houston. Those who wish to be on the regular mailing list or to receive information about any program may send their name and address to the Office of Continuing Education, Perkins School of Theology, PO Box 750133, Dallas, Texas 75275-0133, or call 214-768-2124. Send e-mails to AdvanceMinistry@smu.edu

THE COURSE OF STUDY SCHOOL

In the summer of 1947, Perkins School of Theology began to offer residence work on the Conference Course of Study for those persons answering a call to ministry as local pastors rather than through a graduate level seminary degree program. Perkins School of Theology is one of the eight seminary programs joining with the Division of Ordained Ministry of the General Board of Higher Education and Ministry of the United Methodist Church in conducting the Course of Study School for the training of local pastors. It is also one of three seminaries offering the Course of Study School in Spanish.

The Boards of Ministry of the various annual conferences may assist their students with the cost of room and board, textbooks and travel. The Division of Ordained Ministry of the United Methodist Church and Perkins pay tuition and instructional costs, while Perkins provides facilities and administrative costs, covered in part through nominal registration fees paid by students.

Courses in the full five-year curriculum of basic studies are offered in the summer in English and Spanish. Please view the website at smu.edu/Perkins/PublicPrograms/COSS.aspx for a listing of courses offered, pre-class assignments, update notices and other information. Students in Spanish and English seeking ordination have the opportunity to take the 32 hours of required graduate theological study at Perkins. They must apply through the Course of Study School office.

Questions relating to the school should be addressed to the Course of Study School Office at perkins@smu.edu, or call 214-768-2362.

PERKINS YOUTH SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY

The Perkins Youth School of Theology is a program that allows high school juniors and seniors from underserved and unrepresented communities to explore practices of faith formation and respond to God's call to service and justice through meaningful service projects, mentoring and theological reflection. Through the PYST program, Perkins seeks to nurture young people into practical theologians with skills for critical reflection about their faith and society to offer leadership for both churches and communities. Through partnerships with local churches, service organizations, parents and community volunteers, PYST fosters a support system for youth that includes mentoring and leadership development. Youth learn to analyze and examine social issues from Christian theological perspectives within an affirming and loving community grounded in mutuality, respect and diversity.

The program consists of three major components:

Theological Service Learning offers youth an opportunity to serve in individual and/or group community projects in conjunction with their mentors, peers or the PYST staff. Through group service, students use dialogue as a teaching tool that links meaningful service work with theological reflection.

The Spring Youth Forum is a one-day conference that brings high school youth, ages 15 to 18 years old, from the Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex together with members of the Perkins community for theological reflection and discussion on issues of youth culture, church and society.

The Summer Academy is a three-week residential program that allows youth to engage in an integrated program of critical and constructive theological reflection on the practice and theology of the Christian faith. Youth take basic theological courses and participate in community building, covenant groups, worship, visual and performing arts, recreational activities and field trips.

PYST recruits an ecumenical group of youth from within the DFW area and accepts applications year-round. Only high school juniors are accepted into the program. For more information, contact the program director at 214-768-1333 or 214-768-1481. Those who wish to be on the mailing list may send their name and address to Perkins Youth School of Theology, PO Box 750133, Dallas, Texas 75275-0133, or send an e-mail to perkinsyouth@smu.edu.

GLOBAL THEOLOGICAL EDUCATION

The Global Theological Education program at Perkins has two purposes. Through cultural immersion courses, the GTE program offers students a study of theology, scripture, missions, ministry or inter-religious relationships in a cultural context different from the students' own, usually outside the United States. These courses give special attention to the role of theological reflection in an environment affected by globalization in all its dimensions through a focused, on-site study in a particular cultural environment and region of the world.

The GTE program is also tasked with facilitating missiological reflection among laypersons engaged in cross-cultural missions and ministry. Working through Annual Conference leadership of Volunteers in Mission/Partners in Mission programs, the GTE program provides resources and organizes training events as they focus on the theological and spiritual meaning of Christian mission by laypersons.

THE COUNCIL OF SOUTHWESTERN THEOLOGICAL SCHOOLS

For several years, a number of seminaries in the Southwest cooperated in various joint activities. In the summer of 1958, their cooperative work was put on a permanent basis by the organization of the Council of Southwestern Theological Schools, Inc. The current members of the council, in addition to Perkins, are: Austin Graduate School of Theology, Austin Presbyterian Theological Seminary, Baptist Missionary Association Theological Seminary, Brite Divinity School, Dallas Theological Seminary, Episcopal Theological Seminary of the Southwest, George W. Truett Seminary, Houston Graduate School of Theology, The Institute of Religion at Texas Medical Center, Oblate School of Theology, B. H. Carroll Theological Institute, the Lutheran Seminary Program in the Southwest, the School of Theology of St. Thomas University at St. Mary's Seminary and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary.

FELLOWSHIPS, AWARDS AND PRIZES

The John Hicks Fellowship

The John Hicks Fellowship was established in memory of Professor John Hicks, former teacher of the Old Testament at Perkins School of Theology. The fellowship is offered to support research in the broad area of biblical studies and is especially designed to provide travel to the Bible lands to aid in that research. The fellowship is open to any qualified student enrolled in a degree program in Perkins (M.Div., C.M.M., M.T.S., M.S.M., D.Min.) or the Graduate Program in Religious Studies (M.A., Ph.D.).

The deadline for applications is December 15 or six months prior to the beginning of the project, whichever comes first. Inquiries should be addressed to any member of the biblical faculty or the associate dean for Academic Affairs.

The John M. Moore Fellowships

In 1946, the late Bishop John M. Moore established a fellowship fund, the income from which was to be used to give aid for postgraduate work in theology to United Methodist graduates of the theological schools of the United Methodist Church, with preference given to graduates of Perkins.

The fellowship is for one year with stipends ranging from $2,000 to $8,500. The committee and the directorate base their judgments on academic accomplishments, promise of teaching and research ability, and Christian character. Those seniors and recent graduates who wish to be considered must submit their application by March 1 to the associate dean for Academic Affairs at Perkins School of Theology. Information concerning the proper way to make application should be sought in ample time to fulfill all the requirements.

The B'nai B'rith Awards in Social Ethics

In the spring of 1953, the Harold M. Kaufman Memorial Foundation of the George Levy Lodge of B'nai B'rith, the oldest Jewish service organization, established two annual prizes in social ethics for seniors at Perkins. Winners are to be determined under the supervision of the Committee on Student Development on the basis of scholarly competence in the field and personal commitment as shown in voluntary activity in support of worthy social causes. The establishment of the awards by the George Levy Lodge of Dallas, led by Dr. Herman Kantor, Mrs. Harold Kaufman and Stanley Kaufman, is only one in a series of generous acts on the part of the Jewish community for Perkins School of Theology.

The Dr. and Mrs. J.P. Bray Award in Hebrew

Endowed by Charles Kiely Hegarty, II, in honor of the Brays, this award is made to the student who ranks highest in Hebrew scholarship.

The W.B. DeJernett Award in Homiletics

The Charley T. and Jessie James Bible Awards

Awards are given each year to students on the basis of their grades in biblical courses and on papers assigned, together with their general scholastic record. These awards are provided from an endowment of $2,500 given in 1949 by Mr. and Mrs. C.T. James of Ferris, Texas.

The Jerry W. Hobbs Award in Worship

The Jerry W. Hobbs Award in Worship is awarded to the graduating student who has demonstrated academic excellence in worship combined with personal commitment to the worship life of the Perkins community during her or his time at Perkins.

The Paul W. Quillian Award in Homiletics

The William K. McElvaney Preaching Award

The William K. McElvaney Preaching Award is given to the student who has presented the best written sermon on a public issue, which includes a social crisis, a controversial issue or a chronic social problem.

The Charles Claude Selecman Award in New Testament Greek

A prize is awarded annually in memory of Bishop Charles C. Selecman to the student who ranks highest in New Testament Greek scholarship. This award is made only when, in the judgment of the professor, the class is large enough to evince a competitive interest.

The Albert C. Outler Award in Theology

Established by Robert A. and Barbara Field West, in honor of Professor Outler, this award is given to the student contributing the most outstanding essay in theology during the academic year.

The Glenn Flinn Senior Award

The Senior Award was established by Dr. and Mrs. Glenn Flinn in 1959 to honor that member of the graduating class each year who, in the judgment of the faculty, best exemplifies the aims and aspirations of the school and the church for its ministry. The recipient will be one who gives promise of possessing, in unusual measure, the gifts and graces of the Christian minister. The student should possess well-rounded interests and be serious in the stewardship of talents and deeply committed to his or her calling.

The Karis Stahl Fadely Scholarship Award

This award was established by the family and friends of Karis Stahl Fadely, alumna of Perkins, who died in Liberia in April 1978 while serving as a minister of the Gospel. The award is made to students who exhibited qualities that were exemplified by Karis Fadely: commitment to Jesus Christ and the mission of her or his church, ability in a wide range of ministerial functions, a high sense of responsibility and good management of time. Preference is given to students who have served in international or intercultural internships.

The Elsa Cook Award

The Elsa Cook Award was established by students and friends to honor Elsa Cook when she retired from the Perkins staff. The recipient is chosen by the members of the senior class and is awarded each year at the annual spring banquet.

The Master of Sacred Music Award

The Robert Weatherford Prize for Internship Preaching

The Robert Weatherford Prize for Internship Preaching has been established to provide an award to a theology student for excellence in preaching during internship. The recipient shall be chosen by the intern faculty of the Perkins School of Theology and a representative from the preaching faculty.

The Bert Affleck Award

The Bert Affleck Award is given to a student for creativity in ministry during internship.

The Philip Schaff Prize in Church History

Endowed by a gift from Professor Emeritus of Church History Klaus Penzel, this annual award is given to benefit a student who has demonstrated excellence in the historical study of Christianity, while participating in courses in church history. It is named for the founder of the American Society of Church History.

The Jane Marshall Award for Outstanding Scholarship and Leadership in Christian Worship
