Lyle graduates are leaders and creative thinkers prepared to take on the most profound challenges confronting society and the planet. Three-fourths of Lyle Engineering students receive academic scholarships, and nearly 85% of students graduate with one to three internships/co-ops. The Junkins and Embrey buildings and Caruth Hall are some of the most technologically advanced on any college campus. Embrey and Caruth are both LEED Gold certified.

4 COX SCHOOL OF BUSINESS is housed in Fincher, Maguire and Crow buildings, as well as in Collins Executive Education Center. A Business Library and Einstein Bros. Bagels are located in the basement of Fincher. Cox students have access to professional academic advisers and the exclusive Cox Career Counseling Center. Within three months of graduation, May 2019 graduates were off the job market at a starting salary of over $66K per year. 6 FONDREN LIBRARY CENTER greets visitors with the Laura Bush Promenade, a walkway and garden made possible by a gift to SMU from President George W. Bush in honor of his wife and SMU alumna Laura Bush. The new Starbucks coffee shop, big-screen TVs and comfortable seating make the Collaborative Commons area of the recently renovated Fondren Library Center a student magnet. Fondren (open 24/5, with shorter hours Fridays and Saturdays) also houses the Centennial Reading Room, recently restored to its original grandeur. SMU's eight libraries have more than four million print and electronic volumes. The DeGolyer Library houses special collections.

17 SOUTH QUAD features three Residential Commons: Cockrell-McIntosh, McElvaney and Morrison-McGinnis. McElvaney is the home of Mac's Place, which offers many grab-and-go options. Residential Commons feature Wi-Fi and a variety of room types, bathroom styles and community areas.
