DALLAS, TEXAS

Edwin L. Cox School of Business

Named in 1978 in honor of Dallas businessman Edwin L. Cox, the Cox School of Business has a rich heritage that began in 1920 when the SMU Board of Trustees established a Department of Commerce at the request of the Dallas business community. In 1921, the Department of Commerce was renamed the School of Commerce. In 1941, the Board of Trustees established the School of Commerce as the School of Business Administration, and the new Bachelor of Business Administration Degree (BBA) was approved. The graduate program at the School of Business Administration began in 1949 with the authorization of a Master of Business Administration (MBA) program. Both the BBA and the MBA degree programs are accredited by the Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business (AACSB).

In 1952, SMU broke ground for the Joseph Wylie Fincher Memorial Building, and for years the Fincher Building housed all business education activities. The Fincher Building was renovated in 1987, and the Cary M. Maguire Building and the Trammell Crow Building were added. The opening of the James M. Collins Executive Education Center in 2005 ensured that working professionals in the Cox Executive MBA and Executive Education programs would have designated classrooms and meeting spaces.

As part of the SMU Ignited campaign, launched in September 2021, a major renovation of the Cox School's original three buildings and the construction of four new buildings added 30% more square footage to the school's original footprint in the heart of campus. The renovation and expansion project culminated in the fall of 2024, with the opening of the David B. Miller Business Quadrangle. It incorporates cutting-edge technology in a culture of community and collaboration, emulating the feel of corporate campuses to prepare students for job readiness on Day One.

The Cox School Executive Board, established in 1965 as the SMU Foundation for Business Administration, consists of devoted alumni, and corporate and private business leaders who serve as Cox School ambassadors to prospective students, donors, the corporate community and partner institutions. For more than a century, the Cox School's central purpose has remained constant: to provide high-quality business education to its students and the business community, conduct research that contributes to the understanding of business and management, and participate in service activities of the University and professional organizations. More than 2,800 students working toward undergraduate and graduate degrees were enrolled in the Cox School in the 2024–2025 academic year. We are proud to offer an outstanding business education and to have earned our national and international reputation for excellence and innovation.

You can be a valuable ambassador for SMU Cox by helping advise the administration, mentoring our students, recruiting new students, hiring our graduates, and participating in alumni, development, and fundraising activities. Your involvement is vital to the continued success of your alma mater.

As you make personal and career moves, please keep us informed. We want to hear about your successes, and we want you to continue to receive all alumni communications, especially your Coxtoday magazine. Best of luck as you move forward to conquer new challenges.

Remembering Mofiyinfoluwa “Mofi” Agboola

M.S. IN BUSINESS ANALYTICS CANDIDATE, SPRING 2025

The SMU community would like to recognize a student we unexpectedly lost earlier this school year. Mofiyinfoluwa “Mofi” Agboola passed away on January 28, 2025. With determination and grace, she moved to Dallas from Ontario, Canada, to pursue a Master’s degree in Business Analytics from the Edwin L. Cox School of Business. During her time at SMU, Mofi was able to make an impact in the classroom and built lasting friendships with her classmates. The SMU community will forever treasure the blessing of our time with Mofi.

Students adorned with silver cords held leadership roles. Students adorned with red cords are class marshals. Students adorned with green cords are Cox scholars. Students adorned with blue and gold cords are members of Beta Gamma Sigma. Students adorned with red, white and blue cords earned the Business Leadership Center legacy award.
