

Katie (Oswald) Hutchins is a managing director of Crossplane Capital, a Dallas-based private equity firm with over $750 million AUM. She is responsible for sourcing acquisition opportunities as a member of the investment team. As the head of business development, she also oversees the firm's marketing and communications strategy.

Katie began her career as a CPA in the audit practice of KPMG, after which she founded a consumer services company and subsequently served as the CFO of a Dallas-based family office. She graduated from the Cox School of Business at SMU with a bachelor's degree in accounting (2011) and a Master of Science in Accounting (2012).