CIVIL/CONSUMER CLINIC

5 CREDITS FALL 2025

Representing clients in civil matters including disputes involving deceptive trade practices, real estate, housing, credit and debt and engaging in advocacy and outreach to increase access to justice for underserved communities.

DIRECT REPRESENTATION

Clinic students interview clients, identify the legal and factual issues, counsel their clients, draft pleadings and discovery, conduct negotiations and mediations, take and defend depositions, and serve as lead counsel in motions and hearings, trials and appeals. Faculty try to keep caseloads small to allow students to fully explore the facts and legal issues of each case and to ensure that students provide excellent legal representation to their clients.

ADVOCACY AND OUTREACH

Students also engage in advocacy and outreach to enhance access to justice. During 2024, students worked with 1) a local non-profit on an eviction project; 2) members of a local community center to provide tenant education and assist homeowners in securing legal title to their homes; and 3) submitted a written comment to the Texas Supreme Court of Texas on proposed changes to justice court rules.

CLINIC CLASS

The class is an integral part of the clinic experience. We use a variety of teaching and learning methods to assist students with the legal and ethical issues that arise in the cases as they develop the lawyering and professional skills they will use to represent their clients. Topics include interviewing and counseling, fact investigation, problem-solving, legal research, as well as negotiation and collaboration.

FACULTY SUPERVISION

In addition to class, students engage with faculty in weekly supervision meetings to develop their lawyering and professional skills and review other dimensions of client representation.

TIME COMMITMENT

Students should expect to spend a minimum of 15 hours per week on clinic-related work. Time includes preparing for and attending class, as well as working with clients and other clinic-related matters.

CO-REQUISITE

Professional Responsibility. Students may take it before or during the semester in which they are enrolled.

MANDATORY ORIENTATION

Mandatory Orientation: Friday, August 22, 2025. No waiver, no exceptions.

Director: Prof. Mary Spector, mspector@smu.edu, 214-768-2578

Assistant Director: Eliot Shavin, eshavin@smu.edu, 214-768-2025

Fall 2025

Criminal Clinic (6 Credits)

The Criminal Clinic provides law students with a combination of academic and experiential learning through the practice of criminal defense law in the Dallas County Criminal Courts. Criminal Clinic students act as trial counsel- arguing everything from a motion to suppress evidence with live police witnesses to a jury trial!

Clinic students primarily represent low-income clients charged with misdemeanor offenses in the Dallas County Criminal Courts. Some of the most common charges include: Assault, Criminal Mischief, Criminal Trespass, DWI, Possession of Marijuana, Prostitution, Theft, and Unlawfully Carrying a Weapon. Clinic students may also represent individuals convicted of a felony who violate probation orders.

YOU will be the attorney and engage in investigation, interviews, discovery, plea negotiations, case planning, motion practices, and trial. With the assistance of the supervising attorneys, you will be handling real cases and representing real clients. To learn about the kind of work Criminal Clinic students engage in, please refer to the Criminal Clinic webpage and click on the section on the right side of the page.

SMU's Criminal Clinic is in its 47th year. The supervising attorneys have been practicing criminal defense law for over a combined 90 years. Criminal Clinic Associate Director Mike McCollum has been with the Clinic since 1977, and Adjunct Clinical Professor Debbie Sanchez is a former prosecutor with the Dallas District Attorney's Office and has been in private practice for over 29 years. The bulk of her practice involves representing individuals charged with a felony offense.

Your responsibility to the Clinic and your clients requires a substantial commitment on your part. Your time commitment to the Clinic is a minimum of 20 hours per week (total of at least 255 hours for the semester). This includes time spent at the courthouse, office hours (you must log 3 hours per week during business hours in the criminal clinic library) and class time. Mandatory classes are on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 3:30 p.m. to 4:45 p.m. In scheduling your other courses, you should take into account the flexibility you need to represent clients. It is highly recommended that you do not register for morning classes because you will be at the courthouse almost every day and court takes up most of the morning – do not schedule morning classes to avoid conflicts. While the time commitment seems heavy, the completion of tasks on cases will easily help you hit the hours requirement for the Clinic.

The clinic is a one-semester, graded course. We will enroll up to 12 students for the fall semester for 6 credits. Due to the nature of trial preparation, the time commitment to the Criminal Clinic may exceed the minimum 20-hour per week requirement. Additionally, clinic assignments will include two short observation papers, a trial notebook based on a case you worked on, and a meeting with a clinic professor to review case file management.

To be eligible for the Criminal Clinic, you must be a student in good academic standing and you must have all required 1st year courses completed by the end of the spring semester 2025. Recommended, but not required, classes are Professional Responsibility and Texas Criminal Procedure.

Student selection for the Criminal Clinic is part of the general clinic pre-registration process.

MANDATORY TWO-DAY ORIENTATION: August 12 & 13, 2025 all day.
Swearing in: Friday, August 22nd, 12:00-2:00

If you MUST DROP Criminal Clinic, you MUST RECEIVE PERMISSION by notifying Legal Assistant Gloria Carranza at carranzag@smu.edu, by 5 p.m. on August 11, 2025, who will then contact Associate Director Debbie Sanchez and Associate Director Mike McCollum.
