Works in Progress

- A library experiment with creating a new research tutorial using 360 photography. After a pilot of the project, the experiment is to be written up in article format and published in a law library publication.
- A co-authored book of model ethics opinions surrounding technology issues.
- Continuing Blog Posts for AllLawLibrarians.com, including working on publishing an expanded AI legal hallucination tracker (currently published version on the blog is 485, but we are over 1100 entries).
- Building a local AI system for use in researching the NextGen Bar examination.
