

Archives of the North Texas Conference

The Archives of the North Texas Annual Conference collects and preserves records of enduring value created by the conference. In addition to these official records, the Archives also collects the records of closed churches, local church histories, ministerial papers, and photographs of individuals, groups, and events. Currently measuring one hundred seventy linear feet, these resources are available for use by conference leaders, historical researchers, and genealogists. Bridwell Library has hosted the Archives of the North Texas Annual Conference since 1965.

Accessing the Collections

Persons wishing to use the resources of the North Texas Annual Conference Archive must make an appointment with Conference Archivist Frances Long (efrances3@verizon.net). Research requests may also be submitted to Frances Long at the same email address. Research service fees may apply for assistance with genealogical inquiries.

The North Texas Conference Archive also includes the Walter L. Zimmerman Photograph Collection. Every third year between 1977 and 1998, Rev. Zimmerman took photographs of pastors and other North Texas Conference leaders for inclusion in the Conference Journal. Upon retirement, Rev. Zimmerman gave these photographs and negatives to the Conference Archive. This collection is an excellent resource for those who do not have pictures of a relative who was a member of the North Texas Annual Conference over the past thirty years.
