Ninety-First Annual Commencement Convocation

Saturday Morning
the twentieth of May
Two Thousand and Six
at Nine-Thirty O’clock
Moody Coliseum
The SMU Mustangs – three 11-foot bronze statues of wild horses – was dedicated April 27, 2005, in front of Moody Coliseum. The sculpture was commissioned by real estate developer John W. Carpenter III in honor of his wife, Cele Slaughter Briscoe Carpenter (’78), on their 25th wedding anniversary. The family has made it a generous gift to the students of SMU. The sculptor, Miley Frost, captured the essence of the mustang: sure-footed and fleet, strong and independent, free and fierce. It was in 1917 that SMU adopted the Mustang as its official mascot, after Dorothy Amann, President Robert W. Hyer's secretary, remarked that the football team looked like a herd of wild mustangs. No better symbol of energizing spirit and community could have been selected. In the wild, mustangs live in supportive, free-roaming herds. Their survival comes from their strength, speed, toughness, and endurance. The energy of the herd exhibits an unconquerable spirit. As students leave Commencement they take the spirit of the Mustang with them.
SOUTHERN METHODIST UNIVERSITY

In 1911, a Methodist education commission made a commitment to establish a major Methodist university in Texas. More than 600 acres of open prairie and $300,000 pledged by a group of Dallas citizens secured the university for Dallas, and it was chartered as Southern Methodist University. In appreciation of the city's support, the first building to be constructed on the campus was named Dallas Hall. It remains the centerpiece and symbol of SMU. When the University opened in 1915, it consisted of two buildings, 706 students, a 35-member faculty, and total assets of $636,540. The original schools of SMU were the College of Arts and Sciences, the School of Theology, and the School of Music.

SMU is owned by the South Central Jurisdiction of the United Methodist Church. The first charge of its founders, however, was that it become a great university, not necessarily a great Methodist university. From its founding, SMU has been nonsectarian in its teaching and committed to the values of academic freedom and open inquiry.

SMU also has maintained a strong partnership with Dallas and has given special consideration to area needs in the development of academic programs. In the 1920s, the first business curriculum was offered in response to a request by the Dallas Chamber of Commerce; the Dallas Bar Association supported establishment of the law school, and a forerunner of the engineering school was established with encouragement from the Dallas Technical Club.

After struggling through its early years and the Depression of the 1930s, SMU experienced a surge of growth following World War II. From the late 1940s to the end of the 1960s, more than half of the current buildings on campus were constructed. SMU’s academic stature took on a new dimension when the first Ph.D. programs were instituted in 1957.

Today, Southern Methodist University offers a comprehensive curriculum through Dedman College – the college of humanities and sciences – and six schools: Meadows School of the Arts, Edwin L. Cox School of Business, School of Engineering, Perkins School of Theology, Dedman School of Law, and School of Education and Human Development.

The University offers 125 undergraduate majors, Master’s degrees in over 100 areas, professional degrees in two disciplines, Ph.D. degrees in 20 fields, and seven certificate programs.

Enrollment for the 2005-2006 academic year was 12,096, including 6,717 undergraduate students and 5,393 graduate and professional school students. SMU students come from all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and 80 countries. About 82 percent of first-year students received some form of financial assistance for 2005-2006. About 21 percent of the student body are minorities; 68.9 percent of undergraduates and 45 percent of graduate students report religious affiliation; 21.9 percent are Methodist, 22.8 are Roman Catholic. Also represented in the student body are other Protestant denominations and other religions, including Judaism, Buddhism, and Islam.

In addition to preparing students for graduate and professional schools, or more directly for their life’s work, the University strives to enhance their social, moral, intellectual, and religious development so that they may lead worthy lives as individuals and citizens of the nation and of the world.
THE ACADEMIC PROCESSION AND REGALIA

The academic procession and the regalia worn by the faculty and officers of the University symbolically represent the continuing link between the modern American university and the founding of the great medieval universities in Europe – chief among them Bologna, Paris, and Oxford. As those institutions were derived from the Catholic Church, the universities adopted many of the ceremonial trappings of the church in their official public functions.

The mace of the University, a symbol of the authority vested in the president by the Board of Trustees and representing the covenant between the president and the faculty, is borne by the president of the Faculty Senate. Though the order of the procession varies from university to university, at Southern Methodist University it proceeds from the chief marshal through the ranks of the faculty and the officers of the University to the president, who is preceded by the mace-bearer.

The caps and gowns worn in the procession also vary from place to place. There are variations in design to indicate the degrees held by the wearers, and many universities in America have introduced colorful gowns and other distinguishing details (in place of the customary clerical black from which all originated). The Bachelor’s gown is a simple robe falling in straight lines from an elaborate yoke. Its distinguishing characteristic is the long pointed sleeves. Master’s gowns are arranged so that the arm emerges from a long sleeve through a slit at the wrist (replacing a former slit at the elbow). In most cases, the Doctor’s gown is marked by velvet panels down the front and around the neck, and by three bars of the same material on the bell-shaped sleeves. It is cut much fuller than the other gowns and may be ornamented in color. Faculty colors are occasionally seen in the sleeve bars and paneling.

The caps, too, vary according to the customs of the university from which the wearer received a degree. While most American universities adopted the “mortarboard” style of Oxford, others have chosen styles based on other European institutions. The color of the tassel worn with the cap may be black for any degree, or the color may be that of the faculty of the major field of learning (e.g., Arts, Engineering, Law, etc.). Persons holding doctoral degrees and governing officials of institutions are entitled to wear tassels of gold metallic thread. Such tassels are usually sewn in place. It is common practice, although not universal, that a ceremony is made of moving the tassel from the right to the left side of the cap at the moment the degree is awarded.

Within the great varieties of styles and colors in gowns and caps, there has been one universally accepted code for the hood worn trailing down the wearer’s back. Originally, it was like the hood on the habit worn by monks. Nowadays, the hood through length and color shows the degree and the specialization of the wearer, and the university that granted the degree. The Bachelor’s, Master’s, and Doctor’s hoods are 3 feet, $3\frac{1}{2}$ feet, and 4 feet long, respectively. The velvet trimming in the same order is 2, 3, and 5 inches wide. The color of the trim identifies the faculty. A partial list of faculty colors follows: Arts, Letters, Humanities – White; Music – Pink; Business – Drab; Philosophy – Dark Blue; Engineering – Orange; Science – Golden Yellow; Fine Arts – Brown; Theology – Scarlet; Law – Purple. The lining of the hood – that portion most visible from the rear – indicates the institution awarding the degree. SMU’s hood lining, for example, is blue with red chevron.

Through these colorful ceremonics, SMU symbolically displays the continuity of its educational purposes with the origins of organized learning in the Western world.

She earned B.S. and M.A. degrees from the University of Illinois and a Ph.D. from Southern Illinois University. Before coming to SMU, she headed theatre programs at Pennsylvania State University and the University of Florida. Under Dean Brandt’s leadership, the Meadows School has made significant advancement as a leading arts education institution. Major achievements include the new Meadows Museum, donor support including historic gifts from The Meadows Foundation of $20 million for construction of the Museum and $33 million for the Meadows School and the Museum; a Facilities Master Plan and Strategic Plan for the Meadows School; and strengthened partnerships with area arts and business organizations. During her years at SMU, she has remained active in theatre at the national level, including serving as president of both the National Association of Schools of Theatre and the National Theatre Conference. She has received numerous national and international honors. She will retire as Dean and Professor Emerita.

MARVIN L. CARLSON

Marvin L. Carlson, Professor of Accounting in the Cox School of Business, received his B.A. degree from Augustana College in South Dakota and both M.B.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Wisconsin. Before joining the SMU business faculty in 1974, he was Associate Professor of Accounting at Washington University in St. Louis, where he was twice named Teacher of the Year. His teaching awards at SMU include the Rotunda Outstanding Professor Award and, in the Cox School, the Nicolas Salgo Distinguished Teacher Award and the Distinguished M.B.A. Teacher Award. He also received the Carl Sewell Distinguished Community Service Award. The Best Business Schools: A Business Week Guide identified him as one of the outstanding faculty members in the Cox School. Professor Carlson is a revered “case method” instructor for courses in managerial accounting and management control, and is the author of more than 25 cases. He has published numerous research articles on accounting, finance, and operations. He will retire as Professor Emeritus of Accounting.

H.L. “BUDDY” GRAY

H.L. “Buddy” Gray, the Charles F. Frensley Professor of Mathematical Sciences in Dedman College since 1973, received his B.S. and M.S. degrees in mathematics from Texas Tech University, followed by a Ph.D. from the University of Texas at Austin. He was the associate dean of Dedman College from 1980 to 1988 and dean ad interim from 1988 to 1989. He served as dean of Dedman College and vice provost of SMU from 1989 to 1991. Professor Gray blended his interests in nonlinear and integral transforms into new methods for reducing bias in statistical estimators and identifying the nature of changes observed in data collected over time. His co-authored monograph titled The Generalized Jackknife Statistic provided the benchmark against which bias reduction methods had to be compared. His other research has ranged from software to help the handicapped learn statistics to signal-processing techniques for using sonograms to classify patients with heart disease. He is the co-author of three books and more than 70 journal publications and 60 technical reports. He will retire as Professor Emeritus of Statistical Science.
Curtis W. McIntyre, Associate Professor of Psychology in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences, earned his B.A. degree from the University of Cincinnati and a Ph.D. degree from Vanderbilt University. He came to SMU in 1975 as chair of the Department of Psychology and served in that position until 1982. As chair, he played a major role in the department’s rise in national distinction, particularly in recognition for the collective scientific impact of publications by SMU psychology faculty members. Professor McIntyre has published more than 40 articles in professional journals and edited a book on clinical techniques for treating dyslexia. His early research focused on perceptual and cognitive development in children. Later he initiated a research program to evaluate the differences between violent and nonviolent juvenile offenders processed through the Dallas County courts. His University honors include the “M” Award, Outstanding Professor Award, and several HOPE awards, conferred upon faculty members for contributions to student life. He will retire as Professor Emeritus of Psychology.

James A. Ode

James A. Ode, Professor of Music in Meadow School of the Arts, earned his Bachelor’s degree from Augustana College in South Dakota. He received a Master of Music, Doctor of Musical Arts, and Performer’s Certificate in Trumpet at the Eastman School of Music as a Danforth Fellow. He came to SMU in 1986 as chair of the Division of Music, later becoming head of the Music Education Department and director of Music Career Services. Before SMU, Professor Ode taught trumpet at Ithaca College School of Music, where he founded the Ithaca Brass Quintet, and he chaired the Music Department at Trinity University. He has served as principal trumpet of the Army Band in Colorado Springs, South Dakota Symphony, and Cayuga Chamber Orchestra. His publications include works for brass instruments and arias for solo voice, trumpet, and keyboard. He has been an on-site evaluator for the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and president of the Texas Association of Music Schools, and serves on the board of the New Conservatory of Dallas. He will retire as Professor Emeritus of Music.

Tae Kun Seo

Tae Kun Seo, Associate Professor of Economics in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences, earned his B.S. in mathematics from Seoul National University in Korea, his M.A. in mathematics from Southern Illinois University, and Ph.D. degrees in mathematics from Indiana University and in economics from Texas A&M University. He joined the SMU faculty in 1973. Professor Seo’s research has two main themes—decision-making under uncertainty and mechanism design. He collaborated with colleagues in the area of stochastic dominance, a way to compare different probability distributions based on one’s attitudes or preferences about risk. He and his colleagues extended the idea of stochastic dominance to cases in which preferences and probability distributions contained multiple dimensions. Professor Seo has been a cornerstone of graduate education in the Department of Economics, teaching the core microeconomics courses for both Master’s and Ph.D. programs. Virtually every applied M.A. and Ph.D. student in economics at SMU over the past 30 years has taken at least one course from him. He will retire as Professor Emeritus of Economics.
CONFERRING OF HONORARY DEGREES

JEFFREY D. SACHS, Doctor of Laws

Jeffrey Sachs – economist and educator – has been called one of the world’s most important leaders on globalization. After more than 20 years at Harvard University, where he received his B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees, Sachs joined Columbia University in 2002 as director of the Earth Institute, Quetelet Professor of Sustainable Development, and Professor of Health Policy and Management. He also is special adviser to United Nations Secretary-General Kofi Annan on Millennium Development Goals. Sachs is renowned both for his economic theories and his practical work with international agencies on problems related to poverty reduction, disease control, and debt cancellation in the world’s poorest countries. He has served as economic adviser to governments in Latin America, Eastern Europe, the former Soviet Union, Asia, and Africa. Time magazine listed Sachs in 2004 and 2005 among the 100 most influential people in the world. Sachs has written more than 200 scholarly articles and several books. His latest book, The End of Poverty, presents a compelling blueprint for eliminating extreme poverty from the world by 2025. Sachs’ problem-solving approach has produced a new branch of economics called “clinical economics.” For his generosity of spirit toward the world’s disadvantaged and for his economic expertise aimed at eliminating global inequality and improving lives, Southern Methodist University is honored to confer upon Jeffrey Sachs the degree of Doctor of Laws, honoris causa.

KERN WILDENTHAL, Doctor of Science

Kern Wildenthal – administrator, professor, and physician – has served for 20 years as president of The University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center at Dallas. During his presidency, UT Southwestern has more than tripled in size and become one of the leading academic medical centers in the world. Four faculty members have received Nobel Prizes, and 17, including Wildenthal, have been elected to the National Academy of Sciences. Under his leadership, more than 200 endowed chairs and professorships have been established; several new hospitals, outpatient facilities, and research centers have been added; and the endowment has increased significantly. Wildenthal has been described as a “premier role model of scientist turned administrator, who inspires loyalty and citizenship in the quest for academic excellence.” Wildenthal received his M.D. degree from UT Southwestern and a Ph.D. from the University of Cambridge in England. He has been a visiting professor and conference organizer in more than 20 countries and has authored 130 scientific papers. He is a member of several research and health policy advisory boards and has served the community on numerous civic, arts, and philanthropic boards. For his visionary leadership in transforming a state medical school into a nationally renowned research institution, for his contributions in making Dallas a leading center for health care, and for his outstanding civic contributions, Southern Methodist University is honored to confer upon Kern Wildenthal the degree of Doctor of Science, honoris causa.
The Reverend Dr. Robert Van Kemper is an SMU faculty member and ordained minister. After receiving the Master of Divinity degree summa cum laude at SMU’s Perkins School of Theology in 1999, he was ordained as a minister in the Presbyterian Church (USA). Dr. Kemper has served on the Presbyterian Task Force on Urban Ministry, Leadership Team of the Presbyterian Association for Community Transformation, and National Planning Committees for the Seminary Consortium for Urban Pastoral Education. Locally, he has served on executive boards of the Good Shepherd Community Center and Oasis Housing Corporation and currently serves on the Demographics and Planning Committee of Grace Presbytery.

Dr. Kemper also is chair of the Department of Anthropology in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences at SMU, where he has been a faculty member since 1972. During 2005-06, he served as president of the Faculty Senate and ex officio member of the Board of Trustees. Dr. Kemper earned his Ph.D. in anthropology from the University of California at Berkeley and has served as president of the Society for Latin American Anthropology and Society for Urban Anthropology. He has written numerous books and articles and served as editor of major journals. CEREMONIAL BANNERS

The University’s ceremonial banners were designed by Robert B. Chambers, Associate Professor Emeritus of Theatre, Meadows School of the Arts, and fabricated by Mamic Chambers. The banners bear heraldic designs with the color of trim identifying each school and group ushered this morning.

THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER

Oh, say can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming?
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there.
Oh, say does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

On the shore, dimly seen through the mists of the deep,
Where the foe's haughty host in dread silence reposes,
What is it that which the breeze, o'er the towering steep,
As it fitfully blows, now conceals, now discloses?
Now it catches the gleam of the morning's first beam,
In full glory reflected now shines on the stream:
'Tis the star-spangled banner! Oh long may it wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

And where is that band who so vauntingly swore
That the havoc of war and the battle's confusion
A home and a country should leave us no more?
Their blood has wiped out their foul footstep's pollution.
No refuge could save the hireling and slave
From the terror of flight, or the gloom of the grave;
And the star-spangled banner in triumph doth wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

Oh! thus be it ever, when freemen shall stand
Between their loved homes and the war's desolation!
Blest with victory and peace, may the heaven-rescued land
Praise the Power that hath made and preserved us a nation.
Then conquer we must, for our cause it is just,
And this be our motto: "In God is our trust."
And the star-spangled banner forever shall wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave!
