RETIRING FACULTY

IRVING A. BAKER

Irving Baker is retiring after 25 years of exceptional contributions as a member of the SMU faculty. Professor Baker completed a B.S. degree at West Virginia State College and a Master of Public Administration degree at New York University. Before joining SMU in 1969 as assistant to the president and director of Afro-American Studies, he served as executive vice president of Bishop College. During his career with SMU, he held administrative posts that include affirmative action officer for the University and director of the Master of Public Administration Program. A member of the American Academy of Political and Social Sciences, the American Society for Public Administration, and the American Arbitration Association, he also has been active on the Board of Directors of Dallas Challenge, the Advisory Board of the Dallas Tenants' Association, the Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport Board, and the Community Council of Greater Dallas. Professor Baker is widely recognized among his colleagues in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences as a dedicated and effective teacher who brought into the classroom a wealth of experience and the highest regard for his discipline. He will retire as Associate Professor Emeritus of Political Science.

THOMAS V. HEDGES

Thomas Hedges received his B.S. and his M.S. degrees at Southern Illinois University and his D.B.A. at Indiana University. He joined the SMU faculty in 1974, following appointments at Southern Illinois University and Texas Christian University. Prior to entering academia he served in the U.S. Army and worked for Borg-Warner and Arthur Young & Company. During his 20 years at SMU, he focused his teaching efforts on accounting systems, publishing in the process Information Planning for Organizational Control Systems. He also is the author of Interim Financial Reporting. For many years, he was the faculty adviser to Beta Alpha Psi, the accounting honorary society. He also was a member of numerous school and University committees. In 1989 his efforts on behalf of the student body were recognized with the Ernst & Whinney Teaching Fellowship. The following year, he received the Rotunda Teaching Award. He will retire as Associate Professor Emeritus of Accounting.

CLAUDE NATIONS

After 26 years of distinguished service to the SMU community, Claude Nations will retire at the conclusion of the 1993-94 academic year. A native of Oklahoma, Professor Nations studied at Oklahoma University before enrolling in graduate work at Oklahoma State University, where he received his Ph.D. in 1967. He joined SMU's Department of Biology in 1968. His research has focused upon cell differentiation, particularly the development of a non-proliferative cell state in Physarum polycephalum. Author or co-author of more than 50 scientific publications, he has presented papers at conferences and symposia throughout the nation and edited and published the Physarum Newsletter from 1988 through 1993. He most recently was invited to attend the European Physarum Conference held in Innsbruck, Austria. Professor Nations is equally well respected in the classroom, and he has taught a wide range of courses for the Department of Biological Sciences during his years with the University. During his tenure at SMU, Professor Nations has touched many lives with a dedication to his discipline and his obvious desire to instill that same commitment in the hearts of his students. He will retire as Associate Professor Emeritus of Biological Sciences.

ELLEN K. SOLENDER

ELLEN SOLENDER RECEIVED her A.B. from Oberlin College in 1944. She matriculated at the SMU School of Law as an “older than average” student in 1968 and began an association with the Law School which has lasted until the present. She received her J.D. from SMU School of Law in 1971 where she was an editor of the Southwestern Law Journal and a member of Barristers. Shortly after her graduation from law school, she became director of legal writing, legal research, and legal methods at the Law School. She joined the full-time faculty in 1973, and in 1977 became the second female professor to receive tenure at the Law School. Professor Solender has taught and published in the areas of family law, matrimonial property, torts, and the First Amendment and mass media. She also served as a visiting scholar at the University of Auckland, New Zealand. She has been an adviser to the Domestic Violence Task Force of the City of Dallas since 1987 and for a number of years served as a legal consultant to several public and private welfare agencies. Her service to the University includes membership on the President’s Alcohol and Drug Task Force, the Law School Committee of the Board of Trustees, a Presidential Search Committee, the Commission on the Status of Women, the Provost’s Tenure Review Committee, and the All University Judiciary. She also served as vice president and acting president of the Faculty Senate. She will retire as Professor Emeritus of Law.

BACCALAUREATE PREACHER

THE REVEREND JANET COOPER NELSON

The Reverend Janet Cooper Nelson has served as University Chaplain at Brown University since 1990. Before joining the staff of Brown, Reverend Nelson was director of Religious Activities and Chaplaincy Services at Vassar, dean of the Chapel at Mount Holyoke College, and associate pastor for Young Adult Ministries at The Church of Christ at Dartmouth College. Her ordination in the United Church of Christ in 1980 concluded a career transformation that led her from high school teaching to higher education. She had taught high school history and had conducted labor relations workshops for teachers on a fellowship from the Fund for Theological Education. She earned an M.Div. degree from Harvard Divinity School in 1980. She holds an undergraduate degree from Wellesley College and a Master's degree in education from Tufts University.

Reverend Nelson is currently serving the Association for College and University Religious Administrations as president, the Rhode Island Council of Churches Faith and Order Commission, the Rhode Island Conference of the United Church of Christ's Women's Concerns Committee, and the Institutional Research Board of Brown's Women and Infant's Hospital. In the December 1993 editions of Rhode Island Medicine and the Yale Journal of Medicine she addresses the issues of physicians' professional conduct in euthanasia in the article "Mistaking the Periphery for the Center."

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

Civic and international business leader Ray L. Hunt is chair, president, and chief executive officer of Hunt Consolidated Inc. and chair and chief executive officer of Hunt Oil Company. As chair of the SMU Board of Trustees from 1987-92, he provided leadership during a critical time in the University's history and chaired SMU's Presidential Search Committee. He continues to serve on the Board as chair of the Trusteeship Committee. For his leadership on behalf of SMU and the United Methodist Church, Mr. Hunt received the Stanley S. Kresge Award for Christian Higher Education. In 1988 the Dallas Chamber of Commerce named him the first recipient of the J. Erik Jonsson Award, which recognized his "outstanding leadership ... as a catalyst for the renaissance at SMU."

Mr. Hunt, who received his Bachelor's degree in economics from SMU, has bridged the campus and community through numerous leadership positions – with the Dallas Citizens Council, the Executive Committee of the Southwestern Medical Foundation, the North Texas Commission, the Central Dallas Association, the Greater Dallas Chamber of Commerce, the Dallas Museum of Art, and the Dallas Petroleum Club. He is chair of the National Petroleum Council, a director of the American Petroleum Institute, and a member of the Advisory Board of the Center for Strategic and International Studies of Georgetown University. In 1992 he was elected to the Texas Business Hall of Fame. Earlier in his career he was named by the Jaycees as Outstanding Young Man in Dallas and one of Five Outstanding Young Texans. The Press Club of Dallas named him Headliner of the Year in 1979. Both SMU and St. Mark's School have honored him with Distinguished Alumnus awards.

CONFERRING OF HONORARY DEGREES

ANNETTE GREENFIELD STRAUSS, Doctor of Humane Letters

A tireless civic volunteer and leader, Annette Strauss embodies the selfless values of public service that move a community toward its goals and improve its quality of life. She served six years as a Dallas City Council member and four years as the city's first woman mayor (1987-92). Her contributions also extend to higher education as well. After earning a B.A. degree with Phi Beta Kappa honors from the University of Texas, she received a Master's degree from Columbia University. She currently chairs the board of directors for SMU's John Goodwin Tower Center for Political Studies and is a member of the Development Board of the University of Texas at Dallas. She also has been a supporter of the arts and social causes both locally and nationally – her influence has been felt from the Dallas Symphony Orchestra to the Texas chapter of the National Museum for Women in Arts to the Kennedy Center for Performing Arts in Washington, D.C. Other organizations that have benefited from her efforts include the National Jewish Hospital, Children's Medical Center, and the Women's Center of Dallas. Since 1987 she has been recognized with the John F. Kennedy Commitment to Excellence Award, the Dallas Press Club Headliners Award, the Women Helping Women Award, Citizen of the Year, and other accolades for her many contributions. For her leadership in the community and her dedication to improving the quality of life for all its members, Southern Methodist University is honored to confer upon Annette Strauss the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

JOHN MINOR WISDOM, Doctor of Law

After earning a law degree from Tulane University in 1929, John Minor Wisdom practiced law in New Orleans until his appointment in 1957 to the United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit. He is a respected jurist whose opinions have helped define civil rights law across the country. His contributions include a number of significant decisions, including suspending a state voters' registration law; desegregating the University of Mississippi; ordering affirmative action to desegregate public schools; desegregating bus and railroad terminals; and prohibiting the awarding of jobs based on seniority systems with built-in race discrimination. The Supreme Court upheld his dissenting opinion in Dombrowski v. Pfister (1965), enjoining the state of Louisiana from using its powers to harass civil rights leaders through unwarranted prosecution. Throughout his career on the federal bench as well as teaching courses in law at Tulane and other universities, Judge Wisdom has educated and encouraged a generation of lawyers to lead the United States toward the ideals embodied in the Constitution. Time magazine said of Judge Wisdom, "He is equally at home in archaeology, Greek tragedy, and Louisiana civil law. ... He is one of the best and most painstaking opinion writers on any U.S. bench." For his many and varied contributions to the judiciary and for a long and distinguished career on the bench, Southern Methodist University is honored to confer upon John Minor Wisdom the degree of Doctor of Laws, honoris causa.

SCHUBERT M. OGDEN, Doctor of Humane Letters

During his 34 years of teaching on the faculty of Southern Methodist University, Schubert M. Ogden set a standard of excellence that has become a recognized model at home and abroad for systematic theology and for the life of the Academy. In six books and in innumerable essays, articles, and translations, he has addressed the central questions of contemporary theological reflection with uncompromising intellectual rigor and supple creativity of spirit – in short, with wisdom. He has defined and defended theology’s integrity as an academic discipline that rightfully retains its ancient place among the disciplines that constitute a university. He has deepened and enhanced the emerging theological discussion among religious traditions, especially the dialogue between Christianity and Buddhism; and he has done so without diluting the specific character of these traditions or evading the great central question of religious truth. Not least among his achievements, he has throughout his career enriched his colleagues and his students with his clarity of vision and his unflagging pursuit of what is true and what is just. For his invaluable contribution to the shaping of contemporary theological discourse and for his inestimable contribution to the life of this University and its School of Theology, we gratefully confer upon Schubert M. Ogden the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

THE ACADEMIC PROCESSION

The academic procession and the regalia worn by the faculty and officers of the University symbolically represent the continuing link between the modern American university and the founding of the great medieval universities in Europe — chief among them Bologna, Paris, and Oxford. As those institutions were derived from the Catholic Church, the universities adopted many of the ceremonial trappings of the church in their official public functions.

The mace of the University, a symbol of the authority vested in the president by the Board of Trustees and representing the covenant between the president and the faculty, is borne by the president of the Faculty Senate, elected by representatives of all faculties (this year, Professor Marshall N. Terry of the English Department). Though the order of the procession varies from university to university, at Southern Methodist University it proceeds from the chief marshal through the ranks of the faculty and the officers of the University, to the president, who is preceded by the mace-bearer. At Commencement, the candidates for graduation precede the faculty.

The caps and gowns worn in the procession also vary from place to place. There are variations in design to indicate the degrees held by the wearers, and many universities in America have introduced colorful gowns and other distinguishing details (in place of the customary clerical black from which all originated). The bachelor's gown is a simple robe falling in straight lines from an elaborate yoke. Its distinguishing characteristic is the long pointed sleeves. Master's gowns are arranged so that the arm emerges from a long sleeve through a slit at the wrist (replacing a former slit at the elbow). In most cases, the doctor's gown is marked by velvet panels down the front and around the neck, and by three bars of the same material on the bell-shaped sleeves. It is cut much fuller than the other gowns, and may be ornamented in color. Faculty colors are occasionally seen in the sleeve bars and paneling.

The caps, too, vary according to the customs of the university from which the wearer received a degree. While most American universities adopted the "mortarboard" style of Oxford, others have chosen styles based on other European institutions. The color of the tassel worn with the cap may be black for any degree; or, the color may be that of the faculty of the major field of learning (e.g. Arts, Engineering, Law, etc.). Persons holding doctoral degrees and governing officials of institutions are entitled to wear tassels of gold metallic thread. Such tassels are usually sewn in place. It is common practice, although not universal, that a ceremony is made of moving the tassel from the right side to the left of the cap at the moment the degree is awarded.

Within the great varieties of styles and colors in gowns and caps, there has been one universally accepted code for the hood worn trailing down the wearer's back. Originally, it was like the hood on the habit worn by monks — and very useful, for protection against the weather and even for begging for alms. Nowadays, the hood through length and color shows the degree and the specialization of the wearer, and the university that granted the degree. The Bachelor's, Master's, and Doctor's hoods are 3 feet, 3½ feet, and 4 feet long, respectively. The velvet trimming in the same order is 2, 3 and 5 inches wide. The color of the trim identifies the faculty. A partial list of faculty colors follows:

Arts, Letters, Humanities	White	Music	Pink
Business	Drab	Philosophy	Dark Blue
Engineering	Orange	Science	Golden Yellow
Fine Arts	Brown	Theology	Scarlet
Law	Purple

The lining of the hood — that portion most visible from the rear — indicates the institution awarding the degree. SMU's hood lining, for example, is blue with a red chevron.

Through these colorful ceremonies, SMU symbolically displays the continuity of its educational purposes with the origins of organized learning in the Western world.
