SOUTHERN METHODIST UNIVERSITY

In 1911, a Methodist education commission made a commitment to establish a major Methodist university in Texas. More than 600 acres of open prairie and $300,000 pledged by a group of Dallas citizens secured the university for Dallas, and it was chartered as Southern Methodist University. In appreciation of the city's support, the first building to be constructed on the campus was named Dallas Hall. It remains the centerpiece and symbol of

SMU. When the University opened in 1915, it consisted of two buildings, 706 students, a 35-member faculty, and total assets of $636,540. The original schools of SMU were the College of Arts and Sciences, the School of Theology, and the School of Music.

SMU is owned by the South Central Jurisdiction of the United Methodist Church. The first charge of its founders, however, was that it become a great university, not necessarily a great Methodist university. From its founding, SMU has been nonsectarian in its teaching and committed to the values of academic freedom and open inquiry.

SMU also has maintained a strong partnership with Dallas and has given special consideration to area needs in the development of academic programs. In the 1920s, the first business curriculum was offered in response to a request by the Dallas Chamber of Commerce; the Dallas Bar Association supported establishment of the law school, and a forerunner of the engineering school was established with encouragement from the Dallas Technical Club.

After struggling through its early years and the Depression of the 1930s, SMU experienced a surge of growth after World War II. From the late 1940s to the end of the 1960s, more than half of the current buildings on campus were constructed. SMU's academic stature took on a new dimension when the first Ph.D. programs were instituted in 1957.

Today, Southern Methodist University offers a comprehensive curriculum through Dedman College – the college of humanities and sciences – and five schools: Meadows School of the Arts, Edwin L. Cox School of Business, School of Engineering, Perkins School of Theology, and Dedman School of Law.

The University offers more than 70 undergraduate majors, Master's degrees in 64 areas, professional degrees in three disciplines, and Ph.D. degrees in 21 fields.

Enrollment for the 2000-2001 academic year was 10,064, including 5,662 undergraduate students and 4,402 graduate and professional school students. SMU students come from all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and 101 countries. About 75 percent of first-year students received some form of financial assistance in 2000-2001. About 20 percent of the student body are minorities. Fifteen percent of the total student body is United Methodist; 12 percent is Catholic. Also represented in the student body are other Protestant denominations and other religions, including Judaism, Buddhism, Greek Orthodoxy, and Islam.

In addition to preparing students for graduate and professional schools, or more directly for their life's work, the University strives to enhance their social, moral, intellectual, and religious development so that they may lead worthy lives as individuals and citizens of the nation and of the world.

THE ACADEMIC PROCESSION AND REGALIA

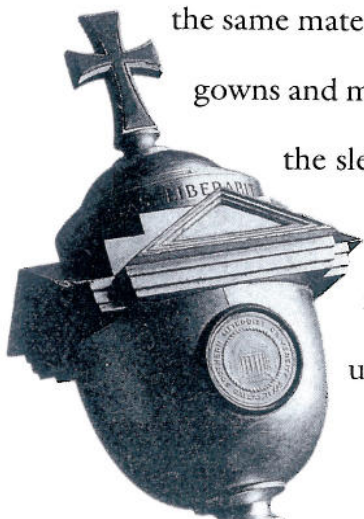

The academic procession and the regalia worn by the faculty and officers of the University symbolically represent the continuing link between the modern American university and the founding of the great medieval universities in Europe – chief among them Bologna, Paris, and Oxford. As those institutions were derived from the Catholic Church, the universities adopted many of the ceremonial trappings of the church in their official public functions.

The mace of the University, a symbol of the authority vested in the president by the Board of Trustees and representing the covenant between the president and the faculty, is borne by the president of the Faculty Senate. Though the order of the procession varies from university to university, at Southern Methodist University it proceeds from the chief marshal through the ranks of the faculty and the officers of the University to the president, who is preceded by the mace-bearer.

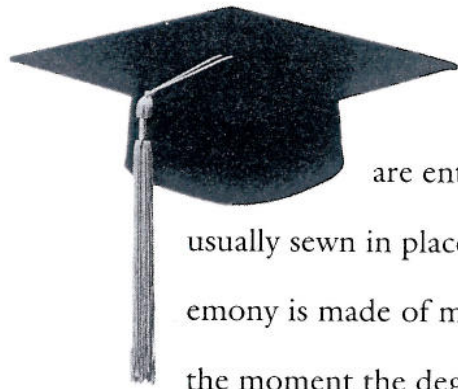

The caps and gowns worn in the procession also vary from place to place. There are variations in design to indicate the degrees held by the wearers, and many universities in America have introduced colorful gowns and other distinguishing details (in place of the customary clerical black from which all originated). The Bachelor's gown is a simple robe falling in straight lines from an elaborate yoke. Its distinguishing characteristic is the long pointed sleeves. Master's gowns are arranged so that the arm emerges from a long sleeve through a slit at the wrist (replacing a former slit at the elbow). In most cases, the Doctor's gown is marked by velvet panels down the front and around the neck, and by three bars of the same material on the bell-shaped sleeves. It is cut much fuller than the other gowns and may be ornamented in color. Faculty colors are occasionally seen in the sleeve bars and paneling.

The caps, too, vary according to the customs of the university from which the wearer received a degree. While most American universities adopted the “mortarboard” style of Oxford, others have chosen styles based on other European institutions. The color of the tassel worn with the cap may be black for any degree, or the color may be that of the faculty of the major field of learning (e.g., Arts, Engineering, Law, etc.). Persons holding doctoral degrees and governing officials of institutions are entitled to wear tassels of gold metallic thread. Such tassels are usually sewn in place. It is common practice, although not universal, that a ceremony is made of moving the tassel from the right to the left side of the cap at the moment the degree is awarded.

Within the great varieties of styles and colors in gowns and caps, there has been one universally accepted code for the hood worn trailing down the wearer's back. Originally, it was like the hood on the habit worn by monks. Nowadays, the hood through length and color shows the degree and the specialization of the wearer, and the university that granted the degree. The Bachelor's, Master's, and Doctor's hoods are 3 feet, 3½ feet, and 4 feet long, respectively. The velvet trimming in the same order is 2, 3, and 5 inches wide. The color of the trim identifies the faculty. A partial list of faculty colors follows: Arts, Letters, Humanities – White; Music – Pink; Business – Drab; Philosophy – Dark Blue; Engineering – Orange; Science – Golden Yellow; Fine Arts – Brown; Theology – Scarlet; Law – Purple. The lining of the hood – that portion most visible from the rear – indicates the institution awarding the degree. SMU's hood lining, for example, is blue with red chevron.

Through these colorful ceremonies, SMU symbolically displays the continuity of its educational purposes with the origins of organized learning in the Western world.

RETIRING FACULTY

Ronald L. Davis, Professor of History, Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences, completed his B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees at the University of Texas at Austin. He joined SMU in 1965 after teaching appointments at Emporia State University and Michigan State University. A U.S. and cultural historian, he is the author of 12 books, more than 30 articles and pamphlets, and numerous reviews. Professor Davis served as director of SMU's DeGolyer Institute for American Studies, coordinator of SMU's American Civilization Program, a reader for the SMU and University of Texas Presses, and a reviewer for the National Endowment for the Humanities. He was a member of the advisory boards for SMU Press and the Handbook for Texas produced by the Texas State Historical Association. The student body twice selected Professor Davis to receive the Outstanding Professor Award. He also directed SMU's Oral History project, which accumulated more than 500 interviews on the performing arts in America. He will retire as professor emeritus of history.

MAURICE G.A. ELTON

Maurice G. A. Elton, Associate Professor of French, Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences, earned his B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees at the University of Cincinnati. He joined SMU's Foreign Languages faculty in 1964 and, within a year of his arrival, he designed and implemented a state-of-the-art language lab that was recognized as one of the finest facilities in the Southwest. Professor Elton served as a long-term president of the Dallas Alliance Française and as a member of the executive committee of the American Association of Teachers of French, which honored him with the AATF Outstanding Service Award in 1990. He served SMU in numerous administrative roles, including area chair for French and director of the SMU-in-Paris and SMU-in-Tours programs. Professor Elton was one of the first in the profession to support the now universally accepted standards of proficiency-based pedagogy. In the past 20 years he has founded and promoted the new field of French for business and international trade. For his achievements in promoting French language and culture, Professor Elton was admitted to the French government's prestigious Order of Academic Palms, receiving the ranks of Chevalier and Officier. He will retire as professor emeritus of French.

VICTOR PAUL FURNISH

Victor Paul Furnish, University Distinguished Professor of New Testament, Perkins School of Theology, earned a B.A. degree from Cornell College, a B.D. from Garrett-Evangelical Theological Seminary, and an M.A. and a Ph.D. from Yale University. He joined Perkins School of Theology in 1959 and pursued a distinguished career that included international recognition for his studies of the Letters of Paul in the New Testament. He served as president of the Society of Biblical Literature in 1993 and edited the Society's Journal from 1983-88. His work includes seven major books and commentaries and his scholarship has appeared in all the major journals of biblical studies. Professor Furnish's work reaches a wide audience, from scholarly specialists who rely on his knowledge and critical standards to lay readers who seek the integrity and moral insight that his reading of the Bible offers. He will retire as University Distinguished Professor Emeritus of New Testament.

MICHAEL J. HOLDAWAY

Michael J. Holdaway, Professor of Geological Sciences, Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences, joined the SMU faculty in 1962 after completing a B.S. degree at Yale University and a Ph.D. at the University of California, Berkeley. For his research, he studied the chemistry of metamorphic minerals, metamorphic reactions, temperature, pressure, fluid pressure conditions, and the causes of metamorphism, partially funded by grants from the National Science Foundation and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Author or co-author of more than 40 refereed publications, his scholarship has appeared in the Journal of Petrology, American Journal of Science, and American Mineralogist, among others. Professor Holdaway served as chair of the Department of Geological Sciences for 10 years, director of the department's graduate programs, and chair of the University's Environmental Health and Safety Committee. He served as vice president and later president of the Mineralogical Society of America, editor of American Mineralogist, and a director of the Dallas Regional Science Fair. He will retire as professor emeritus of geological sciences.

CHANDRAKANT HARILAL KAPADIA

Chandrakant Harilal Kapadia, Professor of Statistical Science, Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences, received his doctorate from Oklahoma State University and spent two years at the Institute of Statistics at the University of Georgia before joining the faculty of SMU's newly formed Department of Statistics in 1963. His teaching and scholarship focused on statistical sampling, the fitting of linear statistical models, and the construction and analysis of statistically designed experiments. His findings have appeared in the Journal of the American Statistical Association, Annals of Mathematical Statistics, and Biometrika. Professor Kapadia participated in or was a co-principal investigator on large research grants from the National Institutes of Health, the Office of Naval Research, and the Air Force Office of Scientific Research. He directed the dissertations of numerous doctoral students and served on the dissertation committees of another 100 students in statistics and engineering. In addition to serving on and chairing the Committee on the Economic Status of the Faculty, Professor Kapadia was a member of the University Finance Committee, and the Executive Committee and the Grievance Committee of the American Association of University Professors. He will retire as professor emeritus of statistical science.

JOHN H. LAPRADE

John H. LaPrade, Associate Professor of Spanish, Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences, completed his B.A. degree at SMU and M.A. and Ph.D. degrees at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. A specialist in Spanish Golden Age literature and Spanish grammar, he joined the SMU faculty as an instructor in 1960. His work has been published by the South Central Modern Language Association, and he has written reviews for Hispania and Modern Language Journal. Professor LaPrade achieved national prominence as the long-standing president of the Spanish honorary society Sigma Delta Pi. He also has served as secretary and chair of the Spanish I Section of the South Central Modern Language Association and president of the Lone Star Chapter of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese.

Professor LaPrade served the SMU community as a member of Dedman College Undergraduate Council, vice president of the local AAUP chapter, president of the SMU chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, and served multiple terms as a member of the SMU Faculty Senate and of the Teacher Preparation Council. As a member and chair of the University Benefits Council, he represented faculty interests in salaries, retirement plans, and health-care benefits. He will retire as professor emeritus of Spanish.

WILLIAM F. MAY

William F. May, Cary M. Maguire University Professor of Ethics, received his B.A. degree from Princeton University and his B.D. and Ph.D. degrees from Yale University. He taught religion for 14 years at Smith College, served as founding chair of the Department of Religion at Indiana University for 14 years, and held the Joseph P. Kennedy Sr. Chair of Christian Ethics at Georgetown University for six years before joining SMU in 1985. Professor May has held one of two universitywide endowed chairs at SMU and served as founding director of the Cary M. Maguire Center for Ethics and Public Responsibility from 1995-1998. Professor May is recognized as one of America's leading scholars and teachers in the field of medical ethics, but also has written extensively and lectured internationally on ethical issues related to religion, politics, business, and the professions. A former president of the American Academy of Religion and a founding fellow of the Hastings Center, where he co-chaired the research group on death and dying, May served as a member of the Working Group on Ethical Foundations for the Clinton Task Force on National Health Care Reform in 1993. The national Phi Beta Kappa Society selected him as one of 12 visiting scholars for 1999-2000, and his alma mater, Yale University Divinity School, recognized May in October 2000 with an Award for Distinction in Scholarship and Theological Education. May's latest book, The Beleaguered Rulers: The Public Obligation of the Professional, will be published this year. He will retire as Cary M. Maguire Professor Emeritus of Ethics.

KENNETH D. SHIELDS

Kenneth D. Shields, Associate Professor of English, Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences, joined the SMU faculty in 1961 after earning his B.A. degree in English and history at Greenville College, an M.A. degree in English at the University of Kansas, and a Ph.D. degree as a Fulbright Scholar at the University of Edinburgh. At SMU Professor Shields specialized in 17th- and 18th-century English literature. Students honored him four times with the Outstanding Professor Award. He chaired the campus and regional Fulbright Scholarship selection committees, and for more than 20 years directed the SMU-in-Britain program. He was responsible for teacher preparation in English and served on the Teacher Preparation Council. He taught in the M.L.A. degree program since its beginning and served on its advisory board. He served as president of the local chapter of AAUP, president of Phi Beta Kappa, and a member of the Faculty Senate, including two terms as chair of its Ethics and Tenure Committee. His scholarship and publications have focused on the poetry of William Cowper and the hymns of John and Charles Wesley. A founding member of the Charles Wesley Society, he has served on its board of directors from its inception. He will retire as professor emeritus of English.

JAMES WARD

James Ward, Professor of Old Testament, Perkins School of Theology, earned a B.A. from Harvard University, an M.Div. from Union Theological Seminary, and a Ph.D. from Columbia University/Union Theological Seminary. He joined Perkins School of Theology in 1960 and achieved a distinguished career as a teacher, scholar, and administrator. He was associate dean for academic affairs in Perkins from 1969-72 and from 1978-90, and served as acting dean of Perkins School of Theology in 1972-73. His books and articles interpreting the Hebrew prophets have been studied by scholars, students, and general readers, all of whom have gained from his insights into the ancient word from God and its relevance for our contemporary situation. He will retire as professor emeritus of Old Testament.

HAL WATSON, JR.

Hal Watson, Jr., Associate Professor of Mechanical Engineering, School of Engineering, joined the SMU faculty in fall 1967 after receiving his Ph.D. from the University of Texas. Professor Watson's research and teaching interests focused on forensic engineering, machine design, mechanical measurements and control, acoustics and noise control, vehicle dynamics, robotics, and automated machinery. He conducted research in materials stress, wave propagation, noise level assessment and prediction, and robotics. His projects received funding from the National Science Foundation, NASA, the Department of Defense, and the Environmental Protection Agency. During his career, Professor Watson was honored as an Outstanding Professor at SMU and as the Most Popular Professor in Mechanical Engineering. He will retire as professor emeritus of mechanical engineering.

BACCALAUREATE PREACHER

VALARIE R. HOTCHKISS

Valerie R. Hotchkiss has served as the J.S. Bridwell Foundation Endowed Librarian and director of Bridwell Library since 1993. She also is an associate professor of medieval studies in Perkins School of Theology. Under her leadership, Bridwell has gained national recognition by sponsoring major exhibitions, workshops, and lecture series, and by publishing award-winning catalogs. In addition, she has helped raise $15 million for the library's endowment. "I consider librarianship my vocation, rather than a job," Dr. Hotchkiss says. She has followed this "calling" since she was 14 years old, attracted to the profession by a love of libraries that began in her childhood, a fact she acknowledged in her sermon, "The Library as Paradise," which she gave in honor of Bridwell Library's 50th birthday this year. Because of that speech, Provost Ross C Murfin requested that she speak at Baccalaureate. Dr. Hotchkiss earned a Master of Library Science degree from Southern Connecticut State University, after receiving her B.A. with summa cum laude honors in classical languages and literatures from the University of Cincinnati. In addition, she studied classics at the University of Tübingen in Germany. Later, she attended Yale University, where she earned the M.A. (1987), M.Phil. (1988), and Ph.D. (1990) degrees in medieval studies. "Classics and medieval studies provide a good course of study for someone in the multidisciplinary atmosphere of a library," she says. Dr. Hotchkiss is the author of numerous articles in the fields of medieval studies and librarianship, with topics ranging from the earliest literary Dracula to the legend of the female pope to library fund raising. She also is author of Clothes Make the Man: Female Cross Dressing in Medieval Europe and co-author with Jaroslav Pelikan and David Price of the award-winning book, The Reformation of the Bible/The Bible of the Reformation. She is completing a five-volume collection on creeds and confessions of faith to be published by Yale Press.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER

DONALD J. CARTY

As a leader in the worldwide airline industry, Donald J. Carty operates on a global scale daily. The chairman, president, and CEO of AMR Corporation, parent company of American Airlines, most recently led the corporation's acquisition of Trans World Airlines Inc., positioning American Airlines as the leading airline worldwide. Known as a financial innovator, Mr. Carty also has directed the airline and the industry in developing customer service initiatives, such as the expanded legroom and overhead bins in coach introduced last year. Before he was named chairman in 1998, Mr. Carty was responsible for all operational elements of the American and American Eagle domestic and international route systems during his three-year term as president of AMR Airline Group and American Airlines. Before joining American, he spent seven years in management with Celanese Canada, Ltd., Air Canada, and the Canadian Pacific Railway. Mr. Carty was American's senior vice president and controller before leaving the airline in 1985 to become president and CEO of CP Air in Canada. In 1987 he returned to American and was elected senior vice president-airline planning. From 1989 to 1995, he served as executive vice president-finance and planning for AMR and American Airlines. Mr. Carty is a graduate of Queen's University in Kingston, Ontario, and of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration. He serves on the boards of Dell Computer Corporation, Brinker International, and Sears, Roebuck and Co. He is a member of SMU's Board of Trustees, the Harvard Business School Visiting Committee, the Advisory Board of the Kellogg Graduate School of Management at Northwestern University, and the SMU Cox School of Business Executive Board. He also is a member of the Dallas Citizens Council. Mr. Carty and his wife, Ana, live in Dallas.

CONFERRING OF HONORARY DEGREES

VAN CLIBURN, Doctor of Arts

Van Cliburn, musician, philanthropist, and Texan, won the first International Tchaikovsky Competition at the age of 23, a feat so remarkable that he remains the only musician for whom New York threw a ticker-tape parade (in 1958). In 1962 he established the Van Cliburn International Piano Competition, held every four years, to aid young musicians. Mr. Cliburn is one of the most highly recognized concert pianists of his generation, performing with every major orchestra and conductor and appearing in all of the internationally renowned concert halls. His generous sponsorship of musicians is world renowned. His life resonates with rich musicality, striking clear and glowing tones with the master's touch. For a lifetime of international artistic achievement, Southern Methodist University is honored to confer upon Van Cliburn the degree of Doctor of Arts, honoris causa.

JUDGE WILLIAM WAYNE JUSTICE, Doctor of Laws

Native Texan, William Wayne Justice has given his life to the law as a practicing attorney, a public prosecutor, and a trial judge. He follows with courage the U.S. Constitution he swore to uphold. His decisions opened schools doors and doctors' offices to immigrants, children, and those who could not speak English. Judge Justice's enforcement of the law rescued residents trapped in segregated public housing. For more than 25 years, he has steadfastly applied constitutional standards to eliminate barbarous living conditions in the Texas prison system while maintaining compliance with the law. For his embodiment of the value of Equal Justice Under Law, Southern Methodist University is honored to confer upon Judge William Wayne Justice the degree of Doctor of Laws, honoris causa.

KING JUAN CARLOS I OF SPAIN, Doctor of Arts

Majesty King Juan Carlos I of Spain, "Head of the State and Symbol of its Unity," is widely recognized by world leaders as the gifted designer of one of the most remarkable political transitions in the history of Europe, and as the architect of a vibrant democracy and civil society. King Juan Carlos has accomplished that task, which many thought impossible, not with political power, but with an inspiring vision of the future of Spain and with a deep and selfless love for its entire people. Like the painters of the Golden Century of Spain playing with a rainbow of colors, His Majesty has toiled with the silent dedication of an artist to create, and then present to the world, the image and reality of a new Spain, which recognizes the rich, cultural diversity of its people, while preserving the essential and historical unity of the nation symbolized by its King. As patron of writers, intellectuals, and artists, His Majesty has nurtured the growth of His nation towards the mind and spirit. In these early years of a new millennium, King Juan Carlos has emerged in the eyes of the world as "a new kind of king, a king with dignity but without haughtiness, a king with style but without arrogance," a democratic king, a king of the people and for the people. In recognition of these achievements, Southern Methodist University is honored to confer upon His Majesty King Juan Carlos I of Spain the degree of Doctor of Arts, honoris causa.

CEREMONIAL BANNERS

The University's ceremonial banners were designed by Robert B. Chambers, associate professor emeritus of theatre, Meadows School of the Arts, and fabricated by Mamie Chambers. The banners bear heraldic designs with the color of trim identifying each school and group ushered this morning.

VARSITY

Oh we see the Varsity,
Varsity, Varsity,
As she towers o'er the hill
Over there.
And our hearts are filled with joy,
SMU, SMU
Alma Mater we'll be true
Forever!
