MOODY COLISEUM

SMU MUSTANGS

The SMU Mustangs – three 11-foot bronze statues of wild horses – was dedicated April 27, 2005, in front of Moody Coliseum. The sculpture was commissioned by real estate developer John W. Carpenter III in honor of his wife, Cele Slaughter Briscoe Carpenter ('78), on their 25th wedding anniversary. The family has made it a generous gift to the students of SMU. The sculptor, Miley Frost, captured the essence of the mustang: sure-footed and fleet, strong and independent, free and fierce. It was in 1917 that SMU adopted the Mustang as its official mascot after Dorothy Amann, President Robert W. Hyer's secretary, remarked that the football team looked like a herd of wild mustangs. No better symbol of energizing spirit and community could have been selected. In the wild, mustangs live in supportive, free-roaming herds. Their survival comes from their strength, speed, toughness, and endurance. The energy of the herd exhibits an unconquerable spirit. As students leave Commencement they take the spirit of the Mustang with them.

SOUTHERN METHODIST UNIVERSITY

In 1911, a Methodist education commission made a commitment to establish a major Methodist university in Texas. More than 600 acres of open prairie and $300,000 pledged by a group of Dallas citizens secured the university for Dallas, and it was chartered as Southern Methodist University. In appreciation of the city's support, the first building to be constructed on the campus was named Dallas Hall. It remains the centerpiece and symbol of

SMU. When the University opened in 1915, it consisted of two buildings, 706 students, a 35-member faculty, and total assets of $636,540. The original schools of SMU were the College of Arts and Sciences, the School of Theology, and the School of Music.

SMU is owned by the South Central Jurisdiction of the United Methodist Church. The first charge of its founders, however, was that it become a great university, not necessarily a great Methodist university. From its founding, SMU has been nonsectarian in its teaching and committed to the values of academic freedom and open inquiry.

SMU also has maintained a strong partnership with Dallas and has given special consideration to area needs in the development of academic programs. In the 1920s, the first business curriculum was offered in response to a request by the Dallas Chamber of Commerce; the Dallas Bar Association supported establishment of the law school, and a forerunner of the engineering school was established with encouragement from the Dallas Technical Club.

After struggling through its early years and the Depression of the 1930s, SMU experienced a surge of growth after World War II. From the late 1940s to the end of the 1960s, more than half of the current buildings on campus were constructed. SMU's academic stature took on a new dimension when the first Ph.D. programs were instituted in 1957.

Today, Southern Methodist University offers a comprehensive curriculum through Dedman College – the college of humanities and sciences – and five schools: Meadows School of the Arts, Edwin L. Cox School of Business, School of Engineering, Perkins School of Theology, and Dedman School of Law.

The University offers more than 125 undergraduate majors, Master’s degrees in nearly 100 areas, professional degrees in two disciplines, Ph.D. degrees in 21 fields, and seven certificate programs.

Enrollment for the 2004-2005 academic year was 12,064, including 6,545 undergraduate students and 5,519 graduate and professional school students. SMU students come from all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and 57 countries. About 73.5 percent of first-year students received some form of financial assistance for 2004-2005. About 21 percent of the student body are minorities; 67.4 percent of undergraduates and 38.2 percent of graduate students report religious affiliation; 12.89 percent are Methodist, 11.98 are Roman Catholic. Also represented in the student body are other Protestant denominations and other religions, including Judaism, Buddhism, and Islam.

In addition to preparing students for graduate and professional schools, or more directly for their life’s work, the University strives to enhance their social, moral, intellectual, and religious development so that they may lead worthy lives as individuals and citizens of the nation and of the world.

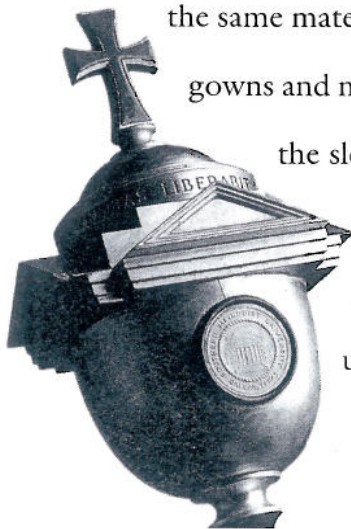

THE ACADEMIC PROCESSION AND REGALIA

The academic procession and the regalia worn by the faculty and officers of the University symbolically represent the continuing link between the modern American university and the founding of the great medieval universities in Europe – chief among them Bologna, Paris, and Oxford. As those institutions were derived from the Catholic Church, the universities adopted many of the ceremonial trappings of the church in their official public functions.

The mace of the University, a symbol of the authority vested in the president by the Board of Trustees and representing the covenant between the president and the faculty, is borne by the president of the Faculty Senate. Though the order of the procession varies from university to university, at Southern Methodist University it proceeds from the chief marshal through the ranks of the faculty and the officers of the University to the president, who is preceded by the mace-bearer.

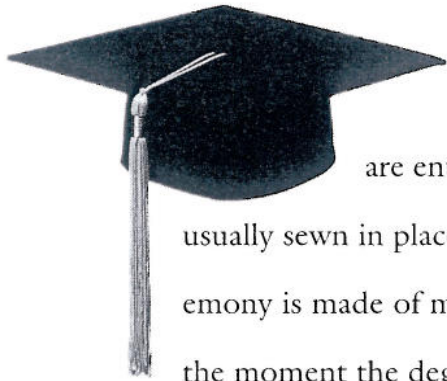

The caps and gowns worn in the procession also vary from place to place. There are variations in design to indicate the degrees held by the wearers, and many universities in America have introduced colorful gowns and other distinguishing details (in place of the customary clerical black from which all originated). The Bachelor's gown is a simple robe falling in straight lines from an elaborate yoke. Its distinguishing characteristic is the long pointed sleeves. Master's gowns are arranged so that the arm emerges from a long sleeve through a slit at the wrist (replacing a former slit at the elbow). In most cases, the Doctor's gown is marked by velvet panels down the front and around the neck, and by three bars of the same material on the bell-shaped sleeves. It is cut much fuller than the other gowns and may be ornamented in color. Faculty colors are occasionally seen in the sleeve bars and paneling.

The caps, too, vary according to the customs of the university from which the wearer received a degree. While most American universities adopted the “mortarboard” style of Oxford, others have chosen styles based on other European institutions. The color of the tassel worn with the cap may be black for any degree, or the color may be that of the faculty of the major field of learning (e.g., Arts, Engineering, Law, etc.). Persons holding doctoral degrees and governing officials of institutions are entitled to wear tassels of gold metallic thread. Such tassels are usually sewn in place. It is common practice, although not universal, that a ceremony is made of moving the tassel from the right to the left side of the cap at the moment the degree is awarded.

Within the great varieties of styles and colors in gowns and caps, there has been one universally accepted code for the hood worn trailing down the wearer's back. Originally, it was like the hood on the habit worn by monks. Nowadays, the hood through length and color shows the degree and the specialization of the wearer, and the university that granted the degree. The Bachelor's, Master's, and Doctor's hoods are 3 feet, 3½ feet, and 4 feet long, respectively. The velvet trimming in the same order is 2, 3, and 5 inches wide. The color of the trim identifies the faculty. A partial list of faculty colors follows: Arts, Letters, Humanities – White; Music – Pink; Business – Drab; Philosophy – Dark Blue; Engineering – Orange; Science – Golden Yellow; Fine Arts – Brown; Theology – Scarlet; Law – Purple. The lining of the hood – that portion most visible from the rear – indicates the institution awarding the degree. SMU's hood lining, for example, is blue with red chevron.

Through these colorful ceremonies, SMU symbolically displays the continuity of its educational purposes with the origins of organized learning in the Western world.

MORTAR BOARD

The SMU chapter of Mortar Board thanks you for purchasing flowers today to support its activities. Mortar Board is a national honor society of senior students recognized for their accomplishments of both academic excellence and service to the community. Proceeds from the flower sale will help enable students to conduct numerous service-oriented activities during the year. In addition to student and faculty recognition events, members plan to sponsor a book drive in keeping with the national theme “Reading is Leading.”

MEADOWS WIND ENSEMBLE

The Meadows Wind Ensemble is a concert band of flexible proportions composed of the University's finest winds, brass, and percussion. The Ensemble performs a broad and diverse range of literature and regularly augments its instrumentation to include strings in order to access the repertory of the modern chamber orchestra. Frequent collaborations with the Meadows Dance Company have further broadened the artistic range of the Ensemble. The Meadows Wind Ensemble has performed throughout the United States and Europe, and has been broadcast by the BBC in London and numerous national radio stations around the world. The Ensemble records on Gasparo Records.

RETIRING FACULTY

THOMAS R. ARP

Thomas R. Arp, Associate Professor of English in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences, received his B.A. from the University of Michigan and his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Stanford University. Before joining the SMU faculty in 1970, he was a Fulbright lecturer at the University of Bucharest. In addition to teaching courses in poetry, fiction, and drama, he developed a Shakespeare course that became his principal offering and established a prize to recognize the best Shakespeare student each semester. He worked with SMU English Professor Laurence Perrine on his three classic texts, Sound and Sense, Story and Structure, and Literature: Structure, Sound, and Sense, becoming co-author of new editions in 1992 and author in 1997. Professor Arp's leadership in the Department of English includes serving as acting chair, vice chair, director of undergraduate studies, and director of first-year English. He served on numerous University committees, including national scholarship selection committees, and twice as president of the Faculty Senate. He will retire as Professor Emeritus of English.

WILLIAM S. BABCOCK

William S. Babcock, Professor of Church History in Perkins School of Theology, earned his Bachelor's degree from Brown University and his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from Yale University. His honors include Fulbright, Woodrow Wilson, and Danforth Fellowships. He joined the Perkins faculty in 1967 and has been director of SMU's graduate program in Religious Studies since 1990. He has served on many Perkins and SMU committees. As provost and vice president for Academic Affairs ad interim in 1995 – 1996, he played a key role in the development of SMU's Strategic Plan. In 2001 he was named Altshuler University Distinguished Teaching Professor and one of the first four members of the SMU Academy of Distinguished Teachers. Professor Babcock is recognized as a leading authority on the theology of St. Augustine and currently is completing an annotated translation of Augustine's City of God. He has published numerous scholarly works, including book reviews and articles for reference volumes and journals. He will retire as Professor Emeritus of Church History.

U. NARAYAN BHAT

U Narayan Bhat, Professor of Statistical Science and Operations Research in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences, received Bachelor's degrees in education and mathematics from the University of Madras and a Master's in statistics from Karnatak University, all in India, followed by a Ph.D. from The University of Western Australia. He joined the SMU faculty in 1969 and has served the University with distinction in numerous roles. His leadership positions have included chair of several academic departments, vice provost and dean of Graduate Studies, associate dean for Academic Affairs and dean ad interim of Dedman College, as well as associate dean of the School of Engineering. He concluded his administrative service as dean of Research and Graduate Studies from 1992 to 2004. In May 2004 he received the Trustees Distinguished Service Award. Professor Bhat's primary research interests are in queueing theory and applied stochastic processes. He has co-authored a book and written numerous scholarly articles and a graduate-level textbook. He will retire as Professor Emeritus of Statistical Science and Operations Research.

ALESSANDRA COMINI

Alessandra Comini, University Distinguished Professor of Art History in Meadows School of the Arts, received her B.A. degree from Barnard College, M.A. from the University of California at Berkeley, and Ph.D. with distinction from Columbia University. She joined the SMU faculty in 1974. She also has served as Alfred Hodder Resident Humanist at Princeton University and Distinguished Visiting Lecturer at Oxford University's European Humanities Research Centre. She was selected Outstanding Professor by SMU students 16 times and received the Meadows School's Distinguished Teaching Prize and The United Methodist Church's Scholar/Teacher of the Year Award. One of her eight books, Egon Schiele's Portraits, won the College Art Association's Charles Rufus Morey Book Award and was nominated for the National Book Award. Professor Comini has participated in numerous international symposia in her special field of musical iconography. She received the Grand Decoration of Honor from the Republic of Austria and the Lifetime Achievement Award of the Women's Caucus for Art. She will retire as University Distinguished Professor Emerita of Art History.

KENNETH W. HART

Kenneth W. Hart, Professor of Sacred Music, earned his baccalaureate degree from Grinnell College, a Master of Sacred Music degree at Union Theological Seminary, and his Doctor of Musical Arts degree in organ and choral conducting from the University of Cincinnati College-Conservatory of Music. He joined the SMU faculty in 1987 as professor of sacred music with tenure both in Perkins School of Theology and Meadows School of the Arts. At the same time, he was named director of the Master of Sacred Music Program, a position from which he also will retire this year. As an organist, Professor Hart has performed throughout the United States and abroad. As a conductor, his musical diversity ranges from Bach and Rutter to Schubert and Gershwin. As a scholar, he hopes to complete a biography of the late Lloyd Pfausch, one of his predecessors as director of the Sacred Music Program at SMU. He will retire as Professor Emeritus of Sacred Music.

JACK P. HOLMAN

Jack P. Holman, Brown Foundation Professor of Mechanical Engineering in the School of Engineering, earned his Bachelor's and Master's degrees from SMU before receiving his Ph.D. in mechanical engineering from Oklahoma State University. He joined the SMU faculty in 1960. He was selected Outstanding Engineering Professor numerous times by SMU students and received The United Methodist Church's Scholar/Teacher of the Year Award. Over the past 45 years, he has served SMU in many roles, including chair of the Civil and Mechanical Engineering Department and assistant provost for Instructional Media. An active researcher, Professor Holman has published extensively in professional journals and is widely recognized as the author of three definitive textbooks – Heat Transfer, Experimental Methods for Engineers, and Thermodynamics – which have been translated into six languages and used in educating engineering students around the world. Professor Holman has been honored with several prestigious national awards and membership in several honorary fraternities. He will retire as Professor Emeritus of Mechanical Engineering.

JAMES E. KIRBY

James E. Kirby, Professor of Church History in Perkins School of Theology, received his baccalaureate degree at McMurry College and his Bachelor of Divinity and Master of Sacred Theology degrees at Perkins, followed by his Ph.D. at Drew University. He studied for a year at Cambridge University between his Perkins degrees. After serving as dean of the Drew University Theological School from 1976 to 1981, he returned to Perkins in 1981 as dean and professor of Church History. His academic career also included faculty positions at Sweet Briar College and Oklahoma State University. Following 13 years as dean of Perkins, Professor Kirby led the University as president ad interim from 1994 to 1995. He then returned to full-time teaching at Perkins School of Theology. Professor Kirby has a distinguished record as a scholar, ranking among the premier historians of American Methodism, with a particular expertise in the study of the episcopacy. He will retire as Professor Emeritus of Church History.

ARTHUR R. KOCH

Arthur R. Koch, Associate Professor of Art in Meadows School of the Arts, earned his B.F.A. degree from Rhode Island School of Design and his M.F.A. from the University of Washington. He joined the Meadows faculty in 1970. He has taught sculpture, drawing, painting and design in the Meadows School and also has taught at SMU-in-Taos. His sculpture and drawings are represented in numerous public and private collections and have been exhibited widely in Texas, Oklahoma, Washington State, and New York City. He was represented in a European Invitational Touring Exhibition co-sponsored by Yale University and the United States Information Agency. Professor Koch served as chair and co-chair of SMU's Division of Fine Arts in the late 1970s and was named the Meadows Foundation Distinguished Teaching Professor in 2004. He has served on the Executive Board of the Texas Association of Schools of Art and as chair of its Academic Standards Committee. He will retire as Professor Emeritus of Art.

ANTHONY EDWARD MARKS

Anthony Edward Marks, Professor of Anthropology in Dedman College of Humanities and Sciences, earned B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees from Columbia University. He came to SMU in 1964, during the formative years of the Department of Anthropology, as a member of the Combined Prehistoric Expedition working in the Nile River Valley. He became a faculty member of the Anthropology Department in 1967 and served as department chair from 1977 to 1981. In addition to his teaching, he continued fieldwork and research in Israel, the Sudan, Portugal, and the Crimea (Ukraine), with support from the L.S.B. Leakey Foundation, the Wenner-Gren Foundation, and 14 National Science Foundation grants. Professor Marks was honored with the prestigious Alexander von Humboldt Stiftung Research Award in Germany. He is widely recognized as an expert in systematic stone artifact classification, and his field discoveries, including an intact flint-knapping floor in the Negev Desert some 50,000 years old, are landmarks in the record of Paleolithic prehistory. He will retire as Professor Emeritus of Anthropology.

ROSS W. POWELL

Ross W. Powell, Associate Professor of Clarinet in Meadows School of the Arts, earned a Bachelor's degree at the University of Michigan and a Master of Music degree at Eastman School of Music. He joined the Meadows Division of Music in 1966. He has been a member of the Toledo Symphony, Buffalo Philharmonic, Rochester Philharmonic, Dallas Symphony Orchestra, and Dallas Opera Orchestra. Co-founder and former president of Voices of Change, he also is a recording artist with the contemporary music chamber ensemble. His recordings include a Grammy-nominated performance of Voces Americanas. Professor Powell was a member of the first New Music Panel of the National Endowment for the Arts, a panelist for the Texas Commission on the Arts and the Dallas Office of Cultural Affairs, and director of educational services for the Dallas Symphony Orchestra. At SMU he has served as head of the Department of Winds, Brass, and Percussion and as founder and director of the Meadows Visitors Program. He will retire as Professor Emeritus of Clarinet.

CONFERRING OF HONORARY DEGREES

SANTIAGO CALATRAVA, Doctor of Arts

Santiago Calatrava, internationally renowned Spanish architect, engineer, and artist, seamlessly combines sculptural expression with dynamic structure in architectural creations that appear to grow from nature. Reflecting his passion for movement and form, Calatrava's spectacular designs range from the 2004 Athens Olympic Sports Complex to the proposed Trinity River bridges in Dallas. His bridges, transportation stations, and cultural centers throughout the world are among the most acclaimed structures of the past two decades. His projects in the United States include the design for a transportation hub for the World Trade Center site in New York City. His creativity is represented at SMU by his monumental fountain-sculpture, "Wave," in front of the Meadows Museum. In 2000 Calatrava received SMU's Algur H. Meadows Award for Excellence in the Arts, and a retrospective presentation of his work was the inaugural special exhibition of the new Meadows Museum in 2001. Time magazine included Calatrava in its 2005 list of the world's 100 most influential people, stating that he "accomplishes what only great architects can: he creates transcendent spaces that uplift the human spirit." For his visionary designs uniquely combining art and functionality, his enrichment of our civic environment, and the impact of his creativity in Dallas and at SMU, Southern Methodist University is honored to confer upon Santiago Calatrava the degree of Doctor of Arts, honoris causa.

CHARLES O'NEILL GALVIN, Doctor of Laws

Charles O'Neill Galvin, distinguished legal scholar and educator, ranks as the longest-serving Dean in the history of SMU's School of Law, now Dedman School of Law. As dean from 1963 to 1978, Galvin played a major role in the school's rise in international prominence. He significantly strengthened the school's international dimensions through faculty appointments and expansion of the Master of Laws in Comparative and International Law degree program, which draws law school graduates from around the world. After serving in the United States Navy during World War II, he completed his law degree and engaged in private law practice before joining the SMU law faculty in 1952. A leading tax and tax policy scholar, he is the author or co-author of five books and more than 60 articles. He was a pioneer in building bridges between tax scholars and practicing attorneys to promote tax reform through legislation. After leaving SMU, Galvin completed his academic career as Centennial Professor of Law at Vanderbilt University. Since 1994 he has served Of Counsel at Haynes and Boone, LLP in Dallas. For his advancement of international legal education, his contributions to legal scholarship, and his leadership in tax reform, Southern Methodist University is honored to confer upon Charles O'Neill Galvin the degree of Doctor of Laws, honoris causa.

ELIZABETH M. (LIZA) LEE, Doctor of Humane Letters

Elizabeth M. (Liza) Lee is a national leader in the education of girls and young women. As Eugene McDermott Headmistress of The Hockaday School in Dallas from 1989 to 2004, Lee led the school's advancement as one of the best private pre-college schools in the nation and established a model for the elevation of quality in education at schools for girls. Achievements during her tenure at Hockaday include a successful capital campaign that greatly increased the endowment, addition of several new buildings, revolutionary changes in math and science curricula, and a significant increase in student diversity. She has encouraged and inspired young women to transcend gender-defined social roles in charting their future. Her leadership includes presidency of the National Association of Principals of Schools for Girls and the Independent Schools Association of the Southwest. Since retiring from Hockaday last year, Lee has served as executive director of the Foundation for the Education of Young Women and assisted the Dallas Independent School District in establishing the Irma Rangel Young Women's Leadership School. For her leadership of local education institutions and the national education community, her efforts to empower girls and young women, and her advancement of women's rights and progress, Southern Methodist University is honored to confer upon Elizabeth M. Lee the degree of Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa.

BACCALAUREATE PREACHER

RHYMES H. MONCURE, JR.

Rhymes H. Moncure, Jr. became the United Methodist bishop of the Dallas Area, North Texas Conference, in July 2004. He was elected bishop in 2000 and first served as resident bishop of the Nebraska Area. He received the Master of Divinity degree from St. Paul School of Theology and the Doctor of Ministry from Carolina University School of Theology. Through 30 years of parish ministry, his appointments included urban and suburban congregations and diverse racial settings.

Dr. Moncure was director of the United Methodist General Board of Global Ministries from 1988 to 1996 and served as director with the General Commission on Christian Unity. He has taught in Schools of Mission for the Women's Division and been on the faculty to train new district superintendents and council directors. His other leadership positions have included district superintendent of the St. Louis South District, director of Congregational Development for the Missouri East Conference, and executive director for Urban Ministries in the Kansas East Conference. He has been a delegate to General and Jurisdictional Conferences since 1984. Dr. Moncure received the Distinguished Alumni Award from St. Paul School of Theology in 1998 and the 1999 Solidarity Award from the Missouri East Conference. A current member of the Southern Methodist University Board of Trustees, he previously served on the boards of Nebraska Wesleyan University and St. Paul School of Theology and as a director of the General Council on Ministries and the University Senate.

CEREMONIAL BANNERS

The University's ceremonial banners were designed by Robert B. Chambers, Associate Professor Emeritus of Theatre, Meadows School of the Arts, and fabricated by Mamie Chambers. The banners bear heraldic designs with the color of trim identifying each school and group ushered this morning.

THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER

Oh, say can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming?
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there.
Oh, say does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

On the shore, dimly seen through the mists of the deep,
Where the foe's haughty host in dread silence reposes,
What is that which the breeze, o'er the towering steep,
As it fitfully blows, now conceals, now discloses?
Now it catches the gleam of the morning's first beam,
In full glory reflected now shines on the stream:
'Tis the star-spangled banner! Oh long may it wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

And where is that band who so vauntingly swore
That the havoc of war and the battle's confusion
A home and a country should leave us no more?
Their blood has wiped out their foul footsteps' pollution.
No refuge could save the hireling and slave
From the terror of flight, or the gloom of the grave;
And the star-spangled banner in triumph doth wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

Oh! thus be it ever, when freemen shall stand
Between their loved homes and the war's desolation!
Blest with victory and peace, may the heaven-rescued land
Praise the Power that hath made and preserved us a nation.
Then conquer we must, for our cause it is just,
And this be our motto: "In God is our trust."
And the star-spangled banner forever shall wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave!
